

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1711

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1711-“Sir, are you Old Master Loewe?”

Finally recovering from the shock, Rosalie mentally matched the person in front of her with the photo of the Old Master when he was young.

Old Master Loewe nodded. He asked with concern. “How are you feeling now?”

Rosalie sat up straight respectfully. “Thank you for your concern, sir. I feel better now for the time being. It’s rude of me to sit and greet you like this.”

She tried to get out of bed as she spoke.

The old man waved his hand. “It’s okay, you are a patient. Don’t bother with the formalities.”

He turned to look at Byron. “How did Miss Jacobs wake up? Did some expert develop the antidote?”

Byron pressed Rosalie’s shoulders, made her sit on the bed, and said, “I managed to get some from Xander Lancer, but the dosage was not enough to remove all the toxins in Rosalie’s system. I’m afraid I’ll still need your help for the remaining poison, sir.”

Old Master Loewe nodded knowingly. “Of course.”

He re-emerged from hiatus this time with the sole purpose of helping Rosalie recover. Naturally, he would give his best.

“Just now, Andrius said that you’ve managed to figure out part of the poison, is it true?” Byron asked eagerly, i it will be much easier to develop an antidote if they knew the ingredients of the poison.

Old Master Loewe nodded and shared the results of his analysis with them.

Byron knew nothing about medicine. He had never heard of the herbs mentioned by the old man, so he could only guess that those ingredients were relatively rare.

Rosalie was awe-struck as she listened to the old man’s analysis.

When the old man finished, there was deep admiration in Rosalie’s eyes. She could not help but sigh. “You truly deserve the reputation as the Medicine King of North Atacan.

These herbs aren't particularly rare, but they are rarely used and often overlooked. I am afraid that only you, a true master, would think of it!"

If the old man had not reminded Rosalie of these few herbs, she would have forgotten their existence!

Old Master Loewe shook his head. "Don't get too excited, this is only a part of it. If you want to develop an antidote, you must find all of it."

Those remaining herbs must be listed in the Lancer family's ancient medical books.

Even Old Master Loewe was helpless.

"I remember that you are Quentin Luke's student. You must also have excellent medical skills. Now that you are awake, you would be able to help us find a solution."

Old Master Loewe looked at Rosalie with expectant eyes.

Rosalie just felt ashamed of being praised by the old man. "Compared to you, I am just a fledgling rookie. However, my own life is at stake, so I will do my best."

Her tone became firmer and more professional. "If you don't mind, sir, can you share with me what you've discovered over the past few days? I'm running out of time."

Old Master Loewe nodded in relief to see her getting into action so swiftly. He looked at her with a little more appreciation.

'I have to say, this is one of the most decent doctors I've seen in the past few days!

'What's more, this girl was poisoned.

'For her to remain calm despite her circumstances, her prospects would be limitless!

The two soon began discussing the formula of the poison.

Andrius would occasionally insert one or two of his own opinion.

Byron could only listen on the sidelines, annoyed that he never found time to understand this field earlier.

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1712

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1712-“I would’ve seen the other herbs in the Lancer’s ancient medical books.”

When Old Master Loewe could not figure out the remaining herbs, Rosalie said hesitantly, “I should be able to figure it out according to the clues you gave. Just give me some time.”

Old Master Loewe was surprised to hear that Rosalie had read the Lancer’s ancient medical books. However, he did not show it. “Other herbs were easy to figure out. However, Xander would not concoct the most important materials so simply.”

As long as they cannot figure out that single herb, developing an antidote can only be a dream!

Andrius carefully expressed his speculation.¹¹ I think it isn’t just the herbs that were complicated. Xander was so sure that we couldn’t develop an antidote. Perhaps, he used an unusual method to concoct the poison; that’s why the ingredients were so difficult to distinguish.”

Otherwise, it would never have been such a struggle to find a clue with Old Master Loewe and Rosalie’s medical skills.

The atmosphere in the ward became gloomy. ¹

Old Master Loewe lowered his eyes and thought deeply.

Rosalie frowned her eyes full of thought.

This was a difficult situation, but no one intends to give up.

“Would this help?” Byron took out a small bottle from the side and looked at everyone solemnly.

The three looked at the bottle in his hand, unable to react at once.

Byron explained. “This is the bottle used to hold the antidote. There may be some antidote left in it. I wonder if this helps.’

After feeding Rosalie the medicine, Byron put the bottle away casually.

He did not think much about it at the time.

However, Byron took a chance now, seeing that they were clueless.

"You still have the antidote residue? Why didn't you take it out sooner?" Old Master Loewe questioned him, he felt both relieved yet dissatisfied.

Rosalie's complexion improved too. She stood up for Byron. "Sir, don't be upset. Byron is not proficient in pharmacology, so he wasn't aware."

Then, she smiled gratefully at Byron. "Thanks to your discretion, these few drops of antidote would be very helpful!"

Andrius echoed. 'To accurately figure out all the components of both poison and antidote from scratch in such a short period of time is difficult. However, if we knew part of the antidote formula and part of the poison formula, the combination of the two would give us a new direction!' i

Based on part of the antidote formula, they could fully deduce the components of the poison!

Everyone present who understood medicine became restless over this idea.

Old Master Loewe urged with a serious face. "It's not too late. Since we have the antidote, we can start analyzing it now!"

Rosalie nodded and agreed. "The hospital's analysis equipment is not complete enough. I should head back to the research institute."

With that said, she was about to get out of bed.

Byron frowned slightly at her being so anxious that she did not even care about her health. "Your current physical condition may not be suitable to move around."

Rosalie's complexion gradually deteriorated as the time for her to take the next dose extended, along with Xander's threat just now.

Byron had no doubt that if Rosalie acts recklessly again, the poison will kick in before tonight!

If that happens, even if they had figured out the formula for the poison, Rosalie might run out of time before the antidote is developed!

"Sister-in-law, I'll go. I understand some pharmacology." Andrius volunteered.

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1713

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1713-Rosalie looked a little apprehensive. "You must be unfamiliar with the instruments in the laboratory, right?"

After all, Andrius has been acting as the person in charge of Quirke Enterprise all these years. He must not quite out of touch with the R&D of Quirke Enterprise for a long time.

At such a juncture, Rosalie dared not take such risks.

Andrius rubbed his nose in embarrassment. "I had no choice. What if I find a reliable technician from our company?"

Rosalie shook her head. "No, I must do this. I don't trust others. Can you understand where I'm coming from?"

Andrius nodded knowingly. 'I understand, this is a life-or-death situation for you, and being meticulous is a given. However..."

He carefully glanced at his buddy.

The look on Byron's face told him that his buddy would never let Rosalie go on her own.

"Xander boldly declared that nobody would be able to decode his poison. He must have played some tricks in terms of the materials and development. I have worked with him for so long, and only I can unravel this!"

Rosalie turned to look at Byron and said earnestly, "If we bow our heads to him tonight, he would do it again. We can't let him continue to be so arrogant. We must end this today!"

Byron knew this too.

However, compared to bowing down to Xander, losing this person in front of him was unbearable!

Old Master Loewe pondered for a long time. When he heard Rosalie insist on going by herself, he spoke up.

"Until the antidote is developed, you'd better stay in the hospital bed and try not to get tired.'

Rosalie felt slightly frustrated over the old master's advice, "But..."

If she had not gone in person, she could not think of anyone that would be able to identify Xander's tricks.

She could not wait any longer.

"If you insist on exhausting yourself, it will only result in an early poison response. Even if you go to Xander for an antidote, I'm afraid it will be too late to save you.

Old Master Loewe's expression was solemn. 'Your blood vessels are hardened. You should know that you are unsuitable for strenuous activity now!'"

A look of astonishment flashed across Byron's eyes.

'Rosalie knew the consequences of forcibly getting out of bed, but she insisted on doing so?'

He raised his hand and pressed Rosalie's shoulder, looking at her with determination in his eyes.

'No matter what, I won't let her get out of bed today!'

Rosalie lowered her eyes guiltily upon Byron's gaze.

"I was thinking, maybe I can develop an antidote before the poison develops, in that case...'

Byron coldly interrupted before she could finish. "Have you ever thought that maybe you are gambling with your own life?"

Rosalie helplessly raised her eyes to meet his gaze. "I just don't want us to live under Xander's blackmail.'

'Byron, in particular, had always maintained his pride and dignity. When has he ever bowed to others?

'This time, because of me, he was ready to sacrifice his marriage.

'Previously, he persisted for six years without compromising on marriage...'

Rosalie thought of everything that transpired and felt as if she had dragged him down. She could not help but blame herself.

She did not want to see Byron bowing down and losing his dignity.

At the same time, she wanted to cut ties with a hypocrite like Xander for good!

"I would rather bow to Xander than lose you." Byron's eyes were dark as he held her hand tightly.

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1714

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1714-Rosalie had no choice but to give up returning in person due to Byron's insistence. So she urgently came up with another plan.

"Miss Wilson's medical skills seemed great too."

Byron frowned. "Could you let her go over and run the tests while you stay on the phone with her?"

If his memory served him well, Mary had always been engaged in the medical field.

She had been with the experts to diagnose and treat Rosalie for the past few days. This was enough to see that she has extraordinary medical skills.

Rosalie still hesitated. "Mae..."

'My best friend's medical skills are indeed good, but pharmacology is her shortcoming.'

She hesitated for a while but could not think of any other way. So, she nodded and agreed. "Alright then. I'll call her now and ask her to go to the research institute."

At worst, Mary could just carry out the test procedures. As for the test results, Rosalie would watch them through the video.

Rosalie made up her mind and called Mary immediately.

The other end quickly picked up. "Rosie, I was just going to visit you! How are you doing now?"

Rosalie did not beat around the bush and immediately cut to the chase. "Mae, could you go to the research institute now? Young Master Quirke will send the antidote over in a while. Please help me test the ingredients in the antidote at the research institute. You don't have to identify all of it but try your best to identify as many components in the antidote as possible."

Although Mary was still in the dark, Rosalie's request sank her heart. She left immediately without asking.

"Alright. I'm leaving right now, call me anytime if you need anything."

Rosalie agreed softly. "Call me after you arrive at the research institute."

Then, she hung up the phone and said to Andrius, "Andrius, I need to trouble you for this."

Andrius took the antidote bottle from her. "We'll get going soon. We will develop the antidote for sure!"

Rosalie smiled at him. Her face was already a little weak.

Andrius did not waste any more time. He ran out of the ward, went downstairs, and drove towards the research institute.

When he arrived at the institute, Mary was already waiting at the door, with Linda by her side. Rosalie had called Linda to assist them.

"Young Master Quirke, what is going on? Why are we studying the components of the antidote now?"

Mary took the antidote bottle and walked towards the laboratory, asking questions on the way.

Andrius' reply was succinct. "The antidote given by Xander yesterday was only a part of it. We would still need to develop the antidote ourselves for a sufficient dosage to neutralize the toxins completely."

Mary was shocked. "What? How could Xander do such a thing? That's too despicable!"

Andrius shared the same anger. "That's right, what a despicable person!"

A sense of dread plagued Mary's heart.

'If this is the case, then Rosie...'

On the side, Linda was in utter disbelief.

Just now, Rosalie only called to ask her to assist with Mary's work.

She did not expect that the matter would be so grim!

"Dr. Jacobs will be fine! She is an excellent doctor. Dr. Luke often commented Dr. Jacobs was his best student when she was abroad!"

Despite her worries, Linda spoke resolutely to cheer everyone up.

At the same time, she prayed silently inside.

'Dr. Jacobs is so kind, please don't let anything happen to her!'

The three walked to the door of the laboratory with heavy hearts.

Mary put away her thoughts, quickly adjusted her emotions, and called Rosalie.

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1715

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1715-Meanwhile, in the ward.

Rosalie was discussing with Old Master Loewe methods to analyze the ingredients of the antidote.

“A single detection method would not be enough, but the amount of the antidote sample is limited. We must come up with several of the most effective detection methods.”

Rosalie’s body had already become weak. Her voice turned floaty and weak after speaking for so long.

Old Master Loewe shared the same worry about this problem.

The two discussed it with serious expressions.

While they discussed several feasible plans, Mary’s call came.

Rosalie quickly picked it up.

“Rosie, I’m here. What do I need to do now?”

On the phone, Mary’s tone sounded heavy.

Rosalie could probably guess that Andrius must have told her about the situation. However, there was no time for consolation. She went straight to the point and explained the plan she discussed with Old Master Loewe.

Mary listened carefully and put forward her own opinion where it was unreasonable.

The three worked together to finally determine three detection methods that would not waste the antidote but could also effectively detect the ingredients of the antidote.

“I just don’t know if there will be the medicinal materials you need in it.”

Mary still could not hold back and sighed with emotion.

Rosalie smiled and comforted her. "We can only do our best so far, thank you for your effort."

Mary knew the urgency of the matter, did not say more, and started to operate silently.

Andrius held up his mobile phone and turned on the video call to let Rosalie and Old Master Loewe watch Mary work through the video.

On the side, Linda clenched her fists nervously, praying in her heart. 1

'The components inside the antidote must be the kind that Dr. Jacobs needs!

'Dr. Jacobs should've accumulated enough good karma from saving so many people!'

"Now we can start the next item. I will check the test results later."

Rosalie spoke softly seeing that the test was over.

As soon as she said that she coughed weakly, and her body began to ache.

Rosalie supported her body and watched as Mary continued her procedures.

Old Master Loewe noticed the change in Rosalie's condition and turned his head to glance at the instrument that monitors her vital signs by the hospital bed.

When he saw the values on the screen, he looked at the person on the hospital bed with complicated emotions.

'The antidote she took must have been spent, and she had begun to deteriorate rapidly.

'From the numbers, she must be in great pain now, but she still held on to her work.

'This perseverance is rare, i

'However, I'm not sure how long she can last.'

At the same time, Byron also noticed that Rosalie was becoming increasingly sick. His heart became heavier.

However, he was even more aware of the importance of her job now. He could only stand aside silently, with growing resentment towards Xander in his heart!

'The audacity of that *sshole to play tricks on us again and again, causing my little woman to suffer such pain!

'After Rosalie recovers, I'll make Xander pay a hundred thousand times more for this!'

Although the three people in the lab did not have time to look at the screen, they could hear the changes just by listening to her voice.

As Rosalie's voice became weaker and weaker, their hearts sank as well.

Mary's hands were even trembling slightly.

"Don't worry, Mae. Just don't make any mistakes, and I'll be OK."

Rosalie smiled and comforted Mary. She tried cheering Mary up when she noticed something was off about her.

Mary lowered her eyes and nodded silently. She choked back her tears and tried her best to calm herself down.

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1716

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1716-Time passed by quickly.

Byron asked Luther to deliver lunch, seeing that it was close to noon.

Rosalie and Old Master Loewe were so focused on their work that they had no time to eat.

"Please eat something."

Byron had no choice but to dissuade her. "Even if you don't eat, Old Master Loewe has to eat some."

Hearing this, Rosalie barely took a few seconds to look at Old Master Loewe.

"Sir, I heard from Byron, you must be exhausted after staying up for several days for me. Please eat something, I can keep watch myself."

Old Master Loewe was indeed a little tired and sighed. "I am getting old; my body really can't handle it anymore. Then, you keep an eye on it first."

Rosalie agreed and then stared intently at the phone screen, watching Mary operate.

Old Master Loewe ate lunch beside her.

Byron frowned slightly seeing that she had no plans to eat. He wanted to persuade her but held his tongue when he remembered that she was saving herself now.

He took the lunch box from Luther, sat down beside the hospital bed, and fed her with a spoon.

Rosalie concentrated on her work and took a few seconds to react.

Turning her head to see the man's distressed eyes, Rosalie smiled apologetically.

"It's okay, keep working. You'll still need to eat anyway." Byron looked helpless.

Rosalie didn't have time to shirk and turned to look at the phone screen again.

On the screen, Mary had already put the remaining liquid into the instrument and was waiting for the test result.

After the test came to an end, Rosalie said softly, "It's noon, let's take a break. Linda, please help Mae and Young Master Quirke get some lunch."

Linda quickly agreed.

Everybody on both sides of the screen took a break.

"You young lovebirds have such a great relationship."

As Old Master Loewe had lunch, he could not help but sigh after seeing Byron's attitude towards Rosalie.

Rosalie could not help being taken aback and realized belatedly that she was still being fed like a child by Byron.

She looked into the old man's gratified eyes, then lowered her gaze in embarrassment. She quickly reached out to take the lunch box from Byron's hand.

Byron did not insist. He put the lunch box on the table for her and set the cutlery thoughtfully.

Old Master Loewe's deep voice spoke again. 'This Lawrence kid looks cold; I didn't expect him to be so loving.'

Rosalie's cheeks turned hot. She looked back at Byron with a tender smile.

Six years ago, she would never have imagined that Byron would take care of her like this.

Now that she has finally gotten what she once dreamed of, she must hold on to it firmly.

'I can't allow Xander to make me such a precious thing!'

"Seeing you both like this, if I can't save this little girl today, I'm afraid this kid won't let me off easily."

Old Master Loewe smiled faintly, put the lunch box aside, and looked at Luther. "Please, this young man, give me a ride. I'll go to the research institute to have a look in person."

Luther looked at Byron hesitantly, seeking his approval.

Byron turned to look at Rosalie, waiting for her to make a decision.

"Sir, that's an overstatement. This is my fate, no matter what the outcome. Byron is only worried about me, so he looks a little fierce. Please don't mind him."

Rosalie first subconsciously stood up for Byron, and then gratefully thanked Old Master Loewe. "Sir, thanks for offering to go. I will feel relieved if you keep watch personally."

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1717

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1717-Byron nodded.

Luther respectfully agreed and took Old Master Loewe to the research institute.

Only Byron and Rosalie were left in the ward.

Rosalie said to Mary on the other side of the screen. "Old Master Loewe is already on his way, just follow his instructions later."

Linda had already bought lunch, and the three of them were eating in a hurry.

Mary nodded in agreement, then looked at her worriedly, "Rosalie, are you okay?"

In just a few hours, Rosalie's face was as pale as paper. Her voice was very weak.

Across the screen, Mary could not help worrying about Rosalie because she was unsure what was going on in real time.

Rosalie smiled at her reassuringly. "It's okay, I'm still holding on. Don't worry, I'll be fine."

When speaking, Rosalie's body was aching as she frowned in pain.

Mary was even more worried looking at her appearance, but she also knew that it would be useless to say more now.

The most important thing right now is to find out the antidote formula as soon as possible. To do so, they need to find out the key ingredients of the poison to develop the antidote.

She nodded and promised with a heavy heart. "I won't let anything happen to you. I will help you identify the components of the antidote!"

Rosalie smiled gratefully, "Thank you for your hard work." "I'm Lucian and Nox's, godmother. Even if it's not for you, I'm doing it for them. I'll get angry if you're polite to me!"

Mary pretended to be angry, trying to ease the atmosphere.

With that said, they both smiled.

"Even if the antidote can't be developed in the end, I won't let anything happen to you."

On the side, Byron spoke in a deep voice. His eyes were full of determination.

As his little woman's face looked gravely worse, he too became more afraid to put all his hopes on her.

He had prepared for the worst.

Rosalie turned her head to meet his gaze. Her voice was gentle yet firm. "I won't let you bow your head to others again, so I will save myself today!"

When the people on the other side of the screen heard the couple's conversation, they felt emotionally moved.

With Byron's status, he must have never bowed down to anyone.

However, he was forced to this extent by Xander this time.

This proved the depth of his love for Rosalie.

The more they realized this, the more they felt sorry for this couple.

What did they do wrong?

If one had to put it into words, it was only because Rosalie was outstanding and drew others to covet her.

Byron's eyes were calm as he spoke. "I don't care about that. I can always ask for a payback next time even if I bowed to him this time. I only hope that you can stay by my side."

Rosalie's heart was touched completely. She gradually compromised.

Indeed, these unnecessary insistences seemed small and ridiculous compared to life itself.

As long as she remained alive, they could make long-term plans.

"But, if you go to him again, I'm afraid he won't let you go easily." She looked at the person in front of her apologetically.

Byron pulled her into his arms. "No matter what he wants me to do, as long as I can save you, I will do it. Money, dignity-nothing compares to you."

As Rosalie leaned in his arms, she felt more at ease. "We will cross that bridge if we reach that point, but we haven't, so there's still hope."

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1718

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1718-The two hugged each other tenderly.

On the other side of the screen, they were deeply moved as they watched the couple embrace. No one had the heart to speak out.

Andrius's cell phone vibrated suddenly.

He felt the vibration and hurriedly exited the laboratory. He took out his mobile phone in the corridor to take a look.

It was Andrea's call.

Andrius knew that she disliked Rosalie, and she helped find Medicine King Loewe because of his request.

'I wonder why she is calling at this time?'

He hesitated for a while, then frowned and picked it up.

“Brother, are you in the hospital now?”

Andrea’s voice rang out as soon as he picked up.

It had been several days since the Medicine King arrived in Coast City, but there had been no news since.

Alistair contacted Medicine King Loewe several times but did not get any useful information. So, he made Andrea ask her brother to get some updates on the situation.

Andrius was even more puzzled when his sister mentioned the hospital. “Why do you ask?”

Andrea said, “How’s Dr. Jacobs doing now? Is she awake?”

Andrius frowned. “Since when did you care about her so much? Don’t tell me you’ve changed just because I said a few words to you.”

On the other end of the phone, Andrea’s eyes flashed with disdain, but her tone was disgruntled.

“I helped her find Medicine King Loewe. Isn’t it normal to care about her? Even if I don’t care about her, I should care about Medicine King Loewe’s situation, right? He hasn’t contacted me these days.”

Andrius only thought that she was asking about Medicine King Loewe, and his suspicions eased a lot.

“You don’t have to worry about that. Old Master Loewe is fine. He was invited by you, so he is a guest of the Quirke family. I will treat him well. Everyone respects him very much.”

Andrea refused to give up. “What do you mean? How’s Dr. Jacobs? It’s been so many days. Hasn’t she gotten better now that even Medicine King Loewe personally came forth?”

Andrius felt heavy in his heart thinking of Rosalie’s current situation. “Old Master Loewe doesn’t conjure miracles. Dr. Jacobs’ current situation still needed help.”

‘Current situation?’

Andrea was very dissatisfied when her brother was not completely truthful with his answer. “What happened? Brother, I’ve contributed a lot, no matter what. Do you still want to put up walls against me?”

She would not be able to explain to Alistair if she did not get a clear answer.

Suddenly, Andrius did not know how to answer her.

On second thought, ‘This is the worst situation Rosalie could be in. Nothing could be worse than this.

‘Moreover, perhaps after telling Andrea, she could still go to that man and figure out a new way.’

With this in mind, Andrius concisely explain the current situation to Andrea.

“Old Master Loewe could not save Dr. Jacobs. Byron went to Xander to get the antidote, but the dosage was only enough to last Dr. Jacobs for a while. Tonight, the antidote’s effect will become invalid. The old gentleman is working with us to develop an antidote.”

Even Andrea couldn’t help but sigh. “What? Xander Lancer is too insidious! How could he come up with such an idea?”

Andrius sighed. “Who would have thought that the dignified heir of the Lancer family would be capable of such a thing?”

Then, as if reminded of something, he told his sister, “If this incident gets out, the reputation of the Lancer family will be ruined completely. You’d better watch out! Be mindful of what to do and what not to do!”

Recommended Novels

Read My Ex-Wife And Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1719

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1719-Andrea became impatient over her brother’s preaching.

‘Let’s see what else he has to say when I become the future Mrs. Murray!’

“Fine. I’ve already gotten Medicine King Loewe to help with treatment, what else do you want from me?”

Andrea’s tone turned harsh when she fantasized about how superior she would become in the future.

From her impatient tone, Andrius realized that his attitude was indeed unbecoming.

'Yes, although my younger sister didn't like Rosalie, she helped her this time anyway. I really shouldn't put her down like this.'

Andrius' tone softened at this moment. "I was wrong, you did Dr. Jacobs and Brother Byron a big favor by enlisting Old Master Loewe's help this time. I will tell Grandpa about it when I go back."

Only then, Andrea was satisfied. "That sounds more like it."

Andrius sighed helplessly.

'There's only one way to appease my little sister- through reward and recognition.'

"Quirke boy, what are you doing outside?"

Old Master Loewe came in and saw Andrius talking on the phone outside. He asked in puzzlement.

Andrius whispered to Andrea and hung up the phone. Then, he greeted the old man respectfully. "Oh, it's nothing. My sister called to ask how everything was."

When Andrea was mentioned, that seemed to remind the old master of something. His brows furrowed slightly. "Your sister isn't too fond of the Jacobs girl, is she?"

Andrius could not help but be taken aback.

Andrea and Rosalie only met once in front of the old man, but the old man saw through it.

He nodded with embarrassment. "Andrea has a slightly stubborn temperament, but she is making a change now."

Old Master Loewe did not say anything more. He only felt strange in his heart.

'Judging from the situation, the relationship between Andrea and Rosalie isn't good. While Alistair has never shown his face at all.

'Why did these two people go through all that trouble to seek me out of hiatus to treat Rosalie?'

The two walked into the laboratory while talking.

Mary had finished lunch and started to operate the instrument again.

As the old man walked in, Mary paused and greeted him respectfully. "Sir, you're back."

Old Master Loewe nodded to her, motioning for her to continue while he watched from the side.

Every minute and every second passed by. Some molecular formulas gradually began to appear on the display.

For some ingredients, even Old Master Loewe needed a moment before he could think of a complementing material to match its qualities.

On the other side of the phone screen, the experts also brought yesterday's blood test results.

Rosalie looked at the thin piece of paper, frowning in thought.

The two studied for a whole afternoon, but they were both stuck on one of the herbs.

The old man stared at the molecular formula on the screen and muttered to himself. "This herb... Among the components in the poison that have been analyzed so far, none of them needed this herb to counteract its toxins.

Moreover, the molecular formula on the screen was clearly doctored. It was impossible to use this herb in the prescription.

However, Xander used it in Rosalie's antidote...

Meanwhile, at Quirke Mansion.

After Andrea hung up the phone, she began to dress up.

She spent more than an hour putting on makeup, then another half an hour trying on clothes. Only then, she was finally satisfied and went to the villa in the suburbs to meet

Alistair.

These things only needed to be explained on the phone.

However, Andrea had other plans, so she tried every means to meet Alistair.

Recommended Novels