

World Plot 1641

Chapter 1641 22.27.1 Third Red Star - Special Episode: Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day

General Ye took a day off today just to take his wife out on a date. Colonel Lou was also given a half-day off by the general. As for the single dogs in the military, none of them asked for a day off as they had no lover to spend time with.

As soon as the sun rose, the God of Void opened his eyes and looked at his wife, sleeping peacefully within his embrace. During the night, the God of Destruction would choose to stay in his human form but return to his little mermaid form in the morning while he is at work.

Since today was his day off, he let his beloved sleep more. Last night, the two of them had overdone it with their nightly activities, making his wife tired out. The traces he left on his beloved were evident on his milky white skin. Making him unable to stop himself from kissing Hei Anjing's shoulder.

"Um~ stop it. I'm tired. Let me sleep for a bit longer," complained Hei Anjing.

Ye Xiajie leans and gives his wife a deep kiss before covering him properly with a blanket.

He whispered, "Alright. Sleep a bit longer. I will make breakfast first."

After saying these words, he dressed up and took a shower, then finally headed to the kitchen. He made a warm breakfast for his wife. Recalling that today was Valentine's Day, he made some reservations in a starred restaurant near the sea. After dinner, he plans to play at the sea with his wife.

A few moments later, Hei Anjing woke up half asleep. Moving his arm to the side, looking for someone, he woke up for real when there was no warmth by his side. His face was cold until he recalled that his husband left the bed to make him some breakfast.

His cold demeanor faded as he yawned and headed to the bathroom to wash after changing his clothes. He heads down to look for his husband in the kitchen. On the dining table, a few of his favorites were prepared. A hot cake with chocolate chips and whipped cream. Hot milk chocolate and an iced sliced fruit for dessert.

Ye Xiajie noticed his wife's arrival and removed his apron as he finished cooking.

"Baby, you're awake. Let's have breakfast," said the God of Void with a rare smile on his handsome face.

The God of Destruction smiled back and rammed into his beloved with a big hug. The couple hugged each other for a while until the tummy of Hei Anjing protested. Ye Xiajie lifted him in his embrace and sat down only to place his wife on his lap. He started feeding his beloved eagerly, as always.

After the couple finished feeding each other breakfast, they went to rest for a while and watched television. After the breakfast they ate was digested, the couple prepared to leave the general's mansion after Colonel Lou had returned to pick up his lover.

The two couples left the mansion and had a date on their own. Each goes through the route of their own date destinations.

Our main couple heads to a fine dining restaurant, which prevents others from learning their identities, and no one will know that the fearsome General Ye had brought a gorgeous man for an evening dinner date.

The restaurant was dumbfounded when they received a reservation request under the General's name this morning. This person had reserved the whole restaurant for the evening, and no other customers were able to make reservations. The owner of the restaurant was still delighted as the general paid five times their store's annual turnover.

He didn't care that the other customers weren't able to make reservations that night as he already earned enough.

When the evening arrived, the General's hover car stopped at the restaurant's gate, which was now devoid of any other customers except for this couple.

"Welcome, Lord General and Sire!"

The staff bows down their heads in greeting. However, deep in their minds, they are about to go crazy. After all, they recognize the other person whose hand was holding this moment.

The thoughts of the staff at this moment.

'Crazy! Isn't that person that divine being!?'

'Why did this person appear with General Ye!? They know each other!?'

'Look how possessive the General is to this divine one. Fuck! Such news would sell for millions!'

'Oh my god! He is more beautiful than on screen! The Mermaid King! My Male God!'

Ignoring the eyes on them, Hei Anjing looked around and was somewhat satisfied with the area of the restaurant. Not only was it seaside, his husband had reserved the whole place. He who hates crowds and likes quiet places nods in satisfaction.

Hei Anjing said, "You've chosen a nice place, my love."

"Of course. It's all for you, Baby~" said Ye Xiajie.

The staff was professionally trained, and if not for that, they would have fainted the moment they saw the supposed cruel general flirting with the mermaid king. They acted as statues until they could enter the restaurant and ride the elevator.

Only when they can no longer see the general and the mermaid king can the staff all fall boneless on the ground. Like slimes, they cling to their manager, who acted like a monk about to ascend to the heavens.

"Manager! You didn't tell us that the one who reserved the whole restaurant is the General!"

"Oh my god, I almost died from holding back my breath!"

"Same here. Who would have expected not only the General but also the mysterious Mermaid King to appear in our restaurant."

"I must be dreaming! I wanted to tell everyone, but I know I will definitely die if I make a post about this!"

"Don't you dare! That's against our store's policy!" exclaims the manager. "Alright! Act normal and professional. Just treat our special guests as an ordinary couple. They are not the general and the mermaid king. Just a living couple who wanted to spend a nice dinner date in our restaurant. Do you all understand?"

"Yes, Manager!"

Hei Anjing and Ye Xiajie enjoyed their candlelight dinner at the seaside restaurant. The staff was all professional, and they didn't treat them differently from the other customers. However, after the dinner for the couple was served, a pile of staff gathered in one spot, unconscious while smiling crazily like fools.

The Mermaid King had treated them quite amiably and even smiled at them. The loving general was a sight to behold as well. They never expected that the demon general, who is said to be capable of tearing apart sea monsters barehanded, would gently wipe the lips of the mermaid king's lips.

The staff forgot their original identity and couldn't help but fangirl about the couple. Even the men swoon at the smile the mermaid king flashed at them.

After dinner, the couple left the restaurant and went to the seaside beside the store. The private beach is owned by the five-star restaurant as well. Since the whole place was reserved by the general, there are only two of them on the private beach.

The two were leaving a trail of footsteps of them walking side by side at the seashore, enjoying the time together.

Hei Anjing said, "My love, let's swim. Do you think it's alright to do that?"

"Yes, anything you wish, I shall fulfill it," said Ye Xiajie and carried his wife towards the sea.

The two played in the water for a while, and all the staff were watching them from the restaurant. An ethereal scene unfolds before their eyes. The Mermaid King, who possessed a pair of human feet, turned into a real mermaid. The two kissed under the moonlight while playing at the sea.

The little mermaids are gorgeous on their own, but their size limits their beauty in that size alone, making them no different than a doll. But the one they are seeing at this moment is a real mermaid the size of a human being.

This is like meeting the fairy of the sea, and his existence is mystical itself. It is just this heavenly beauty that is happily laughing while within the embrace of the human, which is the general. Seeing the General smile as if he had become a real human at this moment and not the feared demonic version of himself. Everyone who saw this couple couldn't deny the love between them.

At the restaurant, the staff watching from a distance couldn't help but feel amazed by the love between the mermaid king and the human general. Regardless of the difference in their race, these two truly love one another.

"This scene is so amazingly beautiful."

"A love between a mermaid and a human? Their love is sweet and sad at the same time."

"I hope they will stay together until the end."

"The General and the Mermaid King truly love one another. I hope that one day the war between the land and sea ends so they can openly show their love to the world."

Meanwhile, at the house of Colonel Lou...

The couple chose not to come out for a date and just stayed at home for a date. Yun Ming returned to his human form and enjoyed the evening cooking with his lover. Even an ordinary evening like this is special for them.

In the kitchen, Lou Wuye was holding the pot while Yun Ming clung to him from behind.

"I also want some steak, darling," said Yun Ming.

Lou Wuye, who was cooking pasta, didn't say anything and just prepared all the ingredients for making steak.

"Honey, the pasta is almost done. Ming'er has taste. Ahh~" said Lou Wuye.

Yun Ming opened his mouth and smiled. He kissed his lover's cheeks and said, "Delicious. I need to reward you. Mwah!"

That teasing move made the chief warden pull his lover into sharing a deep kiss. For these two, every second of their lives is a blessing.

After all, they spend the first half of their lives not being able to recognize one another after their reincarnation. Almost lost each other if not for Hei Anjing pointing out to the chief warden the way for them to officially meet. The two were former masters and disciples, separated by death, and finally met again in this life. They are now able to live together and spend their life as a couple, which they had never done in their previous life.

At the Imperial Palace, His Majesty Nokto was fatigued by the endless work after gaining the throne. He leans on his table like a dried fish, unable to flip himself.

King Nokto complains, "I'm dying~. I don't want to be the king anymore. Boohoo~"

"Reene, let's take a break. Lang said to meet him at the Imperial Garden. Do you want to go?" asked Royal Knight Xion.

The melted His Majesty Nokto looked at his lover and stretched his hand like a child, "A'Xiong~ carry me~"

Sigh~

"Alright. Climb on my back," said Royal Knight Xion.

The boneless King Nokto was suddenly so energetic as he jumped from his throne like a chicken injected with something. He jumped on Royal Knight Xion's back. It was already midnight, and no knights except for Xion and Wolfred stayed with the king at this time.

So no one will see Royal Knight Xion carrying his majesty on his back and seeing his majesty happily humming like a child while hugging his knight lovingly. The two walked towards the Imperial Garden, where Royal Knight Wolfred was waiting.

Upon their arrival, a small dinner feast was laid on the stone table with romantic candlelight for the three of them. As soon as he saw his two lovers, he kissed them.

"Happy Valentine's day!" Royal Knight Wolfred said.

His Majesty Nokto jumped on Wolfred and said, "Happy Valentine's day, A'Lang, A'Xiong!"

"You had prepared well. Happy Valentine's day to you two as well. I've actually prepared a cake as well," said Royal Knight Xion as he pulled a chocolate cake from his space ring.

Secretly baked for his two husbands. Greene and Lang love sweets thanks to the influence of Lord Hei. Because of this, he learned how to make pastries for them. The three enjoyed the garden date during the valentine day at midnight.

There is also Zhi Yue and Zhi Yang staying at the general mansion to watch over the house and the little mermaids. The two were on the rooftop, spending a quiet time like this, eating some snacks prepared by Zhi Yang.

At the sea, the black sea dragon looked at the full moon with a lonely gaze. Once upon a time, he also spent Valentine's with the person he loves. However, right now, he is alone.

"Luan'er, where are you? I know you definitely exist. You must," murmured the World Eater before once again diving down to the depths of the sea.

Chapter 1642 - 22.28 Third Red Star - Fall of the Siegfried Clan

General Ye was enraged by the rumors spreading about him and the current king, Nokto. The two factions simultaneously proceed with the press conference to clear the rumors. The first one to go live was the royal faction.

Royal Knight Xion immediately arranged for the press conference for the royal clan. His task was done fast and immediately. The royal faction had gone live, and their press conference was also being streamed on all kinds of channels in the federation.

Now all channels are focusing on the press conference of His Majesty Nokto.

King Nokto finally appeared on the screen on his back with his two royal knights, Xion and Wolfred. A lot of media personnel had gathered in the press conference room and started asking questions to King Nokto.

A reporter asked, "Your Majesty Nokto, what is this press conference for? It was unexpected and urgent."

"There is only one reason for this press conference. It's about the rumors about the relationship of this king and the General Eye of the Military. I'm sure everyone knows about it already," said His Majesty Nokto.

Another reporter asked, "There is indeed a rumor saying that his majesty and General Ye are lovers; is this true?"

Without any hesitation, King Nokto shouted at them, "Are you guys crazy!? There is no way that's possible! Do you want me to die!?"

The reporters and all the other people in the room were dumbfounded and speechless. They didn't expect that His Majesty King Nokto would lose their cool because of one rumor. However, a lot of them sympathize with them. That is the demon general of the Federation after all. His infamous reputation as a merciless man as well as for his cruelty against his enemies made even the people of the federation fear him.

A cold voice suddenly resounded in the press conference room as someone's sudden entourage entered.

"You got the guts to spread such useless rumors. This is slander! Whoever is spreading these ridiculous rumors shall be punished by the military!"

When everyone looked at the man who was the source of the cold voice, they were all terrified. It was Demon General Ye Xiajie in the flesh. Almost all reporters had backed away and opened a path for him to walk up to the podium.

A reporter trembled and murmured in disbelief, "Oh my God! It's the Demon General himself!"

"Hm? Something is weird. Don't you think his face is a bit too powered, especially towards his left eye?"

"Shss~ shut up! Don't mention that!"

Everyone can see that hidden clumsily within that powdered face is a light black eye. They were shocked, as they didn't know who was powerful enough to give this demon general a black eye. As soon as the general walks up the podium, His Majesty Nokto, Royal Knight Xion, and Royal Knight Wolfred stare at his face fearlessly.

His Majesty Nokto couldn't help but point at him and laugh.

Pfft.

"What the hell is that a black eye? Did Jingjing beat you up? Haha~ Ppffft!"

The two royal knights covered their lover's uncontrollable mouth and pulled him away from the general, who was giving them a death glare. Explore stories on NovelBin.Côm

Colonel Lou, who had witnessed the scene of his lord getting beaten up, was trying so hard not to laugh that his expression at this moment became fierce, scaring the people around.

But the other three on the stage looked constipated as they were trying so hard not to laugh with all their might. The other people in the room looked bewildered by their varying expressions but were unable to ask directly.

A reporter took the opportunity and asked, "Then why is the military suddenly appearing in this press conference? Did the General also hear about the rumors?"

"I heard it alright! Because of these damn rumors, I am told to sleep in the living room!" exclaimed General Ye.

Pfft! Hahaha~

His Majesty Nokto laughed out loud, making the others look at him. They couldn't understand why the king was so fearless towards the demon general and why the general wasn't pulling out his sword.

General Ye said, "Kid if I am unable to sleep in the bedroom tonight, you will have to suffer with me!"

"Haha~ it's easy to resolve this problem. Just bring the culprit to Jingjing. Let him punish them himself," suggested His Majesty Nokto.

General Ye thinks that this suggestion is reasonable. He looked at his chief warden and said, "Wuye, I will leave the press conference to you. I need to pick something for my wife."

Ye Xiajie urgently left the place and headed to the location where the culprits were. A few reporters followed after the general. After all, anything that involves the demon general is trending news. As for those who are left behind, they can only question King Nokto and Colonel Lou.

The reports started throwing questions at them.

"Your Majesty, who is the person who gave the General a black eye?"

King Nokto answered, "Who else... Of course, it's his wife."

"You guys wanted to know why the military is willing to allow the projects I approve, right? I will tell you right now the real reason. General Ye's wife is my best friend. It's normal for the Genre to believe in his wife who trusts me."

"That's why I hope that everyone will stop spreading fake rumors such as this. It's alright if it's the general who gets angry. But if it's his wife who did, well, I can only attend your death anniversary next year."

The reporters were murmuring with one another in disbelief. On the other hand, Colonel Lou Wuye also spoke before the press conference was done.

The Chief Warden said, "The military will contact all those involved in spreading the rumors, and the source of it, the General, had left to capture them. All that is directly involved in this will be receiving court summonses soon. This press conference is over."

The ones on the stage had left under the protection of the military. The reporters, upon receiving exclusive news, are now contacting their companies for news releases. Countless trending news comes out of the web.

Trending News:

"General Ye is a married man!"

"Who is Madam Ye?"

"Madam Ye and King Nokto are best friends. The royal family and military are now relatives?"

"The general got a black eye from his wife after hearing the rumors! In anger, the general himself hunts for the source of the rumors!"

The whole federation was exploding with all this trending news, and they all had one question.

{Who is Madam Ye?}

Meanwhile at the General's Mansion...

General Ye and Colonel Lou Wuye returned, dragging the direct family members of the Siegfried Clan and forcing them to kneel before the mermaid king, who was in his human form.

Hei Anjing's face was covered in frost seeing the second queen and the familiar face of Second Prince Rion. The only difference is that every man of the Siegfried Clan was shocked to see the mermaid king in the general's mansion, while the second prince remained expressionless as if a dull doll who didn't dare to move without any order.

General Ye happily sent his gifts to his wife and said, "Baby, I caught the guys who spread those ugly rumors! These are the people who sullied my reputation. I only love you; I will never like anyone else."

"I brought them here so you can punish them yourself. They are the source of that rumor."

Hei Anjing glanced at the people forced to kneel before him and noticed the emotionless second prince and noticed that this man had given up living for his family and had gone with the flow.

The God of Destruction looked at his husband and rewarded him. A kiss from him was enough to make his man happy.

Hei Anjing said, "You can pick up your pillows from the living room. Also, cook dinner. I want some hotpot."

"Alright, Baby. I will make dinner," said the general as he headed to the kitchen. He never gave the people kneeling on the ground a second look.

On the other hand, the Siegfried Clan, who was forced to kneel on the ground, can still recall the massacre that happened in the Second Prince's Palace. The cruelty this mermaid king possessed is equivalent to how gorgeous his face is. He is much more merciless than the demon general.

Sensing the cold eyes of the mermaid king on them, even the second queen doesn't dare to open her vicious mouth. The former arrogant Siegfried Clan's patriarch was like a muted old man, not even opening his mouth to breathe. The others are worse, as they couldn't stop themselves from trembling before this being's presence. They were terrified of him almost instinctively.

Only the second prince remains calm and dazed. He no longer cares what happened to his family or himself. He gave up struggling and let others control him as their wife.

The Mermaid King spoke, "Warden Lou, send the second prince to the first princess's palace. Tell her that the Siegfried Clan no longer exists and continue to live your life as siblings and as a member of the royal family. I won't move the family members of my friend."

"Yes, Lord Hei!" said Colonel Lou Wuye as he picked up the second prince and separated him from the Siegfried Clan.

The members of the Siegfried Clan didn't know that the mermaid king was a friend of the current king, his majesty Nokto. After learning about this fact, they felt like fools. They finally understood why the royal family and the military had a close tie.

The relationship between the Mermaid King, General Ye, and His Majesty Nokto isn't simple at all.

Hei Anjing spoke, "I hate it when someone tries to tarnish what's mine." His voice is as cold as glaciers at the north and south poles.

Before the Siegfried Clan could react, ice-covered their bodies, and they all turned into human popsicles. Hei Anjing turned around, and they all turned into a red mist that spread out of the mansion carried by the wind.

Chapter 1643 22.29 Third Red Star - Soul Prison

The disappearance of the Siegfried Clan was an unsaid threat to the noble families wanting to usurp the throne from the royal family. They had become more low-key compared to before, and the second prince faction had completely disappeared.

The military still stood at the top authority; however, unlike the extreme and one-sided point of view of people on them, they no longer fully feared General Ye. Everyone had changed how they saw the demon general. After that press conference, everyone finally realized that despite being powerful, the general was also a family man.

A lot of them couldn't help but laugh when they realized that even the great demon lord was afraid of his wife. He even received a black eye, that powder could barely hide, and shouted like a bullied husband on live, asking for the people who caused his wife to get angry.

Now another rumor is spreading in the Federation. That the demon general is a henpecked husband at home. Now there is another mystery the people want to know.

Who is Madam Ye?

Unfortunately, no one in the military dares to say who it was. Even His Majesty Nokto had a tight lip as his palace was surrounded by reporters asking for the identity of General Ye's wife. Everyone is interested in knowing the identity of General Ye's wife, however, they don't dare to come to the General's mansion as the demon general is said to be overly possessive of his wife, and anyone who dares to ask him for his wife will be sent away with his sword.

The federation remained peaceful after the Siegfried Clan disappeared. After all, they cannot be considered a clan with real power but just parasites that wanted to suck the authority of the royal family, which they failed and disappeared forever.

Unknown to the military and the royal family, the Siegfried Clan isn't the real power that wanted to oppose them but a clan that is well-known for its neutral position and is said to support the ordinary masses instead. The richest clan in the federation, they possess more wealth compared to the military and the royal clan, the Shaka Clan.

In the Shaka Clan Territory...

The real power behind the Siegfried Clan had appeared. The father of Lieutenant Shaka and the current patriarch of the Shaka Clan, Shaka Lapis.

Patriarch Shaka spoke, "The Siegfried Clan failed and they were caught. Do you think the military will point things out to us?"

"Patriarch, that is not possible. There were no traces left behind at each transaction. It is just a pity that the Second Queen failed. She was so confident of taking the throne."

"There is no need to talk about a useless clan that no longer exists. We should implement another plan. After all, we got the results of their research about the little mermaids. This will solidify our standing as the only breeder of little mermaids."

"There is a problem with regards to the Mermaid King though. Will he interfere if we continue to sell little mermaids?"

"Why would I do that? We aren't harming his brethren and instead help them find the right family. As long as we don't directly take control, doing it in the shadows should be fine."

"It was rather unfortunate that the destroyed reputation of the general had been restored. We did our best to ruin it; now we have to do it again."

Patriarch Shaka said, "No need. For now, we need to know about the identity of the hidden wife General Ye has. He is hiding his wife's identity in fear that his partner will be targeted. He is his weakness. This is the first time that the monster shows his weakness. We should exploit it."

"Tell the whole clan that they must investigate the identity of Madam Ye. We must learn about it no matter what!"

As per the situation under the sea, the soul prison under the sea had finally erupted. The Sea King, the Mermaid Emperor, hurriedly swam towards the location where the soul prison is. He unexpectedly saw someone he couldn't believe would still exist.

"Do you know what you have done!?" questioned the Mermaid Emperor.

At the very least in his memories, this is a man who had died for a long time and should no longer exist. The one who had forcibly opened the soul prison is none other than An Shizhe, the world eater.

The World Eater looked at the Mermaid Emperor and thought for a moment that his beloved had come back to life. He appeared before him and hugged the Mermaid Emperor.

"Luan'er! Is it really you? You are alive!?" said the World Eater, An Shizhe.

The Mermaid Emperor, who was startled, immediately pushed the man away and looked at him like a stranger. A pair of cold eyes and disdain looked at the World Eater.

"You are a ghost that should no longer exist! How can you come back to life!?" said the Mermaid Emperor.

The world eater observed the mermaid emperor. The more he looked, the more he realized that there was something wrong with this man. His face turned cold and devoid of emotion as he realized that this man before him wasn't his Hunluan; he lost his temper and grabbed the neck of the Mermaid Emperor.

Choke!

"Who the hell are you? A fake? How dare you use the same face as my beloved!?" said the World Eater, An Shizhe.

The Mermaid Emperor is caught in a sudden predicament, yet he remains calm. He stares at the world eater with his face and eyes very similar to the Ancient God of Chaos, Hunluan. This is especially true for those purple-red irises that are filled with madness itself.

For some reason, the chaos within the obsidian eyes of An Shizhe slightly lessened. He stared at the mermaid Emperor and realized something.

An Shizhe said, "Your eyes... Are you Hunluan's soul fragments?"

"Unhand me!"

But before he gets his answer, the Mermaid Emperor shifts his weight and slams the man with his fishtail. For a mermaid, the most powerful part of their body is their tail. The World Eater restricted by the world was slammed to the cliff by this attack.

Cough. Cough.

The Mermaid King said, "Madman. You've released them before I destroyed this star. These damn things can only disappear when this world is destroyed. How can you free them!!"

Just as he finished talking, the soul prison completely broke, and at least a hundred of the fallen Ancient Gods' souls came out. These guys are worse than resentment ghosts, as they can materialize themselves.

"Hahaha~ finally! We got out!"

"How can that damn Chaos lock us in this lower realm!?"

"He let us be killed by his kid! Isn't that ridiculous?"

"He doesn't care about everything else except for that useless brat!"

"How else will that weakling kill us if he didn't weaken our abilities?"

"Shit! Thinking about it makes me mad! I want to kill them!"

The souls were about to go crazy to look for Hunluan's traces and take revenge but didn't even notice the evil presence behind them. A few of them were even grabbed when they turned around and saw An Shizhe, the world eater who was their greatest nightmare.

"Is that so?" an Shizhe said as he was covered with the power of gluttony and grabbed the head of the one evil ghost who spoke the most.

The fallen ancient gods looked at An Shizhe in disbelief. This is the man who killed them. The madman who absorbed their original powers. The crazy existence that should never have been born.

"Why are you still alive!?"

"Fuck! Run!"

The hundred souls dispersed in all directions except for the one who was in the hands of the World Eater.

"You fools! Save me first!"

The world eater chose not to stop any of them and even looked bored. He looked around as he crushed the one in his hands.

AGH~

"There is no use escaping. I plan to devour you all anyway," said the World Eater

ROAR~

He turned into a humongous black sea dragon and devoured all the souls he captured. There might be some who escaped to the land, but the World Eater didn't care much, as he could differentiate these souls from the others no matter how much they blended with the world. As long as he finds them, killing them on the spot is not a problem.

Watching the black sea dragon chase the fallen ancient gods' souls, the Mermaid Emperor didn't help nor chase after the World Eater.

"He is still as playful as before. Treating these souls as toys. He inherited this from him."

Hunluan's soul fragment, the Mermaid Emperor, watches the scene unfold without any intention to interfere and leaves after losing interest. He fades and disappears into the sea. As the God of the Sea, the whole ocean is his domain.

After all, there is someone who can do the job for him. There is no need for him to make a move. Even so, the destruction of the world cannot be halted. If the world eater fails to catch all those ancient souls, destroying the world will solve everything.

Chapter 1644 22.30 Third Red Star - Impending Disaster

With the soul prison breaking open, those that were imprisoned from ancient times had poured out. The World Eater had been waiting for this moment and started a devouring feast under the sea. The Sea God, upon seeing that things cannot be held back by the broken prison, left everything to the World Eater to solve. He focused on destroying the world instead.

After returning to his throne, the Sea Emperor gathered his officials. Countless marine mammals had gathered in his kingdom. A huge whale, a kraken, a large lobster, a huge stingray, and many others. Each was bigger than a ten-floored building.

The Mermaid Emperor as well as the God of Sea spoke, "The soul prison is broken. The sea is no longer safe. No, nothing in this world is safe. Proceed with the invasion of the land."

"As for the reason, announce that the human race had broken the treaty and stole my mermaid egg. My son is supposed to be the king of mermaids. Demand for the culprits and start with invading the nearby lands."

All the sea creatures in the area lowered their heads and responded, "As his majesty commands!" That day, the beings of the sea decided to surface from the deep sea and begin their invasion.

Meanwhile, in the area where the soul prison is located, a black sea dragon returns to his human form covered with the power of gluttony. Most of the ancient gods' souls were devoured by him, and his presence got powerful as he devoured more and increased his strength.

A soul was restrained by him as he sat at some kind of rock formation under the sea. The ancient god's soul in his grasp was struggling; however, with the newly empowered An Shizhe, his struggles are nothing.

The black irises of the World Eater peered at the movement of the sea above his head and noticed that something had changed in the ocean.

"Something fun is happening. Moreover, a few of those old things had escaped to the land. It seems I need to go on land," mumbles An Shizhe.

The soul that materialized with a physical form was now in his grasp and is glaring at the world eater with a death glare. His hatred towards this man is imprinted on his soul, and all other ancient gods are the same.

"You will never have a good end! A menace like you should have never been created! Lord Chaos had gone insane. You..."

Crack!

The World Eater, An Shizhe, broke its neck with emotionless yet smiles full of madness.

"It's truly hard to understand a bug that can speak!" He devoured the being until nothing was left behind. He stood and prepared to leave.

"My other prey on land, I will have fun catching them. There are also those children that are fun to tease." The World Eater decided to go to the surface that day.

On land, General Ye suddenly received emergency news from the borders of the sea. It seems that the usually still ocean water had suddenly retreated, leaving the soldiers dumbfounded.

At the General's Mansion, Hei Anjing, who was making some snacks in the kitchen, suddenly looked in the direction of the sea, and the plate of fruits in his hand fell. The sound of something breaking resounds in the kitchen area.

Cracks~

Ye Xiajie, upon hearing the sound of breaking, hurriedly went to find his wife, who seemed dazed while looking at the window.

The God of Void asked worriedly, "Baby, I heard something breaking. Are you alright?"

He immediately went to his wife and checked on his wife's hands to see if there were any cuts. Fortunately, there are none.

"Baby, what's wrong?" asked Ye Xiajie while hugging his beloved.

Hei Anjing moved his gaze from the window and said to his husband, "My love, it seems that you will be quite busy."

"Hm? Have you seen something?" The God of Void asked as he knew that his sweetheart had the ability to peek through the future.

The God of Destruction nodded his head and said, "The water had started to move. The question now is whether to save or not."

"What do you want to do, Baby? I will do as you wish," said General Ye.

The Mermaid King said, "You do your job for a while. Be careful. There are some beings that shouldn't exist that went on land."

"Do you know what they are?" asked Ye Xiajie.

Hei Anjing's face turned dark and he said, "Ghosts of the Ancient Era."

As if answering the warnings of the Mermaid King, Colonel Lou and Lieutenant Shaka hurriedly looked for the general and found them in the kitchen.

"General, there's an emergency. Please return to the headquarters," said Colonel Lou.

A frown appeared on the general's face. "What's wrong?"

Lieutenant Shaka was not calm, unlike the colonel, and with a pale face, he shouted the reason for urgency.

"The seawater levels had suddenly retreated! On an unimaginable level!!!"

The Mermaid King suggested, "I advise that you send those near the seashore out of the hundred meters range from the sea and retreat within three days."

"Is it a tsunami, Lord Hei?" asked Colonel Lou.

Hei Anjing said, "Yes, a big one controlled by one of the other sea kings ruling the sea."

"But why... we are a treaty signed between two races!?" questioned Lieutenant Shaka.

The Mermaid King asked, "I ask you... how are the little mermaids made?"

This question alone will render any human speechless. After all, they aren't foolish enough to believe that those artificial little mermaids can be created without any blood or being from the sea itself. The origins of those little mermaids will always be from the sea itself.

Hei Anjing said, "My love, you should get going. Three days is all you have before the sea water that retreated to fall again."

"Alright. Do not come out no matter what. Baby, stay at home, alright?" The general said.

The mermaid king responded, "If you don't return within three days, I can only bring you back home myself!"

"I will return," said Ye Xiajie as he kissed his wife's forehead before taking his leave, followed by Colonel Lou Wuye and Lieutenant Shaka.

Before they left, Lieutenant Shaka turned to look at the mermaid king, who gave him a smile that was obviously fake yet unbelievably gorgeous.

In the Shaka Clan's Territory...

They received information about the sudden changes in the sea and how the military didn't hide this fact and just urged those within a hundred meters range from the sea to move away within three days. The soldiers were even forcibly taking the civilians who didn't want to leave their houses away.

This chaos lasted for the whole three days, and a lot of people were blaming the military for their forceful means. At the hall of the clan's mansion, those in power in the Clan of Shaka had gathered.

"According to the spies, General Ye went to the seashore himself."

"It seems that there is a problem with the sea area, and the water level from the sea had suddenly lowered as if the waters had retreated from the lands."

"Isn't that good? If the water retreated, then the land could expand further."

"However, the question is, Where did the water retreat to?"

"Any news from our other spies?"

"My son said something about three days ago."

"Isn't your son under General Ye? Doesn't he know about Madam Ye?"

Lieutenant Shaka's father said, "He said he can't remember anything about Madam Ye when he is outside the General's Mansion. He can only remember if he is inside the mansion. But..."

"But he can't contact anyone inside the general's mansion," said the clan's patriarch. "Either way, this is a chance. Send someone to intrude in the general's mansion while the general and the colonel are outside."

"We will do it."

The Shaka Clan chose to target the Madam Ye hiding at the General's Mansion. With the general and colonel gone, this is their only chance to find what the identity of the Madam Ye is. What they didn't know is that this is the worst plan they will ever make in their life.

Meanwhile at the Royal Palace...

Before the General and Colonel Lou headed the sea borders, they informed the royal clan about the situation. There are only three of them in the throne hall.

His Majesty Nokto asked, "Had the General and his Colonel left the city and headed to the borders?"

"They left and started sending people hundred meters away from the seashore. What do you think it is?" asked Royal Knight Wolfred to Royal Knight Xion, who is the brain of their team.

Royal Knight Xion had been reading through the reports from the borders, and the more he saw, the deeper his frown was.

He said, "We should prepare for a disaster. This is an intentional calamity. A huge tsunami nightfall on the land. I just don't know what Lord Hei said to the boss for him to make a personal move."

"The time before the tsunami arrived. The boss needs to come himself. This means the duration is short and there is no time to convince people," said His Majesty Nokto.

His two husbands thought that their lover's words might be the truth.

Royal Knight Wolfred asked, "What should we do now?"

"Prepare for after-disaster preparations. It seems we need to find a higher ground. This world is heading to its destruction," said Royal Knight Xion.

His Majesty Nokto sent an order to prepare for a world calamity. The noble families wanted to say otherwise and put down the royal family for scaring the masses. Unfortunately, His Majesty Nokto took a clear stand, and a royal decree was sent to the city. People can only follow his decree.

Chapter 1645 22.31 Third Red Star - Confession

The royal decree sent by the royal clan made people realize that the situation at the sea line was a lot more dire than they expected. The rumors made by the Shaka Clan became useless, and people condemning the general and military were replaced with a prayer instead.

Now everyone is wishing for the sea to calm down and not harm anyone. However, why would the God of the Sea listen to the prayers of his enemies? Humans and marine races never got along from the beginning to the present, and if not for the fact that both sides chose to sign a treaty after such a long war, either of the races would have perished from this world forever.

Today is the second day since the sea has retreated. General Ye had come to the seashore himself to check the situation. Ever since he arrived yesterday, the size of the seashore had increased twice today. Making him frown and look coldly at the horizons of the sea as if staring at something.

Colonel Lou Wuye and Lieutenant Shaka had come over to report. Their mission is to transfer those who live at the seaside away from the sea itself. However, there are lots of protestants.

Colonel Lou saluted and said, "General, a third of the residents had agreed to retreat to the main city. However, the rest didn't want to move at all."

Lieutenant Shaka said, "What should be done? The Mermaid King's warning was only until tomorrow afternoon. We must also retreat before tomorrow's afternoon arrives."

He showed a frightened expression. He had seen the result of the machine from their branch headquarters and sent a drone to the sea. They saw a towering wall of water still gearing to gather as much seawater from the land. It was tall enough to bury a small island under the sea.

The general stared at his lieutenant with an expressionless face, making the latter flinch at first and tremble after. Lieutenant Shaka doesn't understand why the general is looking at him similar to how he looked at the corpses of their enemies.

With his voice shaking, Lieutenant Shaka asked, "D-Did I... do something... wrong, general?"

Colonel Lou Wuye guessed why the lord was staring at his lieutenant in such a way. He had a subject he thought about, which made him disappointed by this young lieutenant. However, he chooses not to show any changes on his face, as the Lord is planning on giving this young man one last chance to confess.

He said, "Lieutenant Shaka, do you have anything to tell the general? Like a confession?"

"C-Confession... N-No. What kind of confession?"

The young lieutenant stuttered and thought that maybe the general and the colonel finally noticed that he had a crush on the general and was giving him a chance to confess. Thinking that he had a chance, the face of the young man was covered in blush.

Tsk!

As if reading his thoughts, the general had gotten annoyed and clicked his tongue. He even averted his eyes as if losing the last patience he gave to this young lieutenant. After all, the only reason the general is giving this young man to confess his sin is because of his undying loyalty to the original general, and he wanted to return the gratitude for informing his chief warden about the auction that night. If not for that auction, they wouldn't have found his wife so fast in this world.

Unfortunately, this young man's brain is full of air; how could he imagine that the general will fall in love with him? If the God of Destruction learns about this, not only the God of Void will get beaten up for not cleaning up his peach blossoms, but the God of Destruction himself will eliminate this young lieutenant or tease him for entertainment. Treating him as a toy until he was finally broken in the end.

Colonel Lou Wuye couldn't allow this young lieutenant to waste any more of their time, especially at a time like this, and said, "Don't dream while awake. The confession I am asking about was something you shouldn't have done! Did you do something that is against the military or the general himself?"

In these words, the inexperienced young lieutenant of the world failed to control his expression. His face instantly flushed its color, looking pale and colorless.

"I...I..."

General Ye spoke with an icy tone of voice, "If you tell me what you've done, I will at least spare your life and the people you love."

At this threat, the young lieutenant finally broke down and kneeled before the general. He was begging him while his face was covered with tears.

"I apologize. Please forgive me. They threatened me with my mother's life. I... I can only tell them that Madam Ye was left in the mansion alone after the general and the colonel had left. I truly only said these words and didn't say anything else. I am willing to pay with my life. Please... Please save my mother from the Shaka Clan."

Lieutenant Shaka started knocking his head on the ground. But under it was just sand and could barely harm him. However, one can see the force he used to knock his head as the sand started flying each time he hit his head to the sandy floor.

How saddening that the man who was supposed to forgive him had now wanted to kill him on the spot. Who told him to target his beloved? All of those who tried to harm his other half can only die. The Chief Warden, who was watching at the side, had stiffened in fear. The deadly aura the God of Void is currently emitting is simply overwhelming, even for him.

Just as the God of Void was about to reach out to crack the young lieutenant's neck, his terminal had rang. He would usually ignore it as he was in a bad mood, but this is a call from his wife. The dark atmosphere around him faded as if it never existed by the time he answered the call from his wife.

Ring~ Click!

[My love, spare the kid. He had listened to my warning well.]

Sigh~

"Baby, you know? Why didn't you tell me?"

[Hm. Aren't you busy? Moreover, if I tell you, where will all the fun go?]

The Chief Warden who was listening on the side had to cough to stop his laughter. His guess was indeed correct. The God of Destruction is treating the Shaka Clan as his toys for entertainment, and his lord had no words to retort. It is better for Lord Hei to have fun than to get bored.

Sigh~

"Alright. I will do as you wish, Baby. Can't you inform me next time?" complained the General.

[Giggle~ Okay, I will tell you ahead of next time. Remember to come back before tomorrow's sunset. I love you always. Keep safe, my love.]

"I love you too, Jing'er. I shall be back soon."

Click!

The call ended by the other side, and the general's eyes once again fell on the young lieutenant kowtowing before him. His face is devoid of emotions, which is a complete contrast to his delighted face from when he was talking with his wife, the God of Destruction.

General Ye spoke, "Sirius von Shaka. You shall be stripped of your title and no longer be a part of the military after this mission. Colonel Lou Wuye will send you back to your clan once we've returned to the main city."

Lieutenant Shaka looked delighted even after being dismissed from the military. Just the fact that the general is sending the colonel back to his home with him was enough to pressure the whole clan to give up his mother and help the two of them split from the Shaka Clan.

"Thank you... Thank you, General!"

"Get lost!"

"Yes. Yes!"

After the young lieutenant had taken his leave, the God of Void told his subordinate about his next task.

"Wuye, take those people back forcibly, and if they truly don't want to leave even after this, leave them be. We are returning to the main city tomorrow after lunch!" said the general.

Colonel Lou saluted and responded, "Yes, sir!"

—

Meanwhile, in the main city. General Ye's Mansion.

Hei Anjing was enjoying his tea in the mansion's garden with Yun Ming. In the garden, a huge swimming pool was also built, and this is where the little mermaid enjoys swimming around. There are also lots of miniature clam shells in it, as well as lots of toys the little mermaids would enjoy playing with.

The little mermaids are happy to live in this pool, especially since they can see their king anytime they want. Also, there is no one that will stop them from singing anytime they want, and no one will force them to sing either. They happily live in this place without any problems. Moreover, there will be a time when they will meet a human that is meant for them.

Plus, under the strict teaching of the mermaid general, they were all able to speak human language and understand the language itself. They learn knowledge the laboratories prevented them from learning before.

In the first place, even though the little mermaids are playful, they are definitely not stupid. They can also differentiate between humans who like them for real and those who see them as tools. They all pretended to be stupid so they would not be exploited by those bad humans.

The little mermaid gathers at the side of the pool, which is near the table where the mermaid king and the mermaid general are seated.

"Your Majesty! Your Majesty, play with us please~"

"Sing. Sing~ I want to sing with the king!"

"Me too~"

However, this peace is disturbed by some uninvited guests at this moment. The first one to react to the movements was Yun Ming. He immediately warned the little mermaids, asking them to hide for a while.

"There are some enemies. You little ones hide for now."

The little mermaids looked at each other and instantly dove down to hide in their small houses as the mermaid general asked them to.

Yun Ming asked the God of Destruction, "Master, what should we do?"

"Welcome them. They are my new uninvited toys~" said the Mermaid King.

Chapter 1646 22.32 Third Red Star - Intruders

General Ye's Mansion

The uninvited group of guests finally arrived at the mansion. The God of Destruction, Hei Anjing, who is also known as Madam Ye, was happily enjoying himself in the side pool garden. Warden Yun Ming was told to join the little mermaids at the pool and protect them.

Thus, in the intruders' eyes, the only ones at the general's mansion aside from the guards and the little mermaid are Madam Ye. When they saw a lone figure by the poolside, they believed that this was none other than the rumored Madam Ye.

They weren't surprised to see that the said Madam Ye was a man based on his figure alone. But it was a bit weird to see a man with long silver hair braided like a girl's hair. It was not until they saw the appearance of Madam Ye that they understood why a man will have long hair that is not only silver in color but also braided like a girl. This man is simply too beautiful, and he doesn't look human at all.

But after taking a while to recover from their dazed state, the faces of the intruders turned bloodless when they recognized who this man was. It's unsure whether this man is the mysterious Madam Ye, but they know him for another reason. There are only five powerful warriors that come over to kidnap Madam Ye; normally, if they are only coming over to capture an ordinary person, five is enough.

However, to capture this beautiful man with only five people, even if there are a hundred, would never be enough. After all, this is the King of all mermaids. A powerful being that no one had dared to capture before.

The Mermaid King had spoken, "I have been waiting for you to arrive. Did you come over to pick me up?"

The five warriors tried to back away. But the moment they felt a cold breeze blocking the path behind them, they no longer dared to take even one single step backward. The leader, among the five, spoke up and responded to the words of the mermaid king.

He said, "Your Majesty, the king of mermaids. We definitely didn't come here for you. We are here for someone else!"

His other subordinates added, "That's right. We came here to capture Madam Ye!"

"By no means that we are here to find your majesty!"

"It's the Shaka Clan who hired us to do so!"

"Please spare us, Your Majesty!"

Seeing the five men begging for their lives, the playful smile on Hei Anjing's face widens, leaving the five men bewildered.

The mermaid king said, "I am Madam Ye though~"

The moment these words were spoken and heard by the five intruders, they split up with terrified expressions on their faces. They tried to run away by splitting the group. What they didn't know was that the God of Destruction had placed a barrier around the mansion, and even those guards at the gate would not be able to hear anything that was happening in the mansion's area.

"SPLIT!"

Hei Anjing didn't stop the five who ran away from him and calmly drank his tea. Warden Yun Ming appeared from the pool and materialized in his human form. Despite coming out of the pool, his clothes and hair are dry. His main element is water, after all. He can just remove water from his body or prevent himself from getting wet.

Yun Ming spoke, "Master."

"I will leave the cleaning up to you, Ming'er," said the God of Destruction. The moment he placed his cup down, he disappeared on the spot. Obviously, coming over for those intruders who run away from him.

—

Somewhere, in the general's mansion.

One of the intruders heads towards the gates, intending to leave the general's mansion as soon as he can. He no longer feared the soldiers guarding the gates. After all, compared to the ruthless King of Mermaids, these soldiers seem to be more merciful. A joyous expression appeared on his face when he saw the soldiers by the gates and was about to approach them. Unfortunately, halfway towards the gates, he was blocked by an invisible wall.

BAM!

"Hah? N-No! This is... a wall? But there is nothing in front of me..."

The intruder reaches out his hand and touches something invisible before him. It felt like solid water, but it wasn't ice at all. Each hit causes ripples on the surface of the invisible barrier. He tried hitting the unknown wall, but regardless of how much strength he used, there was no effect at all. The man was finally terrified and started shouting. Even so, his actions are futile, as because of the barrier, no one can hear his screams. No matter how much he screams until his voice turns hoarse, no one hears his pleas. The world in the mansion and the one beyond the barrier are like completely different worlds.

"N-No... Save me! I'm here! I am an intruder! Catch me please!!"

However, a sudden pair of hands held his head, and that person's voice lingered near his ears. As if he were running for his life and was found by the being you were chasing after him like a prey.

"I found you~"

Crack!

The next moment his next was twisted in an unbelievable angle and died on the spot. The God of Destruction wearing a mischievous smile appeared behind him. As the lifeless body fell to the ground, this playful person started humming. As if he wasn't the one who was killed just now.

Humming~

"Kagome kagome~ Kago no naka no tori wa. Itsu itsu deyaru. Yoake no ban ni. Tsuru to akame ga subeta. Ushiro no shoumen daare?"

Translation: [Caged bird, caged bird~. The bird in the basket/cage, when, oh, when will it come out? On the night of dawn. The crane and turtle slipped. Who is behind you now?]

The mischievous god was singing a children's hymn while looking for his prey as if playing with them. In reality, in the eyes of the God of Destruction, the intruders were nothing but playmates to entertain them. He never treated them as something that could harm him but merely toys he could use to pass the time. With one of the intruders found and killed, there are only four more left.

In the empty, huge mansion of the general. Four men were struggling to hide and escape from the merciless man chasing after them. All four of them witnessed the death of the youngest in their group. They knew that it was impossible to escape the mansion and didn't head to the gates like that last one. Who would have thought that the youngest would head to the gates directly and leave himself open? With his location exposed, he was caught by the mermaid king as expected. He was killed on the spot.

The person who had just been killed was even singing as he was looking for them. None of the four acted foolishly like the first one. They hide themselves well in the mansion, waiting for an opportunity to kill the creepy Madam Yes, who is supposed to be their target. Hei Anjing finally entered the mansion, hunting the four who had gone into hiding ahead of time. The God of Destruction enjoys playing hide and seek with his prey.

"Kagome kagome~ Kago no naka no tori wa. Itsu itsu deyaru. Yoake no ban ni. Tsuru to akame ga subeta. Ushiro no shoumen daare?"

The creepy song echoes in the empty hallway, making those who are hiding feel their heart race under such an ominous song. In the end, one of the intruders hiding at the ceiling chooses to sneak attack as Hei Anjing passes at the part of the corridor he is hiding.

His thoughts as he jumps towards the mermaid king while holding an energy knife in his hand: 'Die, you damn monster!'

However, a few inches before he can move his hand, Hei Anjing turns around, smiling at him.

"Oh my, what a giant bug!"

With a faster speed and movement, before the intruder can make his move, his line of sight suddenly changes. His head tilted and was falling slowly until he was looking up at the Hei Anjing, smiling at him with his face covered in blood.

He said, "Three more to go~"

The three who could feel that they were now one less compared to before were now covered in cold sweats. The group had a way to communicate with the others.

In their communication platform,

"Leader, what should we do? Five and three are both dead."

The leader said, "Don't give up! The barrier around the mansion would not last that long. Hide and don't get captured."

"But... we can't just keep hiding. There is no way he couldn't find us where we are hidden."

"It's alright. Move vigilantly and change places at random times. The Shaka Clan had sent us to our deaths!" said the leader in anger.

"Who would have expected that the mysterious Madam Ye is none other than the Mermaid King?"

"When the barrier disappears, immediately run towards the gate and don't look back. One must at least return and complete the mission. Don't forget our family is still in the Shaka Clan's hand," said the leader.

The three intruders freely converse without knowing that their whole conversation is heard by the predator waiting for them to move. Hei Anjing decided to give them a chance, though this chance is only for one person. However, whether their return will give them success or not is something only those who can reach the future would know.

Chapter 1647 - 22.33 Third Red Star - Escaped?

Without knowing their plan had been exposed, the three hidden intruders had kept and lasted for a whole hour. Hei Anjing removed the barrier around the mansion. As expected, the intruders took this as an opportunity and immediately left their hidden spot to escape the mansion of the general.

"Leader, the barrier is down!"

"Let's go!"

"Run without looking back!"

Seeing that the barrier had disappeared, all three men were seen running away. They had caused so much commotion that the guards at the gates noticed them immediately. Some of them even destroyed and jumped through the window, breaking through the glass. They even ignored the scratches on their face and body, focusing on escaping. A waste of a second meant death after all.

Unfortunately, their hopes were instantly destroyed the moment they saw the king of mermaids morphing from the tiny droplets of water that appeared before the gates blocking their path. Seeing this, the men called two and four and made a decision to save just their leader.

"Leader, live!"

"Survive, One!"

The two used their bodies to protect their leader and even restrained the guards at the gates. The water droplets were like countless blades falling onto them. Numerous wounds appeared on their bodies, and as if their skins were being peeled, it didn't take long for them to look like skinless beings and crimson flesh exposed in air. Worse of all, the water drops were even more merciless, slicing through their flesh and bones.

Explore hidden tales at NovelBin.Côm

Before the leader of the group called, one took one last glance behind him; he saw his two comrades turning into a pool of blood while under the water droplets that seemed like rain for him. There he saw the unhurried figure of the Mermaid King. What was magical about it was that he didn't even look wet under this strange rain, and the pool of blood was like red paint tainting his white jade feet.

After being reborn as a mermaid in this world, Hei Anjing had a habit of not wearing shoes. His feet were equivalent to his fishtail, and wearing shoes made him uncomfortable. It is only tolerable for this clean freak to not wear any shoes because he can use his ability as a mermaid to clean his feet anytime.

Meeting the eyes of the escapee, the God of Destruction gave him a gentle smile. But this smile just left a more traumatic imprint in the mind of the man with the alias of One.

'Freaking Monster!'

The two soldiers at the gates didn't chase the man that escaped from the mansion and instead checked on their general's other half and asked about his state. They were worried, as they didn't even notice what was happening in the mansion and didn't even realize that they were intruders who had entered the mansion.

"Madam! Are you alright?"

"These intruders! How come we didn't notice them?!"

Hei Anjing said, "Don't worry. It's not your fault. No one was hurt. Prepare to welcome the general back. He should be returning today."

"We will keep an eye on the general's return!" The soldiers at the gates said.

It had been the third day since General Ye and his troops had left the main city for a mission. Learning that the backbone of the military is about to return, the soldiers were so joyous that they forgot the matter of the intruders for a moment. Only when Hei Anjing had disappeared did they smell the thick scent of blood coming under their feet.

"This... Blood?"

"Did the madam kill the intruders?"

"One had escaped thought, and that is our fault."

"Will the general scold us?"

"It's better to be scolded than to be dismissed."

"It's a bit eerie that we didn't notice anything until those men came towards us. Are they running away from Madam?"

"Watch your mouth and help me clean the blood."

After Hei Anjing disappeared from the front gates of the mansion, he returned to the poolside garden and jumped into the pool. Once he resurfaces, his human feet are replaced by a large fishtail, and even his ears turn into a fin. Half of his body leans over the pool as if jumping in the water was a means to cleanse himself.

Yun Ming reappeared behind him and handed him a glass of milk tea. He said, "Master, everything had been restored to normal."

"Yang, make sure to allow that one that escaped to return to where he came from," said Hei Anjing.

A small sun appeared in thin air and swayed for a while. It responded, [Yes, Master.]

After a while, the small sun flew away to complete the task that was given to it. He had to make sure that the man whom the lord had intentionally escaped would reach the location of the people who had hired them and make sure to pay for the deaths of his comrades. They had never warned them that the mysterious Madam Ye was something that was absolutely dangerous. Right now, the warrior called One was running for his life, and he appeared to be a madman on the run.

However, with System Yang backing him up. All his traces were erased and manipulated by him. As a system, his reach within the world of technology is unparalleled. The person himself didn't even realize that all he could think about at this moment was to escape and survive.

The thought of the man called 'One'.

"I must run! Escape as far as possible!"

"That isn't a human. He is a devil that enjoys killing! A goddamn monster!"

"They shouldn't have targeted Madam Ye."

"What weakness?! That's their hidden trump card!"

This terrified man ran and ran without even looking back once. He was called crazy and was even punched a few times. However, he ignored everyone else and just ran. After spending a few hours with anxiety, fear, and nervousness, One finally reached the territory of the Shaka Clan. The guards were already informed of 'his' supposed to be 'their' arrival. His group of five was down to him alone.

The guards at the gate of the Shaka Clan's mansion asked, "Are you alone? Aren't there supposed to be five of you?"

"Do you have a cigarette? Give me one," One asked.

A guard pulled one from his pocket and offered the man a cigarette and a lighter. One felt irked by these questions, but he was still rational enough not to explode on the spot. The scent of blood on him, which was from his comrades, still lingers. The guards thought that they had completed the task as always and even joked around with One.

"I think I know why your teammates aren't around."

"They had enough fun on this mission and went home to rest."

"The target is the general's mansion. If not for the general being away, it is almost impossible to enter his house."

"Hahaha~ so have you seen it?"

"Did you bully Madam Ye?"

"At least give me a clue. Who is Madam Ye?"

The guards were teasing One and didn't even notice his face turned pale at first and darker the second when the words Madam Ye were mentioned. That title was the very reason for his nightmare and also the person who had killed all his friends.

He can still recall how Two and Fourth exploded into a pool of blood, how Fifth was killed in fear, and how Third was beheaded. Every single scene is too vivid in his mind, and something finally snapped in One at this moment. He pulled the cigarette resting in his mouth and used it to burn the mouth of the guard who spoke the most.

AHHH!

"Fuck! What the hell is wrong with you, One?!" Another guard helped his friend, whose mouth was directly burned by One's cigarette.

One's eyes had turned fierce and bloodshot. He is now like a wounded beast. A crazed one who lost everything and had gone insane because of it. He is out of control and beats up the two guards before him. His face shows emotions of remorse, anger, fear, and sadness. The pain in his heart was overwhelming enough, as he didn't even have enough time to grieve about the deaths of his comrades.

He started screaming while punching people, "What do you know? What the hell do you know?"

"Have fun?"

"Went home?"

"Bully the fucking who?!"

"My friends are all dead!!"

"Not even a corpse remains."

"What is there to have fun? Yes, fun. The one who had fun hunting us indeed enjoyed himself enough that he was even singing as he killed them one by one!"

"There are not even enough of them left to be brought home!"

"Who bullied who?!"

"That one is not to be bullied but a damn monster! Monster!!"

One started strangling the guard and is clearly suffering from a mania. Almost all the guards had been summoned just to capture him and sedate him. In the end, the patriarch of the Shaka Clan ordered for One to be transferred to a mermaid facility to be cured by a little mermaid. The members of the Shaka Clan were shocked when they watched the surveillance video that day, and the words of One lingered in their minds. Just this alone was enough to prove that One had indeed met Madam Ye and most likely saw him face to face.

Upon learning that One's comrades had been annihilated, though they didn't know the details, this just shows the proof that the general didn't leave his wife alone in the mansion. They themselves couldn't believe that the general would find someone as strong as him as a lover. Generally, most men like their counterparts to be weaker than they are.

Chapter 1648 22.34 Third Red Star - Deprived of Little Mermaids

At the Shaka Clan's Mansion,

The warrior called One, after being captured when he had gone insane, was currently being treated by the little mermaid singing. The room he was in was like a little clinic with an aquarium beside the bed, which is now occupied by a few little mermaids singing to him in his sleep. The whole place was covered with the singing and comforting aura that treats mania or mental riot.

"Patriarch, according to the video, except for One, all other mercenaries we had heard had been killed. Though he didn't say who killed them, it is most likely the guards left behind in the general's mansion."

"He definitely saw who Madam Ye is!"

"What the hell are we waiting for? Wake him up!"

"This is the demon general's sole weakness. We can finally fight against him with this knowledge."

"Wake him up now!"

The mermaid caretaker in the Shaka Clan looked annoyed by this command. He can only whisper a few words of apologies and beg towards the little mermaids under his care. The little mermaids, even though they hate the Shaka Clan family members.

They love this caretaker as well as that one grandma who made them sweets and the noisy uncle who would sometimes come home and bring them toys and snacks. That's why they are willing to listen to the pleas of their caretaker and sing even more strongly to wake up the human sleeping on the bed.

After the little mermaids were tired of singing, they fell back to the aquarium. But one didn't wake up at all. One of the Shaka Clan's young masters was annoyed that the little mermaids weren't doing their job well and wanted to scold them but was blocked by their caretaker.

"What the hell is this? Why isn't he waking up? Are you doing your job well? Sing more!" exclaimed the young master of the Shaka Clan.

The caretaker blocked his path and said, "Please stop, young master! The little ones had done their best."

"What kind of servant are you to block your master!? Fuck off!" said the young master as he punched the caretaker, which made the little mermaids angry and splash water on him.

SPLASH!

{Bad. Bad human. Don't hurt... Qiqi! Bad... Tell... The king... Bad... Human...}

The broken words of the little mermaids stunned the humans in the clinic, except for the caretaker, whose face turned pale in worry. He longed to know that his babies could speak, but asked them not to, as little mermaids who could talk were rare and it was considered that only the mermaid king was able to do so.

After all, even after it was known that the little mermaids are capable of talking, none revealed it. Some who have trusted their human families converse with them. However, everyone hides this fact, as this proves that the little mermaids are an intelligent race, like how the mermaid king portrays.

"These little guys can speak! That's great! They can be sold for a higher price!"

Ugh!

The young master tried to reach out his hand to grab a mermaid, only for a ball of water to hit his face and stick to it. This prevents him from breathing, making him suffer what it feels like to drown. The young master tried to remove the water on his face; unfortunately, who is capable of touching water?

The young master reached out to his parents, uncle and patriarch, asking for help, "S-Save...m-meh~"

His parents tried to remove the water from their son's mouth, but they couldn't touch the water. They can only watch as their son drowns before their eyes and cries in shock and fear. Everyone couldn't understand why the water would move on its own. Another ball of water flew out from the aquarium and landed on the caretaker's swollen face. Under everyone's eyes, his injury healed in just a second.

The terrified little mermaid exclaimed in happiness and said, {King... King's protection... He is... Always... Watching us...}

The humans in the area couldn't believe what they were hearing. How could the mermaid king, who doesn't even appear in their house, protect these tiny mermaids? However, their faces were slapped on the spot. As the water in the aquarium where the little mermaids are started moving on its own and floated out. It exploded lightly, leaving a light mist on the aquarium glass, and words appeared on it.

{Humans are forbidden from harming my brothers.}

{I am always watching!}

{Kind human, take my brethren away from this mansion. These humans are no longer deemed to look after my kind. The ones who are worthy would be leaving soon.}

{Go. I will protect you on your way out.}

The caretaker's eyes glowed in delight when he saw the words of the mermaid king. He immediately stood up and looked for a small bowl to take away the little ones he had treated as his children. The members of the Shaka Clan don't know that the mermaid king can protect them while he is not around, and one of the Shaka Clan members pulled out an energy gun trying to kill the traitorous caretaker.

However, before he could pull the trigger, the waterball from before suddenly froze and cut off his hands, and the gun itself exploded. Those who were near him were affected by the exploded gun and were also injured. Only a few of them were unharmed. The writing on the aquarium changed.

{Deemed unworthy to look after my brethren. You had no say about it.}

{In my presence, what can you do to them?}

The Shaka Clan's members were enraged; however, before the absolute strength, they were nothing at all. They can only watch as the caretaker leaves with the little mermaids of their clan. Even though the patriarch

"How can you trespass in our territory?!"

"What the hell are you?"

"Who are you to take away our little mermaids? We paid for them!"

{If I paid for your lives, would you give them to me?}

{To see my brothers as tools, I will also not see you as one of the living.}

{Cool your heads in your house. As long as you don't come out, you won't die.}

The aquarium in the room exploded, adding even more injuries to the humans inside the room. After a while, there is a call from the gates, and what happened after the caretaker took his leave with the little mermaid was reported.

Master, it suddenly started raining out of nowhere. The caregiver who had stolen the little mermaids had escaped. The rainwater attacked us as if it were alive. A lot of us suffered from countless cuts; it was as if a raindrop falling above our heads were countless sharp knives falling from the sky. No one can leave the mansion; even using something as a cover is worthless. The rain would fall harder on anyone who tried to use something as a cover.

The face of the Shaka Clan's patriarch turned black in anger. He couldn't believe something—not a human dares to harm them like this. However, what they didn't know was that everything that had happened in the room was exposed by the surveillance camera, which was unknowingly connected to the Starweb and was seen by everyone. Now, almost everyone in the Federation learned that the Shaka Clan wanted to harm the general by exploiting the identity of Madam Ye.

Normally, the masses would be interested in the news about Madam Ye. But if it would put the general in danger, it is better not to be interested in it at all. The Shaka Clan now deserves what is happening to them. Especially after they tried to harm the little mermaids and treat them as tools that can be resold. Reselling little mermaids is forbidden by law.

With the punishment from the mermaid king of house arrest for the whole clan, the people of the federation understood that the level of punishment for those who harm the little mermaids differs depending on how they are treated. Trying to harm one would remove your right to own a little mermaid. If you killed one, you shall be killed, and all those who turned their blind eye to the pain of the little mermaids would also be punished with the death penalty.

Thus, when the patriarch of the Shaka Clan asked for help from the military and royal family, they were almost turned down on the spot. No one answered their phone when they tried to call someone.

The patriarch said, "How can they ignore us?! Have they forgotten to help us when we are now the ones in need?"

"Patriarch, I think I know why no one is answering our calls. What happened with the little mermaids and the things about Madam Ye were exposed online. The mermaid king might have hacked into our house surveillance and shared it online."

"Dammit! We've had! Now that we are exposed, the general will definitely pursue what we have done."

"What should we do now?"

The patriarch looked at One, who is still in a coma, with an evil glance as if finding a way to escape this state.

"Wake him up. As long as he reveals who Madam Ye is, we win. After all, the general has lots of enemies," said the Patriarch of the Shaka Clan.

Chapter 1649 22.35 Third Red Star - Return [M]

Knowing that the scene inside their house is being live streamed by something unknown, the Shaka Clan chose to use this and reveal Madam Ye's identity to the whole federation and beyond. They knew that the general had many enemies, and Madam Ye was his sole weakness. Releasing the identity of this person would put General Ye in a tight spot. It means his most important person would become the target of all his enemies.

This is the sole goal of the Shaka Clan, whose plans were thoroughly destroyed by the General Mansion. They thought General Ye had caused their plans to become useless, and they wanted to reveal his sole weakness and be targeted by his enemies.

The patriarch of the Shaka Clan commanded his descendants to do as he says.

"Wake him up!"

A few men covered in wounds approached One, who was sleeping on the bed. The singing of the little mermaids was enough for him, but his fatigue and anxiousness from before had piled up, making him unable to wake up on his own.

Now, feeling the pain coming from his cheek, One woke up almost immediately. He touched his cheeks only to feel them swollen and was shocked to see the Shaka Clan's family members gathering around him.

The father of Lieutenant Shaka said, "You finally woke up, bastard."

Slap!

"Speak! What is the identity of Madam Ye?!"

This question alone was enough to fill the heart of one with uncontrollable fear. He woke up only to face the absurdity of his life. Though he didn't know what pushed the Shaka Clan to this state, he knew that no matter what his answer was, his ending would never be good.

Hahaha~

The patriarch of the Shaka Clan questions, "What the hell are you laughing about?! Answer the damn question!"

One spoke, "Kill me. I will never tell you who that person is!"

"Bastard!? Just tell us the identity of Madam Ye!" A member of the Shaka Clan family grabs One and threatens him.

Another menace spoke, "Don't forget your family is with us!"

"You keep on saying this! However, you have never let them meet us even once. Only a call was given and its contents were the same each time. If not for the fact that we brothers don't believe that our families are dead, that you can exploit us like this."

One spat on the nearest Shaka Clan member holding his collar.

Chuckles~

"Remain in fear. When the identity of Madam Ye is revealed one day, you will realize how foolish you are today! Hahaha---"

Bang!

The patriarch killed One with a gun. He was shot on the head and died on the spot. In his eyes, slaves are no different than livestock. It can be killed at will. That's why he wasn't afraid that his actions would be seen by everyone in the federation. In this place, only the strong had a say.

"If you won't speak, then there is no need to speak anymore," said the Patriarch.

The whole thing was streamed live, and the Shaka Clan, whose reputation had been fully broken, no longer cares about the happenings beyond their mansion. They couldn't go out anymore, and those who tried had long turned to blood.

But for some reasons, except for the people who connected to the Shaka Clan and had been living with them for long, like the maids and butlers, suffered the same punishment. Only those who were like the caretaker of the little mermaids had escaped from that hell known as the Shaka Clan's mansion.

Rain endlessly falls only above the mansion under the Shaka name. It was at this point that the Shaka family realized how serious the curse of the mermaid king was.

On the third day after General Ye and his troops went to the seashore borders, almost all who were willing to leave had left the location with them. Those who remained were asked to sign a life-and-death contract that says that their decision to remain in their house no longer had anything to do with the military.

Those who signed were delighted and asked if they could buy the other houses, and General Ye agreed after talking with the former owners. Those who didn't want to sign the agreement but still wanted to stay were asked to make a choice.

Either to sign the agreement or they will be forcibly taken away.

This group of people was split into two. Those who willingly signed the agreement and started buying more land with their money, and those who didn't want to be signed and were forcibly taken away by the government.

The general returned to his mansion and learned what happened through the soldiers guarding the house. When he heard that none of them realized what was happening in the mansion until the intruders escaped for their lives and passed through the gates. One of them had escaped, which they were so guilty about.

However, unexpectedly, General Ye didn't scold them at all. Instead, he pats their shoulders and says good work. It was as if not getting involved was the right choice, even though they truly do not have a choice. Inside the mansion, the Mermaid King was in a good mood. Humming happily as he carries out the food he prepares for the general's return.

The God of Void approached his busy wife, who was cooking, and stole a kiss on his cheeks. He said, "I'm home, baby~"

"Welcome back, my love. Change your clothes and take a shower. There is still one pot on the stove," said Hei Anjing as he kissed back the cheeks of his lover, who was hugging him from behind.

General Ye asked, "My baby is in a good mood. Did you enjoy yourself today?"

"Barely entertaining, but it was enough," said the Mermaid King. "By the way, where is the Chief Warden? Will he not join us for dinner?"

He intentionally didn't ask about Lieutenant Shaka. Just the fact that intruders had come to the mansion after the general and his troops left the main city meant that someone shared the news that he, Madam Ye, was alone at the mansion. The whistleblower is most likely the young lieutenant. But the lieutenant from the Shaka Clan still had a bit of a heart and didn't tell anyone his identity right away.

General Ye answered, "Send him out to do a task. He should be back before dinner. Baby, how about joining me in the bath? Let Yun Ming look after the food. We can eat when Wuye is back."

"Is that alright, A'Ming?" asked the Mermaid King.

Yun Ming smiled and stood up to take his place. "Please leave it to me, Master!"

Before Hei Anjing could respond, his husband had already lifted him to his arms and walked up the stairs to the master's bedroom. As soon as the door of their room was closed, the general pulled his beloved to exchange deep kisses as they peeled off each other's clothes. By the time they reached the bathroom, both were naked. Their skins were touching directly each other, and the God of Void carried his wife by his butt like a child.

Entering the shower room, warm water rained over their heads automatically as their presence was detected by the shower. They continue to kiss and hug even under the running water above their heads. Once their lips parted, a silver line connected their lips for a split second before it was washed away by water from the shower above their heads. With both of them gasping for air, the two stare at one another. The three days they were separated were no different from years for this sticky couple.

Gasped~

Hei Anjing smiled and said, "My husband, there should be a few hours before your subordinate returns~" He reached out his arms and hugged the neck of his beloved before his eyes.

"I will use the time well," responded Ye Xiajie as he leaned closer and captured that mouth upturned into a playful smile.

The latter pried open the mouth connected to his as his tongue explored the opened area for him to enjoy. He held the back of Hei Anjing's head, deepening their kiss with his other hand, and pulled up one of his wife's legs to hang on his waist. He slips down his two arms and carries his wife's up with him, pushing the former backed by the wall of the shower area. Their lips moved and changed angles multiple times as he slid his hand looking for the secret place hidden between the two soft mounds, finding a way to pry inside.

Hm!

The general smirked when he found the entrance to his wife's private cavern and gently pushed in a finger, making the former tremble slightly at the sudden penetration. Their tongues entangle playfully as the general observes all the changes on his wife's beautiful face. He keeps pushing his finger. From one, it becomes two until it changes to three, making the mermaid king gasp in excitement and pleasure.

Ahh~

The general, as their kiss broke, leaned closely to his wife's left ear, mischievously nibbling on it, and finally whispered a question.

"Baby, can I go in?"

His hoarse, yet seductive voice was like an allure, making Hei Anjing suffer a current spreading his body. As if affected by some drug, he couldn't help but whimper sweetly and bite his beloved's lower lips.

A sweet voice came out of that ferocious mouth that just took a bite of someone. "Okay~"

Chapter 1650: 22.36 Third Red Star - Cursed [M]

Warning: Mature scene ahead!

—

A sweet voice came out of that ferocious mouth that just took a bite of someone. "Okay~"

This is the answer Hei Anjing had given to his husband, and his legs were suddenly spread wide apart, and the three fingers that were just inside of him were pulled out. A hot, hard, and large thing replaced it instantly, penetrating his insides. He can only gasp in the mixed pain and pleasure of being invaded by his beloved's private thing.

Gasp!

Before he could properly take a breath, a pair of large hands grabbed his waist, and the shaft inside him thrust even deeper inside of him. He couldn't help but scream as he rode on the waves controlled by his lover, whom he left his body to. He was thrusting, over and over, that he could only moan and could not even unconsciously drink the water falling from the shower.

After that, his wife will choke on water. Ye Xiajie captured his wife's mouth, keeping it occupied. However, his wife's attention had all been taken away by his hole. The couple had been doing this exercise almost every night as long as the general was at home. However, due to the changes in the sea, the couple had been separated for three days and two nights. For a loving couple like them, this short period was enough to make them crazy. If they could stay for twenty-four hours and seven days all the time, they would have done so.

Moreover, they had been separated due to the implication on the soul of the God of Destruction after the second phase of the Trial of Resurrection. His wife's soul suffered from the final stage of the second phase of the trial and had to enter a long slumber. It was only recently, when his soul was finally fully healed, that they could be together again.

For this couple, separation is simply unbearable. They need to make the other alive, or it would feel that it was a life. Countless trials that involve life and death made the two fear the death of their other half.

Only when they can feel each other's warmth and breathing can they be sure that their beloved is living beside them, breathing and alive. This trial deepens their possessiveness and obsession for each other.

Hei Anjing can feel his hip moving due to the force his husband was using to thrust inside of him. His hole was feeling soft, as he could feel it being penetrated all over again. He didn't even notice his convulsion in his hole as his husband's ministrations in that private cavern of his. The feeling of his blood rising to his upper body made Hei Anjing ignore the water falling above them, heating his whole body.

The couple entangles their tongues, staring at each other's eyes. Once their mouths are separated, Ye Xiajie bites his wife's shoulder and moves his hips faster.

"Baby, it makes you want to scream when I thrust into you like this, right? Don't hold back. I love hearing you scream." As soon as Ye Xiajie said that, he began nibbling mischievously at the small cherries on his chest while he pulled his shaft out and thrust in shallowly for a few times and one deep one.

With his beloved instigating him, Hei Anjing no longer holds back his screams. The friction inside his hole made it itchy and hot. It was simply addictive, and he wanted more, so he started moving on, meeting his husband, thrusting him from below. The two had been at it for a whole hour, and Hei Anjing had come multiple times, but his husband only came once inside him. He got tired of moving and let his body fall on the man's shoulder.

Exhausted, "My love, I'm tired~" whispered Hei Anjing, leaving kiss marks on his husband's neck.

Hearing this, Ye Xiajie halted for a moment and carried his wife properly in his embrace as he reached out to turn off the shower. He didn't even dry themselves and move into the bedroom. On the bed, he gently pressed his wife.

"Baby, let's continue~"

Ahm~

He pecked his lips while spreading his smooth legs wider, exposing the hidden passage, which was slightly contracting under his eyes. His eyes tainted with lust grabbed his beloved's ankle and once again buried himself deeper inside. With the hot tunnel wrapped around him tightly, he was once again aroused. His thick, dark rod was pushing its way into that pinkish tunnel, contracting as it made contact, sucking him deeper inside.

Hei Anjing can only bear the man above him pound into him while both of them were covered in sweat. The feeling of being plowed endlessly was too much, and he grabbed the cloth under them. But it was taken away by a hand larger than himself until all twenty fingers matched each other. The wet sound of sucking echoes in the room, making him even more excited. They thoroughly enjoyed their time, almost forgetting about the dinner being prepared in the kitchen. It was the right decision to leave the kitchen to Yun Ming.

—

While the couple was having a world on their own in their bedroom, Colonel Lou Wuye had personally escorted Lieutenant Shaka into the territory of the Shaka Mansion. Upon their arrival in front of the gates, they were stunned and looked at the dark cloud looming above the concentration of the mansion at the center of the land. What is strange about this cloud is that it was stationed on this place alone, while the other place near it was under the bright sun, like where they are in.

Lieutenant Shaka was flabbergasted. This was such a magical scene; no matter what angle he looked at, this place is definitely his house.

"W-What happened here? Is this place cursed or something?" mumbles Lieutenant Shaka in disbelief.

It was then they heard the guards hiding at the guard house. It seems they came out when they saw people approaching the mansion. They thought it was the people who were about to send food, but it wasn't. It's the third young master who has come home.

The guards said to them:

"Third young master?"

"The third young master is back!"

"But it isn't supposed to be a holiday today?"

"Third young master, that one beside you? Isn't that Colonel Lou?"

Annoyed by the series of questions, Lieutenant Shaka cut off their words and approached them. He wasn't afraid of being drenched under the rain. But as he came over, the guards panicky, shouted at him not to come over, but it was too late as he longed to approach the gates of his house.

"Ah no! No!"

"Don't come over!"

"You'll melt!!"

However, Lieutenant Shaka was soaked under the rain and was unharmed. He looked at his wet self and then at the dumbfounded look of the guards and thought that he was hearing things. Melt? How can rain melt a person?

"What ridiculous things are you talking about!?" asked Lieutenant Shaka.

"Is the curse gone?" a guard mumbles.

The guards also looked bewildered at this scene and thought that the curse was already lifted. One of the guards confidently reached his right hand under the rainwater. But the opposite thing happened to his hands. The rain that was merciful towards the young lieutenant was like numerous blades for the hand of the guard. In just a few seconds, a second of his hand had been peeled, and he screamed in pain.

AGHH~

The other guards pulled the injured guard and immediately treated his arms. This wound had become normal in this place, and they had tools and materials to treat it. This scene was not only witnessed by Lieutenant Shaka but also by the colonel.

"What the hell!? Why is he suddenly injured like this!?" exclaimed Lieutenant Shaka. "No, please don't come over." He shouted towards his superior, who was about to come over.

Colonel Lou walked towards the young lieutenant upon witnessing the scene. However, like the situation with the young lieutenant, he was also unharmed. This time, he wasn't even wet by the rain. Instead, under this rainwater, the colonel can feel his lover's aura. It seems that rain was the doing of Warden Yun Ming under the command of his master.

His thoughts at this moment as he looked at the sky above and the rain avoided him.

'I see. This is Ming'er's doing.'

Seeing the colonel also unharmed, the young lieutenant was relieved and even more confused. Then he finally understood something. There is something targeting this clan, and this rain falling endlessly was a punishment bestowed for the Shaka Clan. Just thinking about his mother, who was house-arrested by his own father, he wasn't surprised that this disgusting clan must have done something they shouldn't have.

His face turned fierce as he glared at the guards and questioned them, "Tell me. What the hell had the clan done again? Who the hell have you angered!?"

The guards all turned meek. They wanted to tell everything to the third young master, but there was a stranger with him. Though this situation is no longer a secret, as almost everyone in the federation already knew about it, they still didn't want the news to come out from them as they were afraid of being punished by the patriarch. The silent colonel had checked the starweb for information. He saw the latest news report about the Shaka Clan.

He commented, "I see. You offended the Mermaid King again!"