

World Plot 1381

Chapter 1381 Second Red Star - Monarch Butterfly Bloodline

Hive Star

King's Palace

When King Augustus forcibly lifted the curse placed on his body, retreating within his chamber to destroy it, the curse had a negative effect on his soul. His blood surged backward, exploding his meridians and veins and caused him to bleed from his wounded blood vein while losing consciousness due to the impact of qi reversal. He passed out for an undetermined amount of time.

His true love, Hei Anjing, saw this threat and utilized their Marriage Imprint to make an appearance at his side in the form of a soul. Under King Augustus's right eye, a lone black snowflake materialized and began to blink, giving the impression that it was alive.

The God of Destruction floated above King Augustus in his soul form, looking at his beloved with a worried gaze and dismay.

Hei Anjing mumbles, "You never know how to take care of your own body, A'Xia."

All of a sudden, Hei Anjing noticed the surging purplish black aura—a mix of gluttony and darkness coming out of King Augustus' body. This aura tried to attack Hei Anjing's soul.

"Hm? He lost control. Sigh~

The God of Destruction released silver qi, which stopped the purplish black aura that intended to attack or eat Hei Anjing's soul. Instead, the purplish black aura becomes timid and tries to appear coquettish toward Hei Anjing, as though they are terrified of this silver aura.

"Good, so obedient. Move to the side. I still need to heal your master," Hei Anjing mumbles.

A purple and black aura separated from the purplish-black one. The purple aura trembles, trying to blend in behind the black aura, while the black aura sways as though courting the God of Destruction. The silver aura emanating from the God of Destruction greatly frightens this purple aura. He decided to disregard these auras in favor of attending to his beloved, who had passed out from backlash.

Hei Anjing scowled for some time after assessing the condition of the God of Void within King Augustus's body. He noticed that the auras of black and purple were battling it out for control of his body. The purple aura attempted to eat away at the darkness from within, but the darkness is nearly limitless because it is a part of the Abyss.

When the purple aura is fully formed, it will go back to sleep.

Hei Anjing mumbles, "His powers of gluttony and darkness are clashing, yet it subsides like that. It seems that the Void complements with the power to devour. Since A'Xia is the God of Void, the darkness in him would be endless and his other aura would never go against him. Is this good or not? I should help him control the power of gluttony until this completely returned to him."

The God of Destruction reached up to his beloved's chest and put his hand there. He blended his silver aura with his man's body's purple and black aura. The darkness became more intense and, predictably, the gluttony in his body had lessened. His beloved's respiration did not return to normal until King Augustus's chaotic aura subsided.

With a smile on his face, Hei Anjing assisted his lover in embracing their shared Immortality, which was made possible by the Marriage Imprint on their souls. All physical wounds would quickly heal and regenerate thanks to his everlasting physique. The blood that was lost returned to King Augustus's body, causing his wounds to heal.

The Zerg King's body developed quickly, maturing into a fully formed, manly form by the age of twenty-one. King Augustus was wearing torn clothing at the moment. The God of Destruction had pleasure in looking at the exquisite features on Augustus's physique.

Hei Anjing, who was eating his man's tofu while dozing off, was clenching his muscles here and there. He assisted him in changing into robes made entirely of black, the borders of which were patterned with purple mist.

Hei Anjing looked satisfied at the clothes he chose for his husband. "Okay. This color suits you the best. So handsome~ Hm? I guess i'm out of time."

Suddenly he felt his soul fading, his soul hadn't fully rested yet, and he had overdone himself in the last world. Seeing the traces of his fingers fading, Hei Anjing stares at his beloved with eyes full of love and affection. Gently caressing the cheeks of the sleeping man on his knees, Hei Anjing lands a soft kiss on King Augustus' thin lips.

The God of Destruction whispered, "Don't be afraid, A'Xia. In this life, you will never lose your sanity, and I will always be by your side. Find my soul fragments. I've been waiting for you all this time."

Hei Anjing's spirit vanished completely after the kiss, and King Augustus, who had been dreaming so tenderly, suddenly opened his eyes and began searching for something, as though he had misplaced his greatest treasure. His once-obsidian irises had blended into garnet and dark amethyst to create an entirely new tone that was all his own.

"Where is he? Gone. Gone!?" His aura exploded, destroying the whole King's Palace.

This explosion largely hurt the Royal Guards, who were posted outside the palace. The Zergs in the vicinity ignored their physical discomfort and fixed their gaze on the hovering figure in the sky as the King's Palace collapsed into ruins. Everyone in the atmosphere was dumbfounded by his haughty appearance and alluring looks, as his long black hair fluttered in the breeze.

Some people were able to identify his face.

Old zergs were staring at the man whose back was covered with enormous butterfly wings. The pattern of the wings on the Zerg King's back and his fully developed, unlike previously, immature features frightened them. two enormous black wings with stripes of orange on his back. The strongest members of their Zerg Race are the only ones with these exceptionally rare wings.

"M-Monarch. The Monarch Butterfly Bloodline has returned!"

"Hail the Zerg Emperor! Hail the Zerg Emperor!"

King Augustus was still in a bad mood. His state is still semi-delirious as he looks around, trying to find a trace of his lost treasure. He was sure that his treasure was beside him just now and then suddenly faded, waking up alone in such a place

"My treasure. Mine. Where are you?" He whispered.

King Augustus mumbles while ignoring the Zerg revering and kowtowing towards him on the ground. He suddenly looked above his head with his eyes, seeing through the cloud towards the open space beyond this planet.

A frown appeared on his attractive face as he saw his treasure being harmed by a bastard who stole his powers.

"You dare harm my treasure! I'll kill you!"

After shouting these words, King Augustus flew up beyond the skies above. He immediately heads to the space where the traces of his treasure are.

This is what happened before King Augustus arrived in space and saved Queen Titania from Mo Shizhe's clutches.

Everyone was taken aback by the unexpected arrival of the Zerg King, especially the Zerg Race, who were observing from a distance. The enormous butterfly wings flying behind the Zerg King's back had them all fixed on it.

The true lineage of the Zerg Emperor, and the most potent Zerg bloodline are the Monarch Butterfly Wings. Following the demise of the previous Zerg Emperor, no male Zerg had reawakened the Monarch Butterfly Bloodline in the previous few eras of Zerg Kings.

Ignoring everything around him, King Augustus gazes at Queen Titania while she is in his embrace. His eyes never left the perpetrator, who was suffocating his queen, until all signs of the wounds had vanished from his beloved's body. His eyes went from being warm and loving to being icy and emotionless. He is indifferent to and emotionless, observing all creatures like a god.

He views them as expendable entities that he is free to murder or destroy at will.

He gave Mo Shizhe a hateful expression, as though this robber had nearly taken his dear one. His aura was purple black with flashes of murderous purpose, and Mo Shizhe felt as though everything inside him was limited since he was the object of his wrath. He gave King Augustus a disbelieving glance.

Regarding the World Eater's corrupted soul fragment next to him, he felt as though his power was being sapped while it was still alive, and he was powerless to stop it.

There are power hierarchies among the pieces of the World Eater. Those that rose above can become sentient and lead autonomous lives, but the drawback is that they also inherited the World Eater's desires. The obsession they had for Hunluan, the God of Chaos, their creator and lover.

The final remnant of God Hunluan is the present-day God of Destruction, Hei Anjing. Nobody can consider Hei Anjing to be an incarnation. He is just a semblance of his distant past, but Tun Shizhe, this world's Mo Shizhe, was captivated by him because of his resemblance to Hunluan. The original World Eater was obsessed with his creator because of his wish to bring Hunluan back through Hei Anjing.

Regarding the tainted pieces of the World Eater, their preoccupation with God Hunluan has transformed into yearning, and the only things left in them are their unquenchable bloodlust and hunger. The World Eater's wish is to become one with the God of Chaos by uniting his soul and body.

Because Hei Anjing was seen as Hunluan by the corrupted fragments of the World Eater, this is the reason they all desired to consume his soul.

However, the God of Void's infatuation with Hei Anjing stems not just from his beginnings as a fragment of the World Eater but also from the unwavering love and possessiveness that the pair has developed as a result of their shared tribulations. For him, being obsessed with Hunluan's traces is insignificant. He loves Hei Anjing for who he is and not because he is someone's reincarnation.

This explains why the God of Void seemed to be unaffected by the craziness that Ye Xiajie, a piece of the World Eater, had left behind. He is already deeply enamored with the man he calls Jing'er, even before he discovers that Hei Anjing is God Hunluan's manifestation. His intense love, regrets, and past transgressions were the cause of his possessiveness.

For this reason, he could never forgive anyone, no matter who they were, for hurting his other half.

King Augustus stared at Mo Shizhe and said, "It was you. You harmed my queen."

"Heh~ I did. So what?" Mo Shizhe sneered as he retorted with these words.

"You shall not escape this time," the God of Void said.

After initiating the Domain of Darkness, King Augustus surrounded the two World Eater Fragments and his minions who had become involved in the conflict. A cloak of obscurity devoured them all. The Zerg King released the two wardens and two systems from Mo Shizhe's bindings with a sweep of his palms. After being freed, they went up to King Augustus and knelt down.

"We greet the sovereign Lord, Ye!"

"Go out and handle the things in the cave. If there are still humans or heretic zergs around, kill them all," King Augustus said as he gently passed Queen Titania to Colonel Cyril.

Colonel Cyril said, "The Queen is alright. He just fainted from using Eternal Ice in a mortal vessel. We need a source of heat to regulate his body temperature."

King Augustus snapped his finger, revealing a small Hellfire wisp in the tip of his fingers, which he placed inside the Zerg Queen. Under this heat source, the backlash of Eternal Ice was restricted, and the pale complexion of Queen Titania turned rosy.

"I will solve his Eternal Ice after I'm done with my business. Protect him with your lives," King Augustus said.

The four gave a salute, and King Augustus dispatched them beyond his sphere of influence. The Void and the Domain of Darkness both have the same effects. Although he was able to shift the Abyss because it was his original soul realm, he chose not to do so because his wife's body was sleeping there. He will not lay down his enemies' graves next to his own house.

Chapter 1382 Second Red Star - Zerg Emperor

Within the Domain of Darkness

Mo Shizhe struggled to move, as did the corrupted piece of the World Eater. All other elements and powers are restrained by the aura of darkness. In a place full of negativity like this, one can only go unfettered if they have light elements, a pure heart, or a brave soul.

The corrupted fragment was panicking, "What the hell is this place?! I can't even fly, and... for some reason, my hunger has sated?"

"Impossible!? How can this be?" Mo Shizhe immediately looked up and saw someone approaching them.

The God of Void was revealed to them in the flesh, but his true form had always been concealed by the shadows. He temporarily went back to his true body in order to obtain complete authority over this area. His long hair was dragged by him in this gloomy world while he wore the robes his wife had picked for him.

Only his eyes, which were once only a deep crimson, now have a darker purple hue, as though this change in color was evidence of his insanity.

Seeing this kind of eye was like an uncontrollable force that none of the people associated with the World Eater could resist. The God of Void's stare causes their bodies to tense up.

Ye Xiajie approached them and said, "I won't have cared what you have been doing in this world. Even if you destroyed it, I wouldn't bat an eye. If you wanted to kill me, I wouldn't have cared. But..."

"One tried to eat him and the other hurt him. Is my treasure something you damn shit can touch? Huh!"

The entire domain quivers, and innumerable shadowy hands grasp at the two as though they were alive. The other was pulled and strangled with many pairs of hands around his neck, while the first was nearly squeezed to death. The man they tried to beg stared at them coldly, watching them suffer slowly even though their groans, choking noises, and cries were signs of anguish.

Argh! Urk!

The God of Void would neither let them go, nor kill them outright. Instead, he would cause them the most agony possible, but before they actually passed away, the shadows would release them, preventing any death at all. Furthermore, they were rendered weaker by the domain's impact on depleting their qi.

"Ah! I'm just hungry! What's wrong with me eating!? Aah!!!" The eyeball retorted in pain.

Ye Xiajie's eyes narrowed for this reason. "Is that so? Then die!"

He employed his elements of darkness, under the direction of his realm, to stifle the corrupted portion and use gluttony to consume it. He can consume World Eater pieces to grow stronger, just like Mo Shizhe can, although in this instance, he is stronger than the sentient World Eater fragment because he can even eat a sentient one like Mo Shizhe.

Mo Shizhe shouted, "What the hell are you?! How can your aura of gluttony get this stronger when you don't openly seek World Eater pieces to increase your strength!?"

The God of Void looked at him like a brainless fool. "I've remembered something recently. Something about the distant past life. Something I don't care about much."

"Past life? Impossible! Most of the World Eater's memories are with me! You are lying!" Mo Shizhe said.

Ye Xiajie looked down on him as if staring at something unlikable. "Didn't you know that the world eater fragments had three types: corrupted ones synonymous with madness, sensitive ones synonymous with obsession, and lastly, independent ones born with reason?"

"Hunluan and the World Eater is a past I no longer have an attachment to. In my former life as Xia Jieye, there are only regrets and guilt, but as Ye Xiajie, he is only the husband of Jing'er. Nothing more, nothing less."

"If my beloved's soul fragments are something you can't see as Hunluan, but to me they are a part of the only treasure I have in this world. He is my world and my everything, and you... tried to destroy that! You shall not be forgiven!"

Mo Shizhe's soul was being actively grabbed and tarnished by the shadows. He can also feel the suction draining away at his might, snatching up even the life of his current vessel without hesitation. Unlike the previous world, where he had eaten Ye Jieye's existence and might, there was no hesitancy this time.

"A mere clone that only moves according to that bastard's control. The moment you made a move to harm my wife's incarnation, your existence was denied," the God of Void said.

Mo Shizhe fixed his gaze on the icy, merciless figure in front of him. Despite appearing insane due to the turmoil in his red eyes, this man handled his actions with composure and was able to speak without any trouble. He is in shock, wondering how someone with the World Eater's level of power could not go insane.

The World Eater even managed to control himself and was slain by the one he loved the most.

"You are a monster, like us. How can you love someone!?!?"

Mo Shizhe gave the original body all of his memories in the final moments of his life. All he is is a copy of Tun Shizhe. In a sense, Tun Shizhe was still recovering from his wounds from the time he broke into the Nether System and attempted to remove Hunluan's corpse.

Ye Xiajie's realm consumed two pieces of the world eater, strengthening his capacity to devour.

With a cold gaze, he watched the man get eaten by him. He even ignored his screams. The God of Void mumbles, "Even though the World Eater himself has gone crazy for his love, how can you question my love for my Jing'er?"

"In the end, I am the one who could understand the pain and regrets of that man, who could only watch his beloved sacrifice himself just to drag back his sanity."

"It's just that it's too painful to live knowing that you would be alone for the rest of your life. That's why he allowed himself to get fragmented because he knew that his beloved would never return and he couldn't bear that kind of loneliness."

Once more, the God of Void took on the form of King Augustus and hid his true body in the abyss to join his sleeping spouse. It no longer feels like a global eater has the ravenous hunger that they are meant to have. Because of this, Ye Xiajie was sure that, in contrast to the time he had traveled back in time and experienced life as a World Eater, he would never lose control of himself.

That contented yet miserable life.

"His meaning of living had been cut off when Hunluan died. I don't want to become like him. I will never lose Jing'er again in this life."

When his wings spread and he emerges, the realm of darkness disappears. In order to find his queen and his loves, he flew back to the hive. Nearly everyone on the planet was waiting for him when he got back to the Hive Star.

The evidence of his might is the monarch butterfly wings on his back. As in the tale, Augustus Kaiser can be crowned as the Zerg Emperor based alone on this special bloodline. Regretfully, he has no interest in it. When King Augustus had arrived, everyone in the hive had bowed.

"Welcome back, Your Majesty, the Emperor!"

Apathetically, King Augustus floated before the assembly. He does not appear to be really open to this kind of thing. All he could do was hum in return for their salutations. He saw Marquess Conrad, his subordinate, waiting for him among the crowd. The others, on the other hand, are not present and almost never frown.

Marquess Conrad stepped forward with his head down. "Your Majesty, the King's Palace is in ruins. We had moved the Empress to the Main Palace. Cyril had been looking after His Highness, but he still hasn't woken up, and his temperature has dropped once again."

With a worried look on his face, King Augustus thought for a moment and found Cid Warlock not far away. With a curl of his finger, the young man floated towards him.

Augustus Kaiser said, "Cid Warlock, child of the Morpho Butterfly Tribe, accepts my royal decree."

Cid Warlock immediately fell on his knee and waited for the current Zerg King and now the Zerg Emperor to give him his royal decree.

"Cid Warlock is a royal blood proven by the patterns and color of his wings. His achievements in the last war were astonishing. He had not only helped protect the hive but also proven his strength by defeating a few human generals and killing countless human sentries and guides.

He also protected our Female Zerg Soldiers, allowing them to fight without losing control of their mental abilities, as well as executed the orders of the commanders at the front."

"He had proven his worth, his loyalty for the hive, and his strength. With my authority as the King of the Zerg Race, I will give him the title of Crown Prince. He will study directly under me to learn the ways of the king and be trained by Marquess Conrad to further increase his strength. He is my heir and the future king of the hive."

"Do you accept this royal decree, Crown Prince Cid Warlock?" King Augustus asked.

Cid Warlock saluted and said, "I accept the royal decree!"

Seeing that no one disagrees with him, King Augustus nods. With satisfaction, he nods. He was unaware that as soon as he revealed his wings, no Zerg would be prepared to refute anything he said. In the hive, he gains total command.

King Augustus continued. "Until he gains enough achievement, I will remain seated on the throne as the King. But I will soon pass Cid Warlock the title of the king and reign as the Zerg Emperor, who would only come out of the race on the brink of extinction and no longer care about the mortal world."

"The change in my title will be followed by the position of the Queen. Once I become the Zerg Emperor, Titania Ambrosia shall become the Zerg Empress. His achievements all his life were enough proof of his strength as the future Empress."

The mention of Titania, the Zerg Queen, caused everyone to fall silent. They had seen as a person with unquestionable strength strangled their queen. He is so strong that with a single move, he could restrain

Colonel Cyril, Marquess Conrad, and two of King Augustus's secret guards. This man was helpless even for the Zerg Queen, who said their Zerg King had to save him.

King Augustus noticed the meaning of their silence. "I know you might doubt the power of my queen, but he is strong. Far stronger than I am. It's just that he hasn't fully awakened his full abilities."

"Full abilities. Your Majesty, you mean our race is still capable of getting stronger? I also can?" Solan raised a hand and spoke when King Augustus looked at him, giving him permission to speak.

King Augustus said, "Didn't the humans check your potential? But that thing on their side can only predict the bloodline of humans. As Halflings, your Zerg bloodline is stronger compared to theirs. Humans can't evolve on their own. They needed to mix their blood with something else to be promoted, but our insect race can evolve.

Like how Conrad had promoted himself from a Wasp King to a Megalara Garuda."

Their king's comments astonished everyone, and they turned their attention from him to Marquess Conrad. Acknowledging these individuals' interests, Conrad Silver fully assumed the form of his Zerg. a huge wasp whose carapace is all black. He appears terrifying and dangerous. It is not at all like your typical yellow-striped black wasp.

"I've evolved into a Garuda. My size increased greatly together with my speed, poison, and stronger defense thanks to this black armor around my body. I've only reached this stage after burning all my blood and refining it until all the bad genes in me had been replaced and enhanced. The process is extremely painful but worth it," Marquess Conrad said as he once again returned to his humanoid form.

Cid Warlock asked, "Is it possible for us to do it too as halflings?"

"Yes, it will be easier for you halflings as the human bloodline is more adaptable. But the pain will still be there. I suggest you guys don't do it as you are still so young," Marquess Conrad said.

Cid Warlock shook his head and said, "No, I want to do it!?"

"You might die," Marquess Conrad said without mincing his words.

Lucas stepped forward and said, "I would like to do it too! Please let me try, teacher!"

"Me too!" Solan, Kian, and Roan said.

King Augustus said, "I will leave the rest to you, Conrad. I need to see my wife. Don't worry, I will have Cyril assist you with this."

"As you command, Your Majesty!" Marquess Conrad saluted.

Chapter 1383 Second Red Star - Incarnation

King Augustus leaves the throng and goes to the Main Palace to see how his wife's incarnation is doing. The host of this absolute ice would suffer from the repercussions of Eternal Ice on a mortal's body, especially when it was unleashed to its utmost without control. Instead, he would not have to suffer if Hei Anjing had used it recklessly.

He is the God of Snow and Winter in Vearth, as well as the God of Destruction. Though Queen Titania is only a fraction of his previous spirit, all the components of the ice still love him. The ice components listen to him, although they are not entirely within his control. In addition, the majority of ice elemental users were emotionless or at least composed from birth.

This is due to the fact that feelings have a significant impact when using ice elements. It might have the consistency of snow or ice.

King Augustus observed the temperature dip as he approached the Main Palace. The Zerg King is greeted upon his arrival at the palace by mounds of snow within and remnants of frost throughout the entire residence. He recognized at once that this was a result of Eternal Ice getting out of hand.

The God of Void rushes in the direction of this coldness's source. Upon entering the room, he noticed that it was entirely covered in ice, giving the impression that the space had turned into a refrigerator. There was ice on the wall, a floor blanketed in soft, yet frigid white snow, and a chill in the air that made one shudder uncontrollably.

A massive bed in the middle of the space has a gorgeous man curled up on it with his eyes closed. This is how Queen Titania is at the moment.

Colonel Cyril stood next to the bed with his eyes closed and two fingers resting on Queen Titania's wrist. All he could do was keep transmitting his qi, allowing it to flow throughout the Zerg Queen's body, to keep the unconscious from becoming a human popsicle.

Colonel Cyril's eyes were closed, and his face had gone pale. There were hints of ice and snow in his long eyelashes. Right now, his pale complexion gave him a sicker appearance than the man who was asleep on the bed.

Snap!

With a single snap of his fingers, King Augustus doused the entire palace with Hell Flame. He kept the black fire under control so that it did not damage the castle, and just melted the ice where it had spread. As he approached the bed, he noticed Queen Titania covered in a thin layer of frost.

Had Colonel Cyril not prevented the effects of the Eternal Ice from taking hold, Titania would have perished and transformed into a human ice figure.

With the size of his hand, he called forth Hell to flare this time. A flame with an obsidian tint hovers over his palm, swaying unearthly, as though it wants to burn everything in sight. Colonel Cyril held out his hand, but King Augustus melted the ice and shoved him back. He did not wish to reduce his wife's direct subordinate to ashes.

"Retreat at the side." King Augustus said, turning his back to Colonel Cyril, who was leaning on the wall and breathing out a white fog seemingly coming from inside his body, which was frozen before and was now melted by King Augustus.

"This subordinate thanks Lord Ye for saving this subordinate's life!" Colonel Cyril said.

King Augustus said, "You did your best to prevent the Eternal Ice from spreading through his mortal body. Good work. You may rest. Leave the queen to me. Yang, Yue, you also come out."

"Yes," the three collectively replied.

Knowing he would be powerless to stop battles between the Eternal Ice and Hell Flame, Colonel Cyril exited the chamber. System Yang and System Yue, on the other hand, conceal their spatial space while continuing to monitor events within the main palace.

Perched on the bed's edges, King Augustus maneuvered the Hell flare so that it faced the Eternal Ice. This living ice, like its master, is haughty and conceited. It pays attention only to its master. However, he became so impassioned in response to the Zerg Queen's call that it damaged the very edge of this total ice.

"Gehena, what's wrong with this ice? Why is it going wild like this?" King Augustus asked the sentient soul of his Hell Flame.

Gehena responded, {Mau was too affected by the emotions of this mortal. It's because of this that his ice was full of emotions of hatred. It needs to be released but only its host can do it. The master has to wake him up. He is still increasing in strength. If this continues, this whole star will be frozen by him.}

"Can't you prevent the frost from spreading?" King Augustus asked.

Gehena responded, {Yes, but the clash between us would turn this palace into ice and fire.}

King Augustus said, "Do it! I'm going to wake him up."

In order to confine the power of ice in this little space, countless black lotus blossoms formed in the chamber surrounding the bed. However, as was to be predicted, the Eternal Ice discovered their schemes and likewise materialized as lycoris. A white, somewhat translucent lycoris appeared in the air and faced the room's black flame lotuses.

The two people on the bed were the only ones unscathed by the alternating white and black flames that engulfed the entire palace when these two flowers collided. Once more, King Augustus entered his wife's spirit region. His soul entered without incident because there were no obstacles to his entry this time.

However, this soul domain's white fog is more powerful than it was. Suddenly, the water beneath him turned over, plunging him into the dark sea. This dark water contains a planet that resembles a secret galaxy. It was commonly known that his Jing'er was descendant from the Hei Clan, the Master of time and space.

Additionally, he understood that his beloved had been pretending that he was incompatible with time elements when, in fact, time had no bearing on him. This is because of his ancestry and everlasting body. From the surface, others seem to know that ice is the primary element used by the Mo Clan. However, they were unaware that they could also use time elements in addition to ice elements.

Their heart is the driving force behind this.

Once their heart is moved by their chosen one, this being will be able to harm them, move them, and share their time with them. The Mo Bloodline is a unique family whose origins are unknown. The God of Origin and God of End themselves don't know the origin of this Mo family. But it seems today that Ye Xiajie will learn the secret of this family.

The God of Void looks around and feels that this black water is similar to his Void. It had radical effects, making one crazy. This is regardless of whether one is a god or not, but he is not only the God of Void but also the chosen other half of Hei Anjing. The negative effects of his soul domain don't have any effect on him.

He swam around looking for something because he himself didn't know what he was looking for. As if he forgot the reason why he exists, why he is in this place, or what this place is. All of a sudden, a powerful, unknown gray aura surged towards him; it didn't affect him. Instead, as if this aura were quite fond of him, it wrapped around him and pulled him over.

Ye Xiajie allowed himself to be pulled. He brought it to the deepest area within this black water. The core of black water is a small, hidden gem full of starflowers. As of now, this is a land of starflowers. This small place is devoid of water, as if this small piece of life is in another dimension.

Ye Xiajie looked around and saw clusters of gray starflowers. In his confusion, he whispered, "What is this place? Another soul domain within a soul domain?"

"This is not a soul domain, but a fragment of Chaos itself," a voice said, coming from behind Ye Xiajie.

The God of Void frowned and was about to attack when he turned around, only to stop immediately when he saw who it was.

"Jing'er?" he called.

The Hei Anjing in front of him smiled and said, "You found me, sweetie~" He tried to hug Ye Xiajie, only to be avoided.

An ugly expression appeared on the God of Void's face and said, "I don't know who you are, but I suggest that you don't use the face of my beloved unless you want me to kill you!"

The Hei Anjing in front of him didn't look scared, instead, he just smiled with even more gentleness.

"How did you realize that he is not me?" Hei Anjing in front of him asked.

Ye Xiajie snorted and said, "My baby doesn't call me sweetie."

"Ah, right. He calls you 'My Love.' That's because you guys were reincarnated in the same generation. I'm too old to call you that way. I'll call you Void instead," the man in front of him said as he turned into a small flower fairy.

"You can call me Star. I'm the Starflowers spirit. The place you are in right now is a fragment of Chaos. Not Hunluan's soul fragment but a fragment of his power, which is Chaos. All members of the Mo Clan possessed this fragment after all. They are a family born from Chaos itself after God Hunluan dies.

But among the Mo Family, only the owner of this domain was capable of using this power. I don't know why that is."

"Is Jing'er the incarnation of God Hunlun?" Ye Xiajie asked.

Starflower Fairy said, "Yes, aren't you also the incarnation of the World Eater? Actually, all beings born after the death of those two are their incarnations. After all, you guys are born from their leftover essences. It's just that you two are among the most powerful incarnations and have inherited more of their abilities."

"As for the real God of Chaos and the World Eater, they are long gone. They spread their fragments all over the place and created countless universes and stars. There are far more worlds than the ones you guys created. These universes and stars are nourished by the power of Chaos, so war and disorder will never disappear no matter where you are, like how greed in humans never disappears.

This is because the fragments of that couple spread after their deaths."

Ye Xiajie asked, "Can God Hunlun be revived if someone used the soul of Jing'er or anyone from the Mo Clan?"

"Revival is impossible. Their souls have long been merged all over space and time. They are gone forever, but... You both can use your blood essences to call upon their remnant soul will. This itself won't last long and would disappear forever afterwards."

"It needs a drop of your blood essence as well as a piece of my flower. Do you want to wake up in Hunlun? It is not possible right now. Your wife's soul is incomplete, and the same goes for the essence of his blood. Your blood can also wake up the remnant soul of the real world eater, but you need to eat more pieces of the power of gluttony. Just eating the corrupted ones would suffice."

"For the star flower, you have the same place in your soul domain like this one. That place is the real source of your ability to devour. It has always been with you ever since you were reincarnated as the God of Void."

"I see. But I don't know why I fell in this place; I came to this soul domain to find my wife's soul fragment," Ye Xiajie said.

The starflower fairy giggles, but his eyes look at him like he is a fool. "This is someone's soul domain. If there is someone who can bring you to me, it can only be my owner."

The actual Hei Anjing showed up in his white robes this time. With the same love as always, his silver eyes gazed at Ye Xiajie, and his long, light brown hair had turned to a white tint.

"I brought you here because I don't want you to believe that I only love you because I possess the ability of chaos. It's not my power, but since I was born with it, a lot of you have mistaken me for being the Incarnation of Hunluan. But he is not me," Hei Anjing said.

Ye Xiajie appeared ecstatic to see his sweetheart materialize in front of him. Hei Anjing's soul would not fade quickly, at least not in his own soul domain, unlike when he appeared in his soul from the outside. He drew his sweetheart into an embrace.

"Jing'er, I miss you so much."

"We were just together before you entered this world, and you act as if we got separated for too long." Hei Anjing chuckles.

"I miss you all the time. If possible, you should just be by my side all the time," Ye Xiajie said.

Hei Anjing said, "Once you find all my soul fragments, I will forever be by your side."

Chapter 1384 Second Red Star - Cocoon

The lovers had a short reunion while saying flowery words of love to one another. Just as the scene was getting hot, the forgotten flower fairy finally couldn't hold back from being ignored and flew in between the couple.

Starflower fairy, Star complains, "Stop! Don't ignore me! You sickeningly sweet couple. If you want to do it, go on the surface!"

Annoyed, Hei Anjing grabbed the little fair and said, "Bug, you are being noisy today."

"Ah! Let go, you devil!" Fairy Starflower struggled under the hands of the God of Destruction.

Hmph!

Hei Anjing conjures a small flame in his hand, which startles the starflower fairy.

Fairy Starflower looked terrified but still complained, "How can you wield fire!? You don't have compatibility with it!"

"Hmp! It's thanks to my husband. We can share talents; his fire ability is top-notch, so I can use it as well. Do you want to get burned?" Hei Anjing said while smiling teasingly at the little fairy.

When the starflower fairy had had enough, he drove them from his domain. The pair could no longer go inside, and they resurfaced above the dark water beneath them. When Ye Xiajie noticed that they had arrived back in the misty area—the typical location of his wife's spirit domain—he inquired about Titania Ambrosia, the soul fragment.

Ye Xiajie held his Jing'er up and asked, "Are you alright, baby?"

"That audacious bug! I'm going to rip his wings next time. Oh, my back~" Hei Anjing complained as he let his beloved massage his back.

The God of Void was dragged under the usual tree with white leaves and noticed that Titania Ambrosia's soul was frozen under it.

"Hm? What happened to him?" Ye Xiajie asked.

Hei Anjing answered, "He couldn't control Mau Loa; his soul was frozen as a backlash."

"Will his soul in this state affect you?" Ye Xiajie asked worriedly.

Hei Anjing shook his head. "Aside from being the God of Destruction, I am the God of Winter and Snow. Of course, it doesn't affect me, but... he can't return to normal anymore. To exist, he needs to merge with me. Let's wake him up for now."

With a raised hand, he summoned Eternal Ice to come back to him. Hei Anjing held a small white lycoris in his palm that was swaying as if it were joyfully meeting its master. However, it trembled as if it wanted to bite Ye Xiajie. A tiny, mushy snowball was hurled in the direction of the God of Void's face. It is blocked without expression by Ye Xiajie.

It called forth the lazy hell flame as though it understood where the wrath of the white lycoris originated. He hurled a black lotus blossom towards the white lycoris after it materialized on his hand.

The white lycoris eagerly folds its petals toward the black lotus, as expected, giving the impression that it wants to pull them off. At this sight, the drowsy black lotus woke up and simply stared at the white lycoris biting at its petal. He decided it was nothing and went back to sleep.

Chuckles and Hei Anjing asked, "What happened to them?"

"Um. When your Eternal Ice went berserk, it spread its frost all over in reality. My Hell Flames melted its territory, which pissed off your flower, but Hell Flame is lazy all day. Unless I woke it up, it would continue to sleep. Thinking that your Eternal Ice was being ignored, it ended up clashing like that," Ye Xiajie explained, which just made Hei Anjing laugh even more.

It was to be expected that his Eternal Ice would be thus immature and skilled at temper tantrums. Upon their initial encounter after his initial awakening, the Eternal Ice behaved as a dignified, elderly ice spirit. It appears by his current reaction that it was a newborn Ice Spirit, not an elder Ice Spirit with a thousand years on it.

Cough. Cough.

A sound of someone coughing was heard when the couple turned around and saw Titania Ambrosia, who had just woken up after being melted from her eyes.

Hei Anjing crouched in front of Titania with a mischievous smile and said, "You're awake."

Cough

Titania Ambrosia didn't respond to the man right away and looked at his hands, which were still covered in frost, which was beyond his control. He can feel his soul weakening. Only then did he look at Hei Anjing. His face was something that looked extremely familiar to him. It's that person who showed him fear—the fear of losing that person.

So he knew why this person appeared in his soul domain instead of Lord Chaos from before.

Queen Titania asked, "Did you come for me? I am willing to do as you wish."

"You don't seem surprised. Why?" Hei Anjing asked.

Queen Titania looked at the man behind Hei Anjing. That was definitely the soul that resided in Augustus' body. If he entered this soul domain once again, it means something happened to him in reality for him to come over.

"Lord Chaos, return the memories to me. I know that I am just your soul fragment," Titania Ambrosia said.

Hei Anjing asked, "Are you against it?"

"No. If I merge with you, I will be able to have the family I want, and..." Titania looked at Ye Xiajie behind Hei Anjing and moved his eyes to look at Hei Anjing. "He will also love me unconditionally as a part of you. That is enough."

"Sigh~ too reasonable. It would have been better if Chaos was like you instead of causing misunderstandings here and there," Hei Anjing said.

Queen Titania smiled. "His hatred is deeper than mine, and... who he hates and who he loves is the same person. Normally, he would be confused." The last two sentences were something he whispered only for Hei Anjing to hear.

Hei Anjing and Titania Ambrosia held each other's hands and closed their eyes. At the last moment, Titania opened his eyes, looked at the God of Void, and mouthed.

"Thank you, A'Xia."

Once Queen Titania had merged with Hei Anjing, he completely disappeared into the soul domain, while Ye Xiajie felt a force that wanted to throw him out of this place.

Hei Anjing said, "My love, I need to evolve my current body, or it won't be able to bear my soul. Please protect me outside."

"Okay. Take your time. I'm here." Ye Xiajie comes out of his wife's soul domain.

He opened his eyes to find the entire palace covered with burns and strewn with frost. He grasped the two elemental spirits that were struggling in the corner as he observed his beloved becoming encircled by silver silk, eventually resulting in the appearance of a massive cocoon that destroyed the entire palace.

"Your Majesty, are you alright?"

"What's that explosion? Check the ones injured and bring them to the hospital!"

With the exception of the walls the cocoon utilized as support to remain erect, Ye Xiajie demolished all the other worthless walls in the vicinity with his Monarch Butterfly Wings. The disturbance at the Imperial Palace was so great that it attracted the attention of all. As they stood in one spot, they were startled to find a massive white cocoon hovering over the main palace's ruins.

"A cocoon!? Impossible! No, is the myth real!!"

"Evolution."

"Who is inside? Is it His Majesty!?"

"No, His Majesty has completed his evolution. It cannot be here."

"Who is it then!?"

King Augustus fell down and stood before the white cocoon like a guardian. He glares at those bugs that want to be approached. With a flap of his wings, these shameless bugs were thrown away.

"The Zerg Queen is undergoing the evolution of an Empress. Stay away or this lord will burn you to ashes." King Augustus snapped a finger, and a few wisps of black flames appeared around him. Those few black wisps that touched a few pieces of debris in the area were instantly burned to nothing, which terrified everyone.

Everyone drew back under this threat, but they were unable to take their eyes off the massive cocoon that hid their Zerg Emperor. Their belief that Titania was unworthy of their Zerg Emperor had waned ever since the Zerg Queen entered evolution. They were now eagerly awaiting the birth of their Empress. Reversing the Zerg Empress who was yet unborn, these zergs were forced to kneel before the cocoon.

Meanwhile, in some other unknown space, Lord Chaos and Tun Shizhe, who were playing with Go, were suddenly affected by the changes in their plans.

Cough!

Even weaker was Tun Shizhe, who had his clone devoured. He had just recovered enough strength to mend his fractured arm, but after losing his clone, he sustained serious injuries in his soul. Feeling enraged by the memories of the clone that had come back to him, he looked scary and coughed up blood.

"Impossible! With that much aura of gluttony, how come he didn't go mad like others?" Tun Shizhe complained as he saw the clear picture his clone had seen.

Despite the obvious craziness in the God of Void's eyes, he maintained his composure and reason as though gluttony had never had an adverse effect on him. Even those who had consumed large amounts of corrupted world eater pieces would sense their heart demon becoming stronger; they could only subdue it, not vanquish it.

For this reason, he found the current status of the God of Void to be unbelievable.

On the other hand, Lord Chaos, who was holding a white go piece in his hand, was looking at the board, ignoring that his playmate had coughed blood or was enraged. He was actually not interested. He already knew he had failed to make the soul fragment of this world hate the God of Void again. The soul of Hei Anjing was felt strongly as well.

Chaos said, "It seems he has descended. Titania had merged with him. He is now in this world."

"Really?" Upon hearing this news, Tun Shizhe was delighted. Only the existence of Hei Anjing, who is the closest to Hunluan, made him happy.

Chaos said, "If you go there right now, you might get devoured. The God of Void's ability of gluttony had gotten stronger and the negative effects would work on him. This is thanks to the effect of the marriage imprint he shared with my main. That imprint had effects to remove all negative backlashes on the couple.

This includes the madness and uncontrollable hunger the World Eater had suffered from before."

"How is that possible!? How can he be that lucky!?" Tun Shizhe complained while feeling jealous of the God of Void, who can avoid the madness that comes with the power of gluttony.

Lord Chaos looked bored, yet he still explained things to him. "Luck? That is the reward you can get after completing the Trial of Marriage. Its requirements are strict and cannot be fake, and the rewards last forever, so that man will never suffer from the madness the power of gluttony brings in, unlike you."

When Tun Shizhe flipped the go board just now, he lost all control of his anger. They are both having fun. His look was full of madness for a time, but then it became peaceful again. With a sigh, Tun Shizhe, who had become normal again, snapped his fingers to convert the chaotic scene back to the peaceful one that had existed before.

Taking a seat on the other side of Chaos, he moved on the go board by holding a black piece.

Chaos seemed unfazed by the situation, as though he had seen similar scenes from Tun Shizhe before. They carry on with their game as though nothing had just happened.

Tun Shizhe asked, "What do you plan to do next? Now that Hei Anjing is here, you can't make moves so easily now."

"This world I give up. I will just make preparations for the next world. You should worry about your own," Chaos said.

Tun Shizhe said, "It might be hard, but... I plan on using the world's protagonist or some wild gods next time. He can't affect the Heavenly Laws that much unless he decides to destroy a star."

"Well, that sounds fun," Chaos said.

Chapter 1385 Second Red Star - Visitors

Planets close to the battleground were impacted by the Eternal Ice's utter coldness following the failure of the Hive Star's attempt to subjugate humanity. A portion of these stars that are livable have experienced freezing. Included in them is the Federation Star. They were less powerful than the other worlds as a result of the deaths of their commanders and warriors.

After being impacted by the cold of Eternal Ice, the star of the human race underwent a significant transformation. For millennia, Eternal Ice has been a divine substance. Everything was permanently frozen by its aura alone. As a result, the planets it affects will experience perpetual winter. That was the fate of the Federation Star.

Whether there is karma or not, there will be an unending winter at the end of this human star.

A thick layer of white snow covers the ground. The typical stunning, snow-white landscape has turned into a nightmare for the Federation Star's inhabitants. Never again would the news of the human fleets attacking the Hive star surface. Those left behind on the Federation Star only learned of its outcome through reports from the Interstellar Information Center.

The human fleets that attempted to attack the Hive Star had all vanished. Not even the ones who had infiltrated the battlefield survived. In this fight, the Heretic Zerg Tribe was also destroyed. The rumors regarding the Zerg Race had also been cleared up by the Interstellar Information Center. They gave an explanation of their lifestyle and eating habits.

It can be claimed that vegetarianism is practiced by the majority of residents of the Hive Star.

Many others were skeptical of this news when it first surfaced. They were astounded when a handful of these planets' leaders followed the IIC personnel and observed the conditions inside the Hive Star for themselves. Upon entering the Hive Star, the visitors were shocked by the ethereal scenery on this planet. The Hive is surrounded by more land than water.

with abundant greenery and flower gardens, this planet is more like a sanctuary.

The Zergs that call the Hive home are free to move about and take on the forms that suit them best. Thus, a large number of their insect forms are carelessly moving or crawling around. Halflings who departed from the Federation also reside in the Hive. Their way of life is entirely different from that of the Federation.

They could live a normal life as long as they were not afraid of those Zergs because at least here, they were on an equal footing with the other Zergs.

The market's abundance of flowers and lush vegetables, however, startled the guests the most. A small quantity of meat from pigs, cows, and other animals that are consumed by humans is available for purchase. These foods are typical cuts from cattle. At these kiosks, most zergs purchase baskets of flowers and veggies, while a select few, like spiders and mosquitoes, purchase flesh and blood.

You could say that meat is not considered a delicacy here.

There are also some royal guards hanging some red banners as if they are celebrating something.

One of the visitors approached these royal knights and asked, "Lord Knight, can I ask why you are hanging banners? Is there a festival or something?"

"You guys... Oh, you're the visitors from the Interstellar Information Center. Sorry, we failed to welcome you. As for these banners, it's indeed a festival. The Zerg Emperor ordered us to make preparations for the celebration. Our Zerg Empress is about to be born."

"Zerg Emperor? Zerg Empress? Not Zerg King and Zerg Queen?"

"Well, they are our former King and Queen, but since they completed their evolution, they've become Emperor and Empress. Our Emperor had awakened his Monarch Butterfly Bloodline. It was thanks to him that the Hive and our Empress were safe."

"Maybe you guys didn't know that during the invasion of the Human Race, the Heretic Zerg Tribe also attacked, taking this opportunity to take over the Hive, but the Zerg Queen protected us. Then a Human God comes over; we don't know where he comes from, but even though our Zerg Queen was helpless at that time, it was then that our Zerg Emperor awakened and saved his mate."

"Our Zerg Emperor is so powerful. He had to fight not only the Heretic Zerg King but also that Human God. If not for his protection, our Hive would be no more."

"Hey, what are you doing? We still have a lot to hang out in the city. Get your ass back here!" The leader of the royal guards said.

The Royal Guard that was caught lowered his head and bid farewell. "Leader, wait for me. I still want to hang banners!!"

The staff from the Interstellar Information Center looked calm when they heard the news. "Hm, it seems that I need to visit the Zerg Emperor to make sure this news is real." He turned around to see the other leaders of the other planets looking speechless.

"Surprised? Hive Star is actually one of the most beautiful planets in our universe. You see those flower gardens. Those are farms. That's what they usually eat in this place. As for the livestock, there is also a small ranch for them, but compared to the flower and vegetable gardens those can be counted with one hand."

"Do you still believe this race eats humans? Only the Heretic Tribes do that."

It is believed that the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress never existed. The Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress are the bug race's protectors, if there is a human god who rules the human stars. They are as strong as gods, and many other races feared and revered them because of their might.

All races, with the exception of the Beast Race, with whom they are associated, detested the human race for breaking the covenant of all races in order to assassinate the former Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress.

After the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress vanished, the insect race was internally corrupted and grew weaker. This corruption was only stopped when King Augustus and Queen Titania assumed power. However, his personality deteriorated as though the Zerg King had altered his soul. The Hive would have long since vanished if not for the Zerg Queen.

Who would have imagined that the Zerg King would resurrect his Monarch bloodline and transform into a Zerg Emperor? Furthermore, it appears that Queen Titania changed following Augustus. After these two are born, it appears that the bug race will undergo significant changes.

The first person the Interstellar Information Center employees encountered at the Throne Hall was Cid Warlock, the Crown Prince, when they requested a meeting with the Hive's higher authorities. He was well known to all because he was once a prominent member of the Federation. The former hero of the Federation Star. They were baffled as to why he was made crown prince.

The fact that Colonel Cyril and Marquess Conrad were leading him and standing next to him suggested that his destiny as the Zerg King had already been decided. Now, under this couple—direct servants of the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress—he was receiving training for both his political and physical acumen.

Colonel Cyril said, "Your Highness, this one needs to be signed before the end of the day."

"Please leave it on the table," Cid Warlock said while holding a few piles of papers that needed his stamp and signature. He looks haggard, with black circles under his blue eyes, yet he doesn't dare to stop his hands.

Behind him, Marquess Conrad was looking at his watch and suddenly said, "Take a break for an hour. Afterwards, prepare for afternoon training, Your Highness."

"Can I eat a bit before training, teacher?" Cid Warlock asked.

Marquess Conrad nodded his head and said, "Eat within an hour as you rest. We will go to the training ground after that." He looked at his wife, who gestured for the servants of the palace to serve the food.

"Send the food in!"

A royal guard went in and reported, "Your Highness, Lord Silver, Colonel Bailey, and people from the Interstellar Information Center had come for an audience."

Cid Warlock, who just held a chicken drumstick in his hand and was about to bite, helplessly put the chicken down and gestured to the guard.

"Let them in!"

"Yes, Your Highness!"

Someone had come in from the outside. The Interstellar Information Center representative bowed to welcome Cid Warlock. Reluctantly, the elderly men and ladies behind him followed the leader. However, Cid Warlock motions for them to cease their actions.

Cid Warlock said, "A simple greeting would be enough. Seniors, this one is only a Crown Prince. I haven't reached the same position as a Senior. Please don't be too polite."

The old guys looked satisfied with the reply from the young man. After all, compared to Cid Warlock, they've lived hundreds of years, while the crown prince hasn't even reached a hundred years old.

"Your Highness is good. It's just a greeting."

"Your Highness is bright and friendly. This old man was satisfied."

"That's right. Your Highness is the future Zerg King. I hope to get along."

Cid Warlock nodded with a polite smile, as he knew these words were indeed only greetings.

"Can I ask seniors why you have come to see this prince?" Cid Warlock asked.

The one from the Interstellar Information Center responded, "We from the Interstellar Information Center would like to clarify a few things. Would it be possible to ask an audience with the Zerg Emperor?"

"This..."

Upon hearing this, Cid Warlock didn't respond right away. That couple's position is above him, and he couldn't give an exact answer regardless of the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress. He turned around to look at his teachers. Only to see Marquess Conrad nod his head.

Obviously, the Zerg Emperor was already informed ahead of time the moment the visitors arrived. Marquess Conrad contacted his master through the subsystem and had the two systems inform Augustus about this. As expected, they requested an audience with Augustus Kaiser. The Zerg Emperor gave his approval to the audience, which is why Marquess Conrad gave this young prince a nod of permission.

Cid Warlock nods his head and turns his head to look at the group of visitors. He stood up and brought some chicken with him, hiding it in his sleeves. His two teachers turned a blind eye to his actions and followed him down the throne.

"The Emperor agreed to your request. Please follow me; I will bring everyone to the Emperor," Cid Warlock said.

The main palace's ruin was where Queen Titania's cocoon was found. Escorted by Marquess Conrad and Colonel Cyril, Cid Warlock brought the guests to this location. Much had changed in the great palace, now in ruins. This area has been transformed into a tiny flower garden.

There are soft grasses all over the place, and a few vines with budding flowers are scattered here and there. In the middle of this exquisite landscape sits a white, silky cocoon twice the size of a typical human.

The sight before the guests was so breathtakingly beautiful that they were unable to take their eyes off of the enormous cocoon, which was occasionally moving slightly and making heartbeat noises.

Sadly, they were unable to get close to it since the cocoon was being guarded by a dashing man with enormous orange wings. They felt like they were under constant pressure from those purplish-red eyes, as though an oppressive aura was hovering over them. Luckily, they avoided looking into those terrifying eyes directly, or else they would instantly pass out.

As soon as Cid Warlock, Colonel Cyril, and Marquess Conrad saw Augustus Kaiser leaning on the cocoon, protected by his wings, with his eyes slightly open yet looking down on the blooming Lily of the Valley nesting his feet, they'd kneeled.

"We greet the Zerg Emperor!"

"You may stand," Augustus Kaiser said as the three stood at the side, waiting for further command, and left the place for the visitors.

There are countless meanings for this flower, the Lily of the Valley. It also had the beautiful meaning of 'You've made my life complete.' The God of Void plans to give this kind of flower to his Jing'er when he wakes up. Flowers are the favorite food for their butterfly tribe. This flower can be said to be a gift and a food.

"I heard you wanted to meet this Emperor."

Augustus Kaiser didn't meet the eyes of these visitors. None of the visitors complained, as their instincts were telling them that meeting the eyes of the Zerg Emperor was a bad story.

Chapter 1386 Second Red Star - Human Race's New Protagonist

When Emperor Augustus spoke, the visitors felt their souls tremble. This shows that the strength of the man in front of them is above theirs. It can be said that even if they fought together, defeating the man before them is like a dream. That's how otherworldly they see the current Zerg Emperor.

The guests were silent for a long time before speaking. Ye Xiajie saw that they were impacted by his aura, which momentarily reduced the forceful influence of his presence. The guests did not stop until they were no longer aware of the Zerg Emperor's presence. However, despite the Zerg Emperor being right in front of them, they were unable to sense his presence. This confused the lot of them.

The Zerg Emperor said, "You came here to meet this Emperor. What do you need?"

The guests were questioned twice before they eventually remembered why they had come to this location. The Interstellar Information Center employees moved forward and took a seat at the Zerg King's level. He even sat down more upright than the casual person in front of him.

"It's a pleasure to be in the presence of the Zerg Emperor. I am Sigil. Information gathered from the Interstellar Information Center is at your service. This little one is only here to clarify the existence of the Zerg Emperor and the Zerg Empress."

Sigil, the information gatherer, glances at the Zerg Emperor and the huge cocoon behind the man. He didn't dare to look for too long, as it's well known that Zergs are quite protective of their mates. He didn't want to be considered ill-mannered for staring for too long.

"Upon seeing the esteemed Emperor right now, it can be verified that the Zerg Emperor existed once again and in this era. Congratulations, Your Majesty!" Sigil said. "As a congratulatory gift, I am willing to give away information that His Majesty must be interested in for free."

Ye Xiajie thought for a moment and looked at the man in front of him. He then asked, "What's the current situation on the Beast Planet?"

This one question was enough to startle everyone in the area, especially the visitors.

Sigil turned serious after hearing this question. "As expected, Your Majesty the Emperor already knew about it. The Beast King, who allied their race with the humans, was enraged to learn that the result of the war against the Zerg Race ended with the defeat of the humans. Among the soldiers that came that day were the people of the beast race.

Since everyone from the Federation died that day, the Beast King was enraged. He is planning to destroy the Hive. They've started calling back all their warriors for this."

"Heh~ I see. It should be interesting to let them come over," the Zerg Emperor said with a smirk on the corner of his lips. "They should be enough for my wife to play with."

The other leaders of the other planets felt terrified by the words they'd heard. The confidence in the tone of the Zerg Emperor is undeniable. Moreover, the fact that he looks down on the Beast Rave shows the extent of his strength.

Their thoughts are in disarray.

'Maybe it's real that he killed the Heretic Zerg King and the Human God, Mo Shizhe, as the news said.'

'To think he can kill two individuals standing as Gods, just how powerful this man is!?

'It's better not to get involved with the Beast Race. It seems they'll be gone soon anyway.'

'I better warn my race. Fighting against the Insect Race has never been easy from the beginning. Now that they have not only a Young Zerg King, there are even two peak commander classes; adding the Zerg Emperor and the unborn Zerg Empress, the Zerg Race in this era is strong as it is.'

Emperor Augustus ignored the expressions of the visitors and asked nonchalantly, "My Empress will be born soon. Are you going to stay to celebrate with us? If yes, I'll have some arranged accommodations for you."

"We would like to stay, Your Majesty the Emperor!"

The outsiders look at one another. To say that they aren't interested in the birth of the Zerg Empress would be a lie. That's historical in the Zerg Race. As a member of the race that gathers all the information in their system, Sigil chooses to stay. The others who came with him also agreed to stay in the Hive to watch the birth of the Zerg Empress.

Emperor Augustus nods his head and glances at his subordinates at the side.

"Cid, have someone arrange their accommodation. You may leave," Emperor Augustus said.

Cid Warlock saluted and escorted the guests over to a place they can live on temporarily. As for Marquess Conrad and Colonel Cyril, they remained in the venue waiting for their tasks. As expected, after Cid Warlock and the others left, they kneeled before the Zerg Emperor.

"Milord (Lord Ye)"

Emperor Augustus issues their individual tasks. "It would still take three days before Jing'er completes his evolution. I want you to make preparations for war. In three months, we will invade the Beast Planet."

"Cyril, tell Cid to complete what needs to be completed within these three months. He will be the one leading. Also, help him complete his evolution."

"Yue and Yang, you will gather all information about the Beast Planet and the significant figures in the Beast Race. I also wanted the current information about the Federation Star. I don't think Tun Shizhe would choose to stop just because I cleaned up his clone. This time he will definitely come out himself. Use the three months time I gave you to get everything you can in that time. You can go now."

The two wardens and two systems collectively responded, "As you command, Milord (Lord Ye)!" They left, leaving only Ye Xiajie to look after the cocoon.

Ye Xiajie's countenance became icy when the others had left, and a hint of controlled lunacy appeared in those scarlet irises, leaving a purplish tint. At this point, he appears to be a whole different person, but as soon as the cocoon behind him moves slightly, as though to console him, the madness vanishes and is replaced with intense love and longing.

The God of Void leaned his forehead towards the cocoon and whispered softly, "I'm not in a hurry. Take your time to evolve, baby."

In the Federation Star...

It was not a white planet, the once-blue one. All bodies of water, including the seas and oceans, solidified into ice. Nothing could develop since the land was blanketed in a thick layer of white snow. It was stated that a massive wave of frost dropped from the sky, freezing everything in the Federation. In an instant, the Frozen Apocalypse had begun, and half of the human species was gone.

The ice elements produced by the Eternal Ice aura's fluctuations were more potent than regular ice elements. Eternal Ice can give birth to any type of ice element because it is an absolute element of ice. A few terrifying ice elementals were created on the Federation Star after combining with other elements.

The elements formed on the Federation Star must eventually come to despise humanity because humans have largely destroyed their habitat. They turn into frozen apocalyptic creatures, endangering the survival of the human species. Even the cutest but largest snowman born during this Apocalyptic Winter turned against humanity.

Humans are forced to excavate beneath the surface of the earth in order to build a underground sanctuary.

A few people in white coats trying to blend in with the snow were hanging several ice bears seeking food on the surface. Since the only alternative source of meat in the ice forest was wild animals, they were forced to hunt. However, the Ice Elemental Kings control all of the surface areas. Every time they attempted to scavenge any food, they had to cross the line of death.

A small contingent of elite humans went on surface hunting after entering into contracts with other elemental components. They stayed hidden in the forest of ice until they came across a lone polar bear. This small group is led by a middle-aged man with a powerful build and a scarred face. He is the Federation Star's recently born protagonist. Let us call him Leng Jun.

"Remember! We can only target a lone beast. Taking on a group will catch the attention of the King of this area," Leng Jun said.

Leng Jun looks around in an area full of vigilance. The area they are in is the Territory under the Ice Elemental Wolf King, Fenrir. If they weren't careful enough and got caught here, they would all die.

"This land used to be a zoo. But after the apocalypse had begun, it became an ice forest."

"Tsk! Damn wolves that become elementals! The land is supposed to be the territory of us humans!"

"Stop! being loud. The hearing of those elements is frightening. The central zone where the Snowman Emperor lives is also near. Be careful."

"Leader, I found one. It's a single mutated polar bear. Level 3."

"If it's only level 3, we should be able to kill it. Everyone should move in formation. Have it trapped in place and take its attention. I will kill it with one stab." Leng Jun commanded.

"Roger!"

After his teammates spread in the area, he made sure to have them summon their elementals. After the ice elementals were born on the Federation Star, all other elements were also born. But unlike the tyrant of Ice Elements who took over this star, the other elements still live in their Spirit World. They can be summoned when the human who signed a contract calls upon them.

Leng Jun, the recently selected Federation Star protagonist, is one of the fortunate individuals who was able to call forth a Fire Snake King Elemental cub. It is a fire elemental of the growth type, descended from a spirit king bloodline. His elemental fire serpent has exceptional suppression power at birth. It is effective on all living things.

His elemental suppression skill will effect everyone it targets, unless they have authority greater than that of a king. This is a really handy talent for hunting.

With a gesture of his hand, Leng Jun's teammates made their move. One of them controlled plants to restrain the mutated polar bear. The others gain attention while Leng Jun observes at a distance, waiting for an opportunity to instakill the polar bear. But just as he was about to make his move, everyone heard the howl of a wolf.

AAWOOO~

All the humans in the area looked over to the sources and saw a low-tier ice elemental wolf at the side of a huge stone that could overlook the area they were in.

Leng Jun cursed. "Fuck! It's a scout! Retreat! Run now!!"

The scout was suppressed by him using his elemental skill, stopping it from howling a second time. He gave the order to his teammates to flee. They disperse in all directions since doing so will increase their chances of surviving. He halted the scout and departed from the scene late.

Leng Jun was going to leave when he became aware of a massive shadow that was approaching from behind him. We recognized that this had to be the mutated polar bear they had been pursuing because of its enormous bear-like form.

'Shit!'

He dodged and avoided the swinging fist of the enraged Polar Bear.

ROOAAR~

"Damn! I'm really unlucky today. Not only have we been found by the scout wolf, but this mutated polar bear is pretending to be weak. Its a fucking level 5 Mutated Polar Bear," Leng Jun cursed while avoiding the attacks of the enrage bear. He wanted to run, but out running a bear is almost impossible. He had no choice but to kill the bear.

He summoned his Fire Snake King Elemental cub. A crimson-red viper wrapped around his shoulder.

Hiss~

The Polar Bear stopped moving due to the force of a spirit king. There is an innate animosity toward anyone descended from King. His body was covered in cuts from the polar bear attack, and some of his blood stained the snow white. He used everything he had right away to slay the mutant polar bear. He saw some figures emerging from the jungle just as he was starting to tire from the battle.

Elemental Ice Wolves are encircling him. He was compelled to curse the world.

Growls~ Grrr~

"Damn this life! What is wrong with wanting to live!?" Leng Jun shouted.

Chapter 1387 Second Red Star - Leng Jun's Rebirth

Leng Jun tirelessly fought against the ice wolf pack that suddenly surrounded him. His elemental tried its best to protect its master and even surrounded the two of them with a wall of fire just to increase their survival. Unfortunately, their opponents are elementals with no real physical bodies. Even if they were killed multiple times with a medium, they would resurrect themselves.

The Ice Wolf Elementals used snow or ice as a medium for the creation of their physical bodies. In this ice forest covered in ice and snow, they can be revived endlessly.

Surrounded by a firewall and ice elementals who still wanted the half-dead Leng Jun at the center, Leng Jun had given up. He had already lost an arm and a leg to these vicious ice elements. As for his little Fire Snake King Elemental Cub, which he named Chuchu, it is still doing its best to save its master.

There is an easy explanation for this. Chuchu is a small, dying elemental cub who was abandoned in the Spirit World without his parents. He was about to be consumed by the other fire elemental when Leng Jun called him to his planet, sparing him from certain death. Leng Jun was merely pleased to be able to call Chuchu into existence. He was unaware of this, but Leng Jun ended up saving the small viper.

He did not want to give up this master since he provided him with love, attention, and a sense of family.

The world in which Leng Jun is born is just a terrible one. The ice elementals, tainted by the elements of the world, had become insane and detested the inhabitants of the planet. The environment in which these elements were born had an impact. This is the reason these components plague mankind in this star.

There is a difference, though, the elements of this world would never hear their own race. They only kill humans. As for the elementals who were summoned here by their masters, they were allowed to stay unhindered on this planet, or they could return to the spirit world. Most Elementals, after the death of their masters, returned to the spirit world.

Those who are attached to their human master choose to die with them.

But Chuchu, this little fire viper, didn't want his master to die. He didn't want to lose his only family.

Leng Jun smiled and said to his elemental. "Chuchu, return to the Spirit World. You don't need to see my ending. This is fate. I can't break away from it. Chuchu, I hope that you find a new master.

Someone much more powerful than I am, so you can grow without problems. Chuchu, goodbye."

Leng Jun was going to drag his elemental back to the spirit world when Chuchu suddenly took a step that he never would have predicted. Chuchu entered his body and became one with his spirit. Leng Jun felt a strong fire aura emanating from him without knowing what was going on. Suddenly, a red flame surrounded his body, yet he was not actually scorched.

Glancing around, he saw that a meter surrounded him and the ice beneath him had melted. On Leng Jun's forehead, an unnoticed pattern resembling a viper emerged. Suddenly, he experienced an intense ache radiating from throughout his body. The Ice Wolf King Elemental, who rules the ice forest he had invaded, was the last thing he saw as he passed out.

What Leng Jun didn't know was that after he fainted, the ice element around him did not look as vicious as before. After all, the aura coming from him and his scent had completely changed the moment Chuchu merged with his soul. He had become a half-elemental reborn through the spirit fire.

Leng Jun's consciousness woke up in the place where he first met Chuchu. He actually summoned Chuchu in the small warehouse room where he used to live. It was a small room with only a single bed and wardrobe, plus an attached bathroom. In the underground sanctuary, there were no windows, only a small ventilation system that allowed air to slip through.

This place is small, but it was like a small world only for him. When he summoned Chuchu, the little viper was thin and covered in wounds. There is a choice for a human summoner to make about whether to sign a partner contract with an elemental. Whether to sign or not to sign. Humans in Federation Star can only sign with an elemental once in their lives.

So they were given a choice as to how many times they wanted and found the element they truly wanted.

A normal hunter would never choose to sign with a wounded and small elemental like Chuchu. Leng Jun didn't want to in the first place, but when he saw a strong will to live glinting within the eyes of the small viper, he thought otherwise.

Leng Jun smiled and said, "Good! I like the one with a strong will. Little one, I will call you Chuchu. From now on, I will be your master. Chuchu, my name is Leng Jun. Let's work hard together in the future."

As Leng Jun signed the contract with Chuchu, Chuchu's wounds healed, and his king's bloodline awakened thanks to the benefits of the spirit contract. This is the day Leng Jun becomes one of the most powerful elemental summoners. Even if his little cipher is just a cub, at least it awakened a king's bloodline capable of suppression. The suppression of bloodlines.

Any elemental without the king's bloodline was under its mercy, especially the fire elementals.

Leng Jun watched the scene with happiness. He thought that this was the last moment of his life, seeing through his past events at the very last moment before his death.

"This scene is not bad. At least I had to enjoy my last moment of happiness," Leng Jun mumbles.

But the scene suddenly changed, it now shows a scene of two big fire vipers fighting against hundreds of enemies and a small viper running away while being pursued.

'Run, child!'

'Mom and Dad will block them for you!'

'Don't look back!'

Leng Jun immediately recognizes who this little viper is. It's his Chuchu. He can only watch as the other elemental toyed at his Chuchu and his heart was filled with anger. Just as they were about to end the life of his Chuchu. A summoning circle appeared under Chuchu's body and brought him away from that place.

"Chuchu?"

The scene of him summoning an elemental for the first time appeared in front of him. He finally understood why Chuchu was so attached to him. He was never proud of being an elemental like all other elementals are towards their master. It was because he saved Chuchu's life that day that he summoned him into his world.

The small yet gentle voice of a young man lingers in Leng Jun's ears. He didn't know its owner, but just hearing it made him feel close to it.

{A'Jun, I am finally able to speak to you.}

When Leng Jun turned around, he saw a huge crimson viper looking at him as if smiling. The voice that called his name was coming from this snake. The king's imprint on the viper's forehead is similar to his Chuchu.

Leng Jun recognized the huge red viper. "Chuchu? You're Chuchu, aren't you?! Wow~ you're so big. Is this how you look as an adult? Not bad, so cool!"

Chuchu sways happily in front of his master.

{I look cool, really!? A'Jun, this is my real form. When you summoned me, those bastards forced me to regress into my child form. They wanted to steal the King's Bloodline in my veins. After all, not all elements can be born with the King's bloodline.}

"I saw them. Those bastards are so low. How could they use numbers and treat you like that!?" Leng Jun said. "Hmp! If I was there, I would have helped you beat them up!"

{Hahaha~ it won't be too late for revenge. A'Jun, do you know what's happening in your body right now?}

Leng Jun looked confused and said, "Aren't I dead?"

{Of course not. I signed a life contract with you at the last minute and disposed of my body, using it as a catalyst to transform your body. You are now in the process of becoming a half-elemental. One that possessed the ability of a King like me. My lifespan is shared with you, so you can live at least... A few hundred years.

If we found something to cleanse your body, you would be able to disregard your mortal vessel. Your soul can be considered as a Demigod right now. I am a Demigod at birth, thanks to my king's bloodline.}

Leng Jun was bewildered by the words Chuchu was telling him. He didn't expect his little viper to be a Demigod. No wonder those kings who ruled above ground were all so powerful. They are all Demigods.

"Wait! If Elemental Kings are Demigods, then... That Snowman Elemental is he..."

{Yes. He is a God. An Elemental God. That's why no Elemental King goes against its orders. He inherited most of your planet's memories. How much humans have destroyed the nature of your own world is how much hatred the Ice Snowman Emperor Elemental has.}

Leng Jun mumbles, "So in the end, what is happening right now is the karma humans have to bear. Maybe if we had protected the halflings instead of turning blind eyes, these things wouldn't have happened at all."

"No. Something isn't right. Chuchu, why have you appeared before me? You suddenly disappeared into my body just now. What is really happening? What do you mean you made me a half-elemental?!

Does that mean you...!?"

{Don't worry. I just lost my physical body. My soul will sleep within you. When you become a God... Maybe you'll be able to ascend and find a way to recreate my body.}

Before the eyes of Leng Jun, he can see that the huge figure of the red viper is slowly turning transparent as if it were about to fade. He started panicking and wanted to take him, but his hand passed through.

"No. NO! Chuchu!?"

{Don't be afraid. I will continue to protect. A'Jun, thank you for saving me that day. I have always been happy since you accepted me as your elemental. May we see each other... in... the... future.}

When the massive viper finally vanished, Leng Jun opened his eyes and began crying. He did not even realize that his body had undergone a whole regeneration or that there was fire all around him. When he was at his strongest, in his twenties, his body had regressed, as he would notice if he looked at himself.

He now has orange eyes and reddish-black hair, giving him the appearance of a gorgeous young man. Even his lost limbs had grown back.

Leng Jun looked around and saw figures before his eyes. It's been the ice wolves elementals before, but this time they sat down, laid down and just glanced at him. This time there is no hate in their eyes, but instead a hint of intimacy of the same kind. Suddenly, a huge ice wolf with light blue fur appeared before him and spoke.

{The Child of the Fire Viper King. Congratulations on your rebirth, young elemental king!}

The ice elementals don't talk through their mouths but through divine consciousness. At first, Leng Jun was surprised and looked around panicking while calling for his Elemental's name.

"Chuchu? Chuchu! Chuchu, where are you!? Please stop kidding around. Please come out! Chuchu~"

The Ice Elemental Wolf King said, {That king from before resides within your soul. He gave you his life energy and transformed you to become one of us. Child, you are no longer those hateful humans. Live for the sake of the one inside you. The only way to revive him is to ascend and go to the Upper Realm.

In the land of Gods, there should be a way to recreate his body so he could separate from you and be reborn. Don't waste his sacrifice.}

Leng Jun said, "I wanted to be alone for a while."

The Ice Elemental Wolf King nods its head. It howls to send his kin away. Before it walked away, the Ice Elemental Wolf King said,

{Little one, you stay in my forest for however long you want. You can also have that bear to eat. Also, a piece of advice: the Elemental King at the Snow Mountain might be able to give you the answers you wanted to know, but that one is cunning. Be careful of being fooled.}

After the Ice Elemental Wolf King and its kin departed, a perplexed Leng Jun began to wail. His newfound weakness made it impossible for him to comprehend that he would still lose his only family. A powerful fluctuation of fire components swirled around that part of the ice forest and he sobbed like a crazy person.

All the elements in the forest, even the concealed humans who were once his minions, saw and felt a whirlwind of fire form.

"Is that the boss?"

"What happened to him?"

"The Ice Elemental Wolf King let him go. I thought all Elementals in this world hated humans!"

"Does the boss still look like a human to you?"

"He has hair made of fire and eyes as if it were a molten lava gemstone. He has a human form but is no longer human."

"We need to inform the elders about this!"

"Let's go back!"

Chapter 1388 Second Red Star - Deep Haven

The changes in the Federation Star progress without problems and the Heavenly Laws of this world even found a new protagonist to lead its world. Even though Mo Shizhe, the future villain of this world, is gone, with how the original world plot in the Federation Star is destroyed, a new story has been made with its current situation. Frozen Apocalypse.

A world that suffered from frost that covered the whole star.

When he saw the birth of Leng Jun, the new protagonist, Tun Shizhe, who had been waiting in the other dimensions for the new plot to start, grinned. The majority of the main characters were raised amid extreme hardship, sacrifice, and grief. The life of Leng Jun is not unique. He is a regular retired special forces agent who has never been in a romantic relationship.

His family used to be content and lead a typical life. However, when the planet experienced an almost perpetual winter, everything was different.

In the beginning, the human races were still waiting for good news from their leaders, who left with almost all the sentinels and guides for an interstellar war against the Zerg race. They had always been proud of their race, adding up that they live their lives informed by the illusionary legends built by the old marshals to illuminate their position as leaders.

But everything had changed on that day and the sun completely disappeared from their world. One early morning, while everyone else was continuing their daily lives, the bright blue sky suddenly turned smoggy. The sun was completely covered up with things that looked like thick clouds and the overall temperature of the world had dropped significantly.

The report says that they didn't know what was happening and scientists all over the world blamed it on climate change and called this situation 'Global Cooling'. The humans thought that this was just ordinary climate change, and no one cared much about it.

Until snow starts falling in the summer season, and it's the type that doesn't stop at all. Only when the winter season didn't stop after it was supposed to, did humans finally feel the terror of global cooling, which evolved into global freezing. Unfortunately, their current situation is beyond what humans can control.

In the end, their whole planet turned frosty and was covered in snow all day every year.

Eternal Ice is an absolute ice element. It cannot be burned by the ordinary heat of the sun or any average kind of fire. To melt it, you would need the hottest fire—its alter ego, the Hell Flames. Only this absolute fire element had the possibility of melting Eternal Ice.

In just a few months, more than half of the population will be gone, mostly elders and young children whose immune systems are the weakest. They suffered and died from extreme coldness. As for the sun, it was still there in the sky, illuminating the world, but it couldn't melt the snow in the human star, no matter how blazing hot it emits.

Accompanying the icy weather are naturally born monsters, which they call elementals. There are natural beings born into this world. Ice and snow have become their greatest sources of power. Worse of all, they hated all humans on the planet and killed one every time they saw one. This is the beginning of the Frozen Apocalypse.

For survival, the humans choose to dig through the icy land and live underground. After losing their territories to the elements above ground, humans still continue to exist under the thick earth. As for whether they can live above the surface in the future, it will be unknown.

The sudden transformation of Leng Jun was seen by a lot of elements and humans. His current standing among humans is unknown. As for the elements, most of them were welcoming to the new person of their race, but there are also some that weren't welcoming of half-breeds.

The news of Leng Jun's transformation had reached the secret base of the human race. The elders and leaders who heard about his transformation were shocked by what happened to him. After all, the possibility of them transforming had become possible with Leng Jun as proof.

Underground Sanctuary, Deep Haven.

The hunters had returned with only a few snow rabbits in their hands. Looking at such little prey being brought back to the haven made others look helpless. They would have never expected that even with the strongest elementalist going out, the food hunted would be less than normal.

As soon as the hunter arrived in Deep Haven, they passed the rabbits they found on the way to their comrades and ran in to report something urgent.

"Elders, Leader! We have something to report. It's about Boss Leng Jun!"

The leader of the Deep Haven is an old general named Serge, from the same generation as the former three marshals. He was never able to reach the Marshal position with the opposition of the three marshals at peak. He was one of the generals who advocated for equality between humans and halflings as well as the only man who suggests apologizing to the Zerg Race.

As someone from the old generation, he knew the real truth about the deaths of the former Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress. It was an intentional ambush planned by the federation. They contacted the Zerg Race to sign a treaty like the Beast Race, but these old bastards covet the Hive, which is rich in resources and said to be the most fertile planet in their galaxy.

They successfully blamed the deaths of the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress on the space bandits. Sadly, the insect race didn't believe them, and the interstellar war between the two races began.

Leader Serge frowned at seeing the youngsters not even knocking on his door so rudely. But before he had the time to scold them, Serge noticed the paleness of their faces. Adding to the fact that he couldn't see Leng Jun with them, he had a bad feeling about their arrival.

"Only you three? Where is Xiao Jun!?" Old Serge asked.

"Gramps, the boss was abducted by the elementals!"

The friend beside him hit his head and said, "Stupid, that's not it! Old man, the boss got eaten by the ice wolves and then revived!"

"Fools! What the hell are you two saying!?" The comrade of theirs standing behind the two idiots got smacked on their back as he scolded them.

Old Serge pinched his temples in annoyance and pointed at the last man who spoke, "Jeremy, you explain it. I can't understand anything these brats are saying!"

"We were hunting a mutated polar bear when a scout ice wolf found us. The boss protected our rest and got surrounded by an ice elemental wolf pack. Just when we thought everything was over, Boss's element entered his body and they merged! It's amazing when the boss broke through an egg-like cocoon and evolved and became half-elemental of fire, but his element is gone.

We don't know what truly happened to him. This is what we just saw." The hunter called Jeremy.

Old Serge frowned at what he just heard, especially about the possibility of Leng Jun becoming an entity not entirely human.

"Where is he now? Did you leave him alone!?" Serge scolded.

Jeremy also looks guilty and doesn't want to deny that they have indeed left their boss behind. But the fools behind him started making excuses, which they didn't do much of.

"Gramps! We saw the Ice Elemental Wolf King!"

"Yes, yes. He is as tall as a building, and he was talking to the boss about how we forgot about him."

Old Serge asked, "You mean he could understand the words of the Elementals even though they weren't in contract? Moreover, the Wolf King didn't kill him. This is odd."

Just as the atmosphere in the room turned silent, a few people gathered outside the room, catching the attention of the old man and the others inside.

"You knock on the door!"

"Why me!? I don't want to be scolded!"

"Who told you guys to come out!? Don't you feel fear!?"

"We just want to get some snow to melt for water. We wanted to take a bath."

"Ice water can be drunk as the snow outside is cleaner than mineral water. This is the only resource in this apocalypse that is free for all."

"What should we do about the prey outside? Those are all meat!"

BAM!

The door to the leader's office was pushed open, revealing Old Serge, Jeremy, and the other top hunters. Those who were crowding outside froze when the door opened, seeing their superior.

Old Serge exclaimed, "What is the problem right now!?"

"Leader, come out to the surface with us. Someone sent food to our place."

"What did you say!?" Jeremy shouted as he ran out of the sanctuary as if he thought of their boss, whom they left behind outside.

Old Serge commanded, "The Hunter, come out with me. The rest stay inside and be good. Wait for us to return."

Seeing the urgency of Jeremy's strides, Old Serge and the other hunters followed after him. When they got outside, they saw Jeremy shouting for Leng Jun, but their eyes could not move away from the pile of dead hunted prey on the ground. There are at least three polar bears, a snow leopard, a small hill of snow rabbits, and two reindeer.

Old Serge murmured, "Who did..."

"Boss. Boss! Are you around!? Come out! Let's go home!" Jeremy shouted; unfortunately, his shouts were covered with the strong breeze brought by the sudden blizzard.

The old general, Old Serge, senses that there is something staring at him but can't find the source of this gaze. He turned serious and stopped Jeremy, who was shouting and calling for Leng Jun but gave no response at all.

"Jeremy, calm down. Tell the boys to bring in these prey. It would help us last for at least three months without coming out to hunt," Old Serge said.

Jeremy looked regretful and said, "What about the boss...?"

"You have to calm down first," Old Serge said.

The Old General looked straight at Jeremy, making the middle-aged man shut his mouth and realize the meaning behind their leader's gaze. Leng Jun was his boss and close friend. He was so regretful that maybe he shouldn't leave him behind at all.

He gritted his teeth, and with reddening eyes, he glared at his comrades and said, "What are you guys looking at? Move in groups and bring in these prey. Have the butchers clean it up and prepare the evening feast."

"Yes, sir!"

With a cheerful expression, Old Serge saw the men returning to Deep Haven with food supplies. The old man stayed above ground for a time, forcing even Jeremy to go back below with the others.

After looking around as the scenery underwent a blizzard, Old Serge squinted his eyes and shouted, "Xiao Jun, I know that you are nearby. Come out for this old man! Don't tell me you believe this old man will hurt you!"

"Of course, you don't. But my appearance... It's different from before. I'm afraid you might not recognize me anymore." A voice coming all over the place was heard, but Old Serge didn't see one who could have replied to him.

Old Serge rebuked, "Nonsense! Come out right now or I will get angry!"

"Just... don't be afraid."

A figure abruptly materialized in front of this old man after some time of waiting. The continuing snowfall has little effect on the young man's figure. The snow that falls on this young man seems to be protected by some sort of barrier because it melts right away before it gets to his skin. In this universe of white, the reddish-orange glow in his hair is remarkably attention-grabbing.

However, Old Serge's initial motivation came from the young man's recognizable traits from Leng Jun's earlier recollections. He recognizes the young man before him as being precisely the same as the young adult Leng Jun from his recollections.

"Xiao Jun?" The Old General calls reluctantly, as he is unsure if this young man is indeed his adopted little son, whom he had adopted years ago.

Chapter 1389 Second Red Star - Zerg Empress

The appearance of the young man as if he was made of fire left Old Serge dumbfounded and was stunned for a moment. Leng Jun thought he had frightened his old man to death and was about to disappear somewhere only for the old man to grab him arm and burn his palm.

Sizzles~

Old Serge frowned in pain yet he didn't let go of his adopted son's arm.

"Where are you going? Tsk! Stay here for this old man!"

Leng Jun panicked when he saw his adopted father holding his arm and smell something burning assaulted his nose. He immediately separated himself from his adopted father and used everything he could to extinguish the fire on his adopted father's hand. The traces of burn cannot be ignored making the corner of his eyes red in remorse.

"I'm sorry. I... I don't know this..."

Old Serge smiled and said, "Don't worry. A mere burn is nothing. Don't worry about me. Instead what happened to you? You look... younger."

Seeing that in his adopted father's eyes, there is no fear. Leng Jun's expression turned warm. He wanted to hug him but was afraid he would burn his only living family to death, he didn't dare move.

Leng Jun spoke, "Father, Chuchu merged with my soul. In the brink of death, Chuchu chose to sacrifice himself to save me. I am now half-elemental. The ones I left here is for everyone to eat. I will send batches every end of month. Father, you handle the rest."

"Are you not coming back? This is your home!" Old Serge said.

Leng Jun said, "Father, my body is different now. I might accidentally burn down the Deep Haven. I can only live on the surface. Tell others not to come out and hunt anymore. I will send the resources. If there is really in need to do so.

You guys handle it accordingly."

"Sigh~, okay. You must visit this old man if you have time. Also take care of yourself. Don't believe others so easily even humans and even me. Xiao Jun, you will always be my son but I can't assure you I will not be controlled by something. If that happens, I want you to not hesitate and do what you must do." Old Serge said.

Leng Jun wanted to cry but his teardrops ended up becoming lava. It melted everything it fell into especially the snow under his feet. He nods his head towards his adopted father and disappeared somewhere. As soon as Leng Jun's figure disappeared before his eyes, the smile on Old Serge face faded as well.

He looked at worriedly at the direction where his adopted son disappeared to before turning back returning to the underground sanctuary

The thing was witnessed by Tun Shizhe from the other dimension with Chaos

He looked interested in the life of Leng Jun. As for how he was chosen as his world's new protagonist, maybe only the Heavenly Laws of the Federation Star knows. After being affected by the Eternal Ice aura, the Heavenly laws of the Federation Star and the other planets affected by it had weakened a lot. They can only depend on their protagonist to live on.

Chaos said, "This one is too weak. Do you think he can move the owner of the Hell Flames?"

"I don't need him for his strength. What I needed is his blessings from the world he came from. Most protagonists were considered invincible in their own world. I only need to make a plan and get that man to come in Federation Star. Whether he destroyed that planet or not, I don't care. As long I got him seperated from Hunluan even for a moment." Tun Shizhe said.

Chaos rolled his eyes and said, "Well, do your best."

Back to the Hive Star...

The festive atmosphere in the Hive had continued for two months. They were all celebrating the upcoming cocoon breaking, the final date for the birth of their Zerg Queen had been finalized. At the venue where the cocoon is located, the Zerg Emperor, Augustus Kaiser, finally smiled as the cocoon of the Zerg Empress finally glowed in bright gold.

The glow of the cocoon was seen everywhere in the hive. Those who knew about the cause of light pillar kneel down to where they are as if praying for the arrival of some divine being.

"Hail Your highness the Empress!"

"Finally our Zerg Empress is born!"

"Our protector. Our greatest guardian. Welcome back!"

"General. Oh, General! We have been waiting for you all this time."

Within the zerg city only the visitors were dumbfounded by the scene. Such collective way of showing reverence, it give people the feeling of welcoming the descent of the Gods. What they didn't know was that the souls inside the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress are truly Gods from the Upper Realm.

If they knew they wouldn't just kneel down and most likely kowtow in the presence of these Rulers of the insect race.

"W-What are they doing?"

"Is the Zerg Empress about to come out!?"

"Hurry. We need to hurry to the Zerg Nest!"

At the exact venue, the place called Zerg Nest, the huge cocoon at the Center was floating in the air and a powerful golden light fall from the heavens. Under the gaze of everyone in the Zerg Nest, a cracked appeared on the cocoon slowly spread until it got bigger. Everyone watch the process of the Zerg Empress breaking through his cocoon.

After the cocoon split apart, a figure curled inside of it was revealed. It's a beautiful young man with long white hair and a huge pair of beautiful monarch butterfly wings. The only difference it has from the Zerg Emperor's wings is that the Zerg Empress wings are in deeper shade of orange and instead of black edges it's white.

As if this person itself had mutated into another version of a Monarch Butterfly.

The young man was naked after birth and as if expecting this the Zerg Emperor unfolded his wings and block all the sight of everyone in the area while glaring. With a wave of his hand a white silk robe appeared in his hand and covered the body of his beloved Zerg Empress.

The Zerg Emperor and the Zerg Empress hugged each other with their wings and robe fluttering with the wind. They look like Fairies that descended in th mortal realm. The former cold eyes of the Zerg Emperor melted as he took in the figure of his beloved Empress before his eyes. His crimson eyes which used to shine with a bit of coldness and madness was nowhere to be seen.

Instead, it's a pair of eyes full of deep affection and possessiveness.

The Zerg Empress whose soul used to be Queen Titania had merge with it's original soul. Now the one in control on this body is Hei Anjing, the beloved other half of the God of Void which in this world become the Zerg Emperor. The two as if they only have each other's figure in their eyes, they stare at one another while swirling in the sky. Hei Anjing will now be called Titania in this world.

The Zerg Empress, Hei Anjing said, "Did you wait long, my love?"

"Not too long. Even if I have for much longer I am willing. Baby, I love you so much." The Zerg Emperor, Augustus Kaiser said.

While the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress are flirting in sky, System Yue and System Yang who fly around them had finally regain their lost happiness. Only when Lord Hei is with them that their Lord Ye wouldn't be so cold and ruthless as he usually is. With Lord Hei around, the usual King of Hell will change into a loving, possessive man who only have his wife in his eyes.

This is better than the ruthless person before. At least he isn't scary.

System Yue wanted to get closer to the Zerg Empress. [Lord Hei, Yue misses you quite a lot. Master had bullied me a lot too. Please scold him~]

The little sun system wanted to save his silly little moon system partner as he can sense the glare of the Zerg Emperor just beside the Zerg Empress.

[Yue'er, how about we go there? We still need to prepare the new palace of the Masters.] System Yang said as he wanted to save his partner from being slapped by their creator.

System Yue snorted, [Don't be afraid. Lord Hei is here!]

"Hm~ my love, did you hear that? Are you truly not going to scold him because I'm here." The Zerg Empress, Titania Ambrosia said while pointing at his finger at the firm chest of his beloved husband.

The Zerg Emperor, Augustus Kaiser, responded, "If that is your wish, then I wouldn't slap that foolish moon to pieces."

Pfft! Hahaha~

This time it was Titania Ambrosia who grabbed the proud little moon. "Little Yue~ you've become naughty~"

System Yue, if he had a nose it would have reached the sky due to his arrogance. [I'm only copying Lord Hei. With such a great model, this Yue would never be wrong. I am proud, shameless, and arrogant system of Lord Hei.]

The Zerg Empress, Hei Anjing's smile twitched when he heard that and squeezed the little moon in his hand like a stress ball.

"What did you say? You stupid moon! Who is arrogant!? I dare you to say that again!"

[Everything is learned from Lord Hei. Lord Hei is the most arrogant, proud and shameless god in all realms!]

Tsk!

The stupid, straightforward moon was slap like a ball on the ground. It got embeded on the soil. Two wardens and one system had to dig him out of the land.

The Zerg Empress face look irritated for a moment and he become all smiles again when he look at his man. "My love, let's ignore that silly thing. Shall we continued where we left off~"

But before the two can resume their flirting they've noticed that a lot of eyes had fallen on them so the time for flirting was postponed. Holding each other's hand the two descended from the sky welcomed by all the Zergs in vicinity and even the visitors of their planet showing their respect. At this moment even Cid Warlock was shocked by the transformation of the former Zerg Queen Titania.

Those pair of butterfly wings on his back is truly the Monarch Butterfly Bloodline that only appeared on the Zerg Emperor's back.

Cid Warlock mumbles, "So it's possible for one more person to gain the Monarch Bloodline?"

The Zerg Emperor spoke, "My brethren, My Empress had completed his evolution. Like I did, he had reached the peak of Evolution for the Butterfly Tribe. Let's welcome the Zerg Empress of our race, Titania Ambrosia!"

Everyone kneel down in salutations. They looked at the pair in front of them like Gods.

"Greetings to His Majesty, the Zerg Emperor!"

"Greetings to His Majesty, the Zerg Empress!"

Zerg Empress, Titania Ambrosia smiled but not his usual mischievousness instead with a bit of seriousness and coldness. This made everyone feel the strong presence of the newly reborn Zerg Empress.

He said, "Our brethren, with me around no one shall be able to bully our race, but I hope that the discrimination in our hube to disappear with time. Remember, only your own race will be with you until the end of your lifespan. So learn accept and treta everyone equal, that way out Hive will be the strongest as we unified as whole."

"As you wish, your Majesty, the Zerg Empress!"

The Zerg race look at the Zerg Empress with awe and admiration. They saluted in acceptance to their Zerg Empress' words. They couldn't help but stare at him like he is their idol. Such numerous heated gazes greatly annoyed the vinegar jar called Augustus Kaiser beside the Zerg Empress.

Zerg Empress, Titania Ambrosia, cheered. "What are you guys still waiting for? Let's celebrate! Bring out the food. Dance and singing. I wanted a lively night for today.

This is an order from your Zerg Empress!"

With a wink from their Zerg Empress, almost everyone in the crowd laughed happily at his antics. They had never expected that General Titania had this kind of naughty side in him. The celebration for the birth of the Zerg Empress continued all night and it even lasted for another one week.

Chapter 1390 Second Red Star - Tun Shizhe's Interference

As the Zerg Race celebrates their Zerg Empress' evolution, Leng Jun from Federation Star is having a lonely time for the first time. At least before he transformed to his current state, he had Chuchu accompanying him all the time. Chuchu is one of the rare elemental who did need to return to the Spirit World, as he himself is a King Elemental who could exist with his power alone.

But now his only companion is gone, he might never see him again and he becomes a being that is neither human nor an elemental. A hybrid of both races yet not from each other's race. He is now an outlier. He sat at a snowy rock formation overlooking the white scenery which is both beautiful and cruel. All life except for the elementals had died under this white snow.

All are frozen and all life had turned to ice.

Leng Jun mumbles with a dull gaze, "How come winter is both beautiful yet extremely ruthless. Under those thick, soft looking, white snow are countless frozen dead corpses."

Out of nowhere a voice assaulted his ears. It's quite a magnetic voice with hints of seduction yet low manly and dangerous sounding voice.

{Are you sympathizing with those dead things? That's sounds ridiculous! Heh~}

Caught off guard, Leng Jun turn around and look for the one whose possibly the source of voice be. Unfortunately, under this fierce blizzard, he is the only one brave enough to be outside watching such strong breeze of wind, snow and ice. There was no one else.

"Who is it!?"

Leng Jun exclaimed as he saw that there was no one behind him. He continues to look around, but aside from the blizzard there is nothing. He increased his vigilance from such an unknown and invisible being.

{Heh~ you can't find me. I'm in another dimension. I'm just sending my divine consciousness to communicate with you. After all, your current state is interesting. Two souls in one body and the second soul is not human but an elemental.}

"You can see Chuchu? How is that possible?" Leng Jun said as he looked more guarded than before this time there is a sharpness within this little one's eyes.

{Just because you mortals couldn't, I a God can!}

This words left Leng Jun dumbfounded when he heard that the one talking with him is a God. But after returning to normal he looked even fiercer as if he doesn't believe in god at all.

As expected, Leng Jun said, "I don't believe in God."

{Of course, how could you believe in one when your world ended up like this. Unfortunately, you humans had no say into this. It's your greed that led you to this result. You guys wanted to invade the Insect Race, ended up defeated and now don't have any shoulder to cry on. You can only bear with it. Haha~}

Leng Jun was enraged and shouted, "What the hell do you know?! My adopted father tried to stop them from doing it! In the end, they all end up dead and this planet ends up like this! We cannot stop them!"

{Isn't it better to kill them? If you had just ended there and then, this wouldn't have happened. But if that truly happened what about Chuchu? That poor little soul who only got to survive thanks to you~}

Leng Jun turned pale at the mention of his Elemental's name, Chuchu. This is the only existence that is as important as his adopted father, Old Serge. As if his sore spot was teased upon, uncontrollable annoyance entered Leng Jun's heart.

"Shut up, if you had nothing to say important!" He sat down and chose to ignore the voice in his mind.

Tun Shizhe felt that this former human is quite arrogant and stop teasing him.

{Are you sure you are going to ignore me? I know a way not only to save your planet but also to wake up your Chuchu~}

As if some devil whispered in his ears, Leng Jun's two life desires were poked by this unknown being. Even if he felt that this person is extremely dangerous, he had no other choice but to get interested with his taunts. In his life only his adopted father and his Chuchu are the most important people, if there is a way to save them, he is willing to do anything.

Leng Jun pleaded, "Please tell me... What do you want me to do?"

{Haha~ smart kid. I love talking to smart people the most. Of course, there is a way, unfortunately, you are far too weak to do it right now. Don't you know by consuming the spirit of Elementals of the same level or higher that you can become a God? Once you become a God, moving in space beyond this world is possible. Are you willing to do it?}

The new protagonist of the Federation Star had betrayed humanity for the sake of his desires. The first protagonist, Cid Warlock, thrown away his human side and live under the protection of the Hive Star after being betrayed by the people whom he had been protecting with all his life and almost lost all the halfings that is like him.

Now the new protagonist was enchanted by an Evil Existence, Tun Shizhe, asking him to throw away his righteousness for the sake of his loved one ignoring the world, Leng Jun was willing to do it.

Leng Jun with a serious expression said, "I am willing!"

{Good boy~ hahaha~}

The four corners around Leng Jun was suddenly distorted and the space was fragmented by small dragons of gluttony that broken through time and space. This purplish black aura entered Leng Jun's body allowing him to experience what an uncontrollable madness is.

His eyes turned bloodshot as he grabbed his head hearing countless devious voices telling him to eat, that they are hungry, that he must feed them or he would be eaten.

Unexpectedly, the trace of Chuchu's soul inside his body shut out this vicious power allowing Leng Jun to not lose his mind due to immense hunger.

A voice so familiar something he misses so much resounded in his mind unlike the unlikable and devious voice of the Evil Being, Tun Shizhe, this voice is softer and gentle, it weaker as well, that it could barely spoke a sentence.

[A... Jun... Don't... Fall... I... Here...]

Leng Jun sounded delighted and tried to call the name that owns that voice he misses the most.

"Chuchu? Chuchu!? What's wrong!? Can you please speak again? Chuchu!?"

{He had gotten to weak. You must eat as much to covert the energy you ate into life energy so he can wake up fully.} Tun Shizhe whispered.

Enraged, Leng Jun wouldn't forget how he almost lost his mind just now due to those things that suddenly entered his body, but he knew that the one who caused it is none other than the owner of that malicious voice.

Leng Jun shouted, "What the hell did you gave me?"

{Hmp! As I've said, you are far too weak. I lend you my powers so you will be able to devour and convert all the energy you eat to a life force to wake up and healing your Chuchu.} Tun Shizhe reacted a sis hisnwirds were a matter of fact.

With distrust all over his face, Leng Jun said, "You are not lying! If not for Chuchu I would have gone crazy just then!"

{That shows how weak you are. Your Elemental is too protective of you that he forcibly wake up just to help you take control of my power. It would have been better if it was you who had control over it. My power leads to madness yet it gives you the strongest power and shortest way to get what you wanted. Do you want me to take it back?} Tun Shizhe said with a teasing tone.

He knew that no matter how dangerous the power of gluttony is for humans who couldn't hold back their desires would never be able to say no to this power. Because eating is the fastest way to gain power.

Leng Jun gritted his teeth and said, "No need!"

{With my power you might be able to eat that biggest one, but you need to eat the little kings first~}

Leng Jun knew what this man meant about little kings in his words. He is talking about the four overlord Elemental Kings that rule the four corners of the world. In the north is an Ice forest lead by the Ice Elemental Wolf King. In the south pole is the glacier islands controlled by the Ice Elemental Emperor Penguin.

In the direction of the west is the Ice Mountain under the command of the Ice Elemental Fox King and lastly, the East seaside led by Ice Elemental Octopus King.

He didn't even need time to think about choosing which direction he must go. Leng Jun went to the Ice Mountain to find the Ice Elemental Fox King. The Ice Elemental Wolf King said that this Fox King is capable of seeing through fate, a divination of destiny which is against the heavens itself.

In another dimension, unaffected by the other worlds, Tun Shizhe and Chaos are still together watching the play lead by the main actor: Leng Jun.

Tun Shizhe, who was watching from the other dimension chuckled at the choice of Leng Jun.

He mumbles, "In the end, you also wanted to know the future first before taking a step forward to your destined ending."

"Didn't that little fox is capable of divination? What are you supposed to do once your plans are exposed?" Lord Chaos asked.

He also watches the scene happening in the human star as if watching a play. He is nonchalantly and the devil may care. Aside from the man he hates and his main soul, he was not interested in anything else. He just chose to watch and passed some time.

Tun Shizhe snorted, "What can he even do if he knows? Are mortals capable of moving a God?"

"Maybe some does..." Lord Chaos said as he looked at the small back of Leng Jun disappearing as he entered the territory of the Ice Mountain. He looked so bored that he was even yawning, but there is an unexplainable look hidden at the depths of his eyes.

"You can't get involved with him. He is my thing!" Tun Shizhe said.

Tsk!

Lord Chaos rolled his eyes at Tun Shizhe and retorted, "Who care about your toys? They got broken so easily in the end like your clone!"

"That's because I'm injured! Or else that bastard wouldn't have beated me so easily." Tun Shizhe rebuked.

Unknown to these two, another pair of eyes was on them watching from another hidden dimension they couldn't sense. They didn't even notice as this person has a high mastery when it comes to Spatial Techniques. Because of this expert skills, he can watch Tun Shizhe and Chaos without them knowing.

This man mumbles, "Getting along too well, aren't we?"

Meanwhile in the Upper Realm world, Vearth...

The God of End and the God of Origin couldn't wait any longer to meet their Hunluan. They actually wanted to see Hei Anjing whenever he woke up, sadly the young man didn't like them much and wouldn't waste his limited awake time on them. He would only meet the God of Void, their children and his family in his era. As for them he shows no interest in meeting him at all.

The God of End said, "Jointress, wherefore we not help taketh backeth our son's soul fragments instead of waiting f'r yond bootless brat to gath'r t?"

Translation: [Wife, why don't we help take back our son's soul fragments instead of waiting for that useless brat to gather it?]

The God of Origin had spoken, "Doth thee bethink that gent wouldst cometh backeth with us? Most of those soul fragments didn't coequal has't Hunluan's mem'ries. Wouldst those gents coequal recognizeth us at which hour jing'r coequal turneth a blindeth eye on us?"

Translation: [Do you think he would come back with us? Most of those soul fragments didn't even have Hunluan's memories. Would they even recognize us when Jing'er even turn a blind eye on us?]

The God of End, who felt the most guilt towards Hei Anjing after causing him to be imprisoned in the Void for unknown hundreds or thousands of years alone, feels he must do something to make things right.

He said, "I still did want to tryeth. Haply, just haply our son's soul fragment wouldst cometh backeth with me."

Translation: [I still want to try. Maybe, just maybe our son's soul fragments would be willing to come back with me.]

The God of Origin's mood turned worse. He sneered at his partner and said, "Doth as thee prithee. I wonneth't beest accompanying thee!"

Translation: [Do as you wish. I won't be accompanying you!]

With reluctance, the God of End took his leave while looking at his other half's figure. In the end, he still decided to go.

"Jointress, I shall beest backeth lief!"

Translation: [Wife, I will be back soon!]

There is no response from the God of Origin and the God of End could only leave while sighing depressingly.

Sigh~

A few moments after the God of End left, the God of Origin covers his face. Teardrops fell from the gaps of his finger and each of these tears were like seedlings that allowed a star or a world to be born. As the origin itself, he can create worlds through nothing even with just his tears.

The God of Origin mumbles sadly, "Haply I shouldn't have ground'd mine own luan'r yond timeth. T's not liketh t is his fault yond the pow'r that gent is b'rn with is the chaos itself. In the endeth, t wast mine own feareth yond madeth me pusheth mine own only son hence."