Chapter 1433[809 words]

Chapter 1433

Alessandra's voice came through the phone again, snapping Emmanuel back to reality with a slight start.

Should he tell her about this?

"Mom, I'm at a banquet right now, so it's not convenient to discuss this topic.

Let's talk about it next time! There's progress with Roselynn here, and I'll update you later."

Emmanuel decided not to tell Alessandra for now. He needed to confirm things first, or it could cause trouble.

"All right. Even if you don't want to talk about it, you can hold on the line."

Alessandra then mentioned something else. "Your Uncle Benny's family is starting a company in Onza, and they've bought a big house for weekend gatherings. I'll visit Onza to see you and Mackenzie!"

"Starting a company and buying a big house?"

Emmanuel was surprised to hear this news.

Although Benny's family had been in business for many years, it was mostly small ventures. Making a few million a year was already a stretch. Now they were starting a company?

And not in Yeringham, but in Onza?

“Yes, it’s truly a blessing from our ancestors. The Lowe families are doing well and thriving!”

Alessandra was a kind-hearted person, and she was genuinely happy to hear this news. Even though Benny had always looked down on her in the past and even refused to lend her money, they were still family. She didn’t hold grudges.

“All right. We’ll go visit them together when the time comes.”

Emmanuel had no plans for the weekend, either. However, his uncle’s housewarming was also a joyous occasion for the Lowe family, so he had to attend and show his support!

Meanwhile, Julian finally caught up with Roselynn and, in a moment of desperation, grabbed her hand.

“Roselynn, are you angry?”

“No! Why would I be angry?”

Roselynn turned to Julian with a forced smile. “It’s just too crowded in the banquet hall, so I came out to get some fresh air.”

“I don’t care if you’re angry or not. There’s something I suddenly want to say.”

4/8

Julian said earnestly, “I won’t take photos for that woman just now or anyone else. From now on, I only want to take photos for you.”

Boom!

The unexpected confession struck Roselynn’s heart.

How could this man say such things out of the blue?

Wasn’t it cheesy?

Coincidentally, as the banquet was about to begin, Althea walked arm in arm

“Oh! Isn’t that Julian?”

A woman exclaimed, “So Julian has found a girlfriend?”

Another middle-aged man smiled. “Julian has good taste. His girlfriend looks healthy and attractive!”

“Yes. She’s quite decent-looking.”

“He’s finally off the market. Congratulations. I never thought he would choose this woman...”

Despite the flattering words from those around her, Althea was not pleased.

On the contrary, her gaze grew colder.

She knew that these people actually looked down on Roselynn. If they really thought highly of her, they would use more extravagant words instead of such perfunctory and polite compliments.

“Let’s go. The banquet is about to start!”

In the end, Althea put away her anger and invited a group of relatives and friends to take their seats.

But her demeanor did not escape Cindy’s eyes!

After taking their seats, Cindy specifically walked over to Althea’s table and struck up a conversation. “Aunt Althea, what’s the deal with Julian and Ashton? Did they choose their own boyfriends and girlfriends? As elders, shouldn’t you be keeping an eye on them?”

Althea raised her eyes slightly and asked Cindy, “What do you mean?”

The faces of Althea and her husband had already darkened when they heard Cindy's words.

The guests seated near Cindy's table all sensed her need for more.

conversational finesse. The way she spoke at this event showed that she didn't respect the host.

Regrettably, she displayed a lack of emotional intelligence. Otherwise, she would not have openly ridiculed Ashton's partner moments ago based on her personal beliefs.

She continued to be outspoken at that moment. "Ashton is dating a dead-end traditional medicine practitioner, but I won't dwell on that. Have you seen the women Julian associates with? Not only is she a commoner, but she also appears to be past her prime. Is a woman of her caliber deserving of Mr. Summerton's esteemed reputation?"

As soon as these words were spoken, the people around started to clamor, and many of them whispered with lowered heads.

Althea's expression was extremely ugly. Although she also thought so, it was embarrassing for Cindy to say so publicly!

At this moment, Emmanuel and Roselynn happened to regroup and sat together at a table for miscellaneous guests at the back.

Cindy happened to see the two of them and intensified her speech, saying with exaggerated gestures, “Oh my, look, your daughter’s boyfriend and your son’s girlfriend are actually in cahoots! Do you think they’ve drugged your children? Doesn’t this make them despicable criminals? Are they also part of the same organization?”

Hearing these voices, Zaiden’s face turned red with anger. He was almost about to explode.

Cindy was the kind of woman who couldn’t stop talking and acted foolishly.

She thought she was the center of attention and wanted to continue to speak.

Unexpectedly, at this moment, a shout suddenly came from behind. “Have Cindy quickly turned around to see Julian with a dark face, and her body couldn't help but tremble involuntarily.

Dear Lord! Is this the usually gentle and artistic Julian?

At the sight of Julian like this, the people around also thought they had mistaken another person for Julian.

Even more unexpectedly, the next moment, Julian actually raised his hand and slapped Cindy in the face!

3/8

“Ah-” Cindy screamed in disbelief, looking at the man in front of her in shock.

Is this the gentle little boy I had watched growing up? You dared to slap me!

The people around were also dumbfounded. Today, Julian was a stark

Although the banquet hall was large, the focus was on the front row. Julian's actions had alarmed the entire banquet hall.

Roselynn looked at Julian's back, having mixed feelings.

First, she felt shocked.

Second, she felt burdened.

Chapter 1434 Not His Usual Self

Third, she felt moved.

1 5/8

She actually didn't want to be with Julian because she would face a lot of pressure in the future, but she felt it was too cruel to let Julian down. I can't do it!

"I'm sorry. I was rude!"

After slapping Cindy, Julian didn't stay in the banquet hall but apologized to the surrounding guests and left the scene, not wanting to be the center of attention.

"Julian!" Althea wanted to call him back and talk to him properly, but her son simply didn't listen to her.

At this moment, a servant pushed in the wheelchair-bound Old Mr.

Summerton, diverting everyone's attention.

The guests greeted Old Mr. Summerton one after another. Some even nodded and bowed, showing the respect this old man commanded in Onza.

“What just happened? Why did Julian suddenly leave?” Old Mr. Summerton asked after arriving at the main banquet table.

“Dad, this-

Zaiden didn’t know how to answer his father, and from his expression, it could be seen that he was quite respectful of his father, who was already disabled.

“Speak!” Old Mr. Summerton angrily slapped the armrest of his wheelchair, giving Zaiden pressure.

“Old Mr. Silverbane, let me explain to you instead.”

At this time, Aidan’s voice suddenly came from behind.

“Mr. Tanner, it’s you?”

Old Mr. Summerton also recognized this descendant of the Tanner family.

Although Emmanuel was quite far from the front row of the banquet, he could still see this scene very clearly. It seemed that the Summerton family had quite a close relationship with the Tanner family of Onza, and Old Mr. Summerton seemed to be somewhat wary of Aidan.

When Old Mr. Summerton heard this, he turned to look at Zaiden darkly.

Zaiden didn't dare to meet his gaze.

Even Emmanuel could see that Julian's demeanor was like his father's, which was naturally gentle, but when Julian was provoked, he released a formidable power. Emmanuel wondered if Zaiden possessed this power as well.

"Old Mr. Summerton, I think there are certain matters that you must personally address. Otherwise, the future of the Summerton family will be uncertain. You're on your own now!"

Aidan's words carried a sense of foreboding, and after delivering his message, he returned to his seat.

"It seems that I will need to delve into the family's affairs after the banquet.

You descendants simply can't put my mind at ease!"

After reprimanding Zaiden, Old Mr. Summerton finally took his seat.

Lexi was also present at the event with her father, Malakai. However, Lexi remained silent.

2/8

Observing the interaction between her grandfather and Aidan, Lexi inwardly sighed. It seemed that the Quillen family would have a hard time establishing a good relationship with the Summerton family. She was afraid of being caught in the middle in the future with neither side pleased!

Once Old Mr. Summerton took his seat, the banquet officially started.

12:35 Thu, 11 Apr

Chapter 1435 Presenting Gifts

Old Mr. Summerton's birthday celebration was filled with ceremonial significance, seeing that he was from the prestigious Summerton family. The first segment naturally consisted of the presentation of gifts and well wishes!

"Representative of Outstanding Enterprises presents a hand-painted scroll by Master Fuda. He wishes Old Mr. Summerton a long life!"

"The Silverbane family of Onza presents a pair of intricately carved jade peaches, wishing Old Mr. Summerton good health!"

"The Eissen family of Gratz presents..."

Each company or family representative presented their gifts. Since the emcee was announcing the gifts, Roselynn felt anxious. Although the prices of these gifts were not disclosed, attendees would discuss their approximate

After the first round where over a dozen gifts were presented, the lowest value exceeded 70,000, while the highest likely reached several hundred thousand or even millions!

It was undeniable that the gifts received at this prestigious family's birthday celebration were worth what an ordinary individual's ancestors might have struggled for generations to achieve!

Roselynn keenly sensed the disparity between her and Julian's social standing, so she also understood her mother and family's reservations about their relationship.

Their backgrounds were vastly different, making it seemingly impossible for her to integrate into the Summerton family. Even if she managed to do so, their future together would be fraught with challenges.

However, Julian's unwavering love for her and his silent sacrifices left her torn, unsure of what to do.

"The Tanner family of Onza is incredibly generous, aren't they?"

"They presented an antique from the ancient times, valued at 4 million!"

"It's obvious that the Tanner family and the Summerton family have deep connections."

"But I heard previously that the Summerton family had disagreements with the Tanner family. Wasn't there some discord?"

The surrounding exclamations and discussions brought Roselynn, who had been lost in thought, back to reality.

Hearing these remarks only intensified her discomfort. Julian had actually stood against the Tanner family to assist her and the Quillen family. If the attendees discovered later that she was merely a commoner, she didn't want to think about the backlash they would direct at her.

She wasn't concerned about herself, having endured the netizens' attacks and insults before.

Instead, she was worried about Julian, who should not have to endure the pressure and defamation on her behalf!

"Roselynn, it's our turn to present the gift. Julian is also watching you!"

Emmanuel's reminder caused Roselynn to tremble slightly.

Following Emmanuel's gaze, she noticed that Julian had returned to the main banquet table and was smiling at her.

He clearly desired Roselynn to make a dignified appearance in front of his family, formally introducing her to them!

"I think we should just forget about it..."

Roselynn, who was usually bold, was now contemplating withdrawing.

Firstly, she felt that her gift was inadequate. It was a pill that they made themselves.

Secondly, while she had pondered the idea, she had not yet committed to formally meeting Julian's family. She was torn between desire and fear.

"Roselynn, do you think this is fair to Julian? Even if you see him as just a friend, you should still present a gift to his grandfather today, shouldn't you?"

Emmanuel reprimanded her.

Ultimately, Roselynn took a deep breath, nodded, and stood up.

In fact, one of the biggest regrets in his life was that Roselynn caught him cheating and dumped him before he could take her virginity.

That was why he couldn't help but feel a bit jealous seeing her with another man.

Why should a woman he couldn't have been taken by

He didn’t care about anything else!

“Julian, it’s you who should shut up! Sit down!”

Althea couldn’t bear it any longer and gave Julian a sharp look. She wished she could tie him up and shut his mouth to prevent him from further embarrassing himself.

As the sole heir of the Summerton family, he was willing to risk everything for a commoner, squandering the hundred years of glory and reputation of the Summerton family.

“Enough. All of you, be quiet!”

Old Mr. Summerton simultaneously called out to the two of them.

As a respected figure in Onza, both outsiders and members of the Summerton family were afraid of him.

Althea and Julian dared not continue speaking when they heard him.

“Miss, your surname is Lowe, right? That’s a rare surname.

I don’t recall many people in Onza having that surname.”

Old Mr. Summerton continued to speak to Roselynn in public, his brow furrowed as if contemplating something.

“Yes, our surname is ranked after the top one hundred surnames. We are from Hero’s Village on the border of Yeringham.”

6/9

Chap 106 Where Are You From?

Roselynn also respected Old Mr. Summerton. Since he had brought it up, she would entertain him.

“Oh, Hero’s Village?”

Upon hearing this name, the elderly man’s eyes lit up and he said with excitement, “I’ve heard of this village.

There are a lot of families in Hero's Village. Many heroes who returned from the battlefield later settled in that village!"

Roselynn smiled and said, "Yes, my Grandpa was one of the heroes who retired from the battlefield."

With that said, the crowd split into two groups again.

Some people respected the heroes and their descendants, so they applauded naturally.

Yet, people like Hazel and Cindy sneered and mocked Roselynn for showing off. This hypocrite was just trying to elevate herself!

"Alright, let me see what gift you prepared for me."

Roselynn also understood the protocol. The others didn’t wrap their presents, unlike her, so she had to reveal her gift.

As soon as the longevity pill was mentioned, the discussion at the scene became louder.

“What exactly is this longevity pill? I’ve never heard of it before.”

“Does it promise a hundred years of life if you eat it?”

“It sounds so fancy. Is it a scam?”

Upon hearing these remarks, Althea couldn’t stay calm.

She felt embarrassed that her son loved such a woman.

Even her gift was a subject of ridicule

Oh, the longevity pill? Does it truly possess such remarkable effects? I must see this for myself!

They couldn't tell if Old Mr. Summerton was anticipating or skeptical as he instructed the gift to be unwrapped.

Instantly, a potent medicinal aroma permeated the air.

"Goodness, what is that smell? It's overpowering! The entire banquet hall is filled with it!"

"It smells like... excrement."

"How could someone present such a thing? Is it even edible?"

A group of people quickly covered their noses.

To be fair, Roselynn didn't believe they were targeting her by doing that. Although the initial smell was truly unpleasant, after some time, one could discern the traditional medicinal scent, which was not nauseating.

On the contrary, it had a bittersweet quality!

"That's enough!"

Althea couldn't bear it any longer. She marched up to the platform, seized the pill from the servant's hand, and flung it to the ground. Then, she stepped on it.

Everyone was stunned!

What level of animosity must exist between them for Althea to trample on a gift given by a guest?

She was undoubtedly humiliating Roselynn in public!

With a strained voice, all her anger and bias were unleashed on Roselynn.

Not only that, but she also casually kicked her foot, and the pill stuck to her shoe flew accurately into a nearby

In a different scenario, Roselynn would have undoubtedly retaliated if treated in such a manner. However, she chose to remain silent this time and merely clenched her fist.

She didn't wish to cause further harm to Julian, but his family was treating her like this. How could she be with him now?

Perhaps they could not even be friends in the future, and she had to cut off ties with him!

Observing this, Julian wanted to rush up and confront his mother immediately, but Zaiden anticipated it and had someone restrain him. If Julian instigated a confrontation between Roselynn and Althea in public, the reputation of the Summerton family would be destroyed, and the entire city would mock them!

"How disgraceful!"

Emmanuel, who was in the audience, could not bear it any longer. Witnessing Roselynn being mistreated, he rose from his seat to confront Althea.

Ashton and Lexi also believed Althea had gone too far and wanted to follow Emmanuel to give her a piece of Unexpectedly, an elderly foreign man suddenly rushed excitedly toward the stage, exclaiming loudly, “What a waste! Madam Summerton, how can you squander such a treasure?”

Althea turned her gaze toward the commotion, and just like everyone else, she was rendered speechless!

“This... sigh, it’s already destroyed!”

In front of hundreds of people, Dr. Rob actually

Even Emmanuel didn't expect this!

Firstly, he actually didn't know Rob.

Secondly, he didn't understand why Rob placed so much trust in him.

Thirdly, Rob appeared to be a very distinguished person, and people like him were typically quite refined and paid attention to personal hygiene. Yet, he didn't care about hygiene and directly ate the pill...

Even more surprisingly, a miraculous scene was about to unfold!

After Rob ate the longevity pill, some oily substance quickly seeped out of his body. He appeared very dirty!

However, Rob was incredibly thrilled because he knew that these substances were toxins that had accumulated in his body for many years.

These toxins were typically impossible to expel. Forcibly removing them with Western medicine would be detrimental to health and not worth the risk, but if left to accumulate for too long, it could lead to various illnesses and ultimately death.

Now, by taking one of these miraculous pills, these toxins could be expelled. 7.5 million was definitely a worthwhile investment!

Witnessing this miraculous sight, many people were left speechless!

Would a fantasy novel even dare to write such a scenario?

Yet, it was unfolding right before their eyes, challenging their understanding of medicine!

“Miss Lowe, how many of these pills do you still have? 7.5 million for one. I will purchase as many as you have!”

Rob paid no mind to the oily substance oozing from his body; he was elated as he grasped Roselynn’s hand.

Roselynn appeared slightly disdainful as she glanced at Emmanuel.

Emmanuel chuckled and remarked, “I don’t have any left”

All the Royal Blood Grass had been utilized. Emmanuel had only made three pills. He sold one and still had two left. He was reserving one for his mother and another one for Terence.

Even if he had the opportunity to acquire all the materials again in the future, he would set some aside for his father, mother, and other elders first. Then only would he sell the surplus, if he even had surplus.

“What a pity!”

Rob implored, “If you two make more longevity pills in the future, please remember to inform me at once!”

Emmanuel simply smiled nonchalantly in response. He did not even know this old stranger, so why would he take him seriously?

Observing this, Julian was exceedingly thrilled. Seizing the opportunity while his bodyguard was distracted, he suddenly broke free and rushed onto the stage.

“Mom, did you see that? It is your own fault for underestimating the value. Stop looking down on Roselynn!”

Althea’s face flushed with embarrassment and anger as she was berated in public by her own son.

“Althea, how are you planning to return my gift to me?”

Old Mr. Summerton was also rather furious.

Chapter 1439 The Effects of the Longevity Pill

Who would not desire a longer life? It was meant to be his birthday gift, but because Althea bestowed it upon someone else, he could only be envious from afar.

Even at the very least, selling those pills would still fetch 7.5 million!

The audience also ridiculed Althea for her shortsightedness and squandering valuable items.

At that moment, Althea was at a loss for words and struggled to articulate herself.

Roselynn no longer wished to be the center of attention.

She bowed to Old Mr. Summerton and said, “Then I shall take my leave!”

With that, she promptly exited the stage.

Despite Althea’s embarrassment, she did not feel any better. In fact, she felt even more burdened.

If possible, she did not want to become adversaries with Althea, let alone enemies!

“Roselynn!”

Julian once again disregarded everyone’s attempts to stop him and went after Roselynn as she departed.

The birthday celebration momentarily descended into chaos.

Althea, still brimming with anger, watched Roselynn’s retreating figure with a flushed face, silently gritting her teeth.

At this juncture, she realized she could no longer forcibly restrain Julian, or she would become an even greater laughingstock.

Nevertheless, she vowed never to allow Roselynn to set foot in the Summerton family in the future!

After the gift giving ceremony, Emmanuel and Roselynn departed from the Summerton family's villa.

However, for the Summerton family, the birthday banquet marked just the beginning!

Chapter 1440 The Effects of the Longevity

Following the well-wishes, Old Mr. Summerton exited the banquet hall and proceeded to the inner hall with Zaiden and Althea to greet the important guests who had arrived to visit the Summerton family.

The first guests were from the Silverbane family, with whom they had a marriage alliance.

Bobby did not hesitate and got straight to the point. "Old Mr. Summerton, in addition to offering my congratulations today, I have two matters that require the assistance of the Summerton family!"

Chapter 1440

His words carried a hint of condescension.

Although Old Mr. Summerton didn't display it outwardly, he felt a deep sense of dissatisfaction.

Even though Old Mr. Summerton had long passed on the family business to Zaiden, having previously been the vice president of the Nuthana Chamber of Commerce and on equal footing with Bobby's father, Old Mr.

Summerton found it hard to accept taking orders from Bobby.

However, with the Summerton family's power waning and the successor not measuring up to the previous generation, their strength and status in Nuthana were now inferior to the Silverbane family. Old Mr. Summerton knew he had to bide his time.

"Mr. Silverbane, please inform me of the assistance you require."

"Very well, I'll get straight to the point."

Bobby was even more direct now. "Firstly, I need the Summerton family's cooperation to secure victory in the Nuthana Grand Martial Showdown and build a strong reputation."

Before Zaiden could interject, Old Mr. Summerton signaled for him to remain silent.

“The second matter is supporting my bid to succeed my father as the new president of the Nuthana Chamber of Commerce in the upcoming election next month,” Bobby 2/8 continued.

“Bobby, what benefits will the Summerton family gain from this?” Althea inquired at once.

The Summerton family will retain the vice president position under my leadership, but obedience is paramount. I assure you that the Summerton family will continue to thrive and prosper.

Bobby’s demeanor grew increasingly proud, positioning himself above the Summerton family and indicating that the Summerton family had to listen to him in the future. Zaiden appeared visibly displeased.

Old Mr. Summerton remained silent, nodding in acquiescence.

“If the Summerton family chooses not to cooperate, your position will not be secure once I become the president. Consider your options carefully!” Bobby concluded before leaving.

“Dad, Bobby is so arrogant! If we refuse to cooperate and prevent him from becoming president, I wonder how he plans to handle us!”

Zaiden, a man of strong character, felt deeply offended by Bobby’s words and was reluctant to comply.

“Zaiden, remember what I’ve always told you? Some thoughts are best left unspoken!”

Old Mr. Summerton promptly reminded Zaiden.

While Zaiden wasn’t wary of Althea, Old Mr. Summerton understood that a woman’s loyalty often lay with her maiden family. If their intentions were revealed to Bobby, it could inadvertently cause offense.

Althea remained silent at that moment.

Shortly after, Aidan entered with his entourage.

“Hello, Old Mr. Summerton. Did Bobby just request your assistance in securing victory and supporting his bid to become the president of the chamber of commerce?”

Aidan’s words were more blunt and less restrained compared to Bobby’s.

“Aidan, what brings you here today?”

Zaiden, mindful of the situation, chose not to respond directly to Aidan’s question and instead posed one of his own.

Aidan showed little interest in their response, displaying more arrogance than Bobby. “I am here to challenge the Summerton family. The Tanner family is determined to win the Grand Martial Showdown and claim the presidency of the Nuthana Chamber of Commerce.

You’d better know what’s good for you. Don’t you dare support the Silverbane family and go against us!”

“What?” Zaiden exclaimed with surprise. He had not expected that the Tanner family would have such

Chapter 1443 Want Your Support ambitions.

“Mr. Tanner, do you truly believe everyone will elect you as president?” Zaiden couldn’t help but question.

Bobby was the eldest son of Stanley, the current president. If Stanley were to step down, it would be surprising if Bobby were the next president. What made.

the Tanner family think they could become president?

In terms of assets, influence, connections, and power, what leverage could they possibly have over the Silverbane family?

In the eyes of the Summerton family, they were merely pawns of the Tanner family of Zovince.

“I knew you would underestimate us, so I came to remind you.”

Aidan smirked triumphantly. “We now have the backing of the Airspace Group. If we win the Grand Martial

Showdown championship, which will boost our reputation and influence, the presidency will surely belong to the Tanner family!”

“What? The Airspace Group?”

This time, it was the more composed Old Mr. Summerton who exclaimed, as he had a better understanding of the Airspace Group than Zaiden.

After reprimanding the Summerton family, Aidan departed.

Old Mr. Summerton promptly asked Althea to leave so that he could speak to Zaiden privately.

“Zaiden, it appears that Onza is on the brink of another significant upheaval, with various factions vying for power. As the current head of the Summerton family, what are your thoughts?”

“Dad, well-”

Chapter 1441 Another Guest

Zaiden appeared somewhat uneasy, as he was not significantly different from Julian himself. Inheriting the Summerton family was more of a last resort for him, as he lacked ambition and interest in power struggles.

Now faced with his father’s sudden inquiry, he was unsure how to respond.

Old Mr. Summerton sighed. He knew his son better than anyone, and he refrained from pressing him further, but he needed to ascertain Zaiden’s stance on one matter.

“Julian has affections for Roselynn, who reportedly has ties to the Quillen family of Yeringham. Disregarding Althea's opinions, what are your plans?"

Confronted with this query, Zaiden sighed once more,

but this time, he voiced his perspective. "As Julian's loves, but the Silverbane family cannot accept a him."

Old Mr. Summerton nodded, but he was more burdened compared to Zaiden.

Being more informed than Zaiden, he understood that the Lowe family of Hero's Village was not truly of humble

Zaiden left the villa with Althea, returning to their city earlier and disappeared.

Just as Old Mr. Summerton thought that the day was over, the butler hurriedly informed him, “Sir, there is a woman outside claiming to be a representative of the Airspace Group and requesting to see you!”

“Airspace Group?”

Old Mr. Summerton was secretly surprised, realizing that this faction had begun infiltrating the major powers in Chanaea swiftly, and their grand ambitions would soon be revealed.

“Please show her in.”

“Of course!”

Chapter 1441 Another Guest

Following the butler’s departure, a woman dressed in purple swiftly entered.

The woman, appearing to be in her early thirties, exuded elegance and dignity. She was clearly a prominent figure.

Her aura and demeanor were truly remarkable.

“Esteemed guest, I apologize for not being able to welcome you in person just now.”

Old Mr. Summerton greeted her with the utmost respect.

“Old Mr. Summerton, you are too gracious. It is I who have intruded, causing you inconvenience!”

The woman's demeanor was a stark contrast to Aidan's, despite her superior status. One could say that Aidan was merely a pawn in her game.

"What brings you here, esteemed guest?" Old Mr. Summerton inquired.

"I do not wish to overstate my importance. My name is Yasmine Morgan, and I am the international chief consultant of Airspace Group. Today, I am here to extend birthday wishes to Old Mr. Summerton and to explore potential collaboration opportunities with the Summerton family," the woman said with a smile. She had already presented the 15-million-dollar birthday gift, but she chose to keep it understated. To a true elite, 100,000 dollars was just like 1 dollar to an ordinary person.

"Ah, another opportunity for collaboration?"
