My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1610-Rosalie was both mad and grateful toward Byron. She was angry he left hickeys on her and was thankful he helped her. Thus, she did not know how to answer him.

Byron did not mind it and hugged her from behind. He looked at the hickeys before kissing her again.

Rosalie's face blushed, and she avoided his kiss. "Did you already notice them earlier?"

Byron stared at the hickeys and put on a regretful look as he said, "I should've kissed you on the neck."

Rosalie was annoyed to hear that. "I can't cover them if you kiss me there!"

Byron shrugged, saying, "I just want everyone to know you're my woman."

Before Rosalie got angry, the man helplessly buried his head in her shoulder. His voice was close to her ear.

"Since you still haven't accepted my proposal, I can only tell everyone you're mine like this..."

It sounded as if he was aggrieved.

Rosalie's forehead puckered. After a while, she calmed down and touched his head to comfort him. "What's the difference between me accepting and not?"

Byron took her hand and kissed it. "It's different."

Then, he looked at her and let go of her hand. "It's getting late. Let's go get ready."

Rosalie sighed deep down and was grateful that Byron did not continue that topic as she followed Byron.

"Daddy! Mommy!"

The three kids could wake up late as it was the weekend. Just as they headed downstairs, they bumped into their daddy and mommy holding hands.

Rosalie quickly covered the hickeys with her other hand.

Byron was calm. "We're going out this afternoon. You kids stay at home."

Call me if Grandpa and Grandma come.”

The little ones nodded obediently.

Then, Byron took Rosalie out, heading straight out to Arachne.

Rosalie realized Byron was taking her to get dressed and styled.

“I don’t think going through all this trouble is necessary.” She hesitated.

The afternoon press conference should only require them to sign a contract in front of reporters and wear a formal suit.

However, Byron did not intend to give in.

As he listened to Rosalie, he held her hand and took her into the building.” Not only you, even I should get dressed.”

Rosalie looked at the man’s back and was in a puzzle. She had no idea why Byron had to get dressed.

Byron looked perfect even when he wore simple clothes.

“This is the first time you and I are officially appearing in front of the media together. It’s not as husband and wife, but it’s worth looking forward to.”

Byron’s words were affectionate.

To him, the press conference was not only about signing the contract.

It was also a chance to announce their relationship to the world officially!

Thinking of Xander, who had been eyeing his woman, Byron felt displeasure growing in him.

Rosalie knew what was in Byron’s mind and gave in.

Byron was a frequent customer of Arachne. Thus, Rosalie and Byron naturally received VIP treatment. The person in charge of the headquarters of Arachne in Coast City styled them personally.

“Mr. Lawrence, you are...”

The person in charge was an acquaintance of Byron. As he styled Byron, he exchanged pleasantries with him. However, his eyes never stopped glancing at Rosalie.

Before the person in charge could finish his words, Byron already knew what was in his mind.

He was going to ask if they were announcing their relationship.

Byron looked at the person in charge with confidence as he asked, "What do you think?"

He did not answer the question, and the person in charge misunderstood his meaning. "I understand. I'll make sure you two look perfect!"

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1611-Byron glanced at Rosalie, who wanted to deny it but was too shy to speak. He smiled and told the person in charge, "Just keep it simple. She doesn't like to be too glamorous."

The person in charge nodded and even praised Rosalie. "Mrs. Lawrence is beautiful enough and looks perfect even without makeup. You two are like a match made in heaven."

Rosalie did not take it seriously.

He must have praised Wendy the same way a few months ago when she was here for a styling session.

It took the person in charge two hours to style them.

Rosalie's long hair draped behind her back, and a pearl hairpin was in it. She even wore a pair of pearl earrings that matched her simple makeup. The outfit she wore was a white suit with the same-colored pants, revealing her gentle and elegant side.

Byron's hair was waxed, exposing his perfect facial features. He wore a black suit of the same design as Rosalie's with pearl cufflinks that matched Rosalie's earrings.

They looked like a couple at first glance.

Rosalie looked at their attires and was a little nervous.

"Byron, I think..."

She wanted to say it was inappropriate.

However, Byron was satisfied. He told the person in charge that he wanted to buy the two suits.

Rosalie looked at the price. The total cost of the suits and makeup would be around 145,000 bucks.

She had to swallow her words when she saw the figure, afraid there might be extra charges if she wanted to change into something else.

Even if Byron was wealthy, she could not spend it lavishly like this...

After they left Arachne, it was already 1:00 p.m.

There was only an hour left before the press conference.

Andrius called to remind them and was relieved to hear they were already heading to the press conference's venue.

On the way to the press conference, Rosalie hesitated to remove the earrings.

"Are you so afraid of people knowing about our relationship?"

Byron's voice of displeasure sounded.

Rosalie froze. "I just think this is a little too obvious..."

Byron lifted his eyebrow. "Since I posted the last announcement, everyone is already guessing about our relationship. It's no different from announcing our relationship if we appear together. So, what we wear doesn't make any difference."

As he spoke, he looked at the road ahead instead of Rosalie.

Byron only said this because he was afraid Rosalie would refuse to wear the same suit as him.

He had also decided to take this opportunity to announce their relationship formally.

Rosalie noticed Byron's displeasure and decided not to take off the earrings. Then, she comforted him. "I don't mean that. It's just that the press conference this afternoon is an official work event."

After explaining, she tugged Byron's sleeve lightly. "Even without the earrings, we look like a couple in the same suit design."

Byron was pleased to hear her explanation and grabbed her hand.

Cooperating with Lawrence Corporation and Quirke Enterprise and announcing it in the press conference made Rosalie nervous.

Along the way, she asked Byron what she had to pay attention on a press conference.

Byron sensed her nervousness and appeased her.

Many reporters were already there when they arrived at the press conference venue. They surrounded Andrius, asking questions.

Noticing Byron and Rosalie getting out of the same car, the reporters changed their target and dashed toward the couple.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1612-Rosalie was startled upon seeing this.

The first thing Byron did was to protect Rosalie behind him as he faced the reporters expressionlessly.

“President Lawrence, can you tell us what’s your relationship with Miss Jacobs now? Are you two planning to get married again?” “Dr. Jacobs, why did you leave President Lawrence back then?”

Questions after question struck them.

Their ears were bombarded with the chatters.

Rosalie frowned, displeased with those questions.

Today was a press conference about their cooperation, but these people kept asking personal questions.

As if sensing her mood, Byron said coldly, “Sorry, today’s press conference is for the business corporation. There’ll be a Q and A session later. I’m not going to answer any questions right now.”

Then, he held Rosalie as he walked into the venue.

Andrius also rushed over, and they protected Rosalie as they took her to the table.

Three people of them took their seats.

Camera flashlights were flashing at them.

The conference was broadcast live online.

The comment section of the live broadcast platform was in an uproar when they saw Byron and Rosalie.

[Dr. Jacobs is so beautiful! I want to marry both of them!] [Stop dreaming! President Lawrence and Dr. Jacobs are a perfect match.

Look! They even wore couple's suits. I'm envious of their relationship!] [Dr. Jacobs could cooperate with President Lawrence because of her ability. Her appearance and skills are a perfect match for President Lawrence. It's great to see such a couple!]

The comments were all praising Rosalie.

When the netizens saw Byron and Rosalie signing the contract, they commented with words of praise.

Off the screen, Melody learned from Benedict that Lawrence Corporation would sign an agreement with the research institute Rosalie worked in. She seemed to not care about it, but she still watched the live broadcast on time.

Melody's expression turned gloomy upon seeing her son and Rosalie wearing matching attires.

"Are they working or dating? Look at the comments! Does anyone care about the cooperation?"

Benedict glanced at the screen and agreed. "What they said is right.

Rosalie is indeed better than Wendy."

Melody glared at Benedict, saying, "It must be that Jacobs woman who suggested Byron wear the matching suits. I'm sure she instigated Byron to agree to the cooperation too."

Otherwise, a research institute like Rosalie's would not be qualified to cooperate with Lawrence Corporation.

Benedict disagreed. "Even if you don't believe in Rosalie, you should trust your son. He wouldn't do things emotionally. As for their suits..."

He pondered momentarily and said confidently, "I think Byron was the one who suggested they wear the suits."

He had been in business for years and could see Rosalie's awkwardness on stage.

Though she tried hard to present herself with dignity, she occasionally glanced at her suit unnaturally.

Wearing the suit must be disturbing her.

Benedict smiled and shook his head upon thinking of this.

His son might have overdone things a little this time.

Hearing her husband speaking up for Rosalie and the praise in the comments about Rosalie made Melody uncomfortable. She diverted the topic.

"Enough of watching the live broadcast. Chloe and her family are visiting us today. Get dressed and prepare to welcome them. We have not met for years, and I wonder what Chloe is doing now."

The Lincoln family was also the Lawrence family's acquaintance. Their family was a magnate in the luxury items field and had migrated to Europe a few years ago.

Chloe Lincoln was the Lincoln family's only daughter. She was two years older than Byron. They were also considered childhood friends.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1613-Chapter 1613
Nothing To Do With Lancer Family

At the same time, Old Master Lancer also saw the live broadcast.

He doubted his ears when Byron announced that the Lawrence family would cooperate with Rosalie's research institute and supply medicinal materials to the research institute with the cooperation of the Quirke family.

He left the TV on and asked someone to get Xander.

"Grandpa, why did you call me over?"

Xander was confidently waiting for Rosalie to give in. Thus, he did not think much when Old Master Lancer called him over.

However, just as he walked in, he saw the live broadcast on the TV, and his smile faded.

“Let me ask you, how far has our cooperation with Dr. Jacobs gone?” Old Master Lancer was still hoping for some luck.

The press conference was broadcasted live on TV.

Xander knew he could hide it no more and could only make it sound less serious. “As you have seen, it didn’t go smoothly.”

Hearing this, Old Master Lancer slammed his walking cane on the ground.” How bad is it? Is it so bad that Dr. Jacobs needs to get supplies from other companies?”

Some time ago, he heard that Rosalie’s institute had developed a new drug that would be available soon.

The old master even considered visiting the research institute to take a look, but Xander stopped him.

He did not think much back then.

After all, Lancer Corporation had been developing well under Xander’s leadership for many years. Thus, he thought the cooperation of their company with Rosalie’s research institute would not go wrong.

However, half a month had passed since then.

Not only did Old Master Lancer not receive any news of Lancer Corporation’s cooperation with Rosalie, but he also saw Rosalie collaborating with some other company. The press conference was even aired live.

Xander looked at his grandfather’s angry expression and Byron and Rosalie’s matching suits. Anger grew in him as he looked at the intimate couple.

He never imagined that the woman had found another supplier, and Lawrence Corporation helped her!

Instead of getting what he wanted, he gave a chance to Byron!

“Give me an explanation! What is this?”

Not getting an answer from Xander spiked Old Master Lancer’s anger.

Xander snapped out of his thoughts and pondered before answering. He sounded helpless when he spoke.

“Grandpa, I’ve tried my best. However, with Byron helping Dr. Jacobs, she refused to give in on the profit of the drug and had been making things difficult for us! We couldn’t cooperate with her anymore because of this!”

Old Master Lancer snapped. “Why didn’t you tell me when something like this happened?”

Xander glanced at his grandfather and was annoyed deep down. However, he still spoke respectfully, “After the negotiation before this, Dr. Jacobs told me she had to think about it, and I never expected she would look for some other suppliers.”

He frowned and complained to his grandpa, “Dr. Jacobs is a good doctor, but she isn’t a good business partner. She doesn’t even have the basic integrity of being a businesswoman...”

Xander pushed the responsibility to Rosalie.

“Shut up!”

Old Master Lancer slammed his teacup on the table angrily. “Why didn’t you come and ask me if you can’t agree on the interests? I’m old, not dead!”

Lancer Corporation would benefit if Rosalie cooperated with them to produce and sell the new drug.

However, it had nothing to do with Lancer Corporation now.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1614-Xander did not care how angry his grandfather was, but he tried to convince him. “Grandpa, Dr. Jacobs insisted on pricing the drug at 120 bucks each. I don’t think anyone can accept such a low price. This is a losing business.” 1

Old Master Lancer felt his vision turn dark. He almost fainted.

He never expected the heir he had carefully picked to be so interested in profit!

"Is the Lancer family so poor that we need such little profit?" He gasped at his chest and scolded Xander.

Xander hung his head in silence. Although he did not speak, it was enough to show his attitude.

He still thought the deal was a loss and not worth doing.

Old Master Lancer looked at his grandson and felt disappointed. "I chose you as the heir of the Lancer family because I thought you'd understand that the reputation of the Lancer family depends on the benevolence of a doctor, not the profit we make!"

Xander answered gloomily, "I understand."

Old Master Lancer glared at his grandson. "No! You don't! Before this, the Lancer family couldn't produce any new drugs for years. We had a new drug produced because of our partnership with Rosalie, but you blew it!"

The television showed the press conference ending and Rosalie leaving the venue under the protection of three bodyguards as they walked through the group of reporters.

The cooperation between Rosalie and the new suppliers had been made.

Realizing there was no way to change the result, Old Master Lancer shook his head and said, "Forget it. You've lost your path. Leave your job at Lancer Corporation for the time being and go on a free clinic tour. Go and think about why I'm disappointed in you. I'll get someone else to take over the company for now."

Xander's heart skipped a beat upon hearing that decision. He looked at his grandfather in disbelief.

Lancer Corporation could develop into what it was today because of him.

However, his grandfather wanted to get rid of him so easily.

How could he accept that?

Moreover, he had yet to achieve his goal!

Xander suppressed his emotions and apologized to his grandfather, "Grandpa, I know my mistake. I caused this without considering the consequences, but I'm sure there is a way to change Dr. Jacobs's mind! I'll talk to her about this."

Old Master Lancer his head in disappointment. "It's too late now. Don't you see? Now the world knows Dr. Jacobs is cooperating with Lancer Corporation and Quirke Enterprise."

Even if they launched the new drug, it would have nothing to do with Lancer Corporation.

Now, Old Master Lancer only hoped that the news of Lancer Corporation stopping cooperation with the research institute after participating in the research would not leak out.

If it got out, it might affect the reputation of the Lancer family.

“There are hundreds of medicinal materials used in this new drug. Rosalie can’t find all the substitutes so quickly! There must be more she hasn’t found, and she needs to cooperate with Lancer Corporation!”

Xander did not give up.

Looking at his persistent grandson, Old Master Lancer did not want to talk more about it. He shook his head tiredly. “I’m too old to control you. As the heir of a medical family, you care too much about profits, and it might bring you down one day!”

Then, he headed upstairs with the help of his walking cane.

Downstairs, Xander’s gaze turned cold.

He felt his grandfather was getting too old to judge things.

The Lancer family had firm roots now. Lancer Corporation was also a magnate that companies in the industry adored.

However, it was pointless. That was only a worthless reputation.

On the contrary, the Lancer family had to pay for a lot of energy and financial resources every year just to maintain this reputation.

If this continued, the Lancer family would face bankruptcy.

They did not need the reputation anymore!

What the Lancer family needed now was money! All they needed was profit!
