

World Plot 1421

Chapter 1421 Second Red Star - Daybreak

Cid Warlock and the alliance upon hearing about a human becoming an Elemental was shocked. Normally, this kind of situation is very rare as it is almost impossible for elementals to like humans. The reason they sign contracts with humans is for mutual benefits.

They will support the human and listen to the orders of their contracted humans, but only if it's not something that could harm them. The contract is just to prevent them from harming humans and allow them to take in the world qi of the star where their host is.

After all, it is not possible for them to go to another world unless they were summoned. The contract allowed them to temporarily bind with a human and create a connection between two worlds. That's why in the eyes of these elementals, their contracted humans are just tools for them to get stronger.

So, for an elemental to sacrifice itself to save a human means their relationship isn't simple. They might treat each other as real family, an adoration for a savior or many more rare circumstances between the two. It seems that for Leng Jun and his Fire Elemental Viper King, Chuchu, it's both family and savior.

To Elemental Chuchu, Leng Jun is his savior who summoned out from his misery and by signing a contract with him allowed him to heal its wound and gain the opportunity to awaken his bloodline.

Cid Warlock mumbles, "A human becoming an Elemental? This kind of thing is possible. If so, then are Leng Jun's memories there, after transforming into another species? If not then those special signs I left behind wouldn't be deciphered by him."

"Please don't worry. Brother's memories remained. He should be able to recognize the Major," said Jeremy.

Cid Warlock sighed in relief when he heard that it would be hard to speak with Leng Jun if he lost his memories of him. That man is a cautious one, if he lost his memories he would definitely treat him as an enemy due to the circumstance of the two races' former enmity and his race being a foreign one and can be considered an invader for entering the planet without permission.

"That's good then. We shall not bother you anymore. Take a good rest and heal yourself. I will send something for you to eat. We can continue the rest of our conversation for breakfast tomorrow. For now, rest well.

Both of you had suffered a lot." The Zerg King Cid Warlock said.

"Thank you. We shall do so," said Jeremy. "I hope if you my brother really come you inform him we are still alive. When we got separated, it wasn't a good situation and he might have thought otherwise."

"Don't worry. I shall inform the soldiers on guard duty to do so," said Cid Warlock before taking his leave.

After the ones in the tent are left with only the couple, Jeremy and Shiva, they have a private conversation.

Shiva asked his lover, "Is that person that trustworthy for you to tell everything about this planet? Isn't he the one on the news before, the traitor who failed his suicide mission."

"Those were fake news that the old marshals spread to stop his promotion. After all, he is a Warlock. Someone from the strongest Sentinel Clan. Those old men wanted to suppress him so much that things ended up like that." Jeremy said.

He heard the real story about the war between the Insect race and the Human race. It can be said that he hated being a human when he heard about the truth of the death of the Zerg Emperor.

Shiva, who was listening to the story about the history of the humans and the Zergs, couldn't help but be surprised. He was just a civilian before the apocalypse and he didn't know the dark history of the human race. Now that he is hearing about it, he felt even more embarrassed with the words he outspoken before the Zerg King. The humans were at fault.

Not only they caused the war between the human and insect race, but also persecuted the halflings who had been working as a spy for them and even putting their lives on line just to gather more intel about the Zerg Race.

Shiva mumbles, "I suddenly feel that the death of those old marshals serves them right, but the human sentinels and guides who were dragged by them into the battlefield all died for nothing."

"That is war. On the battlefield, there is no need for reason. All you need is to fight. The result is only to survive or to die. They died because the war is over. But in war, there is no right and wrong." Jeremy said.

Obviously, reminding Shiva not to hate the insect race just because they had won the war. As this also means that the Zerg Race lost a lot to achieve such victory.

Shiva said, "I know. I understand."

It was at this point that a voice was heard from outside their tent. It is someone from the support staff that does cooking, cleaning and keeping things in order in the camp. He came over to send food as the Zerg King had ordered him to.

"Hello! I'm from the kitchen. I'm here to serve your late dinner!"

"Oh! Please come in!" said Shiva as his hunger finally woke up when he heard about food.

A halfling Zerg entered, pushing a tray over. He helped the guest pull out a mini table and place it over the bed. This will allow them to eat even when seated on the bed. Plates of hot dishes like white rice, hot seaweed soup, meat, and vegetable dishes were laid on the table. There are also a few small plates of desserts. These are all human cuisines.

Jeremy didn't look surprised, as he knew that halflings born on the federation star eat human food. Shiva was different; he heard that the Zerg Race only eats vegetables.

Shiva asked carefully, "Ahm, I heard that the Zerg Race only eats flowers and vegetables, but this is human food."

"Haha~ they do. But most soldiers who come here are Halflings. We grew up eating human food. Moreover, ever since King Warlock became the Zerg King, human food can now be found in the hive.

Even the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress would try to eat it sometimes. Plus, the alliance soldiers had come with us as well.

We cannot just serve them flowers and vegetables as food," said the Halfling Zergs.

Jeremy asked, "Is it alright for us to ask about the alliance? If so, you don't mind."

"Of course! This is not a secret, and most planets in our star system know it. I can tell you everything about it," said the Halfling Zerg.

After an hour, the Halfling had returned to work as he was being called over from the outside. After saying his goodbyes to Jeremy and Shiva, he ran out to resume his duties after being away for the whole hour.

"Akila! Where are you? It's time for us to wash the dishes!"

"I'm here! I'm here!" The halfling called Akila panicked and grabbed all the empty plates on the table and prepared to leave. "I'm sorry. I need to continue my work." Then left as if being chased by someone as his name is still being called outside.

After the halfling had left, Jeremy and Shiva were surprised by the things Cid Warlock had done in the Hive Star. He not only brought the halflings to a new planet where they gained their own small planet associated with the Zerg Race. Under their protection of the Insect Race, the halfling had fully integrated with the Zergs and some of them even chose to live on the Hive Star.

Cid Warlock due to his special bloodline as someone from the Royal Zerg Tribe, the Blue Morpho Butterfly Tribe, he was chosen by the Zerg King at that time King Augustus Kaiser as crown prince candidate. After passing all the trials and successfully undergoing evolution, Cid Warlock was enthroned as the current era's Zerg King.

As for the former Zerg King and Zerg Queen, after evolution they both become this era's Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress. Emperor Augustus left the court to King Cid and spent most of his time with his Empress in their own mansion. Ever since then the decision making on that Hive Star is now in Cid Warlock's hand.

"He is... quite amazing~"

Shiva was amazed by the life events of Cid Warlock. From a Major who couldn't even become a General to a King of another race. It was the kind of story one would see in a book.

Jeremy nodded his head in agreement. "If not for those old marshals holding him back before, he would have long become the youngest marshal of our planet. But his life now is better, he is already a king and holds his race's lives in his hands. For him to come here to help us, must be to get a clearance for his past self. This is his birth planet.

Even though he won't be living here anymore, he couldn't afford to see it destroyed."

"No wonder, he came here. He even brought an Alliance over. Does he want the Human race to join this alliance?" asked Shiva.

Jeremey hesitated and said, "If it is before then my answer is yes, but the situation of the human race is unstable even on our own planet. So, I don't know."

"It's okay. Don't think about it. Let's go back to sleep," said Shiva.

The sky gets darker as the night deepens. Those who needed to rest had longed to close their eyes. Those in guard duties can only stand outside the tents staying at the bonfire watching over the whole camp. The evening passed with the tranquility of tonight.

At dawn...

The soldiers on night duty guard were waiting for their comrades to change positions. The guarding duties are in a shifting schedule of evening and morning. Now that the sun is already rising, those one morning duties would need to exchange places for those who were on night duties for guarding the camp. The soldiers who were about to exchange places met outside the tent.

But just as the other soldiers return to their tent to rest, a bright light from the distance was found going closer to where they are. It's only daybreak and not completely bright in the area, so the bright light coming closer was too obvious in this dimmed atmosphere.

"What is that light?! Can you see it too?"

"Yes! Don't you think it's coming closer?"

"Don't tell me... are you enemies?"

The sound of sirens ringing in the area~

The guards looked at each other and finally rang the alarm. The whole campsite was caught in surprise, and there were those that abruptly opened their eyes and came out as soon as they heard the alarm. As there are more soldiers in this camp, most of them knew the reason for the sudden unwanted alarm. It's a warning for intruders.

Cid Warlock asked as soon as he came out, "Report! What is happening?"

A Zerg soldier comes over and reports, "Your Majesty! A moving light was coming closer to this location. It might be an intruder as it was moving quite fast!"

"Good work! Prepare for battle! Grab your weapons and wear your armor!" shouted Zerg King Cid Warlock.

All the soldiers in the camp, regardless of their race had all geared up. Cid Warlock stood upfront with the alliance leaders, Solan and Roan at his side. Lucas is still injured and resting, as for Kian, he is the head doctor of the hospital. He almost can't leave that area unless all patients inside the tent had been treated completely.

Zerg King Warlock stood upfront and watched the bright light that was coming closer to them. It was daybreak and the sun had slowly brightened the sky. As for the moving light, everyone was shocked as they finally knew the reason for the light, as four human figures appeared before them with their glowing wings attached on their backs.

The three humans on the back looked normal except for the weird wings of fire on their backs. What caught everyone's eyes is the youth with purplish-red long hair and red eyes looking down on them from the sky. Zerg King Cid Warlock stared at this youth with shocked and incredulity on his face.

He can only call involuntarily, "Leng... Jun?"

Chapter 1422 Second Red Star - Unexpected Reunion

At the Northeast Campsite...

The arrival of Leng Jun and his group was something everyone had expected yet they didn't expect him to come over so fast. Moreover, even though they were informed about the change in him, they didn't expect him to get younger as well. Right now, he looks like a young adult who hasn't even reached middle-age. They welcomed the guests and moved them to the main tent.

Of course, as promised, Jeremy and Shiva were informed about their arrival. They didn't need to be escorted, as Leng Jun chose to see them first before heading to the main tent with Cid Warlock and the leader figure in the group.

In the main tent, only the Elementalist who chose to stay with him last time accompanied him, as for the others, they remained in the tent of Jeremy and Shiva, still crying their eyes out. Leng Jun glances at the Elementalist beside him, trembling; after all, he was also just a civilian before. Even though he knew about the other races, meeting the leaders himself was stressful.

Leng Jun said, "Go back to where Jeremy is. Chuchu is with me. I am not alone."

"Are you sure? There's a lot of them though," said the Elementalist.

Zerg King Cid Warlock grins and teases, "Don't worry. We don't eat humans~"

The Elementalist looked frightened as he saw the big guy's evil smile. The other alliance leaders also chose to smile at him, which was friendly, but in the eyes of this human, who hasn't met other races except for elementals, he feels the world was against him.

Sighed. Leng Jun said, "Please stop teasing him. He is already scared enough."

"Hahaha~ he is quite fun to tease. Solan, help him back to Jeremy's tent. His legs look jelly right now," said Zerg King Cid Warlock. "So, just as I thought most of the Sentinel died during the last war, tsk! Those three old bastards."

The Elementalist overheard the Zerg King's word on his way out. He didn't expect that the King of the Insect race would hate those old marshals from before as well. Actually, he hates them too. IT was because of the abuse of authority of those men that his sworn brother, a halfling, left the Federation Star to survive.

He and his father were jailed for helping his friend escape and if not for the apocalypse, they wouldn't have been able to leave that cold jail.

On his way out, he bumps into a group of Zerg soldiers and sees one of them looking very similar to his friend, Zion. He called out without thinking and was terrified with what he did. He didn't expect the Zerg soldier to turn around and look at him as he called out his friend's name.

"Zion?"

The Zerg soldier turned around and responded, "Yes? Who is calling me?" Then he finally saw his long-sworn friend, who helped him and his family escape from the Federation Star.

Zion calls, "Xiao Fanfan? It's really you!?"

The Zerg soldier, Zion, immediately hugs the Elementalist, named Cen Fanyu. His face was in tears as he hugged him. "Oh my God! You're alive! Haha~ Thank god! I volunteered for this expedition when the Zerg King said he wanted to return to the Federation Star.

I wanted to see you, aunt and uncle. But when I saw the state of this planet, I thought you guys were..."

"I'm okay," said Cen Fanyu yet it was unbelievable, as he seemed to be dazed.

The Zerg Soldier, Zion, asked, "Really?" He stared at him, obviously trying to ask him to be honest.

"I...I...I'm not alright. Mom died from a cold. She and dad turned ice. I... I don't know. I just followed others to the base and then..." Cen Fanyu didn't even notice his tears were also falling down on his face as if he couldn't control. He thought that he couldn't cry anymore.

"A'Zi, I don't have a family anymore! Wuaa~"

Upon seeing Cen Fanyu cries, Zion hugs him once again and whispers, "It's alright. I'm still here. Don't cry. I help you find aunt and uncle when everything on this land is resolved. Zerg King, I mean Major Warlock is an amazing person. He should be able to resolve the problem on this planet.

If he can't, our Zerg Empress is kind. He would definitely help if we plead."

"Really?" asked Cen Fanyu, "But they said..."

"What the federation military said before are all lies. The Insect race doesn't eat humans at all. Most of them are vegetarians and would eat flowers. As for meat-eaters, Zergs, they only eat chicken, pork and beef. Eating humans is not allowed in the Hive Star. What we know before was all fake news that the military had spread before," said Zion.

Cen Fanyu asked, "But why would they do that?"

"That's because they wanted to defeat the Zerg Race and take over their planet. The Hive Star is one of the most fertile planets in this star system," said Solan.

Eh?

At this point of conversation, Solan and the other soldiers in the area are butting in. Seeing this is an opportunity to remind the two that they are in public and everyone is looking at them with teasing smiles. So, as Zion and Cen Fanyu turned around, they saw everyone's eyes on them. Not only Zergs or halflings.

There are also some dragons, machines, dragonewts and even elves looking at them with knowing smiles on their faces.

Solan commented with a teasing smile, "Ah, 'I'm still here. Don't cry.' This is youth. The best I've heard."

Zion and Cen Fanyu's faces turned red in embarrassment, and only then did they realize that everyone was watching them right from the start.

A spider-type Zerg in human form said, "I not only eat chicken, pork, and beef. Lamb and mutton are also the best. As for human flesh, the Zerg Emperor said it was poison to us. It leads a Zerg into madness, so we never tried eating it before. It's also forbidden by our laws even before His Majesty Warlock took the throne. Instead, it is you humans who eat our Worker Zergs.

Though they do look like shrimp, are they really edible?"

"Um. It was more delicious than ordinary shrimp. Yes, it stayed like a King Lobster!" said Solan.

The Zerg Soldiers were shocked and interested; they surrounded their Minister Solan and said, "Prime Minister, you are not lying?"

"Is it really delicious?"

"It wouldn't be bad to try a few, right?"

"Let's go catch a few."

"Don't forget to send a plate to my tent!" Solan said.

The Zerg soldiers happily departed to catch some worker Zergs. "Yes, sir!"

Cen Fanyu was dumbfounded. Aren't worker Zergs still Zergs? Can they still be their own kind? Meanwhile, as if reading his thoughts, Zion explained the existence of the Worker Zergs.

Zion coughed. "Xiao Fanfan. Worker Zergs aren't truly Zergs. That is only a name. Worker Zergs are livestock in the Hive. One that helps purify the waters on our planet.

They are just somewhat obedient livestock, but only the Royal Tribe can command them to do something. They can also be used to scout places that are from a distance as they never get tired."

"Then doesn't that mean they are going to eat the scouts your king brought?" asked Cen Fanyu nonchalantly, which awakened Solan to this reality.

Solan cursed, "Ah! Shit! You brats! Don't eat all of the Worker Zergs." He turned around and said, "Zion, you can escort that kid for me. I need to stop those fools."

After Solan left, Zerg Soldier Zion, who was excused from his duties, escorted Cen Fanyu to the tent where Jeremy and the rest were waiting. The interior of the tent is so boisterous that one can hear people laughing and chatting. Food is being delivered inside for the guests to eat. Cen Fanyu and the rest of the team obviously haven't even slept properly since the night attack happened yesterday.

By the time. Cen Fanyu and Zion join the team; most of them are eating and chatting at the same time.

"Fanyu, you come back fast. That's why I told you, you don't need to come with the leader. It's enough that he had Chuchu with him."

"Oh~ you brought a friend... A Halfling? No, based on his outfit, he is a Zerg Soldier."

"Welcome! You can ignore these fools. Go have a seat," said Shiva.

Jeremy also welcomed the presence of Zion. He also heard about how the family of Cen Fanyu was sent to prison for helping a halfling escape the Federation Star. It was the General Surge, who helped them bail out after learning about this situation.

Zion properly introduced himself and said, "Hello! My name is Zion. I am from the 3rd Assault Team of the Zerg Legion. Nice to meet you!"

"Halflings are allowed to join the military in the Hive Star? I thought only female Zergs joined it?" asked Jeremy. He had been resting in the tent ever since he woke up and hasn't met other soldiers except for those who sent their meals.

Zion responded, "That was before. After most residents of the Hive evolved, even male Zergs regained their original strength. The error on their genes was erased the moment they completed evolution. It was also because of collective evolution that the Hive Star had closed itself, preventing all news from coming outside.

If only I knew that an apocalypse hit the Federation Star, I would come over right away."

"You mean the Hive has been closed until recently? The Zergs are all undergoing evolution in groups? That's possible?" Shiva asked.

Zion nodded his head and explained. "It is all thanks to our Zerg Empress. She spread his knowledge of Pill Refinement and Potion Concoction. Because of it, the problems in the genes of all Zergs had been resolved.

Now most Male Zerg have returned to the normal physique of a man, and the Female Zerg no longer needs to fear mental stability thanks to our Zerg Emperor sharing a technique that strengthens one soul. They are the gods of our race."

"Gods? Do they truly exist?" asked Cen Fanyu.

Zion responded, "This is only something I overheard from my superiors talking. They said that each world possessed a god. It was just that during the weakest state of the world they would choose one savior that would save the world. Our Zerg Emperor said that Zerg King Warlock is our savior, so they rarely interfere after Zerg King Cid sat on the throne."

"Have you met the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress?" asked Jeremy.

Zion said, "Of course! They are a very loving couple. The type that is shameless gives dog food every time. We sometimes see them on their date at night markets. the Colosseum, even at the sky garden. You would see them flirting all day in the Hive.

It is bad for the single dogs, but thanks to them the other couples would also openly show their love and the birth rate of our race indefinitely increased. The bachelors suffered the most. Ah, right! His Majesty was suffering from countless marriage offers because of this too. But it's like he can complain to the Emperor and the Empress showing their love, right?"

The others listening in the room were smiling at this kind of novel news. They would have never thought that a pair of famed people would show their love without caring for others, and the Hive openly accepting this kind of situation is another thing in itself. But this just shows that the people that live in the Hive are all in good health, and they are all happy.

Then they compared the Hive Star in this young soldier's story to their current world. Their planet is desolate and full of danger from the unknown, and the human race is under the reign of the Elementals. It is far from the happy and carefree world the Hive Star possessed. There is more tragedy than hope on this planet.

Jeremy mumbles, "I hope this apocalypse will end soon."

"That's right. I don't care if we don't have the same resources as before. As long as the weather returns to normal and the humans will no longer be suppressed by the elements as well as live on the surface, that is enough for me."

"All I wanted was to return to the time where we can live without caring too much for our safety and just live our lives as boring and simple as before. At the very least, find and unfroze our families and bury them properly," Shiva said.

Thinking of their families who had turned to ice, they couldn't help but feel melancholy about it. Almost all humans lost a loved one when the apocalypse began. Ice that cannot be melted by any means. It cannot be cut or destroyed, yet it keeps imprisoning the people inside even after their deaths.

As for those who survived, they had to keep hiding not only from the Ice Elementals, who detested them, but they also needed to live underground to survive. Now there is the chaos energy brought by the beast race that spreads throughout their world, spreading madness everywhere, which greatly increases the danger on this planet. Right now, this Federation Star is no different from Cold Hell.

Chapter 1423 Second Red Star - The Two Protagonist Sons.

In another dimension...

After finally healing himself to the point where the pain in his soul had lessened greatly, Tun Shizhe came to find the other part of his power, which he had given to the protagonist son of the Federation Star, Leng Jun. This time, Chaos joined him because he was bored. They went to the Federation Star and didn't expect things on this little star to progress as much.

The two of them were stunned when they felt a powerful energy of chaos on the Federation Star.

Lord Chaos mumbles in confusion, "What's wrong with this little star? There is a powerful energy of chaos, but there is no source. Hm? Is this a second-stage spread of chaos energy?"

"That means there's a living carrier of chaos energy. This is good. What I got from the Beast race is barely enough to remove the darkness in my soul. As long as I devour the first carrier, then... this pain in my soul shall disappear," said Tun Shizhe.

Lord Chaos commented, "If it's that easy to ease the pain caused by tainting one's soul, then my hatred for him wouldn't be so deep. The chaos energy you can get from the first carrier would only ease the pain. The pain won't completely disappear until you become fallen and adapt to the darkness. If you fail, you will just become another madman."

Tsk!

"Tsk! That bastard's element is too malicious! How annoying~" muttered Tun Shizhe as he flew around the Federation Star, trying to find the first carrier that brought the chaos energy to this world.

Lord Chaos followed after him and looked at the center, where he felt the power of absolute ice, which is similar to his. No, it's more accurate to say that it is a fragment of the main soul's power.

He mumbles, "A fragment of absolute ice element and chaos energy... sigh~, this means the main soul shall descend in this world."

Lord Chaos glanced at Tun Shizhe, who hadn't thought of this possibility. Moreover, if his main soul is coming over, it means that the God of Void will also be around. If that man and this man bump into one another, that would be another interesting thing to see. A playful smile surfaced at the corner of Lord Chaos's lips.

He obviously had no intention of telling Tun Shizhe about this, as he still wanted to see another clash between him and his alter ego.

On the other hand, at the center of the Star System...

The Zerg Empress was meditating as he just finished gathering the chaos energies in the other small stars. He once again refined it, but the amount was minimal, so he didn't take long this time. When he opened his eyes, he looked in the direction where the Federation Star was found.

"Why is it that even a fragment of Eternal Ice is found on this star system?" mumbles Empress Titania.

System Yue, who knew the reason, reminded his Lord Hei about it. [Lord Hei, it must be because Titania Ambrosia lost control of his emotions during the war and called for Eternal Ice. But his mortal soul had no full control over him and some of his fragments flew away.]

The Zerg Emperor said, "The hatred in his heart against the fragments of the World Eater is so great that he lost control during the war."

After looking through the memories of Titania Ambrosia in his mind, the Zerg Empress sighed. "If he is going to lose control, he should have at least defeated his enemies before his body broke down. What a waste of an opportunity."

The God of Destruction stood up and gave his husband a kiss at the corner of his kiss and said with a smile, "This is your late reward. Good job destroying that man's clone and that World Eater fragment."

The God of Void happily pulled his beloved into a deep kiss and said, "There is no need for thanks between the two of us."

"Then let's go clean up his mess. To the Federation Star we go!" said the Zerg Empress.

The Star System isolation had been deactivated by the God of Destruction after completely gathering the chaos energies in the stars within this star system, except for the ones in the Federation Star. Now that this couple and the moon system are going there personally, the ordinary human planet would be a sight to behold when such multiple gods had descended from it.

Federation Star. Northeast Region.

Interstellar Alliance's Camp. Main Tent.

Headed by the Zerg King, Cid Warlock, the alliance leaders from this star system had gathered to welcome the representative of the human race, the hybrid, Leng Jun. His Fire Elemental Viper King, Chuchu, in his soul form, wrapped itself around Leng Jun's neck. He can easily feel that most of these foreign race leaders are powerful, especially the halfling insect race's king.

Leng Jun under the stars of this group, was composed and calm, as if he didn't mind their scrutinizing gaze that fell on himself.

"Your Majesty, you are indeed right. This person is quite amazing."

"His expressionless face doesn't even flatter under our gazes."

"He has nerves of steel. I like him!"

"This is the first human who successfully became an elemental. Young Sir, is it alright if you give a sample of your genes? I am most curious how much your whole body composition has changed. Hehe~"

"You don't even have his body composition when he is a human. How can you compare? Stop playing around!"

"Of course, I am joking."

Upon hearing the words of these alliance leaders, Chuchu was bewildered. Are these people truly leaders of their own races? How come they act like children? Even though Chuchu didn't voice his queries, the expressions on his viper face made the old leader laugh.

"What a cute little one!"

"You are so readable, little snake?"

"So, elementals can gain human expressions after merging with one. What a great discovery!"

"Little snake, I have a potion here that might help you solidify your soul and give you a temporary body. As you know, there are lots of ghosts on my planet. They use this to appear more solid. Though it wouldn't permanently give you a materialized body, a short while should be possible~"

Chuchu was delighted, {Really?!}

"Of course. Is it possible for me to take your photos as a souvenir? This is the first time I saw an elemental in his soul form."

Chuchu, who had just happily received the potion, went to the side of the tent and took photos with some of the alliance leaders who were more interested in elementals than Leng Jun, who turned into one. Leng Jun didn't stop them, as he couldn't feel any malice in their words. It's just plain curiosity about elements and nothing more. Leng Jun looked at Cid Warlock, who was massaging his temples.

It seems this kind of scene has happened multiple times, which leads to the meeting being delayed all the time. It gives him a headache, but he cannot do anything about it.

Leng Jun said, "It's good to see you alive, Major."

"You too, Agent Leng. I've heard about General Surge from Officer Jeremy, you have my condolences," said the Zerg King Cid Warlock.

Leng Jun remains calm at these words and it seems that his attachment to the human race has greatly faded after his awakening as an Elemental King. Cid Warlock noticed it at first when he met with Jeremy. He had a smile but the depth of his emotions was calm. Only when his elemental Chuchu is involved that the emotions in his eyes would waver.

"Have you tested enough?" said Leng Jun. He clearly noticed that Cid Warlock was trying to gauge his attachment to the human race.

Cid Warlock sighed and said, "If you are like this, then you won't be the one to sign the alliance with us. You no longer have any attachments in this world. Just what happened to you?"

"Nothing much. The reason is simple. I cannot stay in this world any longer. I need to go somewhere else so I can reconstruct Chuchu's physical body. For that, I cannot have any attachment to this world as I will need to leave as soon as I make sure that my brother and the human race regain their standing on this planet," Leng Jun said as he took a cup of black coffee on the table.

Though he had become an Elemental King, his habits as a human still remain, like eating human food or drinking.

Cid Warlock did the same and said, "It seems you are going beyond our star system. So, you wanted to become a god. That's a lot of hard work, my friend."

"You know about the upper realm?" asked Leng Jun, as he didn't expect Cid Warlock to know about this.

Zerg King Cid Warlock said, "My standing in the Hive Star is the same as yours. I receive the blessing of our star. Moreover, our Zerg Empress had a slip tongue from time to time."

"You mean your Zerg Empress isn't from here?" asked Leng Jun, as if he understood the hidden meaning of his words.

Zerg King Cid Warlock said, "He had changed into a different person after his evolution. The Zerg Emperor said that I would understand more once I took their place once they left. Actually, it is not only them, I had an inkling that my other two teachers are like them. Sooner or later, they would all leave this place.

So, if you want to ask more about your goal, then asking them is much more useful than talking to the heavenly laws. I was told that there are restrictions placed on them that they couldn't say much."

"No wonder he is too dodgy with his words. Then do you know how to resolve that weird energy that spread on this planet? It is because of that that most animals on this planet have gone crazy," Leng Jun said.

Cid Warlock said, "My teachers called it 'Chaos Energy'. They said it is supposed to be an energy that can only merge with the world, but it cannot be eaten. The Beast race brought it over from their own planet. We also don't know how to resolve this problem. Our only chance is to inform the Zerg Emperor and Zerg Empress about it to know if there is a way to solve it."

"You mean there is a possibility that this can be undone?" asked Leng Jun. "It would be hard for the humans to live on the surface if the beasts continue to go mad like this. But exterminating them will cause a huge impact on the ecology of this planet."

Cid Warlock said with a serious tone, "Don't hesitate. My teachers said that those who can't adapt to that energy can never return to normal."

"I see. So, I need to exterminate them," Leng Jun said with a cold look.

Cid Warlock said, "Don't worry. We will help you. Just don't forget to share their ashes as those things are rare."

"It can make the land fertile," Leng Jun asked. After learning that chaos energy is an energy that merges with the world to make it stronger, this means that the ashes of those mad beasts would be the perfect fertilizer in the world.

Cid Warlock grins and says, "Still sharp as always. Yes, that's the reason these old men are willing to stay here and help. They wanted those resources in exchange for lending a hand."

"Just leave us a quarter, and you can take away the rest," Leng Jun said.

Cid Warlock said, "That's a deal, then... are you going to help us with this work?"

"No, let Jeremy accompany you. There is someone I need to kill first as revenge," Leng Jun said as he recalled the last scene of his foster father and the senior soldiers jumping on the Ice Elemental Wolf King just to buy them time to escape. His powerlessness at that time, his hatred for that elemental, and his regrets for being weak.

This is the last fetter on his heart, which is why he couldn't evolve into an Elemental Emperor despite having enough qi for it. This is his mental demon; to become a god, he needs to kill his greatest enemies, the Ice Elemental Wolf King and the Incomplete Elemental Emperor, at the center of the world.

Seeing the hatred flashing in Leng Jun's eyes, Cid Warlock asked, "Do you need my help?"

"Not with this. After I am done with my personal business, you can accompany me to slay a god," Leng Jun said.

Cid Warlock smiled excitedly and said, "Okay! Haha~"

Chapter 1424 Second Red Star - New Human Race's Leader

After the conversation between Leng Jun and Cid Warlock was done, the two made their own decisions. Leng Jun, together with his Fire Elemental Viper King, Chuchu, planned to head to the north and fight against the Ice Elemental Wolf King for his revenge. Only Chuchu will go, and the other human Elementalist that arrived with him will be left to support Jeremy and Shiva.

Meanwhile, Zerg King Cid Warlock, who heard that the human race had headed to the south to find the Ice Elemental Penguin King, decided to go after them. Jeremy will take Leng Jun's place and become his representative. In short, he will represent the human race in the interstellar alliance.

It was decided that the human race would accept the alliance created by the Zerg race and other races in their group.

The alliance did not lack any resources, as the Hive Star and the planets of the other alliance leaders would send them within a scheduled period. They had a big feast that night to welcome Leng Jun and the human race to the interstellar alliance.

After the feast, Leng Jun came to Jeremy's tent to bid his farewell. He decided to move alone as soon as possible so he could take his revenge and complete his ascension. Chuchu couldn't waste any more time, as he was just a mere soul. As long as he didn't get something to strengthen his soul, he would definitely fade in the future.

So, Leng Jun needs to help Chuchu reconstruct his physical body as soon as possible.

Jeremy and Shiva's tent, which is now expanded to allow at most six people to live inside,.

Jeremy and Chuchu come over to say goodbye.

Leng Jun said, "Jeremy, I will leave the human race to your care."

Everyone inside the tent was stunned. They couldn't believe that the leader Old Surge had chosen to lead the human race would suddenly pass his mantle to his younger brother.

Cen Fanyu asked, "L-Leader, what are you talking about? Aren't you going to the south with us?"

"No. I need to take revenge for the deaths of my father and our other seniors. There is also that big one at the center of the world. He also must be eliminated," said Leng Jun while rubbing the head of Chuchu, who just drank the portion given by an alliance leader to help him temporarily solidify his soul. Only for three hours is he able to touch his Chuchu.

Jeremy said, "I don't accept it!"

"B-Boss..."

Actually, the others thought that Jeremy had become more suitable to become the leader of the human race. After all, after the death of their old leader, Surge, Leng Jun's personality had changed a lot. This is especially true when he wakes up this time. It was as if his attachment to the human race had disappeared. The other three Elementalists and even Shiva are not fools.

The moment they meet the recently awakened Leng Jun, they can feel the detachment his whole aura is emitting. Though he wouldn't directly push you away, he would ignore you unless you approached him. It was totally unlike him when Old Surge was still alive.

For those he felt awkward with before, it was because of his fear of them hating him due to his hybrid state, but at least he still sees humans as a part of his life.

But after he had woken up, aside from Jeremy, all other humans were no different than strangers in his eyes. To Leng Jun, the one most important thing in his life is not the human race but his elemental Chuchu instead.

Leng Jun spoke, "The human race cannot be led by someone that is not human. There is already dissatisfaction within the group. If not for you, the human race would have perished that day. Moreover, these four with you only chose to remain to protect me because of you. Without you, they would have definitely left me behind.

Jeremy, you may not be your father's adopted son like me, but you are my brother. Brother, I am no longer human. Can't I leave?"

Jeremy looked at Leng Jun's expressionless face. He wanted to see other emotions within those red eyes but found nothing. Like he said, Leng Jun had truly lost all his affection with the human race except for him. Once he is gone, will his brother still protect humans? Elementals will exist unless there are no longer any elements in the world.

In short, they can live for a very long time. He didn't want his brother to be tied up with humans after he died. That would be unfair for him, as he had another goal in his heart. Jeremy looked at Chuchu, who is the only one capable of putting a smile on his brother's face. After staring at this elemental for a while,. Jeremy suddenly lowered his head towards Chuchu.

He said, "Chuchu, I will leave my brother in your care. Please take care of him."

Chuchu, this Fire Elemental Viper King, was stunned for a moment before saying to the human, who lowered his head in his presence.

{I will definitely take care of A'Jun. Please don't worry.}

Only at this point did the other people in the room realize that Leng Jun would no longer be the leader of the human race, and instead it would be Jeremy who would take his place. Now that the representative of the human race is Jeremy, he now has the right to speak with the Zerg King and the other alliance leader.

Leng Jun said, "The people of this camp will make their move tomorrow. They would accompany you to the south region. They will protect you all the way and help you with everything you need. What they wanted is the ashes of those mad beasts. Those who are affected by chaos energy that has burned to ashes are extremely useful. The ashes can make any kind of land fertile when mixed with this sand.

I promise to keep a quarter and the rest will be given to the alliance. This is the payment you need to give in exchange for them saving the human race."

"I understand, brother," Jeremy said. "Are you going to leave as soon as possible?"

"Old grudges must be resolved as soon as possible. Also, I had made a promise to some to solve that one at the center of the world," Leng Jun said.

Shocked, Jeremy exclaims, "You also plan on fighting that big one at the center?! Is that even possible?"

"I will not fight against it alone. Maybe when it's time to fight it, you guys will be by my side then. Rest now. The Zerg King said, You will leave in the middle of the day and head to the south. Just make your preparations then. I'm leaving," Leng Jun said as he was about to leave the tent.

Jeremy grabbed his wrist and said, "Brother, don't die."

"I will not die. I will rejoin your group after my business is done. The rest is up to you now," said Leng Jun before leaving.

After Leng Jun had disappeared from the team, Jeremy's mood had gone sour. Even though he knew that his brother's words were right and that he was leaving to take revenge for their senior, Jeremy still couldn't help but fear that he would also lose his only brother. It was at this time that his Fire Elemental Ferret King, Guang, had materialized before him.

{Remy, there is no need to worry about that brother of yours. He had already become an elemental king and was much more powerful than all the other elemental kings combined. I don't know why he didn't immediately ascend, but his strength is already more powerful than that of a demigod.

If there is someone who can fight him, it can only be that Elemental Emperor at the center of the world or that Zerg King who visited you from before.} Ferret King, Guang said.

Everyone who heard Guang's words was surprised. They didn't expect the Zerg King, who looks jolly and friendly, to be that powerful.

Shiva asked, "That Zerg King, is he that powerful?"

{Any insect that can undergo evolution without dying is powerful. Moreover, that one had a weird blessing of invincibility on him. Like your brother, the Zerg King is almost a god in a mortal body.} Ferret King, Guang replied. {If you truly want to defeat that one in the center of the world, your brother and the Zerg King will be barely enough, but they can put up a good fight if they plan well.

I also can help you a lot now. I have been awakened by the King's bloodline. His turtle as well.}

The turtle Ferret King Guang mentioned is the Earth Elemental Tortoise King, who had signed a contract with Shiva. At the brink of death, their two masters had successfully awakened their king's bloodline. They are now more powerful than before.

Meanwhile, at the exit of the campsite,

Leng Jun was about to leave when he bumped into Zerg King Cid Warlock, who seemed to intentionally wait for him.

"Did you come to see me off?" said Leng Jun.

Cid Warlock grins and said, "Well, something like that. I came to give you this. I heard you lost your terminal. I had it registered in your name. You can contact us if you need something. Anyway, good luck with your fight."

"Of course, we still have a big battle to prepare for," said Leng Jun as he accepted the terminal, which was intentionally made fire-proof, water-proof, and shock-proof for him.

With huge purplish-red wings of fire on his back, Leng Jun finally took his leave with Chuchu. Cid Warlock watched Leng Jun's figure get smaller in the sky and saw him heading toward the ice forest.

Cid Warlock mumbles, "So, the Ice Elemental Wolf King's territory is within the Ice Forest. We should leave before those two fight. Having two demigods fight is not a simple event for the others." He walks away, returning to the main tent to rest like the others.

Somewhere in the south region.

At the ruined zoo where the mysterious spring was located. The power of gluttony that took the shape of the purplish-black dragon had half of its body submerged under the misty spring. The aurora that used to linger above the zoo had greatly faded, as if the power inside the spring had been depleted. The huge figure in the spring was covered with transparent silk all over its body.

Looking at it closer, this silk is the shed skin of this huge dragon.

Its former purplish-black scaled body now has hints of white in it. It seems this figure has fully integrated the trace of absolute ice into its skin. Unlike before, where it didn't possess a real vessel, it now created a semi-ice body to keep itself from existing after its host had left. Just as it was about to complete its evolution, Tun Shizhe and Lord Chaos descended from the sky.

Lord Chaos covered his nose with his sleeve and looked disdainfully at the ruined area and dirty place around him. This is a former zoo, and regardless of how it was now covered in snow, one couldn't remove the scent of animals that lingers in the area.

"Is this place... a zoo? Are you sure that the fragment of power you left with that moral is in this place?" Lord Chaos said.

Tun Shizhe said, "We are getting closer. For some reason, there is something different mixed in it."

"That's because you allowed it to eat everything! It wouldn't be surprising if it mixed with something," Lord Chaos retorted.

Tun Shizhe said, "That's our nature. It's impossible to change."

As soon as they approached the area where the mysterious spring is located, they saw a dragon with mixed-colored scales of purple, black, and white. Even Tun Shizhe didn't expect that a fragment of his power would fully materialize in this world.

Tun Shizhe said as he showed a delighted look. "Oh, I ate something amazing."

"You should worry if it would still listen to you. As I can feel a connection it had with him (Hei Anjing), I can feel that this bond is a bit too powerful for you to control alone," said Lord Chaos.

Tun Shizhe said, "It's alright. As long as it's useful."

Chapter 1425 Second Red Star - Leng Jun and the Ice Elemental Wolf.

At the location of the mysterious spring...

Tun Shizhe and Lord Chaos met the fully materialized dragon made of the power of gluttony with some other energy mixed into it. With its dragon scales glowing a shade of pure white, it's not hard to guess what kind of element it had eaten. Elements of Ice: It was said that absolute ice had the shade of white instead of the lightest blue.

The two gods observe the changes in the weird dragon, which looks more like a snake with a mixed color of purple, black, and white.

Lord Chaos said, "This is a wisp of the power from absolute ice. Why would his power fall in this world? This worm of yours is quite lucky. That is my soul's power of ice."

"That is indeed luck. But it isn't a fragment, just simply a leftover," said Tun Shizhe as he looked unsatisfied with his dragon.

He asked, "Where is the real fragment?"

Roar~

The mixed-colored dragon growls and looks in the direction where the center of this world is located. These two gods only needed to know the direction for them to detect whatever they wanted to find with farsightedness alone. They saw the scene happening at the center of the world. It was a scene of a beastman fighting a gigantic snowman who seemed to be the Elemental Emperor of this world.

Tun Shizhe chuckles, "Hahaha~ this time it seems that I am in luck. To think that I would even find the first carrier of the chaos energy alive."

"So, being beaten by your alter ego offset your misfortune and gave you this luck," said Lord Chaos.

Tun Shizhe said, "Your tongue is indeed too poisonous. Is your main body the same?"

"Heh, he is worse than me," Lord Chaos said. "Don't waste too much time. This place will be chaotic soon."

Tun Shizhe nodded his head and called back his power. The dragon moved out of the mysterious spring, dried up, and approached the two gods. It looked at the two and even lowered its head towards Lord Chaos after smelling the familiar scent of power coming from him.

"Come over."

"Oh~ a polite little worm. He doesn't look like yours in any angle; how about giving him to me?" said Lord Chaos.

Tun Shizhe was never when it came to Lord Chaos and said, "You can use him anytime you want. For now, let's head to the center of the world."

He climbed up on the head of the mixed-colored dragon, and Lord Chaos followed him up. The dragon flew towards the sky and didn't mind being a mount for these two individuals with divinity in their bodies. They head towards the center of the world, where the being who ate the fragment of absolute ice resides.

Meanwhile at the north region's ice forest...

Leng Jun and Chuchu stood before a towering wall of ice that protected the whole ice forest. The one who did it is none other than the ruler of the ice forest. The two of them looked at the wall of ice with expressionless looks, but Chuchu could feel countless elements beyond this ice wall.

{A'Jun, the ice elemental wolf pack is waiting for us beyond this wall. They already knew that we were here.} Chuchu, the fire elemental viper king, said.

Leng Jun said, "If so, then there is no need to sneak in. Let's just force our way in."

{I will meet the ice wall for you!} Chuchu said as he suddenly expanded and grew inside.

The original size of Chuchu, when his king's bloodline is awakened, is enough for him to wrap its tail around this ice wall. A deep red flame instantly melted the ice wall. The ice elemental wolf king had created. Both Chuchu and the Ice Elemental Wolf King are both king-class elementals.

The difference is that Chuchu's soul had been replenished with the potion the alliance had given him, while the Ice Elemental Wolf King could barely keep itself in his materialized form as his core was broken.

In an instant, the ice wall had melted into water, revealing the hidden forest from within. Leng Jun this time didn't hesitate to burn down the whole ice forest. Even if they are ice elements, with the ice forest slowly melting, their regeneration speed has greatly slowed down. The purplish-red flames not only burn the area but also devour the elements within this domain.

The walls of the ice elemental wolves echo in the whole burning forest.

Leng Jun remained expressionless amid the wails around him. He walks forward through the burning forest, with the weird-colored fire not affecting him in any way. When he reached the stone formation at the center of the ice forest, he once again met the huge Ice Elemental Wolf King. But unlike its solid state from before, his materialized body looks translucent, as if he can fade anytime.

The Ice Elemental Wolf King had its eyes closed while laying its head above his paws. It only opened its eyes when Leng Jun and Chuchu appeared before him, like before. But like in the past, this time they are enemies that can only kill each other. This is the fate between the two of them, and it's the result of the choices they made in the past.

On the day the Ice Elemental Wolf King had chosen to destroy the underground territory of the human race and kill those senior soldiers, the karma between these two had coiled to the point it could not be easily broken.

Between Leng Jun and the Ice Elemental Wolf King are fear, gratitude, and hatred. Fear, as the two were from different races from the beginning. With Leng Jun as a human and the latter as an Elemental King, their relationship is no different from that of a prey and his predator.

Gratitude, as after Leng Jun transformed into a hybrid, this Elemental King didn't kill him and even pointed out a way for him to solve Chuchu's problem. Finally, Hatred. The strongest karma between the two.

When the Ice Elemental Wolf King failed to control his hatred against the human race and killed the foster father of Leng Jun, all other good feelings and relationships between the two were erased. The Elemental King had killed Leng Jun's family and caused him to forcibly enter evolution.

Now this hatred will never end until Leng Jun takes revenge for the deaths of his foster father and other seniors with whom he grew up.

The Ice Elemental King spoke, {You are finally here. I've been waiting for you.}

"Yes. I am here to take your life," said Leng Jun with an expressionless face.

Hahahaha~

Upon hearing the words of Leng Jun, the Ice Elemental Wolf King laughs out loud as if he were entertained yet disdainful of this young elemental king's words. He can actually feel that this hybrid has evolved and become an elemental king who possesses much more elemental qi than he does. He is no longer an elemental hybrid that he can squash any time he feels like it.

The Ice Elemental Wolf King said, {Just because you become an Elemental King, you have become boastful! Hmp!}

Leng Jun ignored the sarcastic words of the Ice Elemental Wolf King and said to Chuchu. "Chuchu, don't get involved in this fight. I want to do it myself."

{Okay. Be careful, A'Jun.} Chuchu said as he went down from Leng Jun's neck and materialized in his huge form, waiting on the ground, staring at Leng Jun.

Leng Jun can feel his worry and gently rubs Chuchu's head. "I will be careful. Don't worry," he said.

But as soon as Chuchu left his neck and turned to look at the Ice Elemental Wolf King, Leng Jun's expressionless face turned darker as those pairs of garnet-like eyes were filled with strong hatred. If eyes could kill, Leng Jun's eyes full of hatred would have killed the Ice Elemental Wolf King countless times. That's how much he hates this being who took away the life of his father.

The Ice Elemental King said, {Have you finished your goodbyes, Brat? }

"Maybe you will be the one who needs to say goodbye. Ah, right. Most of your subordinates had been burned down by me. They now don't look like wolves at all," Leng Jun taunted the Ice Elemental Wolf King.

Suddenly one humanoid elemental king and an Ice Elemental Wolf King jumped to the sky to fight. The moment the Ice Elemental Wolf King jumped the sky with Leng Jun, its huge wolf form with light blue fur had changed into a human with layered light blue long hair and body covered in wolf fur made clothes.

The sharp claws on his hands and feet were sharp and even the pair of fangs peeking at the corner of his lips says that is quite an aggressive handsome man with a pair of aquamarine eyes. He exchanged multiple fists and kicks with Leng Jun on air before both falling on the ground causing craters on the land.

Leng Jun wasn't surprised to see this Ice Elemental Wolf King morphed into a human form. He had heard from Chuchu that Elementals like them are able to get their human form once they've reached godhood.

"It seems you aren't an Elemental King, but a real Elemental Emperor. No wonder you don't fear that one at the center of the world," Leng Jun said. "How come you don't change that quasi-Elemental Emperor at all?"

The Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor said, "It's not that I don't want to, but there is something in its body that could suppress my power. As an Ice elemental only, the power of absolute ice can make us yield and that power is inside that huge snowman and you have something similar that was mixed with your flames. It's a power that can kill me."

"That's good then, I plan on using that on you and devouring you!" said Leng Jun as a blackish flame appeared in both of his hands.

{Hah! You cocky brat!}

The two exchanged fists and kicks, even throwing fire and ice in the middle. It didn't take long for the ice forest to be completely ruined. The low-tier ice elements below were either melted or frozen under the attacks of the two individuals fighting without care in the sky. Only Chuchu, who had the ability to protect himself, was unaffected by this battle.

Each exchange of moves was ruthless, as if they truly wanted to kill one another. Their battle lasted for quite a long time.

While the deadly battle in the north's forest unfolds, the sun has completely risen. Those who were at the campsite in the northeast had started packing up their things after breakfast. The plan for this journey is to head to the south and find the other humans that are still alive.

The ice forest is not too far from the route this group will take, but obviously they had no intention of getting involved with the business of Leng Jun, even though they all actually know that the hybrid elemental plans to fight against the Ice Elemental Wolf King for revenge.

The battle between the two is too loud and explosive that they can see scenes of hail falling from the sky or a huge purplish-red flame exploding in air can be witnessed from as far as long as one had a telescope. While everyone is still preparing to leave, Cid Warlock, the Alliance Leader, Jeremy and his small group have climbed up a spaceship just to watch the fight from a distance.

Cid Warlock said, "I didn't know that an elemental is capable of taking a form similar to that of a human."

{Impossible! Didn't they say that the Ice Elemental Wolf King is only an elemental with the king's bloodline!? It shouldn't be possible for him to have a humanoid form.} Ferret King Guang exclaimed.

Jeremy asked, "Are Elementals not able to take on humanoid form?"

{It's not like that. We can materialize using a form close to a human form, but the requirement for it is too hard to achieve. After all, only a real Elemental Emperor can use a humanoid form. That means that Wolf is not an Elemental King but an Elemental Emperor with the strength of a God!} explained Ferret King Guang.

Chapter 1426 Second Red Star - Fallen God

Everyone from a distance witnessed the battle between Leng Jun and The Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor. Even the Ice Elemental Fox King, who never came out after meeting Leng Jun that one time, had dispersed the fog in his icy mountains just to watch the battle. This is the battle he saw in his divination. It's the fall of the emperor and the ascendance of the king.

It was also the beginning of huge changes on this planet.

The Ice Elemental Nine-Tailed Fox King mumbles, "The wolf is not destined to rule this star as its master and that child will not stay in this world for too long. It is just that the future that shows the defeat of that one at the center is blurred at first; maybe it would change once this battle is over."

The others who saw what was happening in the north ice forest chose to avoid it. But the beast, who was infected by the chaos energy, was instead attracted to the clashes of energies they yearned for. The more chaotic the area is, the more they would gather.

At first, Chuchu didn't notice the approaching presence in the ice forest until he felt a strong malice targeting him. He flew into the sky and saw those familiar-looking eyes. It's even a lighter shade of gray and this time animals that aren't supposed to be here had gathered to attack the elemental wolves and even wanted to jump on him as he floated in the sky.

{It's these things again! I can't let them get involved with A'Jun's fight!}

Chuchu looks bad at the scene of these mad things gathering here again. It wasn't that they weren't killable. The problem was their numbers. This time he used one of his inherited skills, fire breath. It seems that his snake bloodline had a bit of inherited divinity from his ancestor, who is most likely a dragon.

Chuchu's actions of using fire breath were witnessed by Leng Jun and the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor.

The latter said, "Brat, just how lucky are you? That Elemental of yours possessed a dragon's bloodline."

"Dragon? But isn't Chuchu a snake?" murmured Leng Jun.

The Ice Elemental Wolf King used his claws, wanting to dig out Leng Jun's heart, yet it was dodged nimbly by the elemental hybrid. This sneak attack by this wolf angered Leng Jun, and his attacks had also become lethal. This time, they started fighting to kill their opponents.

Chuchu, who was using his breath to burn down these beasts, suddenly noticed the surging ice and fire elements in the area. Feeling the danger from the two energies, he flew as high as possible and killed a few affected birds in the sky. But most of these birds were killed in the exchange of moves between Leng Jun and the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperors.

As if lava appeared out of nowhere, it exploded towards where the Ice Elemental Wolf King was afloat. Unlike Leng Jun, he wasn't truly flying. He is only using a bit of divinity to fly; after all, he is a god, even though he is badly injured. An ice dome of ice tried to block the blackish lava that came into him. But his ice was instantly melted due to the devouring effects of that lava.

Tsk!

The Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor didn't expect that his opponent's flame could even mutate into lava; this only means that aside from fire elements and that weird power that can devour him, Leng Jun can also use earth elements and merge them with his flames, thus the lava with a blackish shade was born.

He can only make his ice thicker, making the melting process slow down for a moment, but will Leng Jun miss this opportunity to bring him down? The answer is now.

Leng Jun, upon seeing the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor struggling with the lava he made, controlled the lava, focusing on melting one point of the dome around the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor. This pinpoint control instantly created a hole in the dome. Under Leng Jun's control, the lava grabbed one of the ankles of the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor and instantly restrained the man.

This time he summoned a meteor rain that fell directly at the location where the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor was restrained.

Leng Jun stared at his opponent coldly and said, "Die!"

An even louder explosion happened in the sky, affecting even those wild beasts in the land who were melted under the rain of boiling magma. Echoes of beasts in pain and growls in anger resound in the whole area, but Leng Jun's eyes never leave the area where the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor in his humanoid form is.

As expected, the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor didn't die, but this time he was badly wounded and expended more of his elemental qi, making his fragmenting core break even more.

With both his hands and one leg melted and half of his face burned, the Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor glares at Leng Jun, enraged. He finally lost his cool after suffering from that one combination attack from Leng Jun. Who would have thought that Leng Jun would be able to conjure meteors from the sky to fall into someone?

To prevent itself from vanishing, the core he had barely patched up started cracking.

The Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor shouted, "You and your damn father are both lunatics! You can't fight properly like a real man!"

With a pale face from overusing his elemental qi, Leng Jun glared back at him coldly and retorted. "To win against a monster like you, dignity and righteousness aren't needed! As long as you are gone, everything else will be fine! You don't have the right to say that to my father. You look down on humans and don't treat them as your equals.

The reason for your state is because of your own carelessness!"

AAROOOO~

The Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor howled as he used the remaining elemental qi in his core to regenerate his body. He lost his humanoid form the moment his energy was completely broken to pieces. Instead of a small human form, this time a huge wolf with light blue fur as big as a mountain appeared.

This is the last state of an Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor who used his divinity to recreate his body but lost all its original power, becoming a fallen god.

{You made me into a fallen god. A Fallen! I can never become a God anymore! I'm going to kill you if it's the last thing I do! } The Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor shouted.

Seeing the danger Leng Jun was in, Chuchu flew towards Leng Jun and stood by his side. He is willing to accompany this man in life and death. Moreover, he is only a soul. What more would he lose if he fought to death with Leng Jun?

"Chuchu, there is no need to accompany me! Run!" said Leng Jun, but the Fire Elemental Viper King remained beside him and obviously had no intention of leaving at all.

{I'm not leaving! I'm going to fight with you!} Chuchu declared.

Seeing the determination in the eyes of the Viper King, Leng Jun felt that he owed his Chuchu too much. He caused him to lose his material body and greatly weaken his soul. He couldn't even return to the spirit realm to heal and now he might die here with him.

Leng Jun sighed and finally, his beating heart had calmed down. He recalled that thing Cid Warlock had given him. With a wave of his hand, a thin cylinder with a button at the side appeared. This is a modern version of flare. Seeing the danger this Fallen God is giving him, he has no other choice, but to ask for help.

"Since we can't defeat you with just the two of us, how will you fight against the warriors of many races?" said Leng Jun as he pressed the button on the cylinder that was given to him.

BOOOM!

The light in it shot towards the sky and a huge explosion of light exploded in the sky above them. The color red signifies that whoever had shot the flare is in danger. The leaving group from the Northeast camp saw the light. Even those in the south and west saw such brilliant shades of red fireworks.

Meanwhile, in the Northeast...

"Just as I thought. Wolves are truly hard to kill," Zerg King Cid Warlock said.

Cid Warlock and the other Alliance Leader, who saw the emergency flare flashing in the sky grin. Behind them are soldiers of all kinds of races, all wearing armor and weapons on them. It seems that the Interstellar Alliance already expected this to happen.

Even Jeremy and his group, who were informed about the plan, were stunned; they thought that the camp was busy today because they would begin the journey to the south. Who would have thought that they were waiting for Leng Jun to fire a flare?

Jeremy asked, "Your Majesty, how did you know that my brother will face danger when he fights with the Ice Elemental Wolf?"

"Actually, it's only a guess. It's thanks to our Zerg Empress. As you know he is capable of controlling ice elements. When sparring with him, we tried our best to think of a way to fight against him, but we were utterly defeated. The Zerg Empress said that we should never underestimate the ice element.

Even though unlike fire which is easily controlled by feelings of rage, all elements depend on the emotions of its wielder. He said that ice is the hardest to control with emotions as you need to keep calm and composed at all times to keep it under control.

But in cases, when the host loses control, the effects of ice will increase much more than fire and when it's out of control, it affects its host as well. It destroys everything." Cid Warlock explains.

He added, "And it seems that the Elemental Wolf had completely lost it. It could only continue to fight until he gets what he wants."

"Since this is the case, we need to leave and reinforce my brother soon!" said Jeremy.

Cid Warlock said, "No need to be in a hurry. We can arrive on time. I will put a buff on everyone." The Blue Morpho Butterfly tribe has two inherent special abilities: buff and illusion. When he had evolved into a Zerg King, he fully awakened these two special skills.

The Zerg King unfolds his huge blue morpho butterfly wings. He used his inherent skill and buff skill to increase the strength, speed, and regeneration of everyone in the area. Only when everyone was affected by his buff did he lead the way in the sky while Solan and Jeremy led the guys to the land. At their enhanced speed, they should be able to reach the ice forest in just a few minutes.

Cid Warlock glances at Kian and the other logistic soldiers who will remain to protect the camp. "I will leave the camp and others to you."

Saluted, "Yes, Your Majesty!" responded Kian, who is the lead of the support team.

The Zerg King flew, and those who could fly had all flown to him. Some Zerg soldiers also unfolded their wings and followed after their king. Though their wings were smaller compared to the ones behind their Zerg King, flying alone was not a problem for them. They all head to the Ice Forest to help Leng Jun fight against the fallen god.

On the other hand, at the flight that is near the area close to outer space, a huge tri-colored scale was flying with two figures standing on its head. They are overlooking the scenery below while being blocked by the heavenly consciousness of this world.

The heavenly laws said, "Intrud'rs! thou art not allowed to receiveth involved with the belov'd son of this world!"

Translation: [Intruders! You are not allowed to get involved with the beloved son of this world!]

Tun Shizhe and Lord Chaos looked down at the scene of two elemental kings fighting against the fallen god. The difference in strength between them is quite large. A fallen god had only lost its divinity, but most of its strength before it became a fallen remains. As long as its vessel isn't destroyed, it can exist for so long, and to wound a god's vessel will take more than a simple flame to do so.

But Leng Jun had merged with the power of gluttony in his flames; it was effective, but compared to the real ability to devour, it had weakened a lot as he wasn't a real host of this power.

"A demigod who ate the power of gluttony? I wonder what his ending will be. Will he go crazy in the end or..." murmured Tun Shizhe while ignoring the weakened divine consciousness of the world.

Chapter 1427 Second Red Star - Unexpected Interference

At the Ice Forest, which is now completely destroyed.

Leng Jun and the Fire elemental Viper King, Chuchu, had been fighting the Fallen God, the former Ice Elemental Wolf Emperor, who had gone berserk. The murderous intent of the Fallen God had been going the strongest ever since Leng Jun made his humanoid unusable and his energy core completely broken.

The divinity in his flesh is limited, and he wanted to kill these two brats who caused this state of his.

Unfortunately, the two moved too fast and he could hardly land a hit, On the other hand, their hits landed on him without a problem, It's just that with a God vessel, it is almost impossible for him to get wounded with normal attacks. It can be said that only the dragon breath used by Chuchu and the flames that can devour anything had effects on this Fallen God.

It is just that to use those kinds of attacks, it needs a lot of energy to do so. It's not the kind of attack that can be used continuously.

Chuchu and Leng Jun had already overspent their elemental qi and were greatly weakened by it. Thankfully, the wild beast, who had gone mad due to chaos energy, is attacking the Fallen God more, as they condemn him as the strongest and most dangerous. The chaotic energy is more attracted to this kind of energy and wants to fight against it.

The Fallen God lifted a paw and squashed the annoying mad beast under its foot. It was merciless and ruthless as he turned most of the affected animals into a meat paste.

{Annoying pests! Endless and annoying. Just because I ignored you before doesn't mean you can do as you wish.}

ROOOAAARRR!

Following this sound of growl and a hail from the sky above that stabbed everything under it, the numerous beasts affected by the chaos energy were still alive in their current state. Their gray eyes start to glow with a much purer shade slowly as they struggle to move with their sharp icicles. Upon seeing the weakened state of Leng Jun and Chuchu, he couldn't help but chuckle.

{Haha~ it seems that you are out of strength. How will you survive my next attack then~}

The fallen God wanted to exterminate the existence of these two, which made him what he is now. After all, a fallen God cannot return to being a God again. The only way to return to the path of godhood is to return to their origins.

In short, I became mortal once again. The process of becoming a god is long and full of pain, sadness, sacrifice and suffering, Who would go experience all of it again if they were already one. That's why the hatred of the Fallen God towards Leng Jun and the human race is currently the strongest, as he is now in a state where he could no longer ascend and only be reincarnated.

Leng Jun said to Chuchu, "Chuchu, if you don't want to run, get inside my body. If we are going to die together, let me be the first to die."

{I want to stay with you. Can't I?} Chuchu said as he wrapped himself around Leng Jun. The latter gave up trying to convince his partner and instead morphed into his elemental form as a Viper Snake like Chuchu. The only difference is that Leng Jun is larger than Chuchu and his skin is purplish black.

Leng Jun also wrapped the smaller red viper under his large self and said, {Okay. Let's stay together.}

Seeing the two Fire Elemental Vipers coiling at each other as if they wanted to protect one another, the Fallen God had a burst of old memories he had forgotten all this time. It's a similar scene where he wasn't a god yet, and like Leng Jun, he also has someone like Chuchu by his side. A beautiful white wolf stayed by his side, but seeing that he was alone, that one must have died.

This memory made the fallen God hesitate for a moment.

Leng Jun's thoughts: 'A chance?!'

This hesitation was seen by Leng Jun, and he immediately fled towards the northeast, where there were warriors who would be able to fight with them. He was covered in wounds, and his bleeding had long frosted, making hardly any movement. Even so, his willpower alone was enough to ignore the pain and drag Chuchu away with him.

Sensing their departure, the already enraged Fallen God had gotten even angrier. He howled to the sky, which resounded in the area as if it were screaming.

{You can't escape! You can only die! DIE!}

The Mad Fallen God chased after them, throwing icicles to lower the speed of Leng Jun. Unfortunately, regardless of icicles piercing his body, Leng Jun protected Chuchu and flew away. This is their last chance to escape. Seeing the blood strolling down Leng Jun's body, Chuchu was stunned and he couldn't help but cry.

He wanted to throw a fire breath at their enemies, but his head was held down the moment he tried to peek.

Leng Jun said, "Don't look back, Chuchu. It's okay."

Not too far from them, Cid Warlock and the other soldiers behind him had seen two huge viper snakes flying away, covered in blood and wounds. They were being chased by a huge wolf with light blue fur and an enraged expression on its face. It was even breathing out ice breath that formed ice shards, attacking the two Vipers.

Cid Warlock recognized the red viper, but he couldn't see Leng Jun anywhere. He didn't know that Leng Jun can also transform into a huge Viper snake, and that one with purplish black Viper happens to be him. It was not until he heard that a human Elementalist came to the camp with Leng Jun.

Cen Fanyu shouted, "Isn't that Chuchu and Boss Leng!? Oh my god! What's that behind them!?"

"Fanyu, what do you mean? Where is my brother?" asked Jeremy.

Cen Fanyu pointed at the huge black viper. "That Black Viper! That's him! After he wakes up, he can change his form into a snake similar to Chuchu!"

"What did you say!?" Everyone exclaimed.

No one had expected that a former human like Leng Jun could even transform into a true elemental. No wonder his attachment to the human race had lessened a lot. This is because he is no longer a human but a real elemental hybrid who can transform in both human and elemental forms.

Solan looked serious as he saw the one-sided scene before their eyes. "He is in danger!"

"I'm going ahead!" said Cid Warlock.

He increased his flight speed as his huge blue wing flapped strongly, creating a distance between him and the group he was leading. Everyone watched as Cid Warlock flew at a speed that no ordinary Zerg would be able to do. Everyone saw that the huge wolf chasing after Leng Jun and Chuchu changed his mode of attack.

It was no longer small but numerous icicles; instead, it's a big ice shard which instantly flew towards Leng Jun.

Upon seeing that he couldn't dodge this ice shard, Leng Jun restrained Chuchu's movements and was about to throw him far away. Who would have thought that between the two of them, Chuchu, who had been a viper ever since birth, was able to use this body and nimbly escape from Leng Jun's restraints? He moves around him and pushes him away with a smile.

{Live, A'Jun!} whispered Chuchu.

At this moment, Chuchu was thankful that he had drank that potion that allowed him to keep his materialized form. With this temporary body, Chuchu once again successfully protected Leng Jun, the most important person in his life aside from his deceased parents.

He closed his eyes, welcoming his death, but in the last moment, he felt something hug him tightly, giving him that familiar warmth that had saved him from his death before.

Leng Jun hugged him tightly and said, {This time I will accompany you, Chuchu.}

The pair chose to accept death together this time. Both of them closed their eyes in peace. But those who were watching couldn't help but scream. Even the Zerg King, who was only a few meters away from the pair, was shocked. Even Lord Chaos, who was watching from afar, couldn't control the trembling of his finger when he saw such a familiar scene.

Lord Chaos recalled that scene when one of the corrupted cores of the World Eater sneak attacked him and wanted to kill him as well as devour him. The one who saved him at that time was the God of Void. Like Leng Jun, there was no hesitation in that man's actions, and he was protected. That was the only time he remembered the warmth the A'Xia in his long memories gave him.

Maybe it was out of instinct, but this time he lifted a hand to save the couple. Under his control, the huge ice shard melted just an inch away from the back of Leng Jun and turned into liquid. Everyone was shocked by that phenomenon, including the Fallen God, who felt a movement of divine powers that blocked his power.

The one who was most shocked was the world consciousness of the Federation Star and Tun Shizhe, who looked at him in disbelief.

Tun Shizhe asked, "What are you doing? There is no need for you to do that!"

Lord Chaos took back his hand, reacted calmly and even said, "My hand slipped. What can you do about it?"

"Since when are you close to those mortals?" asked Tun Shizhe.

Lord Chaos ignored his query and left the head of the dragon. "I told you. It wasn't on purpose."

Because of this one move from Lord Chaos, the mortals, especially the Fallen God, had noticed the presence of the two observing gods and even the heavenly laws that no mortals would have met except for the chosen ones.

Leng Jun and Chuchu, who survived the death scene just now, also looked up. Unexpectedly, Chuchu recognized Lord Chaos as the man who helped him wake up before and save him from his deep slumber.

Chuchu had a surprised look on his face and mumbled, {It's him!}

{What do you mean?} asked Leng Jun with bewilderment in his eyes, but for some reason, when his eyes landed on the huge black dragon, he recognized it as the power Chuchu had asked him to let go of before. He couldn't believe how much it changed, not only in appearance but also in presence.

{That is... the snake from before. Why did it become a real dragon?}

Leng Jun was stunned, not seeing the dragon but the man on its head with a strange aura that seemed similar to himself and the heavenly laws that had spoken to him before.

{Who are these people?}

{A'Jun, it's definitely him. That's the man who helped me wake up from my slumber. He also helps me heal my soul!} Chuchu excitedly explained this to Leng Jun.

What he didn't know was not that the man mentioned had wanted to freeze his mouth but that it was still too late to stop him. Now, Tun Shizhe's expression looked even more complicated than when Lord Chaos led a head to save these two just now, but he is not angry. Gods are whimsical creatures, after all.

Tun Shizhe sighed, "You never want to make it easy for me. Do you like seeing me suffer?"

Lord Chaos unexpectedly didn't deny and even honestly said, "Un! Since you are his alter ego, torturing you is like torturing him."

"It's not! How many times do I need to tell you? He is he and I am who I am. We are different people and I will never be him. It is only our power which came from the same origin," Tun Shizhe said.

Lord Chaos turned around and scrutinized his face, "Why is it that his original face is similar to what your face is?"

"What do you mean? Our origin is the same, so we look similar. Didn't the corrupted world eaters also look similar to us?! This is all because we were born from the original World Eater! How many times do you want me to say this!? Hah~" Tun Shizhe rebuked.

He can feel his temples throbbing.

While the Gods are fighting, the mortals don't know what to do.

Chapter 1428 Second Red Star - Ice Elemental Snow Emperor

The conversation between Lord Chaos and Tun Shizhe was heard by everyone, whether it was the beings in the sky or on the land, they heard everything. They had not only learned that both of them are gods. They even knew that they were watching them from such a distance while being blocked by those dark clouds. Even the Fallen God didn't dare to move under the gaze of these two Gods.

After all, one of them especially saved Leng Jun and Chuchu under his strongest attack like it was nothing.

Cid Warlock and the rest took this opportunity to save Leng Jun and Chuchu and immediately separate him from the humongous wolf. Though comparing it from the dragon above, it is still too small. When Lord Chaos finished talking, they noticed that the area had gotten too quiet. As they looked down, they saw the mortals and the Fallen Gods looking at them.

Lord Chaos didn't mind and just chose to ignore, but Tun Shizhe hated being stared at by this useless being. After all, it was the mortals that had imprisoned him in that tower for a long year, and if not for the God of Void and the God of Destruction descending, he would still be stuck in that Tower of God.

Tun Shizhe said, "What are you looking at? Continue what you are doing. To live or to die, the choice has always been in your hands."

Everyone was silent by his words as all of these mortals were hit by this truth. What they had done in the past was what they would sow in the future. The human race continued to seek death and in the end, they suffered an apocalypse due to their greed. The elementals were born into this world, even so they suppressed the original residents leading to a never-ending fight.

The Wolf God was a low-tier God. He looks down on humans and underestimates them. Now he might die under these humans he looked down upon.

Everything had a reason. It had a beginning and an ending, but the process is all the choices that were made by them in the end. There might be a few miracles in between, but that itself may just be the whims of a passing god, or maybe entertainment. They weren't truly involved in it, especially the gods, who are not bound by the responsibility of the world.

All of a sudden, a huge earthquake shook the whole world. When everyone turned their heads to look at the source, they finally saw the strongest being in the land, awake and moving. With the center of the world moving, the whole planet was shaken. A towering white figure of a snowman was moving, chasing after one small figure running through the padded snow with everything it had.

When this figure had gotten closer, those who knew him recognized him like the Wolf God, who barely kept his sanity in the presence of the gods and the heavenly laws.

{The King of Beasts, Leonhart Reiner!} shouted the wolf god. Aside from Leng Jun, there is another being he hates; it was this beast king who caused him to be injured by those humans.

On the other hand, the two gods are more interested in the towering figure chasing after it. They immediately sensed the powerful energy of absolute ice. It was coming from this elemental emperor.

Tun Shizhe's eyes glowed at the arrival of these two beings: "An Elemental with the fragment of absolute ice and the first carrier of chaos energy that retained his sanity. Haha~ what an interesting pair?"

"Are you enjoying this scene? Obviously that elemental is already affected by chaos energy. Look at its eyes. It's pure silver rather than light gray. It's an adaptable vessel. It would target even the two of us," said Lord Chaos.

As if making the words of Chaos Lord, the huge snowman turns its head and looks at the two gods and the heavenly laws. After accidentally eating an arm of the beast king, its vessel got contaminated by chaos energy. It caught King Leonhart once and wanted to end him like all other prey it caught before and the action to do so was to swallow its prey alive.

Who would have thought that the king of the beast would be willing to sacrifice an arm just to escape and that arm landed inside the stomach of this Elemental Emperor and thus, he got affected by the chaos energy in King Leonhart's body leading to his state of uncontrollable thirst for battle and blood.

They heard a voice as if it resounded in the whole world.

{Two gods, the law of heavens, a fallen god, the king of beasts, and two mortals with the destiny of the heavens! How lucky I am to have such an opponent! Hahaha~}

Then, with a wave of its hands, the snow on the land and the falling snow on the sky had gone under his control. It was used to capture those he had just mentioned. As for the rest, they were ignored; even if they were accidentally killed by the huge movement of the ice elements in the area, this Elemental Emperor wouldn't care.

All he wanted was for those guys that caught his eye to be captured by him.

Everyone except for the two gods panicked seeing how the snow moved in accordance with the control of the Elemental Emperor. Cid Warlock and Leng Jun, who were healed by the potions from the alliance, burned away the snow while sending the rest of the warriors away from the area of effect of this attack. As for the King of Beasts, he was breathless and almost couldn't move.

Cid Warlock chose to save him.

He threw King Leonhart towards his group and shouted, "Heal him. He can still fight!" said Zerg King Cid Warlock.

Meanwhile, the Fallen God tried to divert the snow, but the difference between him and the Elemental Snow Emperor is that one no longer possessed divinity while the other still has it. He was almost buried under the snow for his attempts to move away from the attacks that were coming for him.

As for the two gods, Lord Chaos just has to snap his fingers to freeze the snow within his vicinity while Tun Shizhe's dragon devours all the ice coming for him. The Heavenly Laws controlled the laws of the world and prevented the snow from affecting him. In the end, this attack was parried and dodged by most of them, and the Elemental Snow Emperor didn't catch anyone.

Under these attacks, the proud Tun Shizhe, who looks down on almost anything, stares at the Elemental Snow Emperor with coldness flashing within those crimson eyes.

"A mere elemental who doesn't know his place." With a wave of his hand, a purplish black shadow surrounded the Elemental Snow Emperor and devoured everything within its path. As soon as Leng Jun saw that familiar shade of energy, his body tingled with fear and an instinct for danger.

Leng Jun shouted, "Don't touch that aura! It can devour anything!"

Everyone followed his words and avoided the purplish-black aura. Though the target of this energy is not them, those who graze at it would feel something had eaten that part that touches that aura. Some wounds appeared on the skin as it touched the aura, and what made them tremble was the itchy and painful feeling that would have made them realize that the wound was spreading.

Cid Warlock looks at the arm of Solan, which accidentally touches that purplish-black aura. Seeing that it was spreading, it used a dagger to scrape the affected skin and threw the dagger. Under everyone's gaze, the scraped skin and the dagger disappeared in thin air as if something had eaten them. They were shaken by that scene.

Cid Warlock said, "Avoid that purplish-black aura at all costs!"

Knowing is different from seeing it with their eyes. Now that they had witnessed what happened to the ones that touched that strange yet dangerous aura, they all chose to avoid it like their lives depended on it. The mortals are alright. They are small and could easily find gaps to escape, but the fallen god is miserable. He wanted to jump away, but all directions were blocked.

He can only sacrifice an arm to leave the affected area.

With his left paw covered with a purplish-black aura, he unhesitatingly cut and bit it off to avoid spreading. This aura is similar to Leng Jun's flames, yet much more powerful and greedier. He can feel that the aura wants to devour all of him. The fallen god couldn't help but glance at the side where the mortals were.

What he expected was the ugly side of the mortals, where they would choose to save themselves in the midst of danger, but unfortunately, what unfolded before his eyes was unity.

The Zerg King, Cid Warlock, and Leng Jun serve as vanguards; the other alliance leaders protect the rear and sides of the group. At the center are soldiers who are weaker than they are, yet they do their best to support them. The injured were at the center, protected by the soldiers and the leaders who block the front to keep them in the safest place. This scene is familiar to me.

Wolves are pack animals. They are affectionate and loyal to their pack. This is like him and his subordinates before he completely lost himself and allowed them to die without even helping them regenerate. Now that they are gone forever, he can only be alone.

Just thinking about what he had thrown away just to seek revenge made him seem like a fool. Why does he seek a stronger opponent? He should have just continued living a normal and simple life. After all, when they were born on this planet, the world didn't give them any duties. They are just too attached to the hatred in their minds; they kill humans and kill almost anything on their path.

Just when they reached their peak, thinking they were the best, he started to look down on the rest of the beings in this world, which led him to his current state. Now he lost his home, his subordinate, and even his divinity. He is alone, with no one to support him. A lonely figure within the white hell.

Everyone watches, expecting that the huge Elemental Snow Emperor will be devoured by that purplish-black aura. Tun Shizhe also thought so, but who would expect that this Elemental Emperor would wield the chaos energy in his body and reject the aura of gluttony surrounding it?

Under everyone's eyes, the purplish-black aura disappeared as the silver aura grabbed and devoured it, making the chaos energy in this Elemental Emperor stronger.

Lord Chaos was stunned at this scene like everyone else and mumbled, "This is not good. This elemental Emperor is undergoing evolution to mutate into a chaos being. If that happens, forget trying to devour it, even if I can't defeat it, even if I am a part of the main soul that wields this power!"

"How could it easily adapt to the power of chaos? That is a power no one can easily control except for him!" Tun Shizhe questioned in disbelief.

Lord Chaos observed for a moment and realized that the fluctuation of that fragment inside the Elemental Snow Emperor complemented the chaos energy, making his existence more adaptable than that of other beings affected by it.

"It's the absolute ice fragment in him. That is a power that was detached from my main soul. If it complements well with chaos energy, does that mean the God of Destruction can wield the power of chaos as his own? Impossible! He is not the God of Chaos!" Lord Chaos spoke his conjectures and in the end denied them with his own mouth.

On the other hand, Tun Shizhe felt happier the more he thought of that possibility. Even though he keeps calling the God of Destruction Hunluan's Reincarnation, this is only because he had a certain fate with him. But if he can wield chaos energy as his own, that means his connection with Hunluan is much more than he expected.

This discovery just gave his heart delight and expectations he never had before.

Chapter 1429 Second Red Star - Death of the Fallen God

{YOU HURT ME! BAD! I'M GOING TO EAT YOU ALL!!}

An annoyed voice of the Ice Elemental Snow Emperor resounds in the whole area. It seemed that failing to catch any of his prey during his last attack had greatly irritated him, and he looked around to see his targets moving around him unhindered. The purplish-black shadow around him gave him pain.

Thankfully, it didn't last for long as the source of his power merged with the new power he had obtained and destroyed that purplish-black aura that gave it discomfort.

The fragments he had eaten after he was born made him grow stronger and larger among his peers. It's just that his sudden growth made him sleepy, as he needed to digest the power from that fragment and fell into slumber for a long time. I just recently woke up when I felt another energy that gave him another bout of attraction.

It had felt the same when it found the fragment in the form of a snowflake, which he had eaten before.

Moreover, they found out that the host of this attractive power wanted to harm him, and thus, he finally woke up and wanted to crash, capture, and hit this annoying bug that kept hitting him, giving him an itchy feeling. When it finally got what it wanted, it realized that the energy in this and that kept on biting him gave him a boost in energy, making his sleepy self no longer feel languid.

That's why it chased after it.

Who would have thought he would find a few more prey that entice his appetite more, giving him a more exciting feeling than finding the power that almost made him fearless on this star? It is just that it is hard to catch these delectable targets. Maybe because of the difference in size, which leads to him moving slower than they are.

It was thinking about how it could shrink its body and temporarily forget about its targets.

On the other hand, in the sky, Tun Shizhe looked at the big one, who suddenly stopped moving below. His eyes were full of interest, and he then glanced at his dragon, who materialized after devouring a wisp of energy that made this Elemental Snow Emperor capable of blocking his gluttony power.

As if knowing what he planned to do, Lord Chaos gave him friendly advice as he took a liking to this tri-color dragon.

Lord Chaos said, "Devouring the fragment in that Elemental Snow Emperor is not a problem. But when that happens, that little one will no longer be yours. It will become a new entity that will only listen to my main soul command. Absolute elementals are loyal only to one person in their whole life.

Since Eternal Ice is his power, once your dragon integrates with its fragment, it will become his minion and no longer listen to you."

"It's that serious. I can't let that happen. hm? What should I do next?" mumbles Tun Shizhe as he is thinking of a way to keep both energy and experiment with it.

Just as they were thinking, they didn't expect that the Ice Elemental Snow Emperor was actually doing as he wished. He materialized another humanoid form, which is in the form of a teenage human with long, light blue hair and silver eyes. But its huge snowman form still exists and is also under its control. It gains two bodies with one soul.

Such a weird phenomenon. It delighted the Ice Elemental Snow Emperor, yet it terrified the mortals under him. With a face that was close to an expressionless one, he looked at others with glowing silver eyes. After meeting with those pair of argent eyes, the fallen god, the beast king, the Zerg king, as well as all the other elementals in the area, were shocked.

After all, once an element gains a humanoid form, it is no different from a god.

Unlike the Fallen God, this Ice Elemental Snow Emperor is a real god who is not only full of divinity; there is also absolute ice and chaos energy in him. He was a lot more powerful when the fallen God was still in his human form. Because unlike him, the one in front of them is a newly born god who hasn't fulfilled ascension yet, but his soul and body have been covered with divinity.

As for why the Heavenly Tribulation hasn't arrived yet, it is because the heavenly consciousness in this world has no right to reject it. That power inside the Ice Elemental Snow Emperor is something beyond that of a normal god.

{Hahaha~ I did it.} The Ice Elemental Snow Emperor happily got what he wanted.

After celebrating his perfect transformation, the Ice Elemental Snow Emperor looked at his prey with an excited look. His eyes were full of excitement and madness, yet for some reason he hadn't gone out of control. He had fully adapted to the effects of the chaos energy, making him a semi-chaos creature that was born from the chaos itself.

{This time you guys won't be able to escape~} said the Ice Elemental Snow Emperor.

Among all the targets within his vicinity, the one that attracted him the most was the one of his kind, which was the Fallen Wolf God, Leng Jun, and Chuchu. Elementals get stronger by going through evolution or devouring their own kind.

It is not considered forbidden among the elementals to devour each other as this is their race's other way to get stronger, but most elementals choose not to do this kind of taboo thing as it hurts their energy core. Once their core is tainted, it would be harder for them to attain awakening as kings, much less become emperors.

But for this Elemental Snow God, there is no problem with him being tainted. With divinity in his body, it is almost impossible to corrupt him. Moreover, there is already chaos energy in his body. Unless it's a much more powerful energy with corrupting energy entering him, he would remain unaffected. That's why this elemental snow god is fearless.

The Elemental Snow God chose to target the biggest of the three elements that caught his eye. The Fallen Wolf God, who had even lost an arm from the power of gluttony that Tun Shizhe had released, trembled as he noticed the eyes of the newly born god looking down at him. He can feel that he is being targeted and wants to run away with all he has.

Unfortunately, this newly born Elemental Snow God will not let him go, as he is already locked onto him. His humanoid figure flies to chase after him, while his former gigantic figure blocks the path of the escaping Fallen Wolf God. The latter tried to struggle and break free; he was howling in pain as the snow that used to be under his control slowly wrapped around him, restraining him.

This kind of weak state rendered the fallen God fearful. It was as if he had returned to the point where he was nothing but a brainless, low-tier ice element.

He howled in pain as the snow crushed his body and soul. He looked around, asking for help, but all of his subordinates were ignored by him. They either died from his and Leng Jun's wild elemental assault or were killed by those mad beasts who joined the fun. He is now alone, and there is no one to save him. His eye wondered where the mortals were.

He can see them moving in groups and asking the weak ones to leave the battlefield. Cid Warlock and Leng Jun stood before the snow that discriminately attacked those within the vicinity. They would help, support, and protect each other. Unlike him, who is alone and can only die alone. Before he was totally devoured, he couldn't help but look at Leng Jun, who was not far away, with envy in his eyes.

Everyone watches the white snow, which looks pure and eats people alive, by the huge figure of the snowman that looks inhuman at this moment. They were terrified at the scene while watching the young man, who looked like he couldn't kill, laugh excitedly as if he had lost his mind but hadn't. He is just a crazy being and nothing more.

{Hahaha~ A fallen maybe, but is still a God. Indeed, it is completely different from eating mortals who don't know their place. I've gotten stronger again!}

Tun Shizhe looked amazed at this scene and couldn't help but ask about the heavenly laws of this world. "This is a surprising event; do elementals devour their own?"

Being questioned, someone who could devour even him had no choice but to reply. "Elementals have two ways to receive stout'r. One is to evolve, and the other is to be engulut thy owneth kind and taketh their pow'r for their owneth."

Translation: [Elements have two ways to get stronger.]. [One is to evolve and the other is to devour your own kind and take their power for your own.]

Tun Shizhe didn't expect that Elementals had such a wonderful side. He had always thought that this race was capable of regeneration and could live for as long as its core existed. But it seems that there is still cruelty within this race. Moreover, this is a practice that isn't even considered taboo and was welcomed by everyone from the spirit race.

"What a lovable race! I like them better the more I hear about them," said Tun Shizhe.

On the other hand, Lord Chaos just sighs at how crazy this man is. When he once again looked down, he saw that the newly born god was now more interested in him and the bastard beside him than the mortals, with no hint of divinity in them at all. He looked at them with a crazed look while even licking his lips as if staring at something delicious. Seeing this, Tun Shizhe couldn't help but laugh.

On the other hand, Lord Chaos is annoyed.

Then they heard the Elemental Snow Emperor say, {I had enough appetizers and snacks. I want to eat a main course.

Lord Chaos looked cold and said, "Is this brat looking at us as food?"

"Heh~ isn't it cute?" said Tun Shizhe as if he were entertained by how crazy this newly-born god was.

The Elemental Snow God flew towards him and even his original body was reaching out to the sky as if wanting to pluck the stars on it. The Heavenly Laws had longed to move away. At the very least, being the domain lord of this planet, anything born on it wouldn't be able to harm. Which is why he is more on guard towards these two foreign gods than the elemental god born in his domain.

Tun Shizhe was laughing as they dodged. "Hahaha~ this little thing is crazier than me!"

"Is that something to laugh at? If he continues to evolve, this little star wouldn't be able to bear the divine powers he possessed," Lord Chaos said.

Tun Shizhe looked at him with a nonchalant expression and said, "So, what if the world is destroyed? It has nothing to do with us at all."

"Sigh~ you bird brain. That little insect king is the protagonist of the world. My main soul's soul fragment was reincarnated. If he is in danger, that means he will go there too!" exclaimed Lord Chaos as he was parrying the snow and ice that were used by the Elemental Snow God to attack them.

For these two old guys, a newly born god is nothing but a child in their eyes. The type that can crash anything. Sadly, this little one in front of them is a wolf cub. His ability alone is capable of harming them, as it is a power that was originally owned by a god, much more powerful than when the two of them combine.

{Don't dodge! So annoying! Let me eat you! Ahh! I'm angry now!!}

After being teased by Tun Shizhe while he tried to catch him, the newly-born god was now enraged. Like a child throwing tantrums, it gathered its best ability and wanted to wallop this annoying adult with everything he had. Feeling the danger all around them, Cid Warlock, Leng Jun, and the other mortals gathered at one point, trying to protect themselves.

The whole world shook and all the ice and snow had gathered with the Elemental Snow God as the center. Even the ice on the surface of the frozen sea had been pulled over, as had the frozen figures of the humans who turned into human popsicles as the apocalypse arrived. What made it crazy was that even the glaciers in the south were being gathered by this crazy god.

It was like the end of the world, which was much worse than the frozen apocalypse the human race had suffered from.

Chapter 1430 Second Red Star - The Final Battle

Covered in white snow, the land shook. The frozen sea fragmented. Even the sky was blowing with breeze and hail. All of it centered at the newly born god, who had caused all of this. As if stripping the world with its power and qi, the Ice Elemental Snow God in his young man's form slowly matures under the naked eye of everyone in the area. It was the scene of the world ending.

The gods don't care, while the demigods and mortals bear witness to this scene but are unable to do anything.

Zerg King, Cid Warlock, and Fire Elemental Viper King, Leng Jun, watched the scene with a frown. As for the others, they wanted to run away, but they had seen their spaceships being sucked in by that whirlpool-like space created by this mad god. They didn't panic like the rest, and even saved those who were caught up with it.

It can be said that their main camp is no more, as it was destroyed with this one move from this mad god.

The Federation Star is slowly breaking under the pressure of this newly born god, who wants to suck away all the world qi on this planet. The Heavenly Laws, who were quietly trying to hide themselves from the mortals, had finally lost it.

The Heavenly Laws scream, "Stand ho! stand ho! My own domain can't survive without the world, qi!"

Translation: [Stop! Stop! My domain can't survive without the World Qi!]

Thick golden chains fell from the sky, trying to restrain the Ice Elemental Snow God. It was able to restrain the newly born god, but after getting most of its energy sucked up, the chain broke down like old, rusted chains. It fell on the ground, trying to merge with the world. But this divine power chose not to merge with it, as it would only be sucked away by this Mad God.

It flew towards Leng Jun, helping him break through the threshold of an Elemental Emperor.

Upon seeing this, the Domain Lord of this world also chose to help Leng Jun. As the Heavenly Laws of this world say, after losing most of his energy, as long as the world still exist, it wouldn't truly die. At most, it would only fall in a deep slumber until the whole of this world is replenished.

The Heavenly Laws used its last strength to pass as much divinity as they could to Leng Jun as he still tried to restrain the Mad God that wanted to destroy his domain. A golden pillar of light fell on Leng Jun and Chuchu. It healed all their injuries and strengthened their bodies and souls.

Leng Jun in his Fire Elemental Viper Form, grew larger as more divinity entered his body and a crown insignia appeared on its forehead. As for Chuchu's soul, which was greatly weakened by prolonged battles, it solidified under this holy light.

The effects of the potion he took before had lost its effect and his soul was once again transparent, but under this light, his soul slowly turned opaque and he was no longer see through. So, except for not having a materialized body, his soul was strengthened more than before.

The Heavenly Laws spoke, "By belov'd son of the heavens, prithee saveth this world. I shall leaveth everything to thee."

Translation: [By beloved son of the heavens, please save this world. I will leave everything to you.]

Under his golden light, Leng Jun, who was stuck at the level of the king, had finally completed his evolution towards godhood. He had now become a full-pledged god who could transverse the universes and head to the upper realm, which is their goal. The powerful divinity in his body helped him suppress the power of gluttony in his body and that unimaginable hunger slowly fades.

But this is only a temporary measure, as the power of Gluttony is an unpredictable energy created from chaos itself.

Leng Jun looked down and saw his Chuchu completely different from before. He knew that his soul had been strengthened by the heavenly consciousness of this world. This is the star he was born into and also the place where he met his Chuchu.

A significant world and he is willing to protect it as long as he has enough strength. Now that the strength he needed has been provided to him, it is time to fulfill his duties as the savior of the world. Under this pillar of light, he once again turned into his humanoid form; unlike his teenage form, he had returned to his best look and looked like a handsome man in his thirties.

With glowing golden-red scales under his eyes and hands, he floats under this bright light like a God descending on this world.

The moment a new Elemental God was born, the other elementals who were trying their best not to get involved had finally came out. This includes the Ice Elemental Nine-Tailed Fox King in the icy mountains and the Ice Elemental Penguin King in the south. All of the human race and elemental race on the Federation Star gathered.

This is the final battle of their planet against that parasitic god that took away all the world qi on this planet.

The Ice Elemental Nine-Tailed Fox King leads his kin down the ice mountain and bows down before the new god of this world. {We, the Ice Elemental Fox Tribe, greet His Majesty!}

{Wow, that brother from before had become a god. Amazing! He looks so strong!} said the Ice Elemental Penguin King, who was jumping up and down to show his delight and happiness for such a magnificent event. But he was pushed by his human father to lower its head like all other elements and all human races born on the Federation Star.

The voice of the heavens was heard at the last moment. When it enthroned Leng Jun as the new king of the Federation Star, it was announced to all the living beings on this planet, and they were all summoned to this area to show their respect to their savior.

The Ice Elemental Nine-Tailed Fox King and his kin bow down their heads. The Ice Elemental Penguin King looked at their new emperor in disbelief. This is the human who tried to eat him before, but now he is the real Elemental Emperor, born under the blessing of the world, and will be their protector. His eyes were glowing like a child idolizing his idol.

Leng Jun descended and stood beside Chuchu. He glanced at the ones kneeling before him and said, "Stand up."

All those who see him as their God followed his orders. They all stood up. When Leng Jun looked at the Zerg King Cid Warlock, he didn't look surprised by the events that happened to him. He looked like he expected it itself. Witnessing the birth of a god is not new for the Zerg race.

Their current Zerg Empress and Zerg Emperor can be said to be the strongest gods from the Hive. But they weren't the only ones considered gods by the insect race. There is still him, and like Leng Jun, he received the blessing of the Hive Star. It is just that his divinity was restricted in this world. Only when the Heavenly Laws had fallen into their slumber that the restriction on him was gone.

Leng Jun spoke, "You seem to have expected this to happen? In the first place, you were never surprised about the existence of a God. Don't tell me you are also one."

"Indeed, I am the current Zerg King and God that received the blessing of the Hive Star. It's just that when I descended on this planet, your heavenly laws restricted most of my abilities. Now that he has fallen asleep, I can fully use my strength and lend you a hand in defeating that mad one," Zerg King Cid Warlock said as he unlocked the divinity in his body.

Like Leng Jun, a crown insignia appeared on his forehead. This is the blessing the world has provided to its most beloved son. Divine powers were emitted, mixing with Cid Warlock's original aura, and like Leng Jun, a holy aura covered his whole body.

"Now is the right time to fight back!" said Cid Warlock.

Leng Jun laughed and said, "Very well. I shall fight with you."

Under the leadership of these two protagonist sons, the human race, elemental race, and all races included in the alliance had taken a step forward together. They are now ready to fight the toughest opponent they have on this planet.

Meanwhile, on the sidelines, the King of Beasts, Leonhart Reiner, looked at Cid Warlock and Leng Jun with a dazed expression. He looked at the subordinates and kin that followed them to fight against that mad one. Then he finally looked at his broken self and the empty back, which used to be full of his own kin, which are now all dead. He regrets it!

That night, he should have listened to that soft voice that was giving him a warning not to eat that wild boar.

Only when he heard the voice of this planet talking to Leng Jun did he realize that maybe that voice was the heavenly laws of his Beast Planet, and like these two gods, he is also a chosen one. But unlike them, the choice he makes is different, and that's why his ending is also different.

He glanced behind him and noticed the familiar chaos energy that was similar to himself. Like a hidden danger waiting for an opportunity to strike, Beast King Leonhart looked at the two bright figures at the vanguard and at the darkness behind him. He chose to look back later and no longer look back. He walks along the path that is more suitable for him.

Cid Warlock, Leng Jun, and all their comrades raided the newly-born Mad God. Even though it was one against the many, only the attacks of Leng Jun and Cid Warlock had effects on this mad god. Moreover, he is a level above the two with all the unrefined world qi in his body.

{Argh! No matter what you do, this world will die! I no longer have the energy to live, and it will be completely destroyed by me. Even though you both have become gods, I am far stronger than both of you combined!} The Ice Elemental Snow Emperor shouted.

The pressure of his scream affected the mortals the most. Leng Jun and Cid Warlock stood before these mortals and protected them. This scene greatly annoyed the Mad Gods. He couldn't understand why two gods like himself protected those bugs. There is no merit at all.

Because the mortals were getting badly injured by the backlash of the clashes of the gods, the two chose to command the demigods to protect the mortals behind and back away from the battlefield.

Since they didn't want to leave, they could only watch from a distance and watch the battle of the three gods in the sky. The result of this battle will be the final destination of this star. Whether it will be destroyed or it will survive now depends on whether Leng Jun and Cid Warlock can defeat the Ice Elemental Snow God.

Cid Warlock commanded, "The injured ones, retreat!"

"Demigods! Protect them at the rear. Leave the rest to us!" added Leng Jun, who finally looked at Chuchu and said, "Chuchu, wait for me."

{I will pray for your victory!} said Chuchu.

He can only watch this man who used to be a weak mortal. Someone who is supposed to die under the claws of those low-tier Ice Elemental Wolves. He is even stronger than him right now. Like a bright star that used to be dim and is now shining more brightly than the moon.

The Fire Elemental Viper King returned to his real form and wrapped his whole being around the humans Leng Jun wanted to protect. The Ice Elemental Nine Tailed Fox King and the Penguin King, including them, encircled around the mortals like a shield that was there to protect them. Among the mortals are the people from the Interstellar Alliance.

{We will protect what the two Gods deem important!}

These are what the remaining Elementals had declared. The other summoned elementals who signed contracts with the humans of this world also join the circle, including the newly born Elemental Kings like the Fire Elemental Ferret King and the Earth Elemental Turtle King owned by Jeremy and Shiva.
