Chapter 481 - 11.7 First Green Star - [Past] What Happened After Ye Xiajie's Death? (5)

Hei Anjing's soul wobbles from world to world.

He watched his beloved Ye Xiajie live a life of suffering.

He would die due to terminal illnesses.

Die due to beheading

Die due to poisoning.

Die to be pushed out of the cliff.

Die by being murdered.

Die alone in suffering and loneliness.

Hei Anjing had lost the luster of his soul. He had almost become a dull mindless soul as he watch Ye Xiajie's life turn better only to die bitterly. It was extremely painful for him to watch but he must bear everything to complete the trial. He keeps his patience watching the scene of death and suffering from lifeless eyes. He had longed to stop reacting to his lover's death. Not because he didn't care but because he turned a blind eye to it.

In the last world, Ancient.

The wide and huge palace in old times. There's a palace garden and mansions where consorts and concubines live. At the center is the court hall where the ministers gather to meet with the Emperor. In this world, Ye Xiajie is the Emperor.

He is a tyrant that was feared by everyone. He had ordered his generals for the conquests of usurping the whole country under his reign. He filled his harem with decorative consorts and concubines. They were allowed to live there but they were unable to see the emperor no matter what. All the ministers in the palace knew that their ruler doesn't like others touching him and those who had dared have now been buried thirty feet under the ground. He doesn't care whether it was male or female as long as they are useful for increasing his power he would marry them in but not touch them afterward.

Because of this, there are some ministers who choose to side with his younger brother, the highest duke in the capital. He had married a few strong families to back him up but a tyrant and a ruler, Ye Xiajie was immovable. They could only take an opportunity to poison him slowly and take his life in an undignified manner.

In this world, since it was the last, the Origin had allowed Hei Anjing to take on a vessel of one of the more characters. He is now an unknown soldier in the palace of the Emperor. His face is all covered and no one is able to see his face but everyone in the palace knew about his undying loyalty to the ruler. In this vessel, he had accompanied the lonely emperor without approaching him. Even at night he would change his clothes to that of the hidden guards and join them naturally but no one noticed that the group would increase by one at night.

As usual, his role is only to observe him, he didn't block any hidden agendas for him but would sometimes indirectly help him by sending his real people to advise him. Nothing less, the Emperor knew that someone out there whom he couldn't know who it was, is helping him in the dark. He tries to look for this person's identity but nothing, in the end, comes up.

He could only accept the result rather than keep a cautious side towards the unknown person which in the end, he would even be more open towards this unknown person than the others. This unknown person would never forget to send gifts for occasions like his birthdays and special festivals. There would always be things left in his room that his servants haven't noticed were left there unless he points it out.

This strange situation made Emperor Ye Xiajie realize that the identity of that unknown person that helps him is never normal. His existence is even more special than what he knew and so he turned a blind eye to everything regarding that person. But what he noticed is that this person would never directly get involved in his decisions in life.

If he wanted to marry anyone he could. If he wanted a city to be his then he could invade it. If he leaves the palace this person would also accompany him. Hei Anjing played as his shadow. A shadow he could only feel but never see, touch or hear.

Their lives continue this way. Emperor Ye did as he wished to do. His goal is world peace, ending the war times era in his generation. He caused too much death that can be accumulated as bad karma. But he didn't stop and he had finally gotten the whole country under his control and was about to retire as the emperor.

But as per the plot of the world, he would still have to die under the hands of the new rightful protagonist of this world, the eldest son of his younger brother and his eldest nephew. The one who was bestowed by the title as the Benwang.

Emperor Ye had been slowly poisoned by his youngest brother. He knew about it but did not care about it. He had achieved his goals. Though he wouldn't allow his greedy younger brother to take his throne his son is a different story. This is a child he had trained himself personally after all. He had adopted this poor child whom his younger brother had despise.

A child of a palace made with no background and only mixed royal blood with no solid support. But Qin Wangye is a kind child. He is righteous and intelligent. He knows what is right and wrong. Hei Anjing had also secretly protected him which the Heavenly laws of the world had allowed and turned a blind at. He is supposed to be an observer but the heavenly laws had been biased towards their most beloved heavenly sons.

This is a loophole that Hei Anjing found that would allow him to show himself in front of the child that his beloved wished to protect. The emperor knew about his existence even though they hadn't met personally. The child would then tell stories about Hei Anjing to his adopted father, who is the Emperor himself.

They treated each other as a family and Qin Wangye treated those two as his parents much more than his real blood-related parents.

On the day of his return to the palace, he was stopped by the highest eunuch that serves the Emperor. With his face full of tears he stopped the Crown Prince by the gates. Hei Anjing was with the entourage of the prince, hiding his identity from everyone else.

So when he saw the highest eunuch that serves the emperor while he was away had appeared before him he immediately runs out to the Court hall where Ye Xiajie is destined to die.

Qin Wangye notices the urgency of his mother figure and accidentally calls him, "Empress Mother!" which he calls only behind the doors.

Everyone was startled as they saw the Crown Prince calling the bodyguard Empress Mother. This title signifies that the bodyguard just now might be a figure with the highest position second only to the Emperor. After all, no one was officially titled as the Empress of this dynasty. They didn't know that in secret the Emperor had accepted an illusionary figure like Hei Anjing as his Empress.

They've never met but their hearts were always together. They treated each other as family and loved ones. Even if they can't stay together as one, they always have each other in their heart.

The crown prince tried to follow after his mother only to be stopped by the High Eunuch. This person is one of the few who knew about the hidden Empress but the Emperor ordered him to make sure the Crown Prince personally received his Royal Edict.

High Eunuch said, "Please stop Wangye. The Empress will be fine. Please receive the last royal edict of Your Majesty the Emperor!"

Hearing the word last Royal Edict every even Qin Wang had fallen to their knees. Those behind the Crown Prince were down to their forehead and only the prince was allowed to raise his back to receive the Royal Edict.

The Highest Eunuch announced,

"The Crown Prince is a kind child with a golden heart. Possessed intelligence beyond human range and righteousness that no one could bend. His future is endless with the guidance of his Empress Mother, the most sacred being in the world, and the support of me, the most powerful Emperor of all time. We had deemed Ye Qinjing as the next Emperor of the Dynasty.

My last order, our dearest son. You must uproot all our enemies. I and your mother might not be able to accompany you on your next journey but we wish you the greatest happiness this world could give. We had grabbed the peace for you. Be happy, son."

The face of the Highest Eunuch was full of tears as he read the edict and respectfully passed it to the Crown Prince.

"Please receive the Royal Edict, Your Majesty!" He was kneeling before Ye Qinjing as he gave the written edict of Emperor Ye.

Suddenly all the ministers that serve the current Emperor appeared and lowered their heads. Like the Highest Eunuch, they've been all waiting for his arrival. novelUSB\c/o/M

"The throne cannot be left empty. We know but Your Majesty. We beg you please save the sire!"

The Crown Prince received the edict but his expression is dark and fierce. When he saw his father's former subordinates welcoming him. He knew that Emperor Ye had abdicated the throne but for some reason, something bad happened that was why his Empress Mother had run out just now.

"To the Court Hall. All generals and soldiers follow after this Benwang... No, follow Zhen's orders!"

"Yes, Your Majesty. As you wished..."

Meanwhile at the Court Hall.

Ye Xiajie sat at the throne looking down on his own younger brother the duke. His throne was surrounded by soldiers who had defected to his younger brother's side. His eyes are cold and sharp. His face was pale and his lips were purple, obviously poisoned by something but his back was straight as a rod as he stood before them.

With a dignified aura of nobility, his majestic presence could still overwhelm everyone in the hall despite dying at the moment. At his presence, no one dared to breathe aloud in fear they would instantly die under the gaze of this Tyrant. Only the foolish duke wouldn't take notice of the threatening aura the dying emperor is radiating at this moment.

The Duke spoke, "Give it up Elder Brother I will call you like that before you die okay~ your body had been poisoned by us for years. Though I don't know what you did to still live until now you had no other choice but to give up the throne to me Big brother."

"Give up the throne? To someone as useless as you? Do dream when you're sleeping stupid brother." said Ye Xiajie.

"You!! Just give it up already brother. The poison in your body had no antidote. You also have no heir and not even an Empress. The throne would still be mine in the end."

A smirk appeared in the corner of Ye Xiajie's lips. Though the trickling black blood was very conspicuous no one dared to comment at this moment as the Emperor's expression was too scary.

"No Heir? Didn't Zhen adopt your son? We've changed his name to Qinjing as his former name is too ugly. No Empress you say... Indeed this Zhen had no Female Empress but... I have a male wife. The one and only empress this Zhen had personally chosen for me. Someone like you can never touch." said Emperor Ye Xiajie.

BBAANNNGGG!!

His words left others confused but they could still pick up some words like make empress and such. They couldn't believe what they were hearing when suddenly the locked doors of the Court hall which were wrapped in metal chains were pushed open from the outside. The sound of metals breaking and clanging on the floor can be heard.

This unimaginable strength was something inhuman. They thought they would see countless people beyond the forcefully opened door but instead, they saw a man wearing bodyguard armor and uniform. There is only one person. The presence of this man-made them immobile.. They couldn't move their feet and when they looked down they saw their feet frozen in ice preventing them from moving.

Chapter 482 - 11.8 First Green Star - [Past] What Happened After Ye Xiajie's Death? (6)

This person is Hei Anjing. At first, he thought he wouldn't be allowed to enter the hall in such an open way as his body would always freeze whenever he tried to show himself in front of the Emperor but this time nothing had stopped him. It could only mean one thing, his beloved, A'Xia is already on the brink of death and nothing could save him anymore. His ending is set on the stone. He is destined to die like in his other lives.

He took steps by steps towards the Court hall. His every step was heavy and left the others who heard it tremble. The aura he is emitting is something even stronger than what the dying emperor possesses. Yes, like meeting a God. They could only prostrate in his presence. Without anyone's control, all people in the hall had kneeled before Hei Anjing except for one person.

The one who was seated on the throne looked sickly. His face is frighteningly pale and bloodless paired with those purple thin lips Hei Anjing could help but not his lips to hold back his anger and tears. This man even when he is dying is still giving him a sweet smile and those eyes full of love and yearning.

Hei Anjing could only walk towards him step by step until his strides got larger and faster. His armors faded and changed to the pure white robe he usually wears in his God form. His black hair turned light brunette and grew longer, almost reaching his foot. With his brown hair half braided with a white hairpin with dangling snowflakes, his white robe glows under the light as if he is the sun himself then those silvery irises which possessed the shade of moonlight.

He looks so untainted and unattainable. Aloof presence and ethereal aura that no mortals could possess. His Godly presence is that of an immortal descending in the mortal realm. His eyes were usually cold yet at the figure of that man sitting on the throne as if the ice had melted the feeling of spring breeze can be felt. Gentleness and undeniable love. This person's argent orbs emit such strong emotions. Yet at this time those phoenix-shaped eyes were mixed with sadness and grief especially when the corner of his eyes had longed turned red.

The duke, even the newly arrived Crown Prince, and his entourage had witnessed this scene. An extremely elegant man whose beauty is unparalleled and godly suddenly threw himself to Emperor Ye Xiajie hugging him tightly.

Like a wife finally allowed to see his husband for a long time. Ye Xiajie caught him in his embrace and hugged him. He was his world and everything.

Ye Xiajie murmured, "Finally~ I can see you. My darling wife, Jing'er~"

Everyone could only watch as the couple hugged each other without the care of everyone's eyes. The former emperor even carried Hei Anjing like a princess and placed him on his lap as they sat on the throne. He was coaxing his beloved as he gently wipes his tears. They've been wanting to see each other for the longest time. They've already become so obsessed with each other that they ignored everyone below them.

The Crown Prince who is now the new Emperor ordered his men to capture the duke and his people. The difference in the strength of the men cultivated by the former emperor is beyond normal soldiers. They are men who were soaked in the blood of their enemies. They've been at war for all they know and they are extremely loyal to the former emperor and now to the new one.

Ye Qingjing had faced his original father but his face is as cold as ice and as well as menacing. He hated how much this person had done. Not only had he abused him and treated him as trash when he was young. He even schemed against his own brother. On the way, he heard from the old eunuch that his foster father is poisoned by the unknown, it doesn't have any name nor any antidote. No wonder his Empress mother had run away like that just to see his foster father. They are finally meeting but they would also bid farewell.

The duke spoke, "Who the hell is that man? How can someone of his great standing hug that tyrant ah???"

"Are you talking about my Empress Mother? He is the sole person Emperor Father had loved all these years. He had also emptied his harem to appease Empress Mother. The only man Emperor Father loves the most." answered Ye Qingjing.

"Impossible. Impossible. That's a God. How can he love a mortal!"

"What are you talking about? The Empress has always been secretly protecting his father but he never interfered on the surface. We already knew about your poisoning but Empress Mother says that it is destined. They...."

Only then Ye Qingjing recall that his Empress Mother would say that he could only meet his Emperor Father at the moment of his death. Because only after this he would be able to leave this world with his father. Recalling this the Crown Prince had run back to the hall. Only he had met his foster parents while the others were not allowed to see them.

"Emperor Father! Empress Mother!"

Hei Anjing looked at him. Even though he had no smile on his face he could see his soft gaze on himself.

"You're here. Your father wanted to say something to you. Come over, child." said Hei Anjing.

Ye Qingjing went to where his foster parents are. He could see his father's current state withering at each second that passed.

Ye Xiajie looked proud at this moment as he stared adoringly at him. His face looks as stern as before but he looks kind as a father.

"You're here, son."

"Y-Yes, father..."

"Good. Listen, the people we will leave to you are loyal but their hearts are still with me. You need to win them over. The country is already at peace but you still need lots of time to stabilize the whole land. Remember you are now the emperor."

"Yes, Father. This child would listen to all your words."

"I suggest you split your people into different fields. One who would help you control the court. One who would control your finances. One who would oversee your territory. One who would be protecting the inside of the palace and the outside. You also need to create laws. These laws would help you stabilize the whole picture."

"Yes, Mother. This child would remember."

Ye Xiajie pats his head like a child. He had always placed his hope on this child this way. After that Hei Anjing had lightly hugged this child whom they watched grow up to this. They are proud of him.

"Listen. Mother will give you a blessing but don't abuse it much. This blessing for me would allow you to call upon rain. Stop the flood and control the winter itself. You can do it a bit but don't overuse it. It takes lifespan as energy. Use it only when there is no other option."

At this moment, the father and son looked at Hei Anjing in astonishment. The power to control one's weather is something only the Gods can use. Now they are so sure that Hei Anjing before them is a Godly existence that is even rarer than dragons.

But Ye Xiajie is frowning for a different reason, "Stop hugging him already!"

"Sigh~ you're even jealous of your son." novElusb\c/o\m

"Yes, you can only hug me."

In this scene, Ye Qinjing couldn't hold back his laugh and smiled at this peaceful scene. Then he saw his father laid his head on his Mother's lap and was groggily closing his eyes. Under those eyes is black skin which signifies his current poisoned state.

"Father is so tired already. Let me sleep for a bit," said Ye Xiajie but all of them knew that once he closed his eyes he would never ever open his eyes again.

Ye Qinjing wanted to beg his father to not sleep but seeing his Empress Mother's tears he stopped his words. He even saw him shake his head stopping him from speaking.

He couldn't only hold back all his sadness in his heart and cheerfully said, "Sleep well, Father. Leave everything to Xiao Qin!"

"Um! Today happens to be the happiest day in Zhen's life. I could now accompany your mother anytime." said Ye Xiajie who held his wife's hand tighter.

"En. We should get going, my love," said Hei Anjing as he kissed his husband's lips for the last time.

"Yes, we... Should... go..."

At that last word, Ye Xiajie once again took his last breath. At this moment, Hei Anjing and the newly crowned Emperor could no longer hold back their tears and cried their eyes out.

Hei Anjing whispered, "He is... gone."

The sound of crying was endless near the throne. This was the first time Emperor Qin had cried out like a child at his age upon his father's death.

It took a while before the two of them had calmed down, especially Ye Qinjing. He stopped crying when he saw what his mother was doing. He took something from inside the body of the former emperor. A glowing ball of light appeared in his Empress Mother's palm. It looks like a glowing light yet it emits darkness from within. He knew that this was his Emperor Father's soul. He got sure of it when he saw his Empress Mother cuddling at the white orb-like it was the most precious thing in his world. It was because of this gentleness and irrefutable love that his Empress Mother shows that certified that identity of the soul.

"Empress Mother, is that Emperor Father?" asked Ye Qinjing with a gentle voice.

A rare expression of his Empress Mother's lips slightly upturned was witnessed by him. His Empress Mother only smiles at his Emperor Father and no one else.

"Yes. It is my task to watch over his life without interference. This is why even though I can heal his poison, I never did. Because we couldn't stay too long in this world. Child... I treat you my son so I will tell you the truth of this world. This world is not everything. This isn't the only world that existed. Worlds are called stars and these stars gather in a universe. But the origin is vast and there are countless universes that live. This is just one of the stars within a universe. There are rankings for each world. The lowest is F and the highest is SSS. I and your father came from the sole SSS world called Vearth.

In Vearth, only deities and gods live there. There are also demon gods and evil gods. Mythical creatures who had attained Godhood like Dragons and Phoenixes are normal to where I came from. Child, with my blessing you were given an opportunity to ascend as a God in the future. If you work hard you should be able to meet us again. Your father's real name is Ye Xiajie and mine is Hei Anjing. If you ever come to Vearth you should be able to find us with our names." explained Hei Anjing as he softly caressed Ye Qinjing's forehead and an imprint of snowflakes appeared on his skin.

Ye Qinjing was stunned by what he was hearing. He was already shocked enough to learn that this man who had become his Empress Mother is a God. Now, his Empress Mother had enlightened him with the truth of the world. But before he could ask anything he could only watch his parents fade into nothingness. Only a veil of snowflakes was left behind and his Empress Mother's lingering words.

"You might be a child related to us by blood but to us, you are indeed our first child. Xiao Qin, Father, and Dad will wait for you above. Live to the fullest and never regret. Always remember, you are my and A'Xia's beloved child."

The current emperor could no longer hold back his tears to cry once again. On this day, the day the newly titled emperor had cried like a child who had lost both his parents who had supported and loved him all this time.

A grand funeral was held for his parents. There is a body for the former emperor but there is no body left behind by the Empress Mother. Those who were in the court hall that day knew that the Empress Mother of the current Emperor is a God. So no one asked the emperor where the Empress Mother had gone. Among his former father's subordinates, only the old eunuch had asked where the Empress had gone.

The current Emperor had only said, "Empress Mother and Emperor Father had ascended to heavens. They are both alright."

After hearing those words the old eunuch had no longer continued asking, this might be a secret that only the Gods above knows. In his heart, he reveres the former Empress and Emperor as Gods.. He had continued doing so until the end of his life.

Chapter 483 - 11.9 First Green Star - Remorse

At the Nether System.

After retrieving the soul of his beloved from the last world. The sadness and grief in his heart accumulated to something beyond what he could bear. Hei Anjing thought the origin would be bringing him to the next world after he had taken Xiajie's soul from the last world. But he was told that his first trial had ended, after taking Ye Xiajie's soul which he had retrieved successfully he was told to go to the Nether System to meet his Uncle Baojun.

In the throne room in the Nether System.

At the center of the emptied room is his uncle, Mo Baojun, his elder cousin, Hei Jue, and his lover's close friend, An Liang. They've been waiting for his arrival. Everyone could see his fatigue caused by endless sadness and heartache. It wouldn't be surprising enough if Hei Anjing had gone mad with what he had undergone. Seeing your beloved die before you numerous times is more painful than experiencing countless deaths of your own.

Mo Baojun approached his nephew and hugs him in his embrace patting his back gently, "You've done well, Jing'er~"

With the sudden warmth that came from his uncle's embrace, Hei Anjing's tears had flowed out like falls from his eyes. His expression remained dazed as he had been controlling his emotions not to be shown on his face for the longest time. He doesn't know what kind of expression he should be showing at this kind of moment. His muddled expression is more sorrowful to see than seeing his tears. They knew that Hei Anjing's feelings were almost broken beyond repair.

The God of Space, Hei Jue said, "It's okay, Jing'er. Don't cry, you have done it completely. Congratulations."

"That's right. This is a happy moment. You are on your way to bringing back A'Ye to life. A'Jing, do you want to rest first before entering the next second trial?" asked Nethergod An Liang.

"I... I want to continue. I want to see A'Xia as soon as possible. Uncle, please..." said Hei Anjing but his expression looks disastrous as if he would break anytime.

Mo Baojun nodded his head and said, "Okay. I agree. but in exchange, I will seal all your memories and your cultivations. This includes your special skills and abilities. You will enter the world at your weakest state but I would stop you if you ever had the opportunity to remove the seals I placed on you. If you agree I will allow you to enter the second trial without resting."

"I agree," answered Hei Anjing.

Frowning Hei Jue says, "Jing'er just take a rest even a year would be enough to adjust your emotions!"

"That's right. It is a bit dangerous for you right now to enter the world at your current state." said An Liang who agrees with the words of his wife.

Hei ANjing shook his head and said, "If my memories are sealed I should be able to rest on the way. I want to begin the second trial now."

The strong will within the words couldn't be moved by Hei Jue and An Liang. They could only watch as the Ruler God Mo Baojun did as he told and sealed Hei Anjing memories and cultivation. Hei Anjing had fallen into a deep sleep after that.

Mo Baojun looked at the couple beside him.

"I couldn't feel System Yang in him. Where did it go?" asked Mo Baojun.

An Liang who knew the answer replied, "Zhi Yang was lent to Gui Xiajun when he sent them to escape Inferno at that time. That child at this moment is working as a spy for us. He is trying his best to infiltrate the Ye Guis and work to find Ye Mo's real body."

"I see... Where is that other one? System Yue, is he gone too?"

"System Yue had remained here in the Nether System but for some reason, his memories were sealed by System Yang the last time drops by in this place. Should I summon him, Venerable Lord Mo?" asked An Liang.

Mo Baojun responded, "Ask him to act as Xiao Jing'er's guide through his journey. With him helping Xiao Jing'er they should be able to find that man's soul fragments faster. As for the rest, I will leave it to you too. I and the rest have to hunt down the Ye Gui and at the same time looking for something."

"Please leave it to us, Venerable Lord Mo," said Hei Jue and An Liang.

The next time Hei Anjing woke up was his encounter with System Yue in the System Space. Only the feeling of sleeping for a long time was left in his mind plus that nightmare which he would never forget in his life. The death of Ye Xiajie.

Back to the current timeline.

Nethergod An Liang and the God of Space, Hei Jue had told everything they had learned after the death of the Lord God. There might be missing details in their stories but what Ye Xiajie wanted to learn was given to him.

Hei Jue spoke, "I didn't know the details of what Jing'er had seen in those worlds where he stood as an observer in your lives. He had gone to more than a hundred worlds just to recover your soul wisps and each soul wisps were so weak that your lives in those worlds were so short and miserable. I heard from the Venerable Lord Mo that unlike in the current situation where you both could change each other's fate, in those worlds he came from he could only watch you die and do nothing about it."

"When he was allowed to return to the Nether System by the Origin, he looked so depressed and was beyond mad. He was dazed as if he lost his soul. He couldn't even express the right emotion when asked. He was almost broken. We haven't seen it ourselves but his appearance alone at that time makes him look too pitiful. This is why when I saw him differently without his memories sealed, I never informed him about his situation and acted like I didn't know anything about it.

The A'Jing at that time was so painful to look at. He couldn't even bear to be away from you for too long. Without resting he began his second trial which is what you guys are undergoing now. A'Ye, A'Jing had sacrificed too much for you, you cannot waste his effort and destroy it. Please look into the future. That vessel is his original one but we all know that his body is cultivated by the Mo Family through science. They could rebuild a new and healthy one for him. Are you still going to kill your vessel?" said Nethergod An Liang.

In what the couple had told him, his wife had encountered his death countless times and he had almost gone insane because of it. Then the reason for that corpse of his wife used to nourish his vessel. He could feel his heart being pricked by endless needles. Extremely painful, unbearable as if he would lose his mind. Sadly, he couldn't do anything about the situation. He could only cover his face.

Ye Xiajie said with his voice hoarse, evidently enduring anguish he had never experienced before. "Leave... for now. I want... to be... alone."

Hei Jue and An Liang didn't ask what was wrong and stood up preparing to leave. They had brought the two former quantum beasts out of the throne room with them leaving Ye Xiajie alone sitting on his throne with his face covered by his palms. novelUSb\c/o/M

Silence ascended in the throne room. There are no sounds and even breathing cannot be heard. The atmosphere in the throne room was depressing. Ye Xiajie kept covering his face for a long time until he took a deep breath and revealed his bloodshot eyes. One could see how much he is trying to stop his tears, his anger, the anguish in his heart, and everything which could overtake his calmness. Now is not the right time to feel guilt. But the heartache he feels for his wife is real. Unfortunately, there is no one to bear his rage.

Ye Xiajie mumbled, "Not yet... I can't move just yet. This soul is still incomplete that I could barely protect Jing'er. I need to find my remaining soul fragments as soon as possible."

Trying to stabilize his outraging emotions, Ye Xiajie closed his eyes in the darkness for a moment. Only within the darkness could Ye Xiajie clear up his thoughts. In the darkness, he felt that he could see Xia Jieye, the soul fragment who possessed his soul core. As if a huge monitor appeared in front of his eyes, he could watch whatever Xia Jieye is doing at the moment. He watched him go from world to world. Took over some soul fragments and strengthened himself at the same time, he killed anyone related to the Ye Mo.

All outsiders or destroyers that entered the world were killed. He feeds his darkness with their flesh and soul. The God of Void watches such a scene with nothing but coldness all over him and his indifferent and apathetic crimson eyes watch at the death of others nonchalantly. His demeanor is completely that of an Evil God. He spares no one regardless of age or gender. As long as they were deemed as his enemies he would end all of them without question.

Of course, he wasn't the only one who could use darkness to observe. Darkness is one of the strongest elements in all realms. This is because as long there is light there will always be darkness around.

Xia Jieye appeared in the dimensional domain they own, it was called Abyss. The world of pure darkness with no light. But for Xia Jieye and Ye Xiajie who were born in this kind of place, nothing could hinder them from seeing even in such a dark place. To them, this is their sanctuary.

Xia Jieye said, "You don't look good, Main. Is it because you found out what your vessel had used to extend our lives?" as he also appeared within the darkness they had full control over.

Red-eyed and glaring fiercely at his other self, "Shut up! Don't talk about that!" bellowed Ye Xiajie.

But Xia Jieye didn't move away and showed no fear as always. He casually shrugs his shoulders and stares at that face that is completely the same as his. They are the same person who would be scared of themselves.

"Even if you yell at me, what is done cannot be undone. Well, you could but... It would be the little one who would suffer in the end."

"I stopped."

"So that thought had passed through your head. Foolish!"

"..."

"Enough with this talk. I'm quite busy looking for soul fragments. You've seen the little ones state, don't you? His soul is too injured. He could only wake up inside the worlds lower than Vearth. Bring him with you when you look for the soul fragment. He would only wake up in the Nether System once the last trial of marriage is completed."

"You said before. You are the one to complete the last trial of marriage with Jing'er. Why is that?"

"Because you already completed two, if you even do the last one, I would become a completely independent entity when that happens our souls can never be merged. If that did happen your soul would never be complete making it unstable that you would go crazy in the end. Though I don't mind you ending like that, I do not wish for the little one to cry his heart out for you. He had done such a thing multiple times already in the first trial from the origin."

"I know. That trial was the source of trauma Jing'er has. I don't wish for him to feel those anymore."

"That's also good. I will stop the Ye Gui's from interfering with the next few worlds you would enter. At the last world only I would enter, wait in the Nether System when that time comes. I will merge with you at that time."

"You are willing to merge with me?" asked Ye Xiajie in distrust. He knew himself well. He is never going to compromise with sharing his wife with other men even if that person is himself.

Xia Jieye squinted his eyes on him before snorting, "Heh~ You know us too well. Then you should know that we only compromise for one person. Are you going to make Jing'er who had sacrificed everything for us to pick between you and me? Are you willing to make him unhappy due to our selfishness? At the very least, I am not, and when you remember everything you wouldn't even ask me such a question."

Ye Xiajie was rendered speechless by those words. "..."

"Anyway, even if you don't have your memories I can say one thing for you. Shen Siwang, the Supreme God of Light is our alter ego. He is our brother not by blood but by origin. So if you really need some help you can ask him. Go back! You need to enter the next world with the little one. Do not let him use his abilities as God. His current soul could no longer bear it."

Their conversation was cut off when Ye Xiajie once again opened his eyes in the throne room. His whole being excluded from an aura of danger and darkness, anyone who saw him would feel like they were meeting an Evil God who could control their life and death.

Ye Xiajie called, "Zhi Yue."

His voice was low but for a System that had a direct connection with him, System Yue can hear his summons no matter how far he is. At this moment Yue was in his boss's office waiting for the Lord God to call upon them. Now that he heard their Lord God's summoning he could only come over.

Following behind him is An Liang while Hei Jue had gone to the Central Region of the Nether System to check on his younger sibling. System Yue appeared in his human form with Nethergod An Liang at the throne room. They've lowered their heads in greeting.

"Greetings to the Lord God!"

"Um."

"My lord called for this subordinate?" asked Zhi Yue.

"Transfer your system space and merge with the Central Region. The transit point for world-hopping would be done there instead," said Lord God Ye Xiajie then he moved his gaze to An Liang, his friend.

"Liang, I will leave this place for you to protect for a while. Soon I would be able to come back. Until then... Protect the central region with your life."

"Sigh* Leave it to me!" said Nethergod An.

Ye Xiajie stood from his throne and the two former quantum beasts followed after him who was walking in the direction of the Central area. At the center of the huge space, a towering white tree was swaying as if it was alive. There is no wind in this area. It is impossible for it to move because of the wind.

Just under the tree, Ye Xiajie could see his vessel sleeping beside Hei Anjing's soul. The latter was even wrapping his hand around the waist area of the body of Ye Xiajie. Standing not far from them is Hei Jue. He was carefully covering Hei Anjing some blanket totally ignoring the vessel of the Lord God as if he could not see him.

Hei Jue gently caressed the pale complexion of his younger cousin. Everyone can see him gripping his palms until it bleeds. He obviously knew that his younger brother's current state is not good.

"You haven't rested at all for a few millennia. But I know that even with your eyes closed at this moment you have to fight against the nightmares you haven't gotten over at all. Only when you had successfully brought him back to life that all your nightmares would disappear. Bear with it for a bit more. Once you've completed your second trial you should be able to rest, Jing'er~" whispered Hei Jue to the sleeping Hei Anjing.

Once he turned around the tenderness within his eyes faded like a dulling light. His face when looking at Ye Xiajie was deadpan. There is an obvious dislike within those similar silver eyes of his.

Hei Jue spoke, "You are finally here ha."

Chapter 484 - 11.10 First Green Star - Hei Jue's Hate

Under the order of the Lord God, Hei Anjing's System Space was transferred to the central region of the Nether System. The scenery of a towering tree of life surrounded by countless hovering stars and the universe. There were even two dragons with different appearances who flew towards the top of the white-colored leaf tree. It was such otherworldly scenery.

But despite the wonderful scenery, the men inside the dimensions did not give the place a single glance. Hei Jue and Ye Xiajie were glaring at one another. It was more like Hei Jue was glaring while Ye Xiajie was looking back with a disinterested gaze. The dislike between the two is clear but neither of the two was able to kill one another. As the person they love and care about the most would definitely be sad if either of the two were to get injured in the fight. They are family after all.

Hei Jue confronted Ye Xiajie at the peak of his anger. He was one of the people who had watched Hei Anjing undergo the first trial to the current second trial. He could still remember his younger cousin brother's tears bursting from his cold countenance. He looks more pitiful when he tries to hold back his tears as he grips the clothes above his chest as if he was out of breath.

He told him to rest countless times but as if he was a zombie who lost touch of tiredness and pain, Hei Jue could only watch him enter worlds only to come out with an even worse state than the former.

Hei Jue is an only child. Moreover, his branch was hated by the other branches thanks to his father being the biological brother of his uncle Hei Sian. His Uncle was considered as a black sheep in their family and so a lot of people hated him but his father loved this younger brother a lot, even against everyone in the Hei Clan he stood at the side of his younger brother.

Without question, this left their family to be bullied for years. All those years of suffering only ended when Hei Anjing and his uncle, Hei Sian personally visited the Hei Clan and declared that aside from Hei Jue's family branch the rest of the family will no longer be protected by the Mo Family. They even threatened to destroy the clan if his family branch was bullied.

Thanks to this protection Hei Jue was able to climb up to his current position as the Leader of the Hei Clan. Hei Anjing himself had helped him along the way and gotten along with each other as brothers like no other. Hei Jue loves Hei Anjing as a sibling. So he could bear the fact that the younger brother he watched over and protected all this time would be stolen from him by a bastard like Ye Xiajie.

Uncle Hei Sian says it's fate. Even the Venerable Lord Mo turns a blind eye to their relationship even after learning that Ye Xiajie is someone from the notorious race of Ye Guis. Uncle Mo Yue said that it is because the man is Hei Anjing's other half. They accepted Ye Xiajie as if it's destined in the end. But Hei Jue doesn't accept him.

For a man who chose to ignore his cousin's feelings for centuries, Hei Jue doesn't believe this man is worthy of Hei Anjing's love. He had watched for the longest time as Hei Anjing would gather enough confidence to try to approach that man only to be ignored and sent away in the end. He had also watched as his beloved younger brother looked at that man from the distance with a yearning gaze. He looks so lonely and sad.

He has always been by Hei Anjing's side during the times the couple had misunderstandings with each other. He could also only watch as his cousin acts like a brainless fool just to follow wherever Ye Xiajie would go. But who would have thought that the ending would be like this? Like in the past he could only watch at the side as the two finally fell in love with each other in exchange for all of Hei Anjing's sacrifices.

Glaring at Ye Xiajie at this moment was the only thing Hei Jue could do, "I hate you so much. I really really hate you. If you have your memories you wouldn't dare to glare back at me like this. Just because you don't have memories doesn't mean you can be excused for what you have done. Didn't you use to ignore Jing'er as if he didn't exist before? After getting revived as he wanted, couldn't you just stay away from him." he said.

His glare fluttered when he heard Hei Jue's words but he didn't avert his eyes and instead answered honestly, "I can't leave his side anymore. I don't feel like they need to live unless it's by Jing'er's side. It is better for me to just die if I cannot even stay beside him." declared Ye Xiajie.

Hue Jue and An Liang were flabbergasted with what they've just heard. For a serious straightforward person like Ye Xiajie who used to be an embodiment of aloofness and indifference to say such mushy words only meant he is serious.

Ye Xiajie continues to say, "I do not know what was wrong with me in the past. I do not have memories so I cannot explain my side of the story. But I do believe that unless the reason for my actions is for his better good there is no way I would have to ignore Jing'er's advancement. My guess is because I am Ye Gui and because of my life mission target. According to my soul core, Xia Jieye who possessed all of our memories, my life mission target is Jing'er."

This time the couple were shocked to astonishment.

"WHAT!?"

Everyone in Vearth knew about the Life Mission Target al Ye Gui Race have. It is more like close to the oath toward the heavens and breaking means the destruction of your own soul. This mission is issued by the holder of the soul fragment which is the leader of their race, Lord Ye Mo. Unless one is ready for death it is impossible to decline such a mission.

As if realizing a few more things about the past, this couple, Hei Jue and An Liang had somewhat guessed that the death of Ye Xiajie from the past is connected to this so-called Life Mission of his.

Hei Jue isn't stupid. He had met Ye Xiajie before. He could even say that his cruelty is close to no one. He doesn't care what or who you are. No matter what origins you have as long as you break the laws of the Divinity, he would capture you, torture you, and punish you in accordance with the rules of the Nether System. It was because of this that lots of people in Vearth call him the Demon God who governs hell.

With a deep frown on his forehead, Nethergod An Liang recalled something in the past. He was on vacation with Ye Xiajie in Inferno a long time ago. But before he could understand what was happening a few men had come over to their place while they were looking for that young man whom they had saved before by the alleys.

Thoughts of Nethergod An Liang, 'At that time A'Ye didn't explain who those men were. Are they people from the Ye Gui race!? But even then... the destruction of a soul fragment wouldn't directly kill someone, that could only mean in someplace I don't know A'Ye, A'Jing, and Ye Mo met. In that meeting, something happened between the three which ended with A'Ye dying.'

Then An Liang recalled that cold-faced young man from before. He finally found a resemblance of that man's cold countenance to Hei Anjing's original demeanor. He was shocked by his realization.

Nethergod An Liang asked with a stuttering voice, "A-A'Ye... That time when we went on vacation in Inferno a long time ago... Is that young man who you saved in that back alley didn't happen to be A'Jing? Such coincidence wouldn't happen right!?"

There's a bewildered look on Ye Xiajie's face after all at this moment he doesn't have any memories of the past. But among them, except for the sleeping Hei Anjing, there is another one who knew the full story. That was System Yue whose memories were restored by System Yang the last time they met.
novelLush/c/o\mm

[That was Lord Hei. At that time, Lord Hei was testing a newly made system while doing a mission in Inferno. The error caused Lord Hei to enter a vessel of dying cannon fodder and was almost... Then you met him at the alley. That was what Yang told me before.]

Nethergod An Liang mumbled, "Darn! That was really him!"

"You... Explain things properly to me!" said Hei Jue to his husband.

An Liang came over and whispered everything he knew to his ears. Hei Jue, who learned things he didn't expect, looked at Ye Xiajie as if he was surprised.

"D-Did you die because... because you didn't want to kill Jing'er?" asked Hei Jue.

Ye Xiajie replied, "I wouldn't kill Jing'er even without that mission nor would I allow someone else to kill him in my presence."

He just indirectly answered Hei Jue of his question. This truth stunned Hei Jue. He had been blaming this man from the start not knowing what this man did for his younger brother.

"I...I..."

Seeing things had ended up like this, Nethergod An Liang supported his wife to leave the area.

"A'Ye we will get going now. You can have Yue initiate the transfer for the next world you wish to enter. Contact me anytime if you need help." said An Liang as he left the space with Hei Jue.

Ye Xiajie just nods once before moving his gaze back to his wife's sleeping figure. He sat at the side of the bed and carefully touched those butterfly wing-like eyelashes. But even though touching it, the latter had no reaction as he was in his deep sleep.

"Yue."

A small fist-sized moon hovers towards Ye Xiajie as if answering his summons.

[You call, my lord?]

"That other me says my wife wouldn't be awake in the system space due to the injuries of his soul. Once we entered the system I would like you to accompany him instead of me," said Ye Xiajie.

[B-But Lord Hei says to... Stay by your side and protect you, my lord. I cannot leave your side unless he asks me to.]

System Yue's words were saying that Hei Anjing's commands are higher than his, which Ye Xiajie doesn't mind but... There is no way he would enter the world without the guidance of the two systems connected to them both, Zhi Yue and Zhi Yang. These two systems were unrestrained by the System Main Systems. They were made to connect to people regardless of distance and space. A special thing that the former God of Void had made for the two of them.

Ye Xiajie was silent for a while as if he was in his deep thoughts. Just as he decided to force System Yue to stay by his wife's side, a small fist-sized sun appeared out of nowhere. As if he was thrown by the darkness itself, this small sun was treated as a ball toy thrown towards Ye Xiajie's face.

This system is Zhi Yang who was supposed to be with his younger brother, Gui Xiajun.

[A'Yang!?!]

Ye Xiajie caught the small sun thrown to his face and glared at the moving darkness within the room. He knew that this was done by that other him who could freely control the darkness which he couldn't completely command.

"What the hell are you doing?" said Ye Xiajie. His tone was cold and menacing.

Xia Jieye's voice came from the darkness and said, "I took it back from the brat and gave him his own system. With Zhi Yang beside the little one would give me much more relief than that stupid little moon. I made Zhi Yang with extra specifications for the little one's protection. As long as Zhi Yang exists no one would be able to harm the little one. Make him stay by his side. That stupid moon is yours. The only strength of Zhi Yue is his ability to trace Zhi Yang's location no matter where."

"I see. How's Xiajun?" asked Ye Xiajie as he gently placed the little sun on the top of his wife's chest.

The little moon had hovered around his partner swaying in excitement. It's been a while since the two of them had met each other.

Xia Jieye replied, "The brat is smart. He used a different kind of face that even I had a hard time catching. He will be by my side after this."

"You are going undercover as well?"

"Yes, until we find that bastard's real body. Plus didn't one of his wives take the little one's soul fragment, I'm taking that back too."

"Then... I'll leave it to you. We'll go now," said Ye Xiajie.

Xia Jieye spoke, "You can always contact me through the darkness. Darkness is our absolute domain."

Only then does his voice fade as the black mist that suddenly appeared from the shadows inside the dimension starts to fade.. Xia Jieye, this God of Void's ability to control the darkness is unparalleled in all realms.

Chapter 485 - 11.11 First Green Star - System Yang

Once the darkness had disappeared. Ye Xiajie observed the new system that was owned by his wife. This is the first time he is seeing Zhi Yang close up. The last time he saw him only took a few seconds when he returned Zhi Yue with reprogrammed memories to him and left with his younger brother without talking to him.

Ye Xiajie spoke, "Both of you use your human forms." said the little moon and little sun systems.

Zhi Yue had materialized. His appearance remains the same as before. Long dark indigo hair and deep purple eyes. He is wearing an ancient robe worn by shamans. White and purple in color. His appearance looks like that of a teenager who is only in high school. His androgynous features made others not unable to guess his gender at first look. He also looks slender and petite thanks to his height.

Beside him, a man who is a few heads taller than Zhi Yue appeared. His features are more mature than Zhi Yue yet he doesn't look that old. His features were gentle and aloof like a cool big brother next door. He is wearing the same type of clothing as Zhi Yang though the color is white and brown instead. His hair could almost reach his knees with the same shade as that of the sun, golden in color. His irises were red-orange in the shade as if the sun itself hides within those eyes. This one is Zhi Yang.

Zhi Yue hugged Zhi Yang's waist as soon as he saw him. He looks like a spoiled younger brother who missed his elder brother. But the two of them aren't human but an AI with their own soul created by their creator the former God of Void.

"You are Zhi Yang. The System is owned by my wife, Hei Anjing," said Ye Xiajie.

Zhi Yang is silent by nature unless necessary he wouldn't talk at all. He just gave Ye Xiajie a nod in agreement with his words.

Ye Xiajie narrowed his eyes when he did this he looked like Xia Jieye who was about to cause someone's cruel death. His eyes were apathetic and uncaring to them; others except Hei Anjing didn't matter at all.
novE\usb\c/o\m

"Is your highest command priority my wife like Yue?" asked Ye Xiajie?

Zhi Yang shook his head and answered, "No. I am the opposite yet the same as Yue'er. Your orders are my top priority but I must remain by the side of my master, Lord Hei. This is one of our features. Our Master's order is secondary as we must listen to the commands of their other half instead. This is why Yue'er prioritizes Lord Hei's orders to remain by your side and protect you. As we are made to made to protect the other half of our master in their instead."

Zhi Yue who just got his memories reprogrammed knew about this fact but unlike Zhi Yang, he is unable to explain their original purpose of existence as he had suffered error during the time the original Xia Jieye had failed to reincarnate with his complete soul.

"Just as I thought. It is really like this. No wonder Yue's reactions when he failed to complete Jing'er's orders almost caused him to break down. If he is suffering from an error, are you able to debug it for him?" said Ye Xiajie.

Zhi Yang replied, "I've already reprogrammed his memories in that world. He shouldn't suffer any error for now but... He couldn't process his old memories completely as there are bad sectors left behind when Lord Ye had accidentally split his soul the first time you've died. We... are connected to your souls."

The last sentence caught Ye Xiajie's attention. He suddenly grabbed Zhi Yang's shoulder and asked with urgency, "How is the state of my wife?!"

"He... He needs to merge with his other soul fragments. Though unlike you who had lost his soul core, he is currently using his soul core to retain your body. His soul core needs to be returned to him as soon as possible or else he would lose his memories the moment his soul core shatters. When that happened he would no longer recognize you as his other half and... You would be treated as someone he met for the first time." said Zhi Yang.

Ye Xiajie's face turned pale as he heard those words. No one else is clearer than him how a Mo with no attachment to others treats strangers. They are cold-hearted and inhuman. Except for those they care for, their attitude towards the rest is... Hard to accept those who got used to their kindness.

Zhi Yang was hugging Zhi Yue who was wearing a confused expression on his face. He had already met Hei Anjing who was only kind to his master. So he was used to his coldness and indifference. He is okay because he treats Hei Anjing as the Lord he must serve. He would mind if he doesn't get the kindness and love he could receive for him.

But Ye Xiajie is different. Who is Hei Anjing to him? He is his life. His only wife and only source of his humanity and his sole love. Could he bear being treated by his most important person as a stranger? How would he be able to bear it if this man who was his everything could take his life nonchalantly as if it was nothing important? This kind of anguish is more bearable than seeing him die yet it is the most torturous thing that would happen to him.

Ye Xiajie was shocked, "... I... THIS..."

"There is only one way to convince a Mo with missing memories. One is the trial of marriage. You have completed the marriage of souls and the Mateship of connection between fate. The last one is the marriage witnessed by the heavens but this can only be by a soul who possesses your soul core as a Dao Companionship marriage supervised by the Origin himself. Master's soul core had been seen by the origin. He had attached it to your vessel now that your soul core is also found you should be able to complete the trials of marriage.

But first, you must find your remaining soul fragments. I found the last two largest soul fragments and the rest were being collected by your soul core all over the world. This second trial is about to end and the last trial is for you to complete." explained Zhi Yang.

With a frown on his face, Ye Xiajie asked Zhi Yang, "What is the last trial all about?"

Zhi Yang answered, "The same as this second trial but this time you are one to collect the soul fragments. The Soul Fragments master had surrendered to the Origin to bring you back to life. As long as the second trial didn't end in the worst-case scenario. You should be able to easily complete the last trial as well. As long as you did what you had to do at the end of the second trial, everything would go swiftly."

Ye Xiajie stares at Zhi Yang with a contemplating gaze. He knew that there is a hidden meaning in his words but he is unable to understand it yet completely.

Zhi Yang said, "Focus on what should be done first. Time would not wait for us even if you can stop it. Do choose in between these two worlds which one you wish to enter first."

Zhi Yue pouted, "A' Yang this is my job."

Poking at those inflated cheeks with a smile, Zhi Yang could only coax the little baby who was pouting from his job being taken over by him.

Zhi Yang responded. "Then I will leave the transfer for you to supervise, okay?"

"Hehe~ Okay!" said Zhi Yue.

Looking at the two world plots in front of him, Ye Xiajie just randomly chooses which world to enter. He needs to enter both worlds in the end anyway.

Ye Xiajie said, "Just choose it randomly. Prepare the transfer. I will take my wife first." He went to carefully carry his wife in his arms allowing his head to lean on his shoulders as he continued to sleep.

His cold eyes turn gentle as he looks at his wife in his arms. This precious person is the only light in his life and he is not willing to let him go no matter what the consequences are.

Zhi Yue spoke, "My lord had chosen randomly to pick a world. The First Green Star Game world was chosen. This world is an infinite world of horror and thrill. Please be assured that the Lord would be taking over your soul fragment inside the star. Since this world allowed one's soul to enter in Soul form, Lord Hei's appearance would be his original state. In this infinite world, only souls who had died and wanted to be reborn could enter."

"That means Jing'er would enter as it is as a new player while I have to take the role my soul fragment uses," said Ye Xiajie.

Zhi Yang was the one who answered, "Yes, as soon as you enter the star you should begin the merging of the soul as soon as possible. Until your soul completely merges, your soul fragment will continue his identity as he is. As for my master, I would protect him until you come to pick him up. I will send his location to Yue'er as soon as we arrive but Yue'er would only tell you once you wake up until then he would pretend to be a special AI the original had found for himself. Is this arrangement alright?"

"This is perfect. I will merge the soul as fast as I can. Make sure my wife gets all the fun he could get while playing in this world." said Ye Xiajie.

Zhi Yang said, "Yes, please leave it to me."

"Good. Yue, begin the transfer," commanded Ye Xiajie.

The two systems had resumed their avatar forms. One is a little moon and the other is a little sun that lands itself in the palm of Hei Anjing. System Yue has opened the portal that leads to the first green star, a C-rank world that falls under the category of Game world, the genre is horror.

[Please prepare for transfer on 10... 9...8... 7... 6... 5... 4... 3... 2... 1...0!]

Ye Xiajie stepped inside the portal as soon as it opened. The feeling of falling in an extremely high place and the strong gravitational force were felt by the four people. Hei Anjing kept sleeping. Zhi Yang was motionless in the palms of his master. Ye Xiajie was expressionless while Zhi Yue was shouting his lungs out as he nested on his Lord God's head like a small egg.

Only when they've finally entered the world that System Yue records voice sounds in their minds.

[Transfer Complete!]

Chapter 486 - 11.12 First Green Star - Haunted Asylum (1)

[Transfer Complete!]

At the moment they entered the world, the group had split into two. Ye Xiajie has instantly pulled away to where his soul fragment is located. System Yue held tightly on his hair while System Yang had materialized in human form to carry away his Master's soul and entered the new world.

The world they've entered is called Abyssal. It is an infinite cycle of horror and thriller games. In this world, this platform is considered the special gateway to be reborn in their world. To the others, this is a purgatory where one had to suffer endless torture. There are some who feel that this world is the last chance they could have to return to reality. After all, they were people who were already considered dead in their worlds.

Hei Anjing didn't know how long he had been sleeping. In the last world after taking the backlash of his husband's death for him, he had fallen into a deep sleep to stabilize his soul. His soul had been badly injured in the last world of quantum beasts, sentinels, and guides. Plus from the ghost world, they've just come from where he is supposed to heal his soul. The unexpected death of the Ghost King finally took a toll on his soul.

He had to enter a deep sleep to avoid his soul from shattering. So his husband had no other choice but to carry him away from that world. He didn't know what happened in the last world after he had fallen asleep but he was not worried as his husband was there to take over. What he didn't know is that his husband after sparing a few people he is close to had decided to destroy the world afterward.

When he opened his eyes and saw the strange surroundings in front of him, Hei Anjing realized that they had once again entered a new world.

Looking around in the area, Hei Anjing saw an empty room with only a bed at the center and glass walls surrounding him. He is inside that so-called mirror room. The feeling of being enclosed inside a clear glass window as if he is some kind of experimental subject made Hei Anjing narrow his eyes.

There's a lethargic feeling all over himself and he still feels sleepy despite sleeping all this time. Yawning without a care in the world he heard the voice of someone he hadn't met for a long time.

[Greetings to Master. Have you slept well? Do you wish to hear what the details of your current situation are right now?]

Hei Anjing slightly raised an eyebrow before letting himself fall back down on the soft bed behind his back. He stretched his stiff limbs in the process and hugged a pillow as if intending to go back to sleep.

Hei Anjing spoke, "Hm~ it's been a while, Yang. If you're here it means that A'Xia had brought you over from Xiajun. Is Yue with my husband right now?"

[Yes, Master. As you have ordered, Yue'er had stayed beside Lord Ye to protect him from harm and I was brought back to support and protect the master.]

"Since they are together there shouldn't be any problem. Moreover, I've placed the last rebirth imprint I have on him. Yawns~ did that warden and prisoner couple enter this world as well?"

The following information is true facts taken directly from this world's database with an authority as representative of the Heavenly Laws of this world.]

Hei Anjing said, "Not bad. When Yue was supporting me before, I had him use my name to frighten the Heavenly Laws of this world for information. But such a method left traces in the main system records making it easy for the enemies to locate us. So I've stopped using my authority to look through the world's database. It is good to have you back, Yang."

[My role is to give you everything you wish to have. The creator made me fulfill every wish and commands the master have]

Hei Anjing's memories of the distant past had long returned to him. He could still remember when he was just one year old the God of Void would often visit him at night to play with him. At that time he didn't know that this man was his future other half. Only when he had seen him fade before him that Hei Anjing felt that had almost made him mad. He was thankful to his Uncle Siwang who had sealed that heartbreaking scene of Xia Jieye's soul-shattering before his eyes.

"He had always done things just to spoil me but he always took his life for granted for my safety. But this time I am able to protect him myself, no matter what consequences are there, I will definitely bring A'Xia back to life," whispered Hei Anjing as he looked at the white ceiling above his head.

System Yang didn't comment and stayed at the side hovering above his master. He had always quietly done his mission. novelusb/c/o\m

Hei Anjing covers his eyes as he listens to System Yang's words, "Give me this world's plot, Yang."

Han Ya is one of the co-workers of An Yuan in the real world. He had always admired An Yuan for his undeniable intelligence yet at the same time felt inferior towards him. He was secretly in love with An Yuan. When Professor An had that car accident, Han Ya was riding in the same car as him. As the car they were in is an SUV that was bringing a small group of professors to join an Olympiad Competition but all died on the way. He was also pulled into this infinite world of horror and death as a new player.

But he somehow died in one of the games and his soul had merged with the Undead General giving life to a new Evil Being with intelligence. According to the plot, this Death General is the Protagonist Gong who joined the games of the Protagonist Shou An Yuan which led to the former gaining enough strength to overpower the said Evil God of this game world.

The Protagonist Gong had fought against the Evil God just to bring his lover back alive in his original world. But after he had taken over the throne when he killed the Evil God, the Undead General could no longer leave the Abyssal World and so An Yuan had decided to not return to his reality and stay with his lover in this world that is only for the two of them.]

Hei Anjing with a dark expression commented, "In the end, my husband got another overpowered vessel whose ending is death under the hands of the protagonists. What's the point of being overpowered if you are going to die in the end. Sigh~ his soul fragments identities are as annoying as usual.

Yang, are you able to contact Yue?"

[Yes, but it seems the merging of souls that Master's husband is undergoing would still take some time to complete. But Yue'er said that he would inform Lord Ye as soon as he takes over of the Villain's vessel.]

"Tell Yue to send my command to Warden Lou. Tell him he must not leave the side of his Lord regardless of whatever reason. We don't know if another one of Ye Mo's descendants had used the loophole in the laws of the world. When Ou Ya suddenly becomes someone from the Ye Gui race, I realized that those outsiders would be harder to notice if they choose to be reborn in the world as original residents just to complete their assassination missions." said Hei Anjing.

[I will pass all your orders to them as you wish, Master. But for now please let me explain the Movie you are in. In Abyssal World, all players were tasked to fulfill a role given to them as they entered each Movie. It will be like other game worlds with missions to be completed. A player can be said to have acted well in his role when he or she completed his main task. Master is currently inside a Movie role-playing.]

Hei Anjing said, "You said that I'm in a movie. Which movie?"

[Yang had checked. Master is currently inside the Movie entitled 'Gonjiam: Haunted Asylum.

The plot of the movie is the same but the location was changed to a similar asylum but there is an even more dangerous story behind the hospital that is in. This is a movie world with mixed-in another story inside. But one must focus on the Movie itself and the other things are only there to add more thrill and danger inside the game.

Movie 'Gonjiam: Haunted Asylum' Plot:

In 1979, 42 patients at Gonjiam Psychiatric Hospital killed themselves and the hospital director went missing. Rumors and strange stories about the now abandoned Gonjiam Mental Hospital abound. An internet broadcaster and 6 other people decide to enter the abandoned hospital to experience unbridled fear. They began to stream live video from inside the hospital.]

Hei Anjing asked, "My role and mission in this movie?"

[Please wait. Let me pull out this world's game platform for the master. I would be acting as your AI narrator in this world. Each player was given an AI to guide them through their roles in the movies. They call us manager.]

"Okay! Begin playing your role."

[Welcome to the Abyssal world, New Player! I am your manager, Yang. Congratulations! You have died in reality.

DING! DING! DING!]

Hei Anjing, who hated noise, frowned a bit. Seeing this System Yang instantly muted the special sound effects this world had given to him.

[Master, this role as manager is silly. Yang doesn't want to do it.] complained the floating little sun before him.

"Pfft! If it was that silly Yue, he would definitely enjoy this kind of role-playing," said Hei Anjing who was holding back his laughter.

System Yang slightly felt embarrassed. No one knew about his Yue'er's childishness more than he did. That one is also slightly perverted with his hobbies as being a fudanshi.

[This... I'm sorry for my partner's silliness, Master.]

"No worries. He might be annoying and useless most of the time. Yue is a very good system like you do." said Hei Anjing.

System Yang was happy with his Master's complement towards his Yue'er. He knew that at that short time he had to serve his master as his system, Yue'er had already gotten his Master's liking.

[Thank you for your compliment for Yue'er, Master.]

"En... Just give me the rundown of my role and the mission. Also, the important characters that may be involved."

[There are 6 players in this Movie. 3 males and 3 females. The role available in this movie is only one, a Live Streamer.

Main Mission: Live stream and get 1 million audience likes.

Rewards: 3000 gold coins and one skill card

Note: The audience in this case is other players who were watching the movie live. In the Abyssal world, the other players can watch an ongoing movie and vote who will live or die in the end.

Side mission and rewards.

10 gold coins per one kill of the following: (Monster, ghost, or any inhuman entity)

100 gold per one kill (Player)

1000 gold - killing the Movie's Boss NPC.

Note:

One can leave the movie as long the main mission is completed or the Movie ended.

The movie would end when all players or only one player remained.

The movie would end once the Boss NPC is killed.]

Reading through all the requirements for missions and side missions, Hei Anjing knew that this world is indeed a game world. But after seeing what he wanted to see, Hei Anjing was unable to hold back a yawn as his sleepiness had activated again.

"I want to sleep first. Wake me up when something interesting appears~" said Hei Anjing as he once again pulled up the blanket on the bed and closed his eyes wanting to continue his sleep.

System Yang had long muted the live streaming comments of those who were watching his Master's streaming so Hei Anjing could peacefully enjoy his slumber.

[Sleep well, Master.]

Chapter 487 - 11.13 First Green Star - Haunted Asylum (2)

On the other hand in the other parts of the said haunted hospital. Along a quiet and eerie empty hallway, a staggering brunette man wearing gold-rimmed glasses was leaning on the white walls of the hospital. This man is none other than the Protagonist Shou of the world, An Yuan. A genius professor who had lost his sight upon his entrance into the Abyssal World.

At this moment he is trying to adjust to his sudden blindness and fell multiple times on the cold floor of the asylum as he woke up in darkness.

An Yuan could feel pain on his knees. Touching it once and placing his hand too near he would be able to check whether there is a scent of blood thankfully there is none.

"It might be bruised instead. Sigh~ where I am? Aren't we supposed to be on the way to the competition and then... Argh~" his head felt a throbbing pain as the memories of his last moment before he died all surged in his brain. It took a while before he calmed down. His breathing was already rugged and he was slightly panting. "That's right. We've... died? Then where is this? So dark. Am I blindfolded but it seems not. Am I blind?"

Suddenly he heard a robotic sound in his brain and a few images appeared in his head. There is a small holographic screen that suddenly sprouted within his mind and he could read it without his eyes.

[DING! DING! DING!]

Congratulations and Welcome to Abyssal World New Player An Yuan!

Your guess is correct. In your real world, you and your colleagues had all died in a car accident. On the last moment before your death, you had hit the back of your head really really hard and completely lost your sight before ending up dying.

But Player An Yuan is lucky! Among all those who died with you in the car. You are one of the few who had been chosen to be dragged into this Abyssal world for a chance to get revived like those guys in the novels you have read before.

This is an infinite world of horrors. As long as the Player had reached the leaderboard Top 100 you would be able to buy your time. Gold coins awarded in each movie can be used to buy your time. This bought time would allow you to not only return to your real world you would also be able to continue buying your time to extend your life endlessly.

In short, players can become immortals as long as you have the gold coin currency in Abyssal World. In our world, anything can be exchanged with gold coins. You can buy life, a talent, extend your time which is your lifespan, senses like sight, etc. Everything in Abyssal World had a price as long as the player could afford it then... You can get anything you wish for.]

An Yuan slowly calms down. He felt the cooled wall with his palm and leaned his back on it. Since he could not see he chose to just close his eyes which is dull in reality. He slowly digested the information the robotic voice had just told him.

"Death. Abyssal world. Gold Coins. Movies. Anything can be exchanged with Gold coins."

This blind man started mumbling incomplete sentences and a few words in between his breathing. His fast heartbeat slowly gets control as his mind starts processing his current situation.

An Yuan asked an important question, "Who are you to me?"

[Ping! I am your designated manager. The name is Gui from the word Mogui which means a devil. My little avatar is a cute and chubby devil but unfortunately, my player is blind you cannot see Gui Gui's adorable appearance]

A small black ball with a devil's wing, horn, and tail was hovering around Professor An Yuan's head. The little creature looks like a toy, so cute and squishy. Sadly his own player is blind and couldn't admire his cuteness.

[Gui Gui's role is to guide you, my player. I will explain the plot of each movie you will enter. Listed out your main and side missions. But I wouldn't be able to directly help or save you unless you exchange points.]

An Yuan said, "I see. What about my current situation? Where am I? And is there a starter gift pack or something?"

[Hm~ My player is so calm. Are you not afraid?]

"I am already dead. Except for my current defect of being blind, I can still hear and feel the rest. My body seems to be intact at the moment. Since it is like this it's better to complete the task at hand first." replied Professor An Yuan. His answer was reasonable yet so collected. It does seem that he truly did not fear death. "So can Gui Gui explain where I am now?"

[Kekeke~ It seems I had been bound to an interesting player. I just wonder how long you will be able to survive in this kind of world.

Player An Yuan, you are current inside a Movie called 'Gonjiam: Haunted Asylum'

Movie plot:

In 1979, 42 patients at Gonjiam Psychiatric Hospital killed themselves and the hospital director went missing. Rumors and strange stories about the now abandoned Gonjiam Mental Hospital abound. An internet broadcaster and 6 other people decide to enter the abandoned hospital to experience unbridled fear. They begin to stream live video from inside the hospital.

Player An Yuan's role is to role-play one of the actors in the original movie. One of the three male live streamers who entered the asylum to do a ghost-hunting documentary with your friends.

There are 6 players in this movie. Three of each, females and males.]

An Yuan asked, "What are my main and side missions as well as the rewards? Do I get a starter gift?"

[Main Mission: Meet the Boss NPC, take a video, and survive once.

Rewards: 3000 gold coins and one skill card

Side mission and rewards.

10 gold coins per one kill of the following: (Monster, ghost, or any inhuman entity)

100 gold per one kill (Player)

1000 gold - killing the Movie's Boss NPC.

Note:

One can leave the movie as long the main mission is completed or the Movie ended.

The movie would end when all players died or only one player remained.

The movie would end once the Boss NPC is killed.]

"This... the game is quite hardcore. To think you allow killing."

[This is normal here. By the way, if you die you will fall into hell and suffer there until you have undergone all 18 levels. If you survive then you are welcome to come back.

There is also the Player's starter pack. 50 gold coins. I've opened the store for Player An Yuan to browse for himself. Control it with your thoughts please.]

Professor An Yuan said, "Thanks, Gui Gui."

[There will be danger inside the movie anytime. I will give warning announcements but browse faster, this hospital is very dangerous for new players. It was a surprise that a new player's movie was made in this deadly location.

The sense of sight is quite expensive. It cost 10,000 points. Do your best, my player!]

Professor An Yuan nods his head while browsing through the Abyss Store. He only has 50 gold coins at the moment and filtered everything he could buy with those points.

On the other hand, some players aren't as lucky as the two were. Professor Han Ya had woken up in the hospital basement and met the movie's Boss NPC as he tried to leave the area. He is now lifeless with a bit of life within his eyes, a thick black hair dragging him around. He is one way to death as he saw the NPC Boss opening her mouth to eat him when it suddenly halted its movement.

SHRIEKS~

It suddenly screamed as if it saw something extremely frightening and ran away leaving him her food behind. The pain from sudden falling on the ground with his broken limbs made him groan. Then before he could react to what was happening around him he heard the sounds of hoofs coming over.

In his mind he is shocked, why would there be a horse carriage in a hospital basement. His manager had long abandoned him after he was defeated by the NPC Boss. Before Han Yu could understand what was happening he saw a black mist covering all over the basement and the whole area changed from the original basement to a road of unknown origins.

There is an ancient-looking huge carriage being pulled by four sturdy black horses; the carriage is also protected by two generals riding on a horse awaiting in the side. One is the strongest undead general and the other is the Executioner, they both serve the Evil God, Yan Lou.

The carriage halted when they saw Han Ya at the road. Chu Mo, the executioner was looking at the hospital and felt an extremely cold and familiar aura.

The thoughts of Chu Mo. This is Chu Mo whose vessel was overtaken by Warden Lou'This aura is obviously the presence of Lord Hei. He was already wondering why the Evil God suddenly says he doesn't feel well and wants to go to the hospital. Is it because he felt his wife's aura in this place and wanted to see him. Even with the Lord God currently merging his soul fragments, he would still have time to look for his wife.'

An apathetic voice was heard coming from the carriage even though his tone is cold and detached one couldn't help but feel the anticipation and impatience from his voice.

"Why did you stop this Deity's carriage? Are we in the hospital already?" asked the Evil God riding in the carriage pulled by four big horses.

Chu Mo, who was floating at the side covered in a long black cloak covering his whole body including his head and face on his right hand he held a huge scythe he used as his weapon to reap lives. He bowed his head and answered the deity.

"There is a human... A player who is dying on the road, my lord," said Chu Mo.

"Undead knight, clean up all the players." ordered the Evil God.

The undead general spoke, "As you command, Milord!"

"Ah, if you found a human with phoenix-shaped eyes and silver irises, bring him to me. Do not harm him. If you leave any wounds or scratches I will end you." said the Evil God.

The undead knight didn't speak but he halted his actions before bowing his head in sign that he accepted the commands.

"Go now."

The sound of horses made it seem they understood their owner's command. The undead general had grabbed the half-dead Han Ya and watched the carriage and his colleague left him alone with the human player.

After watching the carriage disappear within their line of sight the scenery around them had faded like an illusion. They were once again back in the hospital's basement. ~~novelus~~ ~~6\c\o\mm~~

The sound of Han Ya's short breath panting can be heard in the area. The entity is wearing black armor all over his body and even his face is covered. He tries to look up when he hears the sound of metal moving and sees the weird entity removing his helmet only to be shocked with what he had seen.

Han Yu saw his own face on this undead general. Without expression on his face, he saw his own appearance looking down on him. Those pure black eyes look inhuman and the black mist surrounding this weird entity has copied even the current clothes he is wearing.

His breathing turned haggard at this sight as if he knew what this undead creature was planning to do. He wanted to take his place as a player using his own appearance and identity.

Han Yu spoke with broken words, "No. Noi...! I whon't alklow yhou! He ish hkere... I wkill not lhet yiou khill him!"

With an unknown strength, Han Yu tried his best to crawl away but the speed was so slow that the undead general had to take slow steps to follow him. He looks so pitiful yet for a Boss Character like the general he looks at Han Ya like a bug.

"Sigh~ stop wasting my time. The Lord gave the orders." said the undead knight as he grabbed Han Ya by his hair.

The black mist surrounding the undead knight slowly covers Han Ya and the latter can only scream in agony as the black mist has eaten him alive.

As soon as the black mist faded only the figure of Han Yu was left. The fake and white appearance of the undead knight from before had now become rosy after eating Han Ya's soul.

He took over whatever Han Ya possessed. His memories, his body, his feelings, and even his real life itself. For someone who had been living as a dead person for unknown long years, the sudden beating of his heart took him by surprise. Grabbing his clothes above his chest the former undead general left what is it to be alive once again.

Within his mind and heart, the only thing left is Han Ya's obsession. He yearns for the love of Professor An Yuan.

"A'Yuan?" murmured the undead general.

Chapter 488 - 11.14 First Green Star - Haunted Asylum (3)

Within the Haunted Asylum, there are some players who had met an ending not much different from what the original Han Ya had ended up with. But only he is unlucky enough to meet the Boss NPC and even meet a Demon Lord class NPC afterward. Two female players meet and schemed at each other for the extra gold coins by killing one another.

The Player count had gone from 6 down to 4.

Han Ya, who is no longer counted as a player, is pretending to be one. Was not recognized by the abyssal world yet suddenly regained a new manager after the world's laws noticed that he lives as Han Ya. A fist-sized white fur ball with angel wings and halo appeared in front of him quivering like a newly born quail.

[Hih?! N-No way! G-G-General!?!?]

The former undead General who is now called Han Ya stared at the white furball coldly.

"Pretend to become my manager. I am under the mission of the Evil God. You will consider me as Han Ya, this human player." said the undead general who calls himself Han Ya.

[Y-Yes, Boss!!]

"Treat me as a player from now on." novelusb/c/o\m

[Hih! Yes, Boss. I am your manager, Tian. From the word Tianshi which means angel. You are currently in the Movie 'Gonjiam: Haunted Asylum and your role are to be one of the live streamers.

D-Do you wish to turn on the streaming platform live?]

"Gonjiam? An Asylum ha? No wonder the venue had ended up here. Unfortunately, the Evil God had come over to this hospital and ordered all the human players to be eliminated." said Demon Han Ya as he recalled his Lord talking about sparing a human with phoenix-shaped eyes and silver irises. He decided to ask his manager if a player like that appeared in this movie. "Among the original six players, is there one with silver eyes?" he asked.

The small white-winged fur ball tilted his whole body in confusion, then he decided to check the whole movie's recorded videos and found none under the requirements his boss is looking for.

[Tian'er is not sure but... There are no players with original argent eyes but the possibility of him existing is not impossible as there are some skills that would only activate using eyes as medium and it wouldn't be surprising if his or her eyes change in shade for it to be activated.]

"Um. The mission."

[Y-Yes!

Main Mission: Escape the basement which is also the cursed room 402 where the Boss NPC lives.

Reward: 3000 gold coins and a skill card.

Side mission and rewards.

10 gold coins per one kill of the following: (Monster, ghost, or any inhuman entity)

100 gold per one kill (Player)

1000 gold - killing the Movie's Boss NPC.

Note:

One can leave the movie as long the main mission is completed or the Movie ended.

The movie would end when all players died or only one player remained.

The movie would end once the Boss NPC is killed.]

When manager Tian saw the main mission had long turned red, he realized that the original player Han Ya had failed. After the Big boss had taken over his identity this failure had been considered his as well. He was sweating with cold sweats and did not know how to explain it to the demon lord before him. But of course, there is no way that the boss didn't notice the weirdness of Manager Tian.

Narrowing his eyes dangerously, demon Han Ya stared at the white furball flying around. It trembled as soon his eyes met with it.

"Out with it."

[Main mission failure of the original player. After the boss ate his soul his failure had been recorded as yours. Even if the boss completed this movie, you would still be dragged to hell or need to enter the massacre game mode afterward!]

"I see." That was his only comment as he looks at the surroundings looking for the Boss NPC who rules the territory he is in. He saw a female with long black hair in a white dress shaking in the corner covering her face.

She is shaking so badly as she murmurs continuously the words 'You cannot see me.' Of course! Her wish was unfulfilled because as soon as the new Han Ya noticed her from her hiding place he immediately pulled her out.

SHRIEKS~

"Too noisy."

A dark expression appeared on Han Ya's face as he covered his ears. He kicked the screaming NPC boss and his eyes were cold and indifferent.

[B-Boss, if you want to escape the room. You need to ask her to open the door or kill the Boss of this movie.]

Han Ya spoke, "You heard that? I won't eat you as long as you let me out of this place."

As if hearing the words of her savior she reluctantly lifted her head to look at Han Ya. The man in front of him looks so much like her prey who was about to become her food a few minutes ago but suddenly this food had become a monster that could eat her instead. She immediately sent this menace out of her room and teleported him somewhere farthest to her place.

Before Han Ya and his Manager Tian could even react, they were suddenly transported to one of the hospital laboratories within the asylum.

"Where is this?" asked Han Ya.

[Boss, she teleported you to the farthest location from her room. This is the laboratory area within the Asylum. Does the boss wish to turn on the live stream and start the movie?]

"Do it." Han Ya just looked around at the ruined area of a former glorious laboratory as he noticed some dark energy that transformed part of the hospital in a temporary movie for Gonjam.

This is a mirror dimension. A similar world to the original yet it does not affect the original world. It was interconnected and not completely detached. Once he found the door he walked towards it calmly with no expression on his face.

He left the live streaming platform for his manager to control.

Currently at the comment section:

'God! Who the hell is this handsome man!? A new player?

'Impossible! Look at how calm he is inside a haunted location alone!'

'Is this a big boss? He doesn't look afraid at all!'

'Fuck! I wonder if this one is really a newbie!'

'In this movie, there is a lazy man who loves to sleep and a good-looking blind man. The others are girls who already showed their true faces as bitches.

'Can't someone wake up the sleeping one? I haven't seen his face yet.'

Ignoring the live stream comments Han Ya was following the road and found a blind man leaning on the empty hallway. He looks so lonely yet so serene. This beautiful picture made his newly attained heartbeats beyond control. But this is only the obsession left behind by the original Han Ya whose soul was eaten by the under knight.

His feet brought him to where the blind man was.

Meanwhile, Professor An Yuan was able to leave after buying a virtual map in his head. This would allow him to see the map and the people and monsters in it with the map. The map itself was quite expensive and all his starter gold coins were used to buy it. But this map is a one-time use, if he failed his mission in this movie he would be penniless and his outcome would be unknown.

[My player this map can only be used in this Movie. After this, once you failed to complete the mission, not only you would be pulled into an extra game which is a massacred game where you have to put your life in line to survive. But the rewards for successfully completing that insane mode would be richer than any movie.

Hm? My player uses the virtual map someone is approaching.]

An Yuan did as he was told and saw that a green dot on the map was moving towards him. A green dot means human and red for monsters and ghosts. Even knowing that the one approaching him is human he didn't dare to put down his defense after all in this game players can kill other players.

Meanwhile, because An Yuan is currently blind he didn't notice that his manager was trembling once the man had stopped in front of his player. He isn't stupid, the aura this man possesses is extremely similar to one of the big bosses in Abyssal World. He instantly recognized him as the Undead Knight that serves the Evil God himself like the Executioner.

[G-Greetings! L-Hmpp!!]

GRABBED!

This black fur ball was suddenly grabbed by a large hand stopping him from speaking. When he saw the big boss gesture silence and saw his colleague the little angel smirking at him he realized that the big boss is on a mission. Manager Gui was only released when he moved his body up and down to signify his agreement.

On the other hand, Professor An Yuan smells the familiar scent of books on the person standing in front of him. It was quite similar to the scent that one of his friends has. Han Ya likes to stay in libraries and places full of books and papers. But the man in front of him doesn't have a carefree presence from before. Instead, it was heavy and made it hard to breathe as if this man was looking down on him.

Professor An Yuan's instincts were right. At this moment Han Ya was looking at him from above and observing him with a scrutinizing gaze. On his face, an expression of coldness and bewilderment were mixed up.

Seeing the little human backing away from him instinctively, demon Han Ya couldn't help but corner him on the wall; he even grabbed his thin waist, preventing him from escaping.

"A'Yuan? Can you not see me? Why are you blind?" said Han Ya trying to replicate the way the original speaks towards this human.

While talking to this human he calls A'Yuan, he would usually use a gentle and pampering tone as if he wanted to spoil the man to the heavens.

Hearing the familiar tone from Han Ya, An Yuan unconsciously lowered his defenses and slowly closed in towards the man's embrace. He couldn't see and be unable to gauge the distance well and his forehead on the man's solid chest.

"Xiao Ya! I... bonk* Hiss! Ouch! Did I hit a wall, so hard..." said An Yuan as he used his hands to squeeze the chest in front of him. It wasn't on purpose as the man couldn't see but at this moment his actions were a bit perverted.

Rubs here~ Rubs there~

Little Angel speaks, [Gui Gui, your player is a pervert?!]

[No! My player is blind!], replied Little Devil.

Hearing the voices of the two chubby furballs, An Yuan realized that the one he just grabbed just now is not a wall but Han Ya's chest. Thinking about this he retracts his hands from the man's chest with blushing cheeks.

Under the eyes of Han Ya, this human looks so adorable, and wished to tease him more. He lowered his head near the ears of the professor. His breathing can be felt and heard so close to An Yuan's ear making his cheeks even redder than a tomato.

"Hm~ is it really that hard? Let me see your forehead." His words seem normal but his actions are definitely not. Now both of his arms were wrapped around the human's thin waist and hugging him closer.

"Ah! Why are you hugging me Xiao Ya!?" asked Professor An Yuan while panicking. This was the first time he felt someone hug him like this. It felt embarrassing yet comforting at the same time.

Deep inside his heart, this new world without his sight left him worried for his life. Though the map might be useful it wouldn't be as precise as seeing the light itself. The sudden warmth from Han Ya's hug slowly calms down his hidden anxiety.

Meanwhile, demon Han Ya could feel him suddenly stiffening and sways his hands as if he doesn't know where to put them. The blind man couldn't even see his eyes full of entertainment and happiness. In the end, he chooses what his beating heart is telling him to do and didn't kill the human player in front of him.. But that doesn't mean the other players would be spared like this little blind man he adores.

Chapter 489 - 11.15 First Green Star - Haunted Asylum (4)

Han Ya and Professor An Yuan hug each other for a bit. Neither of them chooses to push away the other. Even their two managers were glowing red upon witnessing such a scene. They were inside a movie, a dangerous game yet they still have the time to flirt like this. It's inconceivable.

"AAAAHHHHH~ Someone save me!"

The atmosphere between the two men was getting hot when suddenly they heard a female scream echoing within the hallway. The voice came from far yet felt so close. Followed by the heavy sound of footsteps and the owner of these footsteps seems to be dragging the owner of that voice. This voice seems to be coming over to their location.

At this moment both Professor An Yuan and Han Ya froze for a bit before the former quietly pulled away Han Ya in a hidden corner of the hallway. This small corner leads to the fire exit staircase and the lights in this place are dim and make it hard for others to see.

The blind professor found this hidden alley when checking through the virtual map and testing it before Han Ya arrives. The hidden road is a bit too small but it is enough to hide them both though it's a bit cramped. They had to hug each other closely without any space between them.

An Yuan had to hold on to Han Ya's shoulder support while Han Ya had to hold his waist. The former felt boneless as he leans himself completely toward Han Ya. They squeeze each other on the narrow place where they could hear both their heartbeats. An Yuan's heartbeat was a bit fast, obviously scared yet excited at the same time. Meanwhile, Han Ya's heartbeat is calm, it only rises in speed a bit whenever An Yuan accidentally rubs himself on him.

The difference in height is quite obvious as Han Ya is taller than Professor An Yuan by a head. He had to slightly lower his head for his lips to reach An Yuan's ear, their position was already too ambiguous yet Han Ya's hoarse and low voice made the Professor slightly shiver when it reached his ears.

Han Ya whispered, "Don't move, A'Yuan. He's almost here," the narrow alley was hidden yet if one looked it wouldn't be able to completely hide two people against someone. He could only control the black mist to fully hide them within that dark corner. Their breathing sound was also masked by the mist.

Professor An Yuan couldn't see but the two managers feel like these two are cheating, especially Han Ya, this former undead knight. He is one of the big bosses in the Abyssal world who can kill any area bosses with a single strike yet just so he could take advantage of An Yuan he pretends to be a weak human and just follows up on what the professor had done.

Pitter Patter drags~

Pitter Patter drags~

No one knew what happened to the woman this person is dragging but when Han Ya peek out. He saw a huge fat man with his face covered in a mask carrying a chainsaw on his right shoulder and was dragging a woman by her hair. The woman was unconscious and her head was bleeding, she must have hit her head somewhere and fallen unconscious.

Han Ya waited for the two to pass by them only when they disappeared in the hallway that he spoke like a player he was pretending to be.

"A fat man with a chainsaw. Isn't that the one from the Chainsaw Massacre Movie? Why would he appear in the Movie Gonjiam?" said Han Ya.

An Yuan lightly tugs Han Ya's clothes and asks, "Are they have completely gone, Xiao Ya?"

"Yes. Move out slowly," said Han Ya as he reluctantly let go of the man in his embrace.

An Yuan said, "You said that the man just now is an NPC that is not supposed to be in our movie, Gonjiam: Haunted Asylum?"

"You don't know what kind of movie Gonjiam is?" asked Han Ya.

Professor An Yuan honestly shook his head. He is a full-bred man that lives for his career and rarely comes out to watch a movie. Plus he is an orphan with no lover. Han Ya on the other hand had the memories of the original. The original Han Ya is an outgoing person. He would usually bring his friends to watch movies and have fun in different kinds of places.

Han Ya explained, "It's a Korean movie about live streaming horror about the haunted asylum. The main ghost is a female one and her crazy patients."

Manager Gui spoke, [My player you need to continue live streaming while roaming around the hospital but since this hospital is not the original venue for the Asylum there would be lots of other kinds of monsters and ghosts in this place. You need to run away or kill them for the side mission.]

Han Ya spoke, "What would you like to do A'Yuan?"

"Can we look for the other players in this movie? They said there are 6 players. But that woman just now, is she from our movie or not?" said An Yuan.

[Wait! Let me check.

The human just now that was caught by the chainsaw man is indeed one of the players. There are 3 women on the team now there are only 2 female players listed.]

An Yuan spoke, "Gui Gui, could the consumable virtual map I've bought be able to locate players?"

[Should be. Try to control the virtual map with your mind.]

"Okay." said An Yuan who had focused himself on controlling the map in his head.

The two managers were cowering in the presence of the hidden demon lord. Even though he is now wearing a human husk all over himself the heavy pressure that is able to overwhelm them is still there.

Han Ya continues to watch An Yuan as if watching him would never make him bored. An Yuan who finally found what he's been looking for had grabbed Han Ya's hand.

"Xiao Ya, I found the other players. The closest one is just half a km from us. He is at the ward. Can you stop me if you see I'm going to bump into something, please?" asked Professor An Yuan with a gentle smile on his face.

THUMP THUMP

The demon Han Ya once again felt his heart leap within his chest and he couldn't think of saying no to this human. He squeezes the man's soft hands.

He didn't even realize how gentle his gaze was at this moment, "Okay. Lead the way A'Yuan."

The two managers who were witnessing the sweet scene couldn't help but think whether they would feel cringe or scared. These two act like a lover spreading dog food all over the place but for these two managers who knew the real identity of Han Ya felt unreal that the ruthless Undead Knight whose reputation is not less than Sire Executioner to smile like this creeps them out.

They could only watch as their players walked hand and hand towards the wards of the hospital. The wards of the hospital were unlike what normal hospitals have. There is a room made of glasses and anyone could see what the patient is doing inside the room.

In the wards, there are at least three rooms with the same architecture. But the first two rooms were in chaos. One is completely covered in blood and chainsaw marks. The second one was full of hair and most of the furniture within was destroyed or hanging inside the room. The last room was clean. The only difference is that on the door a conspicuous yellow talisman was posted on the door.

Other than the glass walls outside the room, Han Ya can see that the single talisman had the power to obliterate any ghostly entity and any beings with a dark aura in them would perish under it as well. It protects the whole room without any dead angles. This means the man inside can sleep without caring for the world.

Han Ya suddenly frowned when he felt a power that could contain even him. He was being pulled by An Yuan towards that third room when suddenly his hand was held tight and prevented him from coming closer to the third ward.

An Yuan said, "Here! A player is here. Let's go meet him."

[Be careful, Player An!] warned Manager Gui Gui. Like Han Ya, he could feel the power to erase their existence as they were connected to the Abyssal World, the world of darkness.

"Eh? What's wrong?" asked An Yuan with bewildered experience on his face.

[Player An Yuan please be careful of touching anything in this world. There are many dangerous things in here and since you have no sense of sight please be more careful.]

An Yuan asked, "Is something there?"

"Someone blocked the door. Can't open it, we can only wait for the one inside to wake up," said Han Ya.

An Yuan asked, "Can we remove it? Can't we wake him up?"

[My player's door was locked with a prop. If we remove it the one inside might get angry. He is currently sleeping inside.] said Manager Gui.

Manager Tian spoke, [Wow~ I think the live stream comment section knows what happened. Here read it. It seems interesting!]

Streaming Platform's comment section.

'Sigh~ He's been streaming with nothing but just sleeping. If he doesn't look so beautiful I would have to unsubscribe this little cutie's platform.'

'Shut up and just enjoy the sight of s real sleeping beauty~'

'Damn! This player is so rich. He is a new player but already got a rich ass patron. Didn't you see the gifts that were sent to him? A whole talisman set with 12 types and 5 each. Even that white rabbit onesie pajama he is wearing is a highly defensive clothing one that is customized and costs more than 100k gold coins.'

'Pfft! But it seems his sponsor likes to dress him so cutely. He is quite a cool beauty when he doesn't smile though I don't know if he can survive. Can he even fight?'

'That... We don't know. The first time we entered his Livestream it was when he was about to take a nap. We've already seen what happened in the other two wards besides this. He didn't even wake up when the door and glass walls were being bumped by the asylum's mental patients' ghosts just now.'

'His manager is like a nanny as well. Without his player's orders, he used the gifted talismans and placed them all over the room and let him continue sleeping.'

Then within the live platform, another set of gifts was being sent again under the same name of Hei Anjing's wealthy patron.

[IAmTheEvilGod sent a pile of pastries to Player Jing'er!]

[IAmTheEvilGod sends a body pillow of Evil God to Player Jing'er!]

[IAmTheEvilGod sent a high-class and customized piano string under weapon category to Player Jing'er!]

[IAmTheEvilGod sends snow leopard hoodie and pants under armor category to Player Jing'er!]

[IAmTheEvilGod sends a high-tier space ring to Player Jing'er!]

[IAmTheEvilGod sent a pile of first aid kits to Player Jing'er!]

[IAmTheEvilGod sent a pile of.....!]

[IAmTheEvilGod send...!]

[IAmTheEvilGod...]

The gift notification stopped only when the other's ears were swaying in endless notifications. Manager Gui and Manager Tian were so shocked that their mouths had turned 'O' in astonishment. This is the first time they had seen such a hardcore gifter towards a new player that isn't even included in the Top List of players in Abyssal World.

[WHAT THE FUCK!?!]

'Ah~ here comes the landlord! He is back again!'

'Damn! I'm so jealous. IAmTheEvilGod do you still have a leg pendant that is shaped like a human?'

'Sugar Daddy do you still want another sugar baby. You can add me. I am LittleSugarBabyV.2'

IAmTheEvilGod: 'Fuck off! I'm sending gifts to my wife. It's the husband's responsibility to spoil my wife. Hmp!

'Oh My God! The Landlord replied!'

'Boss... I can be a slave I only need a bit of those high-class talismans!'

'Shut up! Don't cut the line. Boss, how about me? I am cute, gentle, and can warm the bed.'

Meanwhile, the other players in Gonjiam: Haunted Asylum all have one thought as one group.

'Hell!! is this even fair!!?'

An Yuan asked, "This... How did this happen? Did he really only Livestream sleeping?"

[I've checked yes. But there is another reason for this. You should wait for him to wake up and see his face. He is a heavenly beauty.] replied Manager Gui.

Manager Tian, [No wonder he found a patron as soon as he went online. Look, his views have already climbed up to 300k when he is only sleeping. The world is unfair. My boss's appearance is not bad himself why don't we have a patron notification until now~]

[I told you. It cannot be compared.. Wait for that player inside and you'll understand why things ended up like this. Actually, there is a recording watch it yourself]

Chapter 490 - 11.16 First Green Star - Haunted Asylum (5)

Manager Gui pulled up a recording from a few hours ago before Hei Anjing went to nap.

Somewhere within the abyssal hospital. All the ghost and witch doctors had given the Evil God a complete checkup. This includes physical, mental, and spiritual checkups. The readings were as follows.

"Milord's overall checkup is completely normal. Even his soul and physical state had been slowly strengthening themselves. We do not know what the lord has been experiencing lately but no matter what it is, it could only mean a good thing for you."

"The Lord's soul used to be unstable due to your overwhelming power but just now it was stated in the results that Milord's soul is getting stronger which is good and your physique follows after the increase of your spiritual strength as if synchronizing with the changes inside the body."

The Evil God, Yan Lou asked, "Everything is normal? My heart which didn't beat for more than thousands of years suddenly started beating beyond this deity's control but you say there is nothing wrong with this Deity at all?"

Hearing this question, the doctors did not know how to reply. Not one of them is a God, how would they know that a God's heart doesn't beat at all. Upon checking on this deity all this time it is also true that his heartbeat is now moving. They thought it was the deity himself who had controlled it.

On the other hand, standing by the sideline is the Executioner, Chu Mo. After seeing that their conversation is no longer continuing, he could only send away the doctors.

Chu Mo ordered, "You guys can go."

"Thank you, Lord Chu!" said the doctors collectively as if they were pardoned from death.

As soon as all the doctors had left the Evil God, Yan Lou glared at Chu Mo.

Yan Lou said, "Why did you send them away? This deity is not done talking to them. Send them back in."

"My Lord, please calm down for now. You once told me that your heartbeat suddenly started moving after having a dream with that person who possesses eyes with the same shade as the moon," said Chu Mo.

Yan Lou answered, "Indeed this is true."

"That could only mean that... The cause of this is that person in your dream. My lord had always hated going to the hospital but this morning you were urging to be brought here as soon as possible. Is that person appearing in this location?

I had already checked and learned that there are a set of new players coming over here. One of them might be the person my lord is looking for. System Yue here would help you with it." said Chu Mo.

As he finished talking a fist-sized glowing moon hovered in front of Yan Lou. He was surprised to see Yue yet his expression remained non-existent.

Yan Lou asked, "Chu Mo says you can help me."

[Yes, my lord. I can pull out any information about the human players in this world. Would you like to check on the new players in this hospital at this moment?]

With a nod of his head, Yan Lou said, "Okay do it."

[Please give me a minute.

Movie: Gonjiam Haunted Asylum

Players:

Alive:

An Yuan

Hei Anjing

Meng Lan

Sui Rou

Dead: Su Luli

Replaced: Han Ya]

Yan Lou spoke, "No need for the female players. Let me see these two male players who are still alive."

[Affirmative!

An Yuan

Manager: Gui Gui (Little Devil)

Rank: New

Hei Anjing

Manager: Yang (Little Sun)

Rank: Unknown]

System Yue had opened both of the two players' live streams. Professor An Yuan's scene was that he is standing in an empty hallway. His eyes are closed as he did after knowing he is blind. He leans at the hallway wall like he is napping yet in reality he is talking to his Manager through his thoughts.

Yan Lou asked, "Is there something wrong with this human's eyes?"

[Yes, My lord. Player An Yuan is a blind man. He got blinded before he died in his real world and got pulled into this world at the last moment.]

"Not him. That person has phoenix-shaped eyes and silver irises. Show me the other player." said Yan Lou.

This time, System Yue had pulled out a close-up of Hei Anjing's face. Yan Lou was stunned at first upon seeing those phoenix-shaped eyes yet he woke up instantly when he saw his irises in deep blue instead of silver like in his dreams. But he is hesitating to move away from his gaze. As if his whole attention was caught and was meant for him to have.

Chu Mo asked, "Is this that person in your dreams, my lord?"

"En. He feels like that person but... His eyes are sapphire instead of silver. I'm a bit confused now." murmured Yan Lou yet his hand moved faster than his brain.

He had already subscribed to Hei Anjing's live stream platform and sent multiple gifts from his own treasure grove. He only stopped temporarily when he saw that he had already become the administrator of the platform. Everyone started calling him landlord due to his wealth.

He watched as Hei Anjing was about to lay down to sleep only to stop when he saw his gifts. He stared at the screen and slightly narrowed his phoenix-shaped eyes making him look even sexier as mirth flashes within those deep blue orbs.

[Note: Hei Anjing's appearances. (Human Form) Black Hair and Blue eyes. (God Form) Light Brown Hair and Silver eyes. His current soul appearance is that of his human form.]

Suddenly Yan Lou felt his heart beat faster when he saw the man suddenly smiling sweetly on the screen. He unconsciously grabbed the clothes above his chest as if something had scratched it. It left him with an itchy yet addictive feeling.

'Thank you, IAmTheEvilGod for the gifts~'

Only when he heard his slightly cold tone yet mellow seduction as if hearing heavenly's bells, that Yan Lou finally lost control.

He didn't have time to stop his fingers which were already typing the following words.

At the comment section of the live stream platform of Hei Anjing. The sentence he typed left the other audience speechless.

IAmTheEvilGod: 'Call me Husband.'

On the side, System Yue and Chu Mo who had watched the full scene of their boss with no memories at the moment skillfully flirting with Lord Hei at the live streaming platform could stop themselves from covering their faces from embarrassment. Their Lord God's shamelessness cannot be hidden even if he has amnesia.

Meanwhile on the other side of the platform.

Hei Anjing was about to lie down on his bed when System Yang began the live streaming on their side. He suddenly heard a non-stop notification from the platform.

PING!

PING!

PING!

PING!

PING!

PING!

...

...

Hei Anjing asked, "What is this sound about, Yang?"

[Ugh~ it's the Lord God sending gifts to the Master on the live streaming platform.]

"His souls merged already?"

[Not completely yet, Master. But he seems to have vague impressions of you already and has been looking for you. Yue'er says that he had been looking for a person with phoenix-shaped eyes and silver irises.]

"But in my human form. I have blue irises."

[I'm confused about that too, Master.]

Hei Anjing's eyes narrowed as if thinking of something mischievous. System Yang could only watch his Master flash some seductive vibes towards the Livestream and obviously, his target is the vessel of the Lord God in this world.

'Thank you, IAmTheEvilGod for the gifts~'

He wanted to tease his man a bit and made his voice alluring as if a fox was invited to come over. But he was even more speechless when he saw what that husband of his just sent to him.

'Call me husband.'

Hei Anjing cheerfully calls, "Husband~"

Then the live stream platform rang once again and a banner hung on the platform saying,

[DING! Account ID, IAmTheEvilGod, had become Streamer Hei Anjing's Patron in Abyssal World.]

That's the content of the recording Manager Gui had played for everyone to watch. Silence filled the area right after the recording played and Manager Gui had returned to the live streaming platform as if nothing happened.

Han Ya, who knew who the owner of that account is, commented, "Not bad."

Professor An Yuan asked, "Aren't they too fast?"

[They've already started calling each other husband and wife. I wouldn't be surprised if the owner of that account, IAmTheEvilGod, suddenly comes over and brings the man home.]

Then when they were having a peaceful conversation they suddenly heard people running towards them. It was the other two remaining female players, Meng Lan and Sui Rou. There are some blood traces on their clothes but there are no wounds on them.

Meng Lan spotted them from afar and yelled, "Help! Please help us!"

"Other players? There is a group of mental patients running after us!" said Sui Rou.

Behind them, there are at least three men in hospital clothing. Their expressions were either overly excited as if they were drugged but they don't look like in the normal right of mind.

Manager Gui exclaimed. [Shit! They brought MOB monsters here. Our players are all newbies; they don't have props with them yet! My player, try knocking on the rich player in the ward. He might help as long as we ask nicely.]

Professor An Yuan was silent as he recalled the appearance of the beautiful young man with deep blue eyes inside the glass room. As someone who met tons of people before he could see that the person inside is not a kind person yet he is extremely powerful.

He was about to open his mouth when suddenly Han Ya pats his shoulder and said, "Leave this to me. Stay here and don't move. Stay away from those female players, they are the ones who made that other female player be caught by the chainsaw man."

"O-Okay. Be careful, Xiao Ya," said An Yuan as he gripped on his clothes as he couldn't see. But his face is full of worries for Han Yan. "I'm sorry. I'm such a burden."

Han Ya pats An Yuan gently with a smile but sadly the latter could not see it.

"Manager Tian, use my gold coin to buy a sharp weapon and something that can protect A'Yuan," said Han Ya.

[Y-Yes, Boss. You have 50 gold coins as a starter gift. There is an ordinary katana worth 20 gold coins. Twin daggers 30 gold coins and metal spear worth 40 gold coins.

Han Ya made a decision instantly. He bought the ordinary metal spear and 2 defensive talismans. He activated the defensive talisman and let An Yuan hold it.

Han Ya said, "Hide in the corner. After I kill these mob monsters we can buy weapons and necessities."

"...Or we could just run?" suggested An Yuan. He knew the danger of fighting in an unknown place and he didn't want Han Ya to get hurt.

Han Ya chuckles and says, "I will be back soon. Hide near the third ward. The effects of that talisman on there are within the range of 1 meter away from the door. I will be back soon."

He tenderly caressed An Yuan's cheeks before gripping the spear in his hand and his expression turned completely cold when facing the other female players and the mental patients.

SWISH!

Meng Lan and Sui Rou were stunned by the fierce expression on Han Ya and him attacking without care for them. The metal spear flew past them and they felt their legs soften.

GROANS~ Thud!

There is a loud groan behind them, their heads moving before they can control it. One of the mental patients had their neck pierced through by the metal spear and the body plus the spear was embedded in the wall behind them.

It was one hit instakill.

Then Han Ya made his move. His speeds were restricted in the human body but thankfully the vessel he had right now is well trained. He could exert at most 5 percent of his original strength as the undead general. To those with human eyes, his speed might look beyond human. He instantly appeared in the other two mental patients grabbing their necks and breaking them swiftly. Their neck tilted an unknown angle and they died without being able to scream at all.

Han Ya nonchalantly threw the bodies on the side and walked towards the walk pulling out his metal spear. He whisked the blood on the tip and walked calmly back to where An Yuan was waiting. His eyes never wonder at the other female players at all.

His arrogance as an undefeated undead knight is still with him even in a human vessel he still looks cold and unapproachable to others except for An Yuan.
