

World Plot 1071

Chapter 1071: 16.117 First Red Star - Father and Children's Reunion

A few moments after An Liang took his leave, a shadow appeared above his head, and saw a boy in grade school falling on himself. He caught it seeing that it was Xiao Jing.

Ye Jingxia hugged his father tightly on his neck, "Father, welcome home!"

"Xiao Jing. Father is back."

Ye Xiajie caught two smaller shadows in his embrace, his toddler twins.

"Baba~ Baba~ back hwome?"

"I mish chu! Baba~"

Ye Jingxia saw his children hugging him, while his hand holding his wife's remains entangled. Daddy was sleeping nearby, and Hei Anjing's appearance had changed, with white hair and more refined features. He exuded an aura of elegance and maturity due to age.

Ye Jingxia asked, "Father, why is Daddy sleeping?"

The God of Void's hold on the children trembles for a bit and gives an excuse that is believable for these little ones to hear.

"You know daddy had been looking after father for a long time right, Xiao Jing?"

"Un! Xiao Jing used to accompany Dad to look for Father!"

"That's correct but because of that Daddy hasn't slept well enough. Right now, Daddy is going to sleep for a long time to recover from lack of sleep." Ye Xiajie said.

Ye Jingmo asked, "Baba~ Wen will Dad wakey up?"

"Father will do his best to wake him up so you guys wait a little while longer." Ye Xiajie said. "Okay, enough playing. Go back home. You'll ruin your Dad's rest."

Ye Anxia suddenly said, "But~ Big Bwother hosn't arvive yet~"

"Your big brother is here though." Ye Xiajie was talking about Ye Jingxia who is in his embrace together with the twins.

This time it was Ye Jingxia who explained it to his Father properly, "Father, they are talking about Brother Qin."

"Qin? You don't mean Xiao Qin?" Ye Xiajie mumbled as he recalled the adopted prince he and Hei Anjing had chosen as the next heir in that Ancient world they used to live in. At that time he and his wife were not capable of meeting face to face until his death arrived. Their only way of communication is through that adopted son of theirs whose name was Ye Qinjing.

Ye Xiajie sighed and said, "Even Xiao Qin had ascended which means a lot of time had truly passed especially in Vearth where time moves slower than the other worlds."

Ye Qinjing had to search for his Uncle An Liang to lead him to the Central Region, unlike his siblings who could teleport there directly. Only those with the bloodline of Mo, Hei, Shen, and Ye could enter, while those outside the bloodline needed permission from Ye Xiajie. An Liang was the only one who could grant access to the region since he controlled the Nether System.

"Emperor Father," The former God Emperor of his own world calls hesitant towards his father who had died before his eyes and had cared for him more than that biological father of his. Though in reality, he is his uncle by bloodline ever since he was adopted this man had become his real father instead.

He still remembers the tall figure of the Emperor Father who saved him from his abandoned palace, where he was neglected by his family's servants and slaves. In their first meeting, he can still recall his words.

{I don't know if I can become the father you want but don't fear me, I will have no other children in this life. You will be the first and last if you agree. All I ask you is to look after your Empress Mother for me. Can you do that? We will become family as long as you agree.}

It was at that point that he went from being an abandoned prince to Crown Prince. His father punished everyone who had harmed him and even barred the man claiming to be his biological father from approaching him. His Emperor Father provided him with what his biological father did not: he cared for him, loved him, and taught him everything there is to learn. Even so, because his father is the ruler of their country, he cannot always be by his side, leaving him lonely.

His Empress Mother unexpectedly appeared in his life at that time. It was the dead of winter.

He was practicing his calligraphy one day while waiting for his father to join him for lunch, but that was canceled due to the snowstorm that hit their capital. It was difficult for people to leave their homes, and going out in such weather is dangerous even for his Father Emperor.

The Eunuch who was supposed to inform him about the cancellation of the lunch feast was stranded on the way at the time. At the time, the Eunuch was Xun Yong, who was the most loyal Eunuch to his majesty. When the snowstorm unexpectedly fell, he became trapped beneath it. The distance between the Main Palace and the Crown Prince Palace is considerable, necessitating the use of a carriage. Xun Yong saw the figure of Hei Anjing's true face in his last visage of consciousness as the carriage Eunuch Yong had ridden was buried under the snow. Just as he thought he would die, the snow that buried him slowly moved away.

Eunuch Yong's thoughts before fainting, 'His Majesty said that his hidden Male Empress possessed a beauty beyond this world and had irises as if the moon was embedded in it.'

Hei Anjing rescued this Eunuch because he was his husband's most trusted confidante.

Even though the Heavenly Laws forbid him from directly assisting his beloved, indirect assistance such as this is not prohibited. That is why, most of the time, he would save his beloved in an indirect manner. He took advantage of those around him and took actions that only indirectly involved Ye Xiajie. When he learns that his beloved has adopted a boy, he feels compelled to assist in his care.

As a result, he saved Eunuch, who was supposed to meet that child. He brought the old man to the Crown Prince's Palace after rescuing him and saw the young child, Ye Qinjing. He was the crown prince, but even as a child, he wished for his parents to accompany him. He witnessed the boy's sadness when his servants informed him that the Emperor would not be arriving due to the snowstorm.

He confronted him with the identity that his beloved had prepared for him. Even though they haven't met, it appears that Ye Xiajie was aware of his existence. He appointed him as his one and only Male Empress, but only his loyal subjects were aware of it. He kept it a secret because he didn't want others to know about the existence of his beloved; after all, he is a being above mortals.

This was the first time Hei Anjing and Ye Qinjing met. He accompanied the boy to his lunch, taught him information, and ignored his training. He will fill the gaps that Ye Xiajie was unable to fill. Hei Anjing would accompany the Emperor when he was too busy to see his child. Finally, the child became attached to him and loves him just as much as he loves his father. When Ye Qinjing awoke one day, he discovered Hei Anjing's identity. That Hei Anjing, an extremely God-like man, was his Empress Mother.

He had been extremely fortunate at the time. He not only has a father who protects and supports him, but also a mother who walks alongside him and loves him exactly as he is. He naturally evolved into a means of communication between his father and mother. Because his parents are unable to meet for some reason. His mother claims that the heavens forbid it and that they will only be able to see each other in death.

It wasn't until his father died that he realized everything; his male mother's job was to keep an eye on his father and observe him from afar. They are in love and care for each other, but they are not allowed to meet. His mother suggested that perhaps it was his punishment to watch his beloved live a life without him. At the time, Ye Qinjing didn't understand. He didn't understand until he ascended and heard his parents' story. Separated by life and death, collecting soul fragments of his father, his father had to live only watching over until his father's death. But now it was his father's turn to watch and experience everything his father had done for him.

When Ye Xiajie saw him, he recognized the figure of his young son, who used to tell him stories about his Empress Mother. He would assist his Empress in passing on some of his gifts and words. He was their little go-between, and Hei Anjing adored him as if he were their child. That is why he gave him his complete blessing and created a being capable of attaining Godhood without difficulty. They had already predicted his ascension and his appearance in Vearth came as no surprise to him.

Ye Xiajie said with a gentle voice despite his expressionless face. His eyes were a bit soft and nostalgic. "You've ascended. Good work, Xiao Qin. Your Dad would be happy to see you when he wakes up."

Ye Qinjing's eyes turned red, and tears streamed down his cheeks. He walked over to his Emperor Father and knelt. He leans his head on his father's lap as if he is a long-lost child who has finally met his Father.

"Xiao Qin also misses the Emperor Father and Empress Mother so much!"

"You've grown big enough to hold your younger siblings but you are still a crybaby." Ye Xiajie said.
"Okay. Don't cry anymore. Your brothers and sister are going..."

The three looked at each other as if they wanted to cry as they watched their eldest brother cry. In the end, it caused all of Ye Xiajie's children to cry. Ye Xiajie had to calm down his children for a while until the wailing sounds in the central region subsided. Because of the excessive crying, the twin fell asleep, and Ye Xiajie and Ye Qinjing carried them to sleep.

Ye Jingxia was fine, despite the fact that his eyes were swollen from crying, and he was now using ice to help his swelling go away.

Ye Qinjing whispered, wanting to say something to his father, "Emperor Father I..."

"Bring these three back to the rooms to rest first. Next time use this Teleportation Device to teleport anywhere you want. Your Dad made this toy for fun. Bring them to rest and come back." Ye Xiajie said as he handed a dark violet jade bracelet to his eldest son before directly teleporting him and his other children back home.

Ye Qinjing, who opened his eyes to the Mo Palace, was unsurprised as he placed his sleeping siblings on the nearby bed and wrapped them in a blanket. On his way down, he runs into Granduncle Mo, who is cooking, and Granduncle Shen, who is watching his wife prepare their lunch.

"Xiao Qin, greet the Granduncles!"

"Did you meet your father? Can you tell him for me that I've already registered that world under his name and he can do whatever he wants with it?" Shen Siwang said.

Ye Qinjing said, "I will Granduncle Shen."

Shen Siwang chuckled and said, "Actually you can just call me uncle. After all, your father is also my brother."

"But... Granduncle Mo said..."

"Shut up, Hubby!" Mo Baojun said.

"Okay~"

Mo Baojun spoke to his eldest nephew, "Xiao Qin ignored this old man. Are you going back to see your father?" He noticed the teleportation device in the form of bracelets around Ye Qinjing's right wrist.

"Yes, I want to see Dad as well." Ye Qinjing said.

Mo Baojun said, "You can directly teleport there with that device around your wrist. Just put some Qi in it and imagine the place you wanted to teleport into."

"Thank you, Granduncle Mo. I will go now." Ye Qinjing said. "See you later as well, Granduncle Shen."

Mo Baojun and Shen Siwang nod their heads at him and watch the young man disappear in thin air after he used the Teleportation Device on his wrist.

Shen Siwang said, "That child might be the one who can help Xia in this case."

"I don't know if it was by coincidence or by fate for them to adopt the God of Time and for the child to ascend at this time, maybe it's karma or maybe Xiao Jing'er already calculated everything a long time ago. Either way, it is better if that fool can gather his nephew's soul fragments as soon as possible." Mo Baojun said.

Shen Siwang hugged his wife from behind and said, "Don't worry. They will be fine."

Chapter 1072: 16.118 First Red Star - The God of Time [End]

Nether System's Central Region

As Ye Qinjing returned to this location, he noticed his father activating his Time Domain. He was startled to see his father employ Time Element, even though it was smaller than his domain, because he knew that Time was not his father's major Element. Someone's Primary Elemental Domain can include the whole globe, particularly for the larger worlds like Vearth. Ye Xiajie recognized his arrival the minute he emerged in the Nether System. No one can escape his sense to whoever is in the Nether System until he is preoccupied.

Ye Xiajie had spoken, "You're here. Wait for a bit. I need to maintain this domain for a while."

"What do you need this Domain of Time for, Emperor Father?" asked Ye Qinjing.

The God of Void, Ye Xiajie didn't hide anything from his son and replied, "Actually your Empress Mother's Soul Fragment is called Cassius Ambrosia in the last world. After the original Gods of this world failed to protect it it looked for the strongest soul born in its world and chose them as his protector forcing their soul to merge so they couldn't leave it until its death."

"The soul that was chosen was the Empress Mother?" Ye Qinjing asked as he obviously knew that he didn't have to ask as just based on his Emperor Father's reaction that this was indeed the result. That world chooses the soul fragment of his Empress Mother's soul and merges with it.

"No wonder the Emperor Father dragged that world back to the Nether System. It's better than leaving the Empress Mother alone in that world. Are you accelerating the time in that world, making it use up its lifespan as soon as possible?" Ye Qinjing, who understands his father's plan, mumbles.

Ye Xiajie said, "Yes. You know that your mother is afraid of boredom and loneliness. We must get him out of there as soon as we can. I am capable of using Time Domain but Time Elements isn't your father's main element. It would take a few years before I can fully get your mother out. A few years is better than Eons right. We can talk after I finish this task and play with your siblings for a while."

"Actually Emperor Father, I can help you with Time Acceleration. It was actually faster if I did it on my own. As the God of Time, such a thing is simple for me." Ye Qinjing said.

The God of Void was stunned that he suddenly stopped what he was doing and turned around to look at his Eldest son.

Ye Xiajie murmured, "You... You're the God of Time? Is this real?!"

Ye Qinjing, the God of Time, nods and grins at his father. He replaced his father's Time Domain with his own. Unlike his father's Time Domain, which controls both the past and the future. Ye Qinjing's Domain possessed all the time of all of the planets and universe. He quickly determined the lifespan of the globe before him and only needed to move the clock to its maximum.

The universe then united with Cassius Ambrosia's spirit, changing seasons in the blink of an eye until it reached its lifetime, as seen by Ye Qinjing and Ye Xiajie. The star became barren and collapsed in front of their eyes. A man with silver hair is curled up in his slumber in the center of the universe. Cassius Ambrosia's spirit was coiled up in his slumber when he abruptly opened his eyes. He had spent Eons within that universe, despite the fact that Ye Qinjing had expedited time. As a result, his spirit attained Godhood and was able to fully free himself from the constraints imposed by the earth.

Ye Xiajie and Ye Qinjing were overjoyed to see Cassius Ambrosia gradually awaken. Cassius Ambrosia was put to sleep before he integrated in that realm. He just remembered taking a nap and then waking up. He would wake up in the middle of the night without seeing anything if Ye Xiajie and Ye Qinjing didn't speed up time. The star would serve as his prison till the end of time. Such agony was avoided thanks to these two individuals.

Ye Xiajie hugged him as soon as he woke up. Cassius Ambrosia can even feel him slightly trembling as he embraces him.

"What's wrong, A'Xia?" Cassius Ambrosia asked worriedly.

He comforted his man who suddenly hugged him then he recalled his panicking face before he fell asleep the last time.

His thoughts are 'Did something happen to me? It wasn't just a simple sleep?'

Ye Qinjing approached the couple and smiled at Cassius Ambrosia, he said, "Hello, Empress Mother!"

Cassius Ambrosia was taken aback for a time. He didn't have complete memories of his previous body, but now that he's close to his original vessel, all of his missing memories have returned to him, even those from before he entered the world to contact with and recover his husband's soul fragments. The youngster in front of him resembles the one in his memory and is addressed by the name he has memorized.

"Xiao Qin? Are you Xiao Qin? You've grown up! Quite handsome, my child!" Cassius Ambrosia said while smiling. His playful smile is too similar to the Hei Anjing they know.

Ye Xiajie and Ye Qinjing were speechless for a moment before becoming happier seeing such a familiar personality. It can be said that this is no longer Cassius Ambrosia but instead Hei Anjing.

"Let go of me for a bit. I'm going to enter my vessel. If I don't this soul fragment will fade" Hei Anjing said.

The two were now certain that the woman in front of them was Ye Xiajie's wife and Ye Qinjing's Empress Mother. He felt disoriented when Hei Anjing joined with his body. There are only two little fragments of soul within this vessel, including the one he saved before including this one, making it difficult for him to relocate it. He liberated the spirit of the previously captured black-haired Hei Anjing to prevent him from being damaged by his death during the last stage of the Second Trial.

The sleeping man under the tree opened his eyes but was unable to move his body. Before Hei Anjing could sit up, Ye Xiajie had to hold him from behind. His long white hair was like a silver river silk behind his back, and his eyes sparkled with coldness and exhaustion. Hei Anjing stated that his voice was rather raspy since this body had not been utilized in a very, very long period.

"I'm sorry. I still can move this body though I can see well enough to know who you guys are. Moreover, I can keep myself awake for too long. A'Xia, I know it's hard but... Continue finding me."

"I know. I will find all of you." Ye Xiajie said as his voice was shaking as he said these words. It's been awhile since he saw his wife awake like this and even talked to him.

Hei Anjing smiled at Ye Qinjing, "Sweetie, welcome home and you've worked hard."

As the God of Time heard his Empress Mother's words, he couldn't help but cry and hug him. Nobody knows how much he sacrificed only to ascend. He also did everything he could to keep that planet alive and waited for a responsible descendent to preserve it while he was abroad. He wanted to bring his parents back to his worlds so they could witness his hard work and give him the appreciation he deserved. He didn't expect that his Empress Mother do not need to observe his hard work to appreciate him.

He missed his parents just as much as he had anticipated. That's why he pushed harder than anybody else to attain Ascension in order to see them as soon as possible. Hearing his Empress Mother's words and his Emperor Father's voice was ample compensation for his long journey back here. This is his home. A place where his Empress Mother and Emperor Father may dwell freely with him.

Ye Qinjing muffled between his cries, "I-I'm... home, Empress Mother and Emperor Father."

"My Xiao Qin is still a crybaby isn't he~" Hei Anjing said teasingly.

Hei Anjing can't stay up for too long. He fell asleep again after a few words of warning to his husband and caring words to his eldest son. The two guys observed Hei Anjing, who had just been up for half an hour before falling back asleep in a deep slumber.

Ye Qinjing asked, "Emperor Father, are you going to another world again to look for Empress Mother's soul fragments?"

"Um. I will. The faster I gather his soul fragments, the faster he will be healed and wake up. I will leave your younger siblings in your care." Ye Xiajie said.

Ye Qinjing said, "Should I help you gather information about that World Eater that wanted to harm Empress Mother's soul fragments?"

"No need. That thing can eat almost anything. If I put you in danger your Empress Mother would never forgive me. Just stay at home and protect your siblings until we return. Do you understand, Xiao Qin?"

"Xiao Qin understands."

Ye Xiajie warned his son not to become involved with the global eater. It is a scourge that can only be killed, not caught. Its current goal is simply his wife's soul fragments; he cannot allow it to harm his children because they are a way. He also chose to chat to his brother about it before leaving.

"Let's go back for now. I can leave after dinner." Ye Xiajie said.

They returned home to have dinner. After discovering that Ye Xiajie has returned, the Mo, Hei, and Ye assemble for a family feast at night. Those who were not on missions had all congregated tonight. Ye Xiajie's parents checked on him and advised him to use caution during the trials. His wife's parents assured him that Hei Anjing would be well looked for. His in-laws also assured him that they would adequately protect the children so that he could concentrate on his trial.

After putting his children to bed, Ye Qijing went out for a drink with his father that night, along with the elderly eunuch who grieved at encountering the previous Emperor he served.

Before Ye Xiajie elected to depart, the three of them, including Shen Siwang, drank all night.

Shen Siwang said, "Don't worry about Vearth. Even if the World Eater attacks this place, I and Baojun can protect it. You should focus on protecting Xiao Jing'er's soul fragments no matter what. We will wait for you to bring him home completely."

"I promise that I will do my best." Ye Xiajie said.

Ye Qijing said, "Father, please be careful and take care."

"Don't worry nothing will happen to me unless something happens to your Dad. I will take my leave now. Until then..." Ye Xiajie said.

Using his wife's Space Elements ability, he transported directly to the Nether System's Central Area. Zhi Yang, Zhi Yue, Warden Lou, and Warden Yun were all waiting for his return in the Central Area. The two systems had transformed back into their avatars, a little sun and a small moon.

Warden Lou said, "Report. The transfer of the world for the mortals of the last world had been completed. The Domain Lord says sorry."

"I see. Since it's completed the karma can be cut off already. They must live their own lives on their own." Ye Xiajie said.

Warden Yun said, "Report. Kenan Light's soul had been punished in the lowest hell and perished in nothingness."

"He got what he deserves. Prepare to leave. Just choose the world randomly." Ye Xiajie said.

System Yue grabbed the globe roulette and chose the one selected by the machine. It was their Lord who controlled it to stop. One of the two violet stars is reached by the pinpoint. The others couldn't help but notice their lord's bad luck. There was complete silence in the region, including Ye Xiajie.

Only Zhi Yue had the courage to mumble his thoughts, [After an Upper ranked world, Red A-Class Star, another Upper ranked world: Violet B-Class Star. Should we be delighted that the level has decreased a bit? How is My Lord so unlucky with these types of games?]

[Yue'er shut up for a bit.] Zhi Yang said.

Pfft! Warden Lou took an elbow to the side for giggling and whimpering in agony. Warden Yun, who had just elbowed his beloved, became silent as if he hadn't done anything, while Ye Xiajie's lips twisted in displeasure and surprise.

Ye Xiajie grabbed the glowing violet star abruptly to hide his embarrassment and said, "Let's go. Just give me the plot when we arrived in the next world."

They all entered the Violet star, a B-class world that is just slightly less deadly than the one they had just left. Ye Xiajie's bad luck with drawings and roulettes should be the culprit. After completing one Higher Rated World, they were forced to join another. They'd vanished from the Nether System once more.

Chapter 1073: 17.0 Fourth Violet Star - New World

Among the rest of the planet, a violet Star was chosen. Ye Xiajie entered that B-ranked world first, followed by the two systems, Yue and Yang, and the couple's two devoted followers, Warden Lou and Yun Ming. They were separated as soon as they reached their allocated vessels, as planned. Yun Ming and Warden Lou Wuye were assisted by a subsystem.

This B-ranked Violet Star appears to be a futuristic world with three categories of humans: Arbitrators, Adjudicators, and Mediators. The first and second are fighters, whereas the third and fourth are mental users. An Arbitrator differs from an Adjudicator in that the former was born with bestial power and elemental talents. They are the most powerful fighters on the planet.

Adjudicators, on the other hand, can only employ bestial strength and, unlike Arbitrators, cannot fuse with their Quantum Beast. A warrior's Quantum Beast lineage is born or awakened with. It's a unique gene that was discovered in a human lineage. Human genetics were forced to be mingled with alien genes after living in an interplanetary universe in order to live in a world other than natural Earth.

Finally, there is the Mediator. They are Mental Ability Users who can calm down a mental disturbance or riot. Though fighters can be treated with remedies, only mediators can assist individuals suffering from severe mental rioting to restore their sanity. Arbitrators who have lost their sanity as a result of mental riots are exceedingly hazardous, especially if they are higher-ranking fighters. They can also give birth like an omega and guide as one.

Their adversaries are the Bug Race, Zerg. This race consists of beings in bug shapes. They are led by the King and Queen Zerg. The Zerg King defends and commands the unit, while the Zerg Queen bears children for their races. The King and Queen are mutually supportive. One has power and leadership, while the other may reproduce indefinitely as long as the Queen lives. Also, each king has numerous queens, but there can only be one Zerg King.

Cockroaches, grasshoppers, crickets, centipedes, and other insects were all used by the Zerg race. The more powerful they are, the more easily they can assume human shape. According to tradition, the butterfly hive is the strongest of all insects yet does not engage in warfare. In this hive, an Empress Butterfly is claimed to have enormous strength, capable of defeating a Zerg King. Regrettably, this Butterfly Hive is considered a myth since no one knows whether or not it still exists.

According to legend, the previous Grand Marshal killed the Chief of the Butterfly Race and went crazy as a result of his Mental Riots. The spore from the Butterfly Zerg Race created his mental riot, which resulted in delusions that drove one's mind to collapse. The Grand Marshal had been poisoned so severely that even after defeating the Chief of the Butterfly Zerg Race, the disease remained with him.

[World Plot: Silvan von Rosegard is a regular boy born into a Count's family. He was meant to be awakened as a Rosegard Family Mediator, only to be foiled by his branch family relative, Megan Shelley. His fiancée was snatched from him, he killed his family, and he imprisoned his elder brother for rebellion against the Crown.

His fiancée is the Second Prince, Christopher Klein von Imperlian, a prince eligible for the throne. They were childhood sweethearts and this man was born as one of the Royal Family of Imperlian's Strongest Adjudicators. He is a man who solely wants the throne and is prepared to go to any length to obtain it. Only when Silvan died as a result of the breakdown of their engagement did he begin to seek vengeance and died.

They were reincarnated together but none of them knew that the other was reborn as well. This time, they were destined to receive all that was rightfully theirs and to punish everyone who had hurt them in their previous existence. Caesar Mitchell von Imperlian, the mad Grand Marshal, is their most ardent supporter. He is the current king's elder brother, as well as the world's strongest and lone arbitrator. But, due to his frequent manic riots, he was deposed of the monarchy. Only Silvan was capable of calming his mind.

So when Silvan died in his last life, this man had almost massacred everyone in the Royal Family causing the death of their world and invasion of the Zerg to be completed.]

System Yue said, [My Lord, this Crazy Grand Marshal is you in this world.]

Ye Xiajie will now be called Grand Marshal Caesar Mitchell von Imperlian. The strongest and sole Arbitrator in the world. He is also the craziest man in existence.

A lovely man with platinum blonde hair and blue eyes clutched his sore temples. He sat at an opulent-looking table, a cigar between his fingers. His features are reminiscent of the Greek gods, with exquisite features that are the essence of beauty and appeal. Sadly, this lovely man's face is gloomy, and he was frowning like a fiend from hell instead. His blue eyes had crimson veins in the corners, making him appear insane and out of control.

The Grand Marshal took a glance around and realized he was in some type of office. Kir von Giselle, a Marquess Family Adjutant, stood to the side, peering at the young man bowing before the Grand Marshal. Warden Lou Wuye appears to have replaced this man's soul as well.

A young man with light brown hair and purple irises stands in front of them. This young man certainly comes from a noble household based on his clothing.

Grand Marshal Caesar asked in his mind, [Is this the reborn Protagonist Shou of this world?]

[Yes, Milord!] System Yue responded as he hovered around his master like a little moon on his orbit. He is in invisible mode and only outsiders like his lord and the Warden can see him in this state.

[He looks too greedy just based on his eyes. Does he want to use the Lord God as his tool to take revenge in this second life of his?] System Yang commented.

Grand Marshal Caesar described his voice as "indifferent and penetrating ice." Those who can hear his voice tremble instinctively. The Protagonist Shou in front of them is no exception.

"Speak! Child of Rosegard. What gave you the courage to appear before this lord?"

Silvan von Rosegard looked at him strangely as his thoughts went, 'How is it possible? Isn't he supposed to have a mania riot today? That's how it was according to the memories I have with me. I intentionally came here to cure his riot and gain his trust.'

While stuttering in the midst of his fear, "I... I... I..."

System Yue who heard the young man's thoughts said to his lord, [My Lord this human came here to scheme you! Is he here to watch the Lord go crazy!? Let's punish him!]

While staring down at the young guy, the Grand Marshal's lips formed an unpleasant sneer.

He appears to be a charming demon, causing Silvan von Rosegard to flush excessively.

Cesar Mitchell's thoughts, 'You wanted me to go crazy? Very well~ I will give you what you want.'

Silvan von Rosegard was caught off guard by that smile and panic in his mind, his heart beating beyond his control as he stared at the devil seducing him at this moment.

'Fuck! This old man is indeed the most seductive devil I've ever seen. He is hotter and sexier than my fiance!'

While the second-born son of the Rosegard family was enjoying the sight of a handsome man looking down on him with an evil smirk, he suddenly noticed the Grand Marshal's eyes slowly turning red as he held his head in his hand.

Groan~

Adjutant Kir acted worriedly towards his lord though he knew he was working, he also knew that mental riots in that vessel were real.

Watching the red hue expanding within those sapphire eyes, he realized that this Grand Marshal was about to have a mental breakdown. He seized the chance and appeared ecstatic at the sight. When he was going to approach the man, a massive black dragon emerged between them and hurled him away. He flew immediately outside the office and collided with the hallway wall.

BANG!

Several soldiers and employees at the Duke's Palace observed this scenario and concluded that their Grand Marshal was once again suffering from a mental breakdown. Several of the maids had fled. Only the ancient butler who grew up caring after the Grand Marshal was unfazed by the situation. He approached the young man who had been escorted out of the office.

The old butler asked, "Young Master Rosegard, can you stand? Let's go to the infirmary to heal the wound."

Blood strolls at the corner of Silvan von Rosegard's lips, if not because he used his mental ability to conjure an invisible barrier in front of him that he would even be more wounded. He wiped the blood and stood up in pain. He pretended to be worried about the crazy man in the office. He pretended to be worried about the crazy man in the office.

Silvan von Rosegard said, "Butler, help me go in. I had a way to help the Grand Marshal."

Adjutant Kir von Giselle looked out the door with a cold face and said, "The Grand Marshal is not going to see someone. Butler, you may send the son of Rosegard away."

"This servant understands, Adjutant Kir!"

The butler assisted the young man in getting up and pulling him away from the scene. He tried to fight but was defeated by the elderly butler's might. To be a servant of the Duke Palace, one must be a B-class warrior or above. Nevertheless, this elderly butler is a former fighter, and a Mediator like Silvan von Rosegard can't defeat him.

Silvan von Rosegard shouts in the hallway, "I told you I can help the Grand Marshal! Why don't you let me try? Arg! Let me go!"

"Stop struggling, Young Master Rosegard. This old man doesn't want to hurt you." The old butler said as he sent the young man out of the mansion despite his struggles.

As Adjutant Kir arrived at the office, the Grand Marshal, who is said to be insane, was drinking coffee and smoking on the table. The Black Dragon, Roi, had likewise slept in the corner of the room, moping at being separated from his mate.

Grand Marshal Caesar scolded his dragon, "Stop pouting! You will see Reine when I found my wife in this world."

Roar~

"I wanted to find my wife as soon as possible as well. So when you feel Reine's Aura immediately tell me who owns it." Grand Marshal Caesar said.

Roar!

The black dragon disappeared after being reprimanded by his master. Even though he misses his partner, he had no way to find him. He can only return to his master's quantum world to pout.

Grand Marshal Caesar said, "This brat is pampered by my wife too much. It sometimes doesn't listen to me anymore."

"My Lord, are you truly alright? What about the mental riot?" Adjutant Kir von Giselle (Warden Lou) asked worriedly.

Grand Marshal Caesar responded, "It's bearable. At least for now... Go investigate the Rosegard and Imperlian Royal Family for me. I need everything. If you found your partner then maybe my wife would be near as well. Bring Yang with you. He will help you find my wife's soul fragment."

"As you command, Grand Marshal!" Adjutant Kir left the office with System Yang.

When the two departed the office, Grand Marshal looked pinched in the center of his brows. He is able to contain the madness, but the scene depicts all of my failures in life as my true self.

"How is this world capable of using my real memories and not the original Grand Marshal's memories? Something is weird in this world. Yue, investigate the World Record of this star. Something is weird going on. Keep vigilant at all times." The Grand Marshal commanded.

System Yue said, "As you wish, my lord!"

Chapter 1074: 17.1 Fourth Violet Star - First Military Imperial School

Outside the Grand Duke's Palace...

Silvan von Rosegard was thrown out of the house in the name of the sole Duke...no one complained even if the Grand Marshal had thrown people out of his place, after all, this is a common occurrence in the Grand Duke Palace. When the guards saw Silvan von Rosegard being pushed out of the Grand Duke Palace gates by the old butler himself, they couldn't help but sneer at the Rosegard Clan's second Young master. In their eyes, this young man is no different from the ambitious politicians who sought to use the Grand Marshal's authority. They had no idea where they belonged.

The old butler spoke, "Please leave Young Master Rosegard. The Grand Marshal is not meeting guests for the rest of the day. Close the gates!"

"Wait! I am not joking when I said I had a way to treat the Grand Marshal's mental riots! Believe me, I can really help him!" Silvan von Rosegard said as he grabbed the metal gates that blocked him away.

The guards were also blocking him with their spears and couldn't even reach the Old Butler's sleeves. The others heard the young man's words but thought he was hallucinating. Many Mediators had come to the Grand Duke Palace claiming to be able to cure the Grand Marshal, but in the end, they were the ones who suffered a trauma they would never forget.

The old butler said, "A lot of Mediators thought highly of themselves and ended up becoming stupid in the end. You are just a student and haven't even awakened yet. How can you say that you can cure the Grand Marshal? Preposterous! Send him away and warn the Rosegard Clan about how they teach their descendants."

"Yes, Butler!"

Silvan von Rosegard was grabbed by the guards and carried to his car. These guards resume their duties as protectors of the Grand Duke's Palace after he is sent away. The son of Rosegard was humiliated and enraged by the way those guards looked at him. They were looking at him as if he were some kind of fool who was greedy and overly ambitious. When he realized he could achieve his goal, he chose to return home because he had nothing else to do.

"You will regret treating me like this! Hmp!"

As his car drove away, another car with a royal crest was waiting nearby, not far from the Grand Duke Palace, and witnessed the entire scene. When the car windows were rolled down, everyone could see the Second Prince's blond hair and sky-blue eyes.

The driver of the car asked politely, "Your Highness, the Second Prince, where to go next?"

"Back to the Royal Palace. I need to meet with my elder brother, the Crown Prince for something." Christopher Klein von Imperlian said she pulled up the window. He stared at the leaving car of the Son of Rosegard.

He mumbles, "Why have you come here, Silvie? Did you choose my Imperial Uncle in this life instead of me?"

His face became solemn, and the depths of his sky-blue eyes were tinged with malice and darkness. Obviously, the Protagonist Gong is turning black. As soon as he awoke in this timeline, he wanted to meet his fiancée. He misses him terribly and feels terrible about what happened in their previous lives. In his previous life, he was a jerk. He believed that if he could obtain the power of the Throne, he would be able to obtain what he desired and protect those he desired to protect.

But when he caught Megan Shelley and she confessed everything that had happened in the Rosegard Clan following the cancellation of the Engagement, he regretted everything. He should not have let go of the person he cares about the most in the world.

Christopher Klein von Imperlian murmured, "No matter what your choices are. You will be mine. No one else can take you away, not even my Imperial Uncle."

The largest school where you trained soldiers. The first year teaches fundamental military knowledge. Each department was divided into three sections: Adjudicators, Mediators, and ordinary people. Adjudicators were taught special combat and mecha training, while Mediators were taught Mental Ability Training, Potion Making, and Mecha Building, and Ordinary students were taught Intelligence Gathering and farming, as well as logistics.

Each department exists to help the others. The adjudicators are in the foreground, with the Mediators behind them. Ordinary students remain in the back, assisting those in the front. Each and every student is required and has a place in the military.

Of course, there is a disparity in strength among the students. With F being the weakest and SSS being the strongest. According to legend, only the Grand Marshal possessed the strength of the SSS ranks and was the sole Arbitrator in existence; unfortunately, his mental state is already poor. Almost everyone in the Imperium is aware that the Grand Marshal is dying, even though they both revere and fear him.

At the Dean's Office...

A man with light pink hair was sleeping on his table, surrounded by piles of unfinished paperwork. When he awoke, a pair of emerald green eyes looked around groggily and coldly.

The Dean of the First Military Imperial School is this man. He is the youngest son of a Marquess family, and his name is Frey von Gregory. As a result, he had nothing to inherit and married his future wife. He is also an S-ranked Mediator, but even he was unable to treat the Grand Marshal's mental riots. He is Adjutant Kir von Giselle's fiancée from the same Marquess Clan. The Giselle and Gregory Clans had always been on the side of the Grand Duke.

The soul of this vessel was also replaced by Warden Yun Ming. As soon as he woke up the subsystem in his mind spoke to him.

[Subsystem #01 at your service. Does the host want to learn about the background of your vessel, Lord Warden Yun?]

"Yes, please."

[Frey von Gregory. The youngest son of the Gregory Marquess Clan. He is an S-ranked Mediator and one of the best in the military. His fiancée is the Adjutant of the Grand Marshal, Kir von Giselle also from a Marquess Family. Your role is a supporting actor that helps the Protagonist Shou to meet the Grand Marshal after taking him as your student when he awakens as a Mediator and becomes a student of Potion Making under your tutelage.]

"Do I have to follow the script?"

[No. Since you have taken over the vessel you can do as you please. Lord An Liang had adjusted the Warden's authority in the world. At the very least as long as you don't directly cause the world's destruction anything is alright.]

"Do you know the Identities of the others who were with me?"

[Please let me check. Initializing connection to the world's database... Checking information... Completed!]

[Found. The Lord God is in the body of the Grand Marshal. Lord Warden Lou is in the body of Adjutant Kir von Giselle, your fiance..if you want to go to the Grand Duke Palace you have enough excuses to use.]

"I see. Is this the First Military Imperial School? If I woke up here, it means that Lord Hei's Soul Fragment is also here in this school. Send a message to the Lord God. I will try to find Lord Hei among the people in this school."

[Affirmative!]

Warden Yun Ming quickly adjusted his posture. He completed the paperwork on the table and read the list of students, teachers, and other staff members at First Military Imperial School. He must sort everyone based on their strength and capabilities. His lord would always be born in a vessel that is regarded as the pinnacle, such as the Lord God. He should be able to find his Lord as long as he discovered something wrong with someone.

It took the dean half a day to narrow down the list to a manageable number. He eventually found three people. Two students from the Mediator Department and one from the Ordinary Department. Megan Shelley is a student of the Mediator Department. He is a branch family descendant of the Rosegard Clan and the cousin of the protagonist Shou. He was born with B-ranked Mental Abilities and the potential to advance to S-ranked.

The two ordinary students are also strange. Jace Green, the son of a commoner, is concealing the fact that he has awakened as a Mediator. As for how he did it, it appears that this boy possessed hacking abilities. He hacked the school network and changed his information to avoid detection. Unfortunately, when it came to Yun Ming from another world, a single click was all it took to restore everything he had deleted. Jace von Imperlian is his real name. He is the illegitimate son of Imperium's current King. But the Royal family was unaware of his existence, and he simply wanted to live a normal life.

Yara von Chrysalis is the last one. He is a transfer student who wants to study biology, specifically gardening and flower-related topics. His background is spotless. Born into a small baron family far removed from the political arena of the capital. When his family learned he wanted to learn farming, they sent him to First Military Imperial School. They are also aware that this child enjoys almost all types of flowers. Because he came from a non-awakened Baron Clan, it was fated that he would never become a Mediator or Adjudicator.

What was strange about this child was that his physical ability was above average, and he had destroyed the qi measurer during the exam, despite the teacher believing it had malfunctioned. The Orb of Qi Measurement exploded because it either malfunctioned or received too much Qi. Furthermore, there is something wrong with this child's genes, and they have yet to figure out what it is.

Dean Frey mumbled, "It is most likely Yara von Chrysalis but... I still need to check the other two for sure. Let's check on Megan Shelley and Jace Green first."

He sent the information to his fiancée with a note while he went to check on them in person.

He had the authority as Dean of the First Military Imperial School to walk around the school and investigate it himself. He first went to the Mediator to check on Megan Shelley and discovered them as one of the school's training fields. His class was doing field training and machine sparring.

He heard the teacher in class calling names,

"Lind Servine"

"Here!"

"Cali von Arid"

"Here!"

"Silvan von Rosegard"

"..."

"Silvan von Rosegard!"

"Sir, Young Master Rosegard was not in class the whole day."

"Hmp! Tell him he will get demerits if he continues to be absent without permission. Let's continue."

"Megan Shelley"

"Arg. So noisy~ where the hell am I?"

"Megan Shelley. Such rudeness! Your punishment is to run in the field for 5 laps!"

"Ah... You are calling for me?"

"10 laps!!!"

Dean Frey von Gregory noticed something odd about Megan Shelley's reaction right now.

He looked around as if he couldn't believe what was going on. So the young man, befuddled by life, had no choice but to accept his professor's punishment and begin running on the field. Frey thought the child was odd and asked his subsystem to temporarily open his Heavenly Sight.

This would allow him to determine whether the soul inside the body corresponds. He cannot use this on Gods such as his Lord, or he will be blinded as punishment for peeking through the secret of the heavens. He chose to open his Heavenly Sight to check the boy's soul because he couldn't feel any Godly presence coming from Megan Shelley.

[Affirmative! Opening the Host's Heavenly Sight for 5 seconds. Approved!]

Dean Frey von Gregory closed his eyes for a moment before slowly opening them when his request was granted. He looked into Megan Shelley's soul and saw a young man who resembled a bad boy, with dyed blonde hair and piercings, residing in the body. A little delinquent replaced the original Megan Shelley. This soul appears to have transmigrated into Megan Shelley's body after she died.

"Just how did the original Megan Shelley die?"

[According to the world record, the Protagonist Shou went to visit his cousin's room and lied to him by giving him a Soul Dispersion Potion. The Original Megan Shelley drank it when he heard it was an Awakening Potion the Count gave to Silvan. His soul just fully faded and that soul took over.]

"It's revenge alright."

Chapter 1075: 17.2 Fourth Violet Star - Pink Astilbe

Dean Frey von Gregory exited the area after checking on Megan Shelley. This time, he'll look into Jace Green, the Imperlian Royal Family's alleged illegitimate son. He wasn't sure if he was lucky or not, but it appeared that Jace Green and Yara von Chrysalis were working together in the garden. Their task is to choose a flower that they would like to grow and replant it in their pot. These two were not huddled in the garden, admiring the various flowers.

The flowers in the garden area are so abundant because the school planted flowers from all seasons here. There are common flowers, such as red roses, and uncommon flowers, such as chocolate cosmos. Jade Green chose a common red rose. This is the most common flower to grow and is visually appealing. Yara von Chrysalis, on the other hand, goes with pink astilbe. It was a light pink color, similar to cherry blossom flowers.

Jade Green asked, "Yara, what are you going to plant? I chose red Juliet roses. It's a common flower and should be easy to grow!"

"Get a common red rose plant. Red Juliet Roses are big roses but it's hard to grow. It needs to be sensitive to temperature and other things need to be considered. It cannot grow without special care. You have other things to do after classes." Yara von Chrysalis said.

Jade Green pouted as if his classmates were right. "I still have part-time jobs. Okay, I will choose the common rose plant."

Dean Frey von Gregory entered the room and overheard their conversation. Jade Green is, as expected, childish and immature, but he did not expect Yara von Chrysalis to be so friendly, which contradicted Lord Hei's cold demeanor. If he only saw Yara von Chrysalis' expressionless and cold face, he would realize the child is only acting.

The Baron Family was concerned that their child, who does not like to talk, would be bullied if he attended the First Military Imperial School. So he made it a condition that he talk to at least one friend before they would let him go to school. Yara von Chrysalis concurs and selects the first person to speak to him on the first day of class. Because Jade Green was the first to approach him, he chose him as his friend.

Their conversation continues...

Jade Green asked, "Yara, what kind of flower did you choose?"

"Pink Astilbe. For some reason, I feel that I need to pick this flower," responded Yara von Chrysalis as he looked at the light pink flowers he moved carefully in his flower pot.

Dean Frey von Gregory was taken aback when he saw Yara von Chrysalis holding a pot of pink Astilbe. Pink Astilbe's meaning is "Waiting for someone." Only then did he realize that Yara von Chrysalis, of the three men he had listed, was most likely the vessel of Lord Hei's Soul Fragment. An Ancient Language echoed in the area where he was about to approach the student.

{Forget}

For a moment, Jace Green and Dean Frey von Gregory were stunned as Yara von Chrysalis walked away with his pot of flowers. He stared emotionlessly in one direction before leaving.

When he vanished completely from the garden, Jace Green and Dean Frey von Gregory awoke from what appeared to be an illusion. They had forgotten that Yara von Chrysalis had been with them just moments before.

Jace Green and Dean Frey von Gregory, both dazed, looked at each other with throbbing heads. They are perplexed, but they don't know what they are perplexed about.

Student Jace Green confusedly looked at the empty pot in his hand to the Dean not far from here.

"Eh? Dean, why are you here? Why am I here? Oh, right I'm doing homework with Yara. Eh? Where is he? Did he already leave?" Jace Green mumbled.

Dean Frey von Gregory, on the other hand, believes that things aren't as simple as they appear. He knew something had happened, but no matter how hard he tried, he couldn't recall anything. He had to retrace his steps before he got into such a strange state.

But first, he answered the student's question and said, "Nothing. I was just passing by." Dean Frey von Gregory said as he turned around to return to his office trying to retrace his memories of what just happened.

While on his way to his office, Frey von Gregory's thoughts were in progress, "I remembered checking on Student Megan Shelley. He is a transmigrator who replaced the original soul of Megan Shelley who was killed by the protagonist shou. Then I came to the garden to check on Student Jace Green... Arg! What's happening? Why can't I remember anything beyond what happened after heading to the garden? Moreover, why does it feel that Jace Green was in the same state as me instead of the one who caused it? Is there a third person?"

Meanwhile, Jace Green, who was pretending to be a fool, summoned his people from the shadows. Though he had indeed forgotten a part of his memories, his people from a distance shouldn't.

Jace Green spoke, "Shadow Guards. Come over."

"Yes, your highness!" A few men in pure black robes appeared before him on their knees.

"Did something happen? There is a part of my memory that seems a bit weird. Do you see who did it?" Jace Green asked.

"Well... It is His Highness' friend. That boy is named Yara von Chrysalis."

Jace Green exclaimed in disbelief, "Impossible! I feel not even a strand of qi coming from him!"

"But we are not lying, Your Highness. Moreover, he didn't do anything but just say one weird word we couldn't understand. Suddenly His Highness and the Dean froze for a few seconds for no reason, you only woke up when he left. Moreover, he knew about us. He stared at us before taking his leave."

Seeing the subordinates of his imperial uncle, the Grand Duke had left to protect him, looking terrified. Jace Green couldn't help but recall what Yara von Chrysalis said to him in their first meeting.

[Nice to meet you. My parents said to make a friend so I won't be bullied. Can you become my friend?]

Jace Green mumbled, "Is he angry because I brought you with me when we are playing with flowers? Next time I'm going to meet Yara, you guys aren't allowed to be present. This is an order!"

"No~ your highness! That's too dangerous!"

"Enough. I've decided. You... Go get me a rose to plant. I still need it for my assignment." Jace Green said. "Also I want you to investigate Yara's whole background for me."

"Yes, Your Highness!"

Back in the dormitory...

Yara von Chrysalis had returned to his own room, carrying back his pot of Pink Astilbe. The First Military Imperial School didn't skimp on accommodations, especially for those from noble families. The Chrysalis Clan was a small baron family, but they were wealthy enough to rent a single room with a veranda. He was growing several other flowers and plants for potion-making on his veranda. He arranged his Pink Astilbe among the other plants and said quietly,

"Take care of your new siblings. Don't worry. I will help you all grow well."

As he muttered those words, he sprinkled some kind of dust all over the plants and flowers, causing them to grow and be healthier. Nobody knew what that dust thing was that Yara von Chrysalis was using. He returned to his room to take a bath. He then sat on his bed, concentrating, and entered his Quantum World. He can enter his quantum world for some reason, but it is empty, which is strange.

"This place is still as empty as before."

He didn't know whether he awakened as a Mediator or an Adjudicator. All he knows is that he is capable of using everything even though he is supposed to be just a human being. But he didn't seem to have any quantum beast despite having a quantum world.

After exiting his quantum world, Yara von Chrysalis continues to dry his hair as he mumbles, "I wonder who I was waiting for? Baba (Father) told me to listen to my quantum beast once it appeared as it is like my heart."

In the Royal Palace...

Christopher Klein von Imperlian arrived at his elder brother's house for a meeting. The Crown Prince's palace is the third largest Mansion in the Imperium. The Main Royal Palace is, of course, the largest, while the Grand Duke's Palace is the second largest. This is due to the fact that their Imperial Uncle, despite not being the King, is an Imperlian. He was born with royal blood. He would have been king if it weren't for his mental riots. But, as a result of the aftereffects of fighting the Butterfly Zerg Tribe, he is in such a bad state that he can go insane at any time and die.

The butler of the Palace had greeted the arrival of Protagonist Gong, "Welcome your Highness the Second Prince. The Crown Prince had been waiting for your arrival."

"Please show me the way, elder." Christopher Klein von Imperlian said.

The butler said, "Your Highness doesn't need to be polite. This way please~"

Christopher Klein von Imperlian followed the butler to the living room where his elder brother was waiting. He was doing the same work with his subordinates before he arrived. The name of the Crown Prince is Cain Nova von Imperlian.

The Crown Prince noticed his arrival, "You are here. The rest of you can leave. Butler some refreshments."

"Yes, Your Highness!" Both his subordinates and the butler saluted to his command as if his words were the most absolute.

Cain Nova von Imperlian asked, "My Dear Second Brother, why have you come?" his smile seems a bit sarcastic.

"Can I take a seat first?" Christopher Klein von Imperlian asked.

The Crown Prince gestured, "Go ahead."

"My older brother, I will stand down in the battle for the throne but I will support no one." Christopher Klein von Imperlian said straight to the point which startled the crown prince before himself.

Cain Nova von Imperlian said with a wry smile, "You got to be kidding me. In all my brothers you and I are most favored for the throne. For you to suddenly stand down... What is wrong with you."

"I don't want it anymore... The throne. There is someone more important than the crown to me. I've already told the Imperial Father he would most likely agree thanks to the news I gave him." Christopher Klein von Imperlian.

Cain Nova von Imperlian asked, "What kind of news?"

Chuckling, "Dear Elder brother will have to ask the Imperial Father himself. That is a secret of the Imperial Father after all." Christopher Klein von Imperlian said.

The Crown Prince turned silent for a moment as he was disgusted by this news. He was definitely interested in the news that made Father allow this bastard to step down from the Enthronement Trials.

Cain Nova von Imperlian's thoughts, 'But would this brat even tell him what that news is all about, wait a minute, he still hasn't told me what he came here for...'

"So... What did you really come here for? Second brother." The Crown Prince asked.

Christopher Klein von Imperlian said, "For a favor. Of course, I am willing to pay a price for it."

"Tell me the news which is the secret of our father and I will help you with what you want." Cain Nova von Imperlian stated.

Christopher Klein von Imperlian raised an eyebrow and said, "I haven't said what I wanted for a favor yet and you already agreed. This is not like you, Elder brother."

His eyes narrowed meaningfully as if observing a prey that was struggling with all its might, standing so proudly before his eyes not even fearing death that was looking over him. He had no intention of killing his brother though.

Chapter 1076: 17.3 Fourth Violet Star - There is something wrong with this world.

The Crown Prince and the Second Prince's conversation continues. Each was speaking in a way that allowed one to guess what the other person meant. But it's clear that both are anticipating the other's next words.

The Second Prince, Christopher Klein von Imperlian spoke, "Regardless of Elder Brother's meaning I will first tell you what I wanted as a favor. Support my marriage with the Second son of the Rosegard Family, in exchange I will tell you the news that the Imperial father didn't want others to know."

"You truly like that little kitty from the Rosegard Clan. You want me to side with you as the Imperial Father doesn't support a prince marrying a mere count's son isn't it?" The Crown Prince said with a sneer.

The Second Prince, Christopher Klein von Imperlian, speaks with politeness but hidden within his words is a threat no one can turn a blind eye to, "Your Highness, the Crown Prince, I hope you don't look down on this Second Prince's Fiance."

"Okay. My bad. I give you a promise with our Quantum Beast as witnesses." The Crown Prince, Cain Nova von Imperlian said.

They summoned their Quantum Beasts, and two adult lions, one with a golden mane and the other with a black mane, appeared in the living room. The Crown Prince owns the Golden one, while the Second Prince is the owner of the Black one. They both have Quantum Beasts that are similar. This is due to their Royal Family ancestry. However, legend has it that the original royal family was descended from dragons. Nobody knows how it becomes a Lion Bloodline.

A vow made in front of their Quantum Beasts is a serious promise. Because breaking it allows the party who was betrayed to kill the other person's Quantum Beast while the other person's Quantum Beast is defenseless. Because it is regarded as laws of the world.

The Crown Prince, Cain Nova von Imperlian pledged, "I, the Crown Prince of the Imperlian Royal Clan, Cain Nova von Imperlian vows to keep fulfill my promise to help the Second Prince, Christopher Klein von Imperlian, with his engagement and make sure his partner to be Silvan von Rosegard."

"Is that enough for you?"

The Second Prince responded, "Yes, it was enough. Then to fulfill the part of my deal." Christopher Klein von Imperlian stood up and whispered something to his elder brother.

Whatever he had told him left the crown prince in shock and was unable to react for quite a few seconds. On the other hand, the Second Prince after finishing his business was about to take his leave with a smirk at the corner of his lips. He obviously enjoyed the changes in expressions on his brother's face.

Christopher Klein von Imperlian stood up, "I've finished my business. Keep your promise, Elder Brother."

Only after the Second Prince had left did the Crown Prince respond? He directed his subordinates to conduct an investigation into a student from the First Military Imperial School. His face was filled with shock and disbelief. It seems the secret the Second Prince had told him was too important for him to ignore.

"Investigate someone from the First Military Imperial School. An ordinary student named Jace Green. Do it discreetly. If my Imperial Father already knew of his existence, he might have received people to protect him." Cain Nova von Imperlian ordered.

In the Grand Duke's Palace...

The Grand Marshal Caesar Mitchell von Imperlian was searching for traces of his beloved soul's aura. Unfortunately, no matter what he tried, he couldn't find any traces of his soul. He can only wait for his two subordinates to return with the items he delegated to them. He decided to return to his room and take a nap in preparation for his duties as Grand Marshal, knowing that his original self would finish it on time. So there's nothing to do for the time being.

On his way, he tasked the butler, "Butler, once Adjutant Kir returns. Tell him to wait for me to wake up. I'm going to take a nap first."

"As you wish, Grand Marshal!" The old butler said as he respectfully escorted his master to his bedroom worriedly.

Inside the bedroom of the Grand Duke, everything is in black leaving a feeling of simple luxury, elegance, and gloominess. For normal people, it wouldn't take long for one to be depressed staying in such an eerie room. Even the lights in the room were dimmed as if this whole place were made just for sleeping and nothing more.

There isn't a single luxury in the world that a God of Void hasn't seen, walking through the room with an apathetic gaze. He takes his coat off and hangs it nearby. As he walks to the bed and sits in lotus position. Instead, he attempts to activate the so-called mental riot that the world fears. As expected, people's mania in this world is simply the reverse flow of qi in the body, causing an illusion similar to the demon in the mind. But for a God who has ruled the abyss for a long time, there is only one mind demon who can affect his soul.

When the Grand Marshal opened his eyes, his sapphire eyes had turned completely crimson, and his mental riot had begun. The only difference is that Caesar Mitchell von Imperlian is no longer insane, but rather calm. Only the depths of his eyes, gleaming with the color of blood, reveal his insanity. This man was currently smiling, gazing at the Illusions created by his mind. The appearance of his life was alive and smiling mischievously at him. But this Hei Anjing, as well as his mental demons, was looking at him with affection. Like Hei Anjing before he fell into a deep sleep.

"Baby, I miss you so much. So very much that even a mental demon was something I am willing to accept. Wait for me. I will definitely wake you up." The Grand Marshal whispered sweet nothing to the illusion of his beloved he intentionally caused himself.

This kind of negativity, as a God of Void, could never affect him like the rest. Similarly, the God of Light can easily dispatch these mental demons, which explains their high cultivation.

For these brothers, nothing stood in their way of their cultivation path.

Caesar Mitchell von Imperlian stood there for hours watching this illusion of his wife until he felt the presence of his subordinates who had returned from their missions. He summoned them with Divine Sense. When Adjutant Kir and System Yue enter the room, it appears that System Yang has left. After hearing the news from Warden Yun Ming, System Yang rushes to the First Military Imperial School to assist in the search for his Master, leaving only the two to return to their respective masters.

Adjutant Kir saluted and said, "Reporting to the Lord, "This is all the information about the Rosegard and Imperlian Royal Family. The Imperlian Royal Family remains the same and everything that happened to them was the same as the recorded timeline. But the Rosegard family had made great changes ever since the Second Son, the Protagonist Shou, had been reborn."

He had passed the information he had gathered to the table of the Grand Marshal and let him check it himself.

Adjutant Kir von Giselle continues to report, "He first called for Megan Shelley and made him drink a Soul Dispersion Potion thinking It was an Awakening Potion. The reason for this must be revenge. According to Yue, the one who caused him to die in his last life is this Megan Shelley. Additional news from Yun Ming, he seems to have awakened in the vessel called Frey von Gregory. The Dean of the First Military Imperial School. He found out that Megan Shelley's body is now occupied by an outsider's soul. Not a world hopper but a transmigrator."

"As for the rest of what the Protagonist Shou had done after being reborn is that he solidified his standing in the noble society just to make it hard for the King of the Imperlian Royal Family to remove him from the position as the Second Prince's Fiance. Also....we found out that the king had an illegitimate child and... my Lord, he was hidden and supported by the former owner of your current vessel. Should we continue to keep an eye on him?" Asked Adjutant Kir von Giselle.

"No need. That stupid king will know soon. Whether it's from the Protagonists or someone else. Remove our traces from his side before the king finds out." The Grand Marshal commanded while looking dazed somewhere and would somewhat smile from time to time.

System Yue and Adjutant Kir von Giselle found something was wrong with the Grand Marshal but couldn't make a shape out of it. He would look dazed for a while as he smiled and whispered voicelessly as if talking to someone.

System Yue asked, [My Lord, are you alright?] As the system was made from Hei Anjing's blood, his role was to make sure his Master was safe. This was the order of Lord Hei from a long time ago.

The Grand Marshal spoke, "The Mental Riots of this world are like the Mental Demons in our world. It would show you who can influence you the most. Who you loved the most, cared for, and hurt the most. Mental Demons had no effects on an Evil God like me but this mental demon allowed me to see my wife which made it hard for me to destroy it."

"Mental Demons. No wonder they say those who suffer from mania go crazy." Adjutant Kir von Giselle said. He sighed in relief knowing that such things had no effect on his lord.

Caesar Mitchell von Imperlian asked, "What happened to the things I've asked you to investigate, Yue?"

[Answering to the Lord, the Heavenly Laws did meet anyone of Lord Hei's caliber but...for some reason the laws in his world were disrupted. Allowing things like rebirth and transmigration as something normal. The possibility of this world being corrupt is one.] System Yue said.

A frown appeared on the handsome face of the Grand Marshal, "A corrupted world isn't enough reason for my memories to be used for such a thing as a mania. There is something else in this world that knows me enough to use my own memories. Find them! No matter who they are, bring them to me!"

System Yue and Adjutant Kir von Giselle fell on their knees and said, "Yes, My Lord!"

Rosegard Clan's Mansion

After being kicked out of the Grand Duke's Palace in such an embarrassing way, Silvan von Rosegard went directly home. He was in such a bad mood that he immediately locked himself in his room to throw tantrums. His family and brother were worried about him and stood outside the door of his room. They heard some sounds of something crashing and banging coming from inside his room.

"Sweetie, are you alright? Let Mom see you for a moment."

"No, Mom, I'm in a bad mood. After I calm down, I will see you okay?" Silvan von Rosegard responded from inside his room.

His father, mother, and brother looked at one another and didn't directly say anything to each other, but they all had worries in their eyes.

The heir and firstborn of the Rosegard Clan is also a skilled Adjudicator. He works for the Imperlian Royal Family as a knight. He had no prince to serve, as he serves the crown itself, which is the king. Actually, he was the reason why the engagement between Silvan von Rosegard and the Second Prince, Christopher Klein von Imperlian, had been broken. This is because the King wanted to marry his eldest prince to this man and bring the Rosegard Clan to his side rather than to the Second Prince. The Royal Family members know about this, but Silvan von Rosegard, in his previous life, knew nothing of this. That is why the Second Prince asked the Crown Prince to be in his favor by supporting his marriage; he wanted to pressure the king using his elder brother's power instead of getting involved in further farce. Christopher Klein von Imperlian had no intention of fighting for the crown in this life and wished to be by Silvan's side, nothing more.

"Silvie, brother is home. Don't you want to see the gifts your brother has brought home for you?" Stephen von Rosegard, the elder brother of Silvan, asked.

Silvan von Rosegard actually feels guilty for this elder brother of his for causing his death in his previous life. Because of this, he feels more attentive and caring toward him this second time around. After controlling his raging emotions, he chose to temporarily forget what happened in the Grand Duke's Mansion.

The Protagonist Shou's thoughts at the moment are, 'Brother? Big Brother is home. Right. Today is the weekend. He is indeed supposed to be home today. I can't ignore my brother because I am in a bad mood. That's right. I returned to make sure my family and brother would be safe in this life!'

Seeing the destruction in his room, he didn't know how to clean it up. In the end, he had no choice but to not let his big brother in such a wild room and had to go out and meet with his brother and parents outside. He arranged his clothes properly before coming out of the room. He smiled at his brother and tackled him with a hug.

"Brother! You're back! Welcome home!"

Chapter 1077: 17.4 Fourth Violet Star - Ordinary students' Classes

The Rosegard Clan was having a happy dinner banquet, especially since the family had finally gathered as one. Silvan von Rosegard was particularly attached to his elder brother.

Every time he accompanies his family and brother like this, the guilt and regrets he accumulated in his previous life fade away in his heart. Just seeing them happy and free satisfied and relaxed him. He wished that this happiness could last forever.

Stephen von Rosegard asked, "Silvie, I heard you will be awakening soon. How is it? What type do you think you would awaken?"

"A Mediator, I think? I was told that mental qi is stronger and before I awakened I had at least reached the minimum threshold for it." Silvan von Rosegard said.

His elder brother and family were overjoyed to learn of his impending awakening. Even though they knew their youngest would one day awaken as a warrior, they had watched him make all the necessary preparations for his dreams. He wished for their beloved child to achieve his goal and be happy in the future.

Stephen von Rosegard said, "That's good. It is better to have a goal. If your mental abilities truly awakened and you will most likely end up becoming a Mediator. Aren't you happy? Once you awaken as one the second prince will definitely be delighted. Don't you know how much he was pushing His Majesty for you to officially become his betrothed? The second prince truly loves you."

Silvan von Rosegard was taken aback when he heard the Royal Palace's exclusive news. After living his first life, he learned what it's like to be betrayed by your own cousin, abandoned by your own fiancée, watch your family suffer as a result of you, and witness the gruesome death of your own brother as a result of your folly. His entire body shook as he remembered all of those unwanted things.

Silvan chose not to tell anyone about his rebirth because he didn't want to be mistaken for a lunatic. Instead, he chooses to avoid his fiancée. As long as they are separated, he will be forgotten, just as his fiancée never visited him after the annulment of their engagement was completed. Since they were children, he had been madly in love with Christopher Klein von Imperlian.

He was his sweetheart and the only man he cared about. But such abandonment in their previous life broke his heart, and he couldn't put his trust in a man who could so carelessly throw away his heart. So, in this second life, he abandoned his love in favor of protecting his family. That's why he stopped writing his fiancée letters. His usual routine of making his life revolves solely around that man's life has already come to an end. He wanted to protect his family this time.

Killing Megan Shelley's secret was the first step. He wanted to hear the news of that green tea bitch's death. That was supposed to be the only good news he is waiting for today after being embarrassed at the Grand Duke's Palace. Who would have thought that the result would be otherwise what he had expected?

Daddy Rosegard asked, "By the way, Silvie, did you not go to school? Megan was looking for you all morning. He went to class alone this morning. Would he be alright going home at such a late time?"

"Don't worry, Dad. I will call his communicator after dinner!" Silvan von Rosegard said. He acted like the cousins were close as ever but in reality, he already killed that green tea bitch who continuously put his family in danger.

He expected a call from the school regarding the death of that man, but he didn't expect Mommy Rosegard to say, "Don't worry about Megan. He called this afternoon saying that he chooses to stay in the dorms. Maybe he made new friends, which is good."

Silvan von Rosegard couldn't believe what he had just heard and was speechless as to how his mother had received a call from a man who was supposed to be dead.

"Mom! Is it really Megan who called you!? Not someone else!?" Silvan von Rosegard asked urgently.

Mommy Rosegard replied, "Y-Yes... It's a call directly from his communicator."

"Is there something wrong, Silvie?" Stephen von Rosegard asked worriedly at his younger Brother's sudden outburst.

After calming down, Silvan von Rosegard responded, "Big Brother, I'm alright. I was just surprised that Megan chose to go in the dorms but didn't even tell me about it."

"Do you want to enter the dorms too, Silvie?" asked his elder brother.

Silvan von Rosegard shook his head and said, "No, I wanted to accompany Mom and Dad and also wait for my big brother at home."

"Okay. Let's go as you wish, Silvie." Stephen von Rosegard said with a doting smile on his face.

When his parents and older brother are not looking, his gentle exterior is completely shattered. His determination to murder Megan Shelley for the second time is stronger than it was the first time. He truly wanted Megan Shelley to be gone for good, but he had no idea that the soul in his cousin's body was no longer the Megan Shelley he knew, but a stranger who had nothing to do with him.

Morning Classes

Ordinary Student's Building

At First Military Imperial School

All students are required to return to their classes as soon as the first bell in the school rings. In this building full of ordinary students, each of them carried a pot of plants or flowers in their arms. Plants of various kinds grow on the students' arms. There are some herbs, but they are only sprouts. Some flower plants, such as those in the pots of Jace Green and Yara von Chrysalis. Some were unlucky, and their plants died unexpectedly. The final types of students were all depressed because they didn't expect their plants to die overnight.

Jace Green saw some of their classmates trying to plant new ones on the spot which was not allowed and most of these guys were from the group of guys whose plants died overnight.

"Yara, look at them. Their plants only have a branch left. Did they just plant that branch directly?" Jace Green said, covering his mouth, eyes blue-green irises filled with mirth and some traces of tears at the corner of his eyes. He looks like he would laugh in a boisterous manner in just a minute.

Yara von Chrysalis maintained her expressionless expression but continued to look in the direction his friend had just pointed a finger. He also saw a fully-bloomed plant that resembled a tree branch rather than a young plant sprout.

"That's just a tree branch planted directly after cutting from the tree. It wouldn't grow and would dry up on its own."

Pfft!

"You thought so too? Haha~ I know what's wrong with him using that. Did he think our professor is blind?"

"He'll get a zero score." Yara von Chrysalis said straight to the point. He also glanced at his friend's plant and commented, "Your plant almost died too. There is no need to laugh."

"You're so cruel, Yara~. There is no need to tell the truth!" Jace Green said as he hugged his dull rose plant.

Light touched the closed rosebud of Yara von Chrysalis' friend's plant. As if energized, the rose bud slowly opened and fully bloomed in front of his friend's eyes. With his mouth open, Jace Green, who had witnessed such a miraculous scene, looked at his rose plant and Yara von Chrysalis' magical hand.

Jace Green was shocked, "What the...!? Yara, are you an elemental user?! Plant Ability User?"

"I'm not." Yara von Chrysalis denied his assumptions right away and added, "I am just good at taking care of plants."

As the professor approached their side to check on the progress of their plant, he turned around and stopped paying attention to his friend's annoying blabbermouth. As expected, Yara von Chrysalis received the highest score, followed by Jace Green, whose plant was saved at the last minute by Yara. Meanwhile, those who faked their plants or whose plants died unexpectedly received harsh reprimands. They were here to train to be farmers in the future. If they can't even care for a small plant, there's no reason for them to continue studying agriculture.

Farming is considered the hardest and highest-paid job in this futuristic world, after warriors. This is due to the fact that food is required even by warriors. Even if there is a nutrient solution, no one would call drinking such disgusting stuff eating. Even though it has flavors, it still tastes muddy. That's why, even if they weren't good at fighting, most ordinary students wanted to be farmers. Because not everyone dared to join the warriors on the front lines.

Jace Green and Yara von Chrysalis returned their plants to their original locations before proceeding to their next class, Potion Making. Making potions is also an important job.

A single potion is worth a few million dollars. Unfortunately, it is difficult to successfully create a potion of high purity. Yara von Chrysalis and Jace Green were also seated at the same table. Because the latter was too chatty and the former was too quiet, the teacher allowed them to sit together.

The Apothecary (Potion Making) class was held in a school laboratory. Each student is given a set of basic Potion Making tools. The professor was currently describing each tool and its applications. Yara von Chrysalis looked behind her and noticed that Jace Green, in particular, took this class seriously.

Yara von Chrysalis didn't have to say anything for his questions to be heard. Jace Green, who had noticed his gaze, looked at him with a questioning expression. He knew that his friend is interested in why he is taking this class seriously.

Jace Green said, "There is no need to look at me that weirdly. I came to this school to specifically learn about potions. As you know I am a commoner, I came to this place as a scholarship student. My mother is sick and needs a lot of options to continue her treatment. Even though the school provided her basic medication while I am in school, I'm still worried it wouldn't be enough. So... I need to learn potion-making seriously to cure my mother."

"I see... You can do it. Just don't pressure yourself." Yara von Chrysalis said.

He was not good with words and didn't know whether these words he had spoken were enough comfort. Of course, Jace Green noticed and laughed at his friend's innocence.

Jace Green was smiling, "Thank you, Yara. I shall do my best!"

Unbeknownst to them, a few people were watching them from a hidden room in the laboratory. The first is Dean Frey von Gregory, who was tasked by the Grand Master with searching for his wife's soul fragment, and the second is a person from the Crown Prince's side who was tasked with keeping an eye on Jace Green on his orders.

Dean Frey von Gregory glances at the man observing Jace Green in the hidden room and realizes he has no good plans for the students. It was his responsibility as Dean of First Military Imperial School to protect the students. At least on the surface, as he has yet to locate Lord Hei's incarnation.

Dean Frey von Gregory spoke, "You are the Crown Prince person. Why are you targeting Student Jace Green? If you fail to give me a reasonable answer, I shall destroy your mind!"

Sneered!

"Mediators think too big of themselves. You can't even protect yourself without your Adjudicator!" The man tried to harm Dean Frey von Gregory as he immediately summoned a quantum beast which is a gorilla.

Frey von Gregory shook his head. It was against the law to use Quantum Beast against ordinary people and Mediators in the Imperium. But this Crown Prince's henchman openly breaks the rule in front of him. He truly despises him. Frey von Gregory summoned his white snake just as the Gorilla jumped on him, greatly enhancing his Mental Abilities. Qi clashes between Frey von Gregory and the intruder during their fight.

Chapter 1078: 17.5 Fourth Violet Star - Chaos in the Laboratory

What happened to Megan Shelley yesterday?

Megan Shelley went to his room after he had finished arranging everything. His body collapsed and was carried back to the infirmary after being punished by his professor and running ten laps around the training field. The nurse in the infirmary had let him sleep and rest for as long as he needed. The memories of the original had returned to him during this brief sleep. Furthermore, for some reason, the memories of the previous life were incorporated into the current one.

In his previous life, he witnessed the original owner of this body employing every trick in the book in order to obtain what he desired. He used his main family's naive cousin. Tried everything he could to ruin his cousin's reputation so that the Imperial Royal Family would cancel Silvan von Rosegard's engagement to Christopher Klein von Imperlian, the second prince. What's surprising is that he did everything and accomplished everything. The majority of it was due to the system in his head. This system just popped into his head one day and told him to do this and that.

It was a typical system in the story, with a villain who would directly punish him whenever he failed a mission. It's an electric shock that comes from his brain, and it's so painful that if he survives the punishment, he'll go insane. Megan Shelley did everything he was told in his previous life, but it was all for the sake of survival. He did not complete the mission, however, because he was apprehended by the Second Prince and died.

The system in Megan Shelley's head malfunctioned after the host died, but it still attempted to transport the host's soul to the past. As expected, when the system returned to the past to bring his Host's soul, Megan Shelley's soul broke down, especially when his soul in the second life completely melted into nothingness. The system had also crashed, leaving only a few functions that could be controlled manually.

Someone from another world has taken over Megan Shelley's soul. Zane Lin is his name.

He is a rogue Sorcerer in his world. He is one of the greatest Sorcerers in the world, but he is too eccentric because he enjoys breaking sorcery laws. He is killed in an explosion caused by accidentally mixing spells.

As soon as the nurse left, Megan Shelley, or so the body was called, opened his eyes and looked around cautiously. After whispering an unknown spell, a thin barrier separates the sounds and protects the one who appeared unexpectedly inside. Megan Shelley's eyes sit up and he checks it with his body's qi. He used to be a sorcerer, which explains why he is skilled at the circulation of energy in his body. As a Magic user who does not use mana to activate a spell but rather a catalyst, the qi in his body becomes his most powerful source of control over his spell.

Zane Lin noticed something strange in his mind. He suspected this was the reason for the so-called system that controlled Megan Shelley in his previous life, much like a microchip.

He began chanting again as a few magical circles appeared on his head, and then a small chop was teleported directly out of his brain, leaving the inside of his brain unmoved.

While examining the microchip he had removed from his head, Zane Lin decided to keep it instead, and once again looked through the original memories before storing it somewhere. He understood the laws and concepts of this world because he had complete control over Megan Shelley's body. Even though there is no magic or spell in this world, there are people who have what is known as Mental Ability. They have the ability to manipulate the qi around them, not only to attack and defend, but also to heal.

Zane Lin mumbled, "As long as my spells are considered invisible no one would notice right? I can just say I am capable of using elemental abilities if I really need to use them. Though those people are rare, they do exist in this world."

"The problem is the Protagonist Shou of this world. His hatred for the original owner of his body is too much. He even used a potion to completely destroy his cousin's soul. What a cruel child. Anyway, this body is now mine so who cares about him? If he dares to touch me I can ensure he will go down with his sins."

"I still have classes in Apothecary. Let's go make an arrangement for the dormitories and rest."

Back to the laboratory...

The sudden clashes of attacks between the Dean and the intruder had caused chaos in the laboratory just below them especially when the mirror of the hidden room burst due to their fighting.

BOOM! CRASHED!

AAHHHH!

The students below screamed in shock and terror. When a burst of qi was felt, most students hid under the table, with the exception of Yara von Chrysalis, but Jace Green still pulled his friend under the table with him. Glass shards scratched some students, causing cuts and wounds on various parts of their bodies. Fortunately, none of them were seriously injured because their Apothecary professor is also a Mediator and assists the students in blocking the glass shards. But, as a C-ranked Mediator, he could only protect those who were close to him.

The Professor shouted urgently, "Students! All of you get out of the Laboratory!! Also, call the guards of the school. Tell them an intruder had come inside the school!!!"

The terrified students were mostly trembling in terror. They were just ordinary people, so the battle between warriors, regardless of whether they are Mediators or Adjudicators, was inevitable. They'd look like shrimp among the whales. They can even be injured by a simple swing of these guys. They were deemed fragile in comparison to the others. Some teachers also arrived on the scene to assist in the protection of the students. After all, ordinary students are protected by the law, and if they are harmed by an Adjudicator or Mediator, the latter will bear the consequences.

Jace Green murmured at the scene, "It was at this time that I truly wanted to become an ordinary person."

"Aren't you an ordinary person?" Yara von Chrysalis said he looked strangely at Jace Green. Whose lips twitched at such a question.

But before Jace Green could say anything, he noticed his friend crawling towards his plant not far away. All of the students' bags and belongings were left in one corner of the room during Apothecary Class. Their class had just finished Agriculture, and their plants had been brought to the laboratory with them. He noticed his friend approaching his flower pot. Everyone in their class knows that Yara is obsessed with his flower pot and treats it as if it were his child. He wasn't surprised to see him crawling over the pink flower pot.

Jace Green said, "Y-Yara... What are you doing? Come back here!!!"

"My flower... I don't want it to die." Yara von Chrysalis responded.

Meanwhile, Dean Frey had injured the intruders physically, but he had severely harmed the other's mental strength. His mental abilities are exceptional, as he is the strongest Mediator in the First Military Imperial School. At the very least, he can make his opponents go insane.

The intruders who entered the school without permission and intended to harm the students were suffering from mind mania at the time. Not only that, but all of the awakened teachers and security guards had gathered to surround him. He was aware that things had deteriorated.

This intruder had forgotten what his Master had instructed him to do. His only mission was to look into a student named Jace Green. But, in order to finish his mission as soon as possible, he intended to kidnap the student and bring him to his Master. Who would have guessed that the man watching the students with him was the Dean of the First Military Imperial School before he was able to do so? He is a rough warrior with an ugly face, which scared the delicate Mediators and prevented him from curing his mental disorders. Because of his dislike, his mental disabilities weakened his strength, and he nearly died on the battlefield.

As a result, his dislike for the picky Mediators had turned to hatred. He began losing his temper whenever he encountered a Mediator and began taunting any Mediator in sight. Dean Frey von Gregory simply happened to run into him. His eyes began to turn a bit red, indicating that a mental riot was in full swing. He began hearing and seeing illusions that forced him to work. The uneasy words of disdain he had heard in the past because of his appearance, the rejections of Mediators, and his hatred for them became more intense. In this state, he can barely maintain his sanity.

Dean Frey von Gregory noticed his changes and said to everyone in the area, "His suffering from mania! He is an A-ranked adjudicator who gets someone to subdue him physically. I can barely hold him back!"

As a result of his master's mental riot, the intruder's gorilla quantum beast began attacking the area and even falling into the laboratory where the students were. When the gorilla fell, not all students had been evacuated. The students screamed once more and ran out of the laboratory in terror. A stampede occurs, adding to the chaos in the area.

Suddenly, the gorilla began acting strangely like its owner and turned to look at the plants in the corner of the room. They dash into that area, as if something in there could alleviate the pain in their heads. Yara von Chrysalis happens to be nearby, clutching his pot of pink astilbe. Nobody expected a student to be standing in that spot right now. They only realized when Jace Green, in shock, screamed his friend's name.

Jace Green shouted, "YARA! RUN AWAY!"

"What is that student doing there?!" Their Apothecary professor exclaims in incredulity.

When someone called his name, Yara von Chrysalis turned around, hugging a pot of pink flowers. The professors were terrified when they saw an ordinary student like Yara being attacked by a crazy Adjudicator and a mad gorilla quantum beast.

"No! Stop them! Don't let the student get hurt!" Dean Frey von Gregory ordered, but he was already panicking. He already suspects that this student, Yara, is a soul fragment of his Lord. But, unlike the soul fragment from the previous world, he can't see anything that proves this young man is a strong existence.

His thoughts, 'I will be dead if this young man really is Lord Hei's Soul Fragment and I let him get hurt.'

But, in full view of everyone, Yara von Chrysalis just stood there dazed as the two beings attacked him. In his arms is that pot of pink astilbe, which grows quickly and begins to move on its own, as if it has gained intelligence. Its flower wined out into countless thick branches, instantly forming a wood cage to protect Yara von Chrysalis inside. The gorilla quantum beast and its master had been attacked by the two thickest vines. They were grabbed by their legs and slammed against the laboratory walls like toys until they were dizzy from being slammed here and there.

Surprisingly, the pink astilbe flower even covers its owner's eyes as it beats up the two creatures who dare to harm them. Dean Frey von Gregory and the other professors in the area were taken aback. Yara von Chrysalis is a typical ordinary student. There was no qi emanating from his body at all. So they were certain he was just a regular person.

But, if that's the case, how did that ordinary flower pot gain intelligence like this one in just one night of his care? It was so powerful that it threw an A-ranked Crazy Adjudicator around like a toy. Everyone was stunned as they watched the scene, which was both amusing and disturbing. Because the person under protection is oblivious to what is going on around him.

Dean Frey von Gregory mumbled, "What the hell is happening?"

The area is filled with the sounds of something hinting at the walls and pleading to be saved. Even the intruder, who had almost gone insane, had returned to normal after being played with by the pink flower vines around its feet. The Gorilla's eyes were already swirling from being thrashed around and unable to utter a single sound.

Chapter 1079: 17.6 Fourth Violet Star - Sentient Plants

When the flower vines had finished knocking the intruder and his gorilla quantum beast unconscious, they wrapped them up and threw them in the corner of the room. Except for the soft vines covering his eyes, the cage that protects Yara von Chrysalis slowly retracts. These soft vines were the last to fade as the pink astilbe flower plant reverted to its normal shape as if it hadn't been it who destroyed the pair that had attempted to harm its master.

Yara von Chrysalis, who was holding a pot, looked at the ruined laboratory in front of him as well as the stunned expression on his face. His face was expressionless, and he looked down at his flower pot without saying anything. He doesn't have any expressions on his face. He even appeared innocent because he thought what he had witnessed was surprising, but that was all. His face remained emotionless at all times.

Jace Green, who had awoken from a state of shock like everyone else in the room, had gone to check on his friend's condition. He, like the others in the ruined laboratory, had witnessed what they were witnessing now. He was surprised, but not surprised because he had already witnessed what his little friend had done to his rose plant. The rose plant, which was on the verge of dying, had bloomed beautifully as a result of his gentle touch.

"Are you alright, Yara?" Jace Green asked.

Yara von Chrysalis just nods his head in answer.

As he grabbed his wrist to leave, Jace Green hurriedly took his bag and plant, even helping Yara carry his bag. The teachers were all staring at the pot in the embrace of Yara von Chrysalis. Their eyes were glistening with excitement. As they witnessed, that pot of flowers is definitely alive.

A teacher spoke up and said, "Ah! Wait, Students! That flower plant can you give it to the teachers?"

"But this is my Agriculture Class's Homework." Yara von Chrysalis mumbled as he tightened his grip on the plant.

Dean Frey von Gregory reprimands, "Stop! What are you doing taking the child's thing with you!? Students, go back to your dormitories. Classes for the rest of the day are canceled."

Under the greedy gaze of the teachers, Jace Green and Yara von Chrysalis hurriedly left the class. They genuinely desired Yara's pink flower pot. Unfortunately, the dean had already spoken and had received a reprimand for it. The two students overheard their teachers' departure conversation.

"Dean, why didn't you take that pot of plant to study? That's a plant with intelligence!"

"Moreover, we should also check on that student fully. How was he able to make such a plant or maybe he is not an ordinary person after all."

"We should find the connection between the two of them. You know how important plants are in the Imperium."

"Enough! Think twice before you speak. Since that plant made a move to protect the child. Once it was away from the child would it still live? Or do you think you can fight against it, a plant that smashed an A-ranked Adjudicator and its Quantum Beast like a piece of rug to the floor!" Dean Frey von Gregory stated, making the rest of the teachers mute.

"Don't touch Student Yara and Student Jace. I've already warned you. Have someone clean up this place."

The Dean walked away, taking the intruders with him. These two would be handed over to the Black Dragon Troop, from which the Dean had come. He didn't know if these people remembered his warning. But he is now certain that Yara von Chrysalis is Lord Hei's soul fragment. Such a strange scene that shouldn't exist in this world. It can only be caused by Lord Hei. He had no idea how that plant became sentient, but for God, giving sentience to something is as simple as breathing.

If these teachers did make a move, they would undoubtedly be affected by those plants. He heard that Yara von Chrysalis keeps a lot of plants in his room, so he brought those plants to school from home. In short, plants gain intelligence and life for an extended period of time. He wouldn't be surprised if those plants turned into fairies.

Meanwhile, Jace Green dragged Yara von Chrysalis to their dormitory building, carrying their bags and plants. They only came to a halt when they entered Yara's dormitory room.

Panting~ "Hah~ I'm so tired~ that just now was scary. Yara, Yara, please give me a glass of water. I'm so thirsty~" Jace Green said as he sat down on the couch in the room.

He looked around and noticed how clean the room is despite the fact that it is only big enough for one person. There are also numerous plants and flowers on the veranda, swaying in the breeze and soaking in the sunlight. The floral scent in this room came from the flowers that Yara was caring for. He saw him place the pink astilbe flower on the veranda with the other plants and water them gently with a shower pail. He only served Jace Green a glass of cold water after he finished this.

Jace Green stares at his friend before asking, "Yara, did you know that your plants are alive?"

"I didn't know that I could do such a thing. But I would hear a few voices sometimes. Asking for water or sunlight, even warning me if there will be rain. Aside from that, I didn't know they could fight like that." Yara von Chrysalis said.

Jace Green asked, "Do all the plants have voices?"

"Yes, unless it is dead or artificial." Yara von Chrysalis said. Then he pointed at Jace Green's rose plant and said, "Your Rose Plant said, you gave him too much fertilizer that he feels nauseous. Also don't forget to bring him in the middle of the day, it's too hot and his petals are drying. Also just water him once in the morning and a little bit in the evening. It said you almost drowned him last night."

Jace Green glared at his friend when he saw he was about to say more things and picked up his rose plant and placed it on the table in front of him. He crossed his arms and said,

"Okay, I'm listening now. Tell me what you want with Yara here to translate. Don't you dare spread bad things about me? Or I'll turn you bald!"

He lightly pulled on one of the red rose petals only to get hit by a thin vine making him let go. Jace Green pulled away his hands as he saw the thorns on the vine.

"Watch it! Don't prick me. Or I'll trim off your thorns!" Jace Green said as the Rose Plant in front of him started wiggling as if showing its temper like its owner.

Yara von Chrysalis said, "He said you shouldn't throw your dirty clothes on the floor and gather it in one place. You shouldn't play with your socks and change your maid. He said he saw it talking to someone called the crown prince?"

"Really?!" Jace Green was startled to hear that his half-elder brother was suddenly mentioned. If that man's people had come to the First Military Imperial School, then he can no longer hide his identity.

"Yara, is there a way for me to hear his voice?" Jace Green asked as he pointed at his little rose.

Yara didn't respond right away and looked at the wiggling rose plant as if listening to its words. He watched as his friend spoke with his rose plant for a while before his friend turned to look at him.

"He said he can sign a soul contract with you. But in exchange, you must give him premium fertilizer, premium nutrients, and sunlight morning and night as well as protect him from being taken away by the other people. After all, he still hasn't grown enough to match the plants in my house." Yara von Chrysalis said.

Jace Green grinned and said, "Deal!"

"Then you must give him a drop of blood. Unlike me who can converse without a need for a contract, you need this soul contract to hear his voice." Yara von Chrysalis explained.

Jace Green nods his head and pricks his thumb a bit and drops blood on his rose plant. The red rose as if he was alive sucked on the blood and glowed for a bit. Jace Green felt something else was growing in his quantum world while the rose plant in front of him had disappeared.

A young boy's voice can be heard in Jace Gren's consciousness saying, "Master, there is a scary beast in your head. Tell him not to eat me. I'm not delicious! QWQ"

"There is a voice in my head but... It's not my Xiao Li." Jace Green said.

Yara von Chrysalis said, "Check your Quantum World, your rose should be there. You can call him out anytime but like your quantum beast you must name him."

"You know that I am not an ordinary person."

"There is a qi concealed in your body. I can see through most energy even if it was hidden. I know that you are hiding it, so I never asked you about it. Like how you don't ask why I asked you to be my friend on the first day." Yara von Chrysalis said.

Jace Green said, "Then continue to be friends?"

Yara von Chrysalis agrees with a nod of his head. The two talked until Jace Green decided to go home and rest. He brought out his rose plant, Rozen. This is to ensure that anyone watching the building knows he didn't leave anything behind. At the very least, he didn't want those greedy people to know that Yara had given him an intelligent plant like his previous Pink Astilbe. Jace Green noticed multiple presences hiding nearby as soon as he exited the Dormitory Building where Yara von Chrysalis lives. He gave his shadow guards a command in hushed tones.

Jace Green commanded, "Capture them all. Tell their master not to bother my friend or they would suffer consequences for it."

"Yes, Your Highness!"

On the same day, news of the commotion at the First Military Imperial School reached those who were involved in it. The Crown Prince, who had received a warning letter from his Imperial Uncle, was enraged by his subordinate's stupidity. He instructed him to conduct a covert investigation into Student Jace Green rather than abducting him. He was even unlucky to run into the Dean while attempting to kidnap Jace Green.

Not only that, but he also assaulted a regular student. Most ordinary people were protected by the law, particularly from the violence of those in power. His subordinates had not only preyed on a young man as an Adjudicator, but they had also attempted to harm an ordinary student. No surprise he was apprehended and punished by the Grand Marshal for breaking the rule.

"That useless thing! I told him to investigate it secretly. What did he do for the Dean of the First Military Imperial School to capture him and surrender him to my Imperial Uncle."

Crown Prince Cain Nova von Imperlian slammed his fist against his table, severing it in half. As he received a summons from the Main Palace, his face was filled with rage. He will be punished as a result of his subordinate's ineptitude. The complaint was made by the Grand Marshal himself. It was something his Imperial Father could overlook.

The Old Butler couldn't help but inform his Master about the Main Palace's special guests.

"Master, Royal Knight Rosegard had come to pick you up under the orders of the crown."

Tsk!

"He is here already. The Imperial Father is so protective of that brat. It wasn't even him who also got attacked anyway. Forget it, let's go." The Crown Prince said as he left his Palace to heed the summons of the Crown.

Chapter 1080: 17.7 Fourth Violet Star - Unexpected Visitor

At the Grand Duke's Palace...

Dean Frey von Gregory led the intruder who broke into the First Military Imperial School to kidnap Jace Green, the illegitimate son of the Imperium's current ruler. After learning of the child's lineage, the original Grand Marshal brought him here from an abandoned star to the Imperium Main Capital.

At the time, the Grand Marshal intended to use this child as a bargaining chip against his younger brother. After all, this is the child of his younger brother and his adored wife. The current Emperor despises his current Queen and concubines. He had carefully concealed the existence of that child, who would have imagined that the world's two protagonists would be reborn at this time, and that the original Grand Marshal would be replaced by the God of Void. Many things changed in the future as a result of such circumstances.

The Second Prince informs the Crown Prince of the existence of their younger brother, making his existence known to the important people. Even the Grand Duke who was replaced had lost interest in him after the soul inside the Grand Marshal's body was replaced. The God of Void was searching for a soul fragment of his wife. Why would he be concerned about a stranger who had nothing to do with him?

Adjutant Kir von Giselle and Dean Frey von Gregory's souls were also replaced, so their priorities are also different. The real reason the Dean brought the Crown Prince's man before the God of Void is simple. This man attempted to harm Lord Hei's candidate vessel, which was enough to enrage the Evil God like Ye Xiajie.

After reporting everything to the Grand Marshal, all three of them believe that Student Yara von Chrysalis is Lord Hei's soul fragment in this world.

Grand Marshal Caesar said, "I will meet him myself and check. Send a message to the Main Palace informing them about this event. Hide Yara von Chrysalis's involvement in this and make sure to mention Jace Green's existence to the king. He isn't so stupid not to recognize the appearance of his son with the features of his most beloved woman."

"Yes, Lord God!" Dean Frey von Gregory responded servilely.

"While you are at it, indirectly mention the involvement of the Crown Prince. Though I am not sure that Yara von Chrysalis is my wife's soul fragment, the possibility is there. Anyone who tried or caused harm to him shall be punished. Make the king punish the Crown Prince no matter what. Kir, you can go with him." Added the Grand Marshal.

His Adjutant and the Dean bowed their heads and saluted, "As you command, Lord God!" The two took their leave after receiving their orders.

Morning

First Military Imperial School

Mediator's Department

Silvan von Rosegard arrived at class looking for his cousin, Megan Shelley. It was to see if he was still alive, as his mother had stated. He couldn't believe the soul-dispersing potion he had purchased on the black market was useless. In that dark place, he made a purchase, even putting himself in danger, just to kill that green tea bitch.

But he saw a living Megan Shelley surrounded by their classmates, acting as if nothing had happened. What he didn't realize was that the soul in that man's body was no longer his cousin, but a powerful Sorcerer in his own world. Silvan von Rosegard was bound to pay Zane Lin a visit; after all, he despised the original owner of his ship and had no intention of dying a second time.

"Megan, your cousin is here. Is he here to check on you? You were not feeling well yesterday after all."

"Maybe he came for another reason." Megan Shelley murmured.

"Eh? What do you mean?"

"Megan, your brother is here for you!"

"I'm coming over!" He stood up from his seat and told his classmates to give him a way for a bit. He looks friendly as always. "Let me talk with my brother for a bit. It might be something important."

Megan Shelley and Silvan von Rosegard went to an empty hallway so they could talk. The Rosegard Clan's second son was keeping an odd eye on Megan Shelley. He couldn't figure out why this girl didn't die. Of course, Zane Lin inside Megan Shelley's body notices his gaze, but he isn't foolish enough to inform the others that he isn't the real Megan Shelley.

Megan Shelley smirked and said, "Are you here to check whether I am dead or not? That weird potion you said was an Awakening Potion. It was something else isn't it, I have that potion checked and realized that it was an illegal potion. Brother~ you understand what I mean right?~"

Silvan von Rosegard's face turned pale with shock and terror as he spoke these words. He couldn't understand why a branch family member would continue to bully him in his second life, and he refused to accept it. Meanwhile, Zane Lin, who has received memories from his previous life, understands why Silvan is acting this way. When he was still alive, the original had cost him his life and made his life a living hell.

What Silvan von Rosegard didn't realize was that Megan Shelley was also desperate to live in that era. Furthermore, he couldn't accept responsibility for something he had nothing to do with. Plus, he realized that his cousin had to have been reborn with his past memories. That's why he was determined to kill Megan Shelley in this life.

Silvan von Rosegard's eyes are bloodshot and filled with malice as he stares at Megan Shelley. It was clear how much this young man was hurt when he was betrayed by Megan Shelley, whom he had treated like a brother, but who not only stole his fiancée but also caused the ruin of his family and the death of his brother. It's no surprise Silvan's heart is filled with rage.

"Are you blackmailing me?! You know that between the two of us, who would my parents and brother choose!" Silvan von Rosegard said.

A playful smug appeared on Megan Shelley's face and said, "You of course but... Are you willing to let your family and elder brother look at you like a little villain? They wouldn't be the same as they are now after they had learned you tried to kill someone. Maybe they would even blame themselves that you had become like this. Do you want that?" Megan Shelley said.

Megan Shelley's words were correct, according to the Rosegard Family's second son. It took him a long time to create a version of himself that is completely different from his previous life, and he is not willing to disrupt the peace that his family currently enjoys. In annoyance, he could only bite his lower lips.

Megan Shelley spoke, "What I did in our previous life could never be taken back but... Unlike that time there isn't anything that will force me to choose. I will stay away from the Rosegard Family and your fiancée. So... Leave me alone. This is time I won't do anything against you whether you believe it or not. Just don't push me so much. Megan Shelley of this world truly died with that potion. He is no longer me."

He walked away without looking back, leaving Silvan von Rosegard perplexed. When he heard Megan Shelley mention the previous life, he realized that he wasn't the only one who had been reborn, but his cousin as well. Silvan von Rosegard believed they had made his plan to kill Megan Shelley in this life a success, and that she had been reborn as a result. That is why he chose to live in dorms. This is done not only to avoid the Rosegard Clan, but also to avoid him.

In a state of disbelief, Silvan von Rosegard looked at the back of his cousin moving further away. Only now did he recall all the words his cousin had said.

Silvan von Rosegard murmured, "He said forced. In our previous life, was he controlled by something? That's right, Megan Shelley truly loves my parents and respects my elder brother. Only what made him all do those things... Forget it, as long as he stays away from us. I will ignore him instead."

The Rosegard Clan's second son walks back to rejoin his class. What they didn't realize was that there was someone else in that empty hallway who had overheard their conversation.

Christopher Klein von Imperlian emerged from the shadows. His black lion could wield dark elements, allowing him to blend in with the shadows in the area.

The Second Prince watches Silvan get further as he keeps watching and whispers, "As expected, Silvie had been reborn as well and... That Megan Shelley... that seems to be a different person especially when only he noticed me hiding in the shadow when even Silvie didn't notice me. Since he chose to no longer get involved with us, as long as he knows his place then I shall ignore him as well. Only Silvie is the most important." He once again disappears leaving no trace of him being here.

Dormitory of the Ordinary Students.

Jace Green pretended to be an ordinary student when he entered the First Military Imperial School, and thanks to the Grand Marshal's backdoor, he was able to join the Ordinary Students' Department despite the fact that he had long since awakened as an Adjudicator.

His Quantum Beast inherited the lion bloodline of the Imperlian Family as an illegitimate offspring of the Imperlian Family. His quantum beast mutated further and gave birth to a Liger, which is half-tiger and half-lion. It was said to be stronger than a regular lion because it was a cross between two fierce beasts. He'd be a serious contender for the throne. That is why the Crown Prince requested that he be investigated.

Jace Green had spent the entire day and night communicating with Rozen, his new pet. He assisted him in upgrading his soil to premium grade, poured nutrients into it, and even purchased him a genuine golden pot as he requested. The little rose plant had bloomed magnificently and appeared to be more expensive than a Juliet Rose.

Rozen: Master, why are you planting a new rose plant? Am I not enough for you?

Jace Green said, "Have you forgotten? You are supposed to be my Agriculture Class's Assignment. I need to surrender the rose plant to the teacher for grading. Do you want me to give you away?"

Rozen: Of course not! Master, I want some water~

Knock. knock. Knock.

Jace Green picked up the showering pail and poured some water on Rozen's head. When suddenly someone comes knocking in his room. Since his shadow guards didn't make the one outside is definitely not an enemy.

"Wait a minute~"

He dashed towards the door, Rozen in his arms, and was startled to see someone who wasn't supposed to be here appear before his eyes. It's a middle-aged man with light-blue irises and bright blonde hair. Unlike the Grand Marshal, he has traces of time on his face because he was not as powerful as his elder brother. A few wrinkles appear in the corners of his eyes. He appeared stern because he wasn't smiling, but when he saw Jace Green, happiness flashed within his light sapphire eyes.

Even Jace Green was rendered speechless. He only sees this man in pictures his mother showed him when he was young. So he knew who this person was that suddenly appeared before him.

"Why...? How did you know...?"

"Can we talk inside first?"

The King of Imperium and the Grand Marshal's younger brother, Cale Meijer von Imperlian.

He is also Jace Green's biological father. This is a very important person who should only be found in the Capital City's Center and inside the Main Palace. But, unexpectedly, he sneaked into the First Military Imperial School just to meet Jace Green in person.

Jace Green paused for a moment and looked behind the king, where he noticed his loyal minister and a few royal knights in disguise. Only after the King ordered them to remain outside while he went inside to meet his son did Jace Green allow him to enter his room. But the hands holding Rozen's golden pot tighten, and Rozen himself knows he can't let others know he's awakened his intelligence, but he's willing to come out just to protect his master. That is the essence of their agreement.

"Please... Come inside..." Jace Green whispered.
