Chapter 1442

Old Mr. Summerton appeared pleasantly surprised. “I’m afraid the Summerton family is too small to be useful to international giants!”

Yasmine smiled. “The Summerton family has been a noble lineage in Chanaea for a century. If even the Summerton family is considered small, then there may not be any major families in Chanaea!”

Hearing this, Old Mr. Summerton was rather surprised, and he burst into laughter. “Please refrain from mocking the Summerton family further. Chanaea has long abolished the aristocracy system. Our family is simply a fading ancient lineage, devoid of real influence now!”

Yasmine disregarded his humility and stated bluntly, “The covert Summerton family still commands numerous armed forces, possessing formidable military might! Your family in Onza also maintains extensive partnerships with weapon manufacturers. Who would dare underestimate you? We at Airspace Group are interested in acquiring some of your clandestine factories. Perhaps you could opt to supply us with advanced weaponry?"

Old Mr. Summerton's expression turned serious as he responded, "I have distanced myself from the affairs of the Summerton family for many years. Approaching me for such matters is futile!"

"Well, shall I seek out your son then? Or your grandson? Do you believe they are capable? I've heard that your grandson lacks the courage to marry the woman he loves!" Yasmine remarked unabashedly.

After a moment of contemplation, just as Yasmine was about to depart, Old Mr. Summerton called out to her.

"Wait. Let me think about this!"

Yasmine's lips curved up slightly. "Then I'll give you until the end of the Grand Martial Showdown to think about it, Old Mr. Summerton. If you decline, I might consider collaborating with the Tanner family, though that could be troublesome!"

Responding to the potent threat, Old Mr. Summerton couldn't help but inquire, "Do you also have ties with the Tanner family of Zovince? What exactly is your agenda?

Are you aiming to disrupt the current global order?”

Whether it was Teddy or the Airspace Group, both wielded immense power capable of toppling nations. If they were indeed colluding behind the scenes, it wouldn’t monumental!

However, Yasmine simply sneered. “I’m sorry, I can’t disclose that information!”

With that, she sauntered away.

Meanwhile, Emmanuel returned home to find the Quillen sisters engrossed in their tasks.

Now that the branch company was established, there were many things, both significant and trivial, requiring their attention.

“Emmanuel, you’re back? You might be in a predicament!” Beatrix whispered to him.

Emmanuel’s expression froze instantly, and he forced a smile. “What mischief are you up to now, Beatrix?”

Beatrix stuck out her tongue and suggested, “Go into Mackenzie’s room and come clean!”

Emmanuel had no choice but to take Beatrix's advice.

When had his relationship with Mackenzie become so delicate?

Nonetheless, he went into Mackenzie's room.

During his conversation with his mother on the phone.

earlier, a thought had crossed his mind. Was Mackenzie pregnant? It was a good opportunity to find out.

"Back so soon?" Mackenzie seemed more cheerful today, focusing on her work on the screen with a serious expression as she spoke to Emmanuel.

"Yes, I'm back." Emmanuel nodded and broached the topic of Roselynn and Julian.

To his surprise, Mackenzie cut to the chase. "Why did

"Well, you see-" Emmanuel was caught off guard, realizing this was the pressing issue.

"I just don't understand. With so many men available, why did she come to you?" Mackenzie finally shifted her gaze from the screen to him.

She didn’t wish to prolong the silent treatment because she found it draining. So, she decided to address the matter directly and convey her stance.

Although Emmanuel didn’t want her to become upset, he knew it was better for her to express her feelings rather than keep them bottled up. He quickly explained, “I was taken by surprise when she asked me to cover for her.

I’m sorry! I should have declined right away!”

Mackenzie sighed and clarified, “I wasn’t specifically investigating you, and it’s not that I don’t trust you. Lexi, who was also at the party, informed me about it!”

Emmanuel nodded, not blaming Lexi. On the contrary, having someone like her looking out for Mackenzie made him feel reassured.

“Mackenzie, I was wrong. I promise I won’t cover for anyone else in the future!”

Emmanuel approached Mackenzie and apologized.

Now that the misunderstanding was resolved, the frustration that had been building within Mackenzie instantly dissipated. She responded, “You know, I actually believe you. If you had informed me earlier, I would have agreed. After all, Ashton has assisted us in the past!”

She truly did not want to restrain Emmanuel in his interactions with others. It did not align with her beliefs about love.

“Thank you, Mackenzie.” Emmanuel also smiled contentedly. He had always known that Mackenzie was not overly dependent, despite her occasional temper.

Mackenzie glared at him, as if to convey, “Why are you thanking me? This was always your right.”

“By the way, Mackenzie, have you been feeling unusually tired lately? If you are experiencing any symptoms, tell your energy,” Emmanuel said warmly as he approached her.

Mackenzie was genuinely touched. This man finally knew.

how to take care of her. She wanted to confide in him, but then a sudden thought crossed her mind and she said, “Let’s set that aside for now. I have a question for you.”

Emmanuel was taken aback and asked with a smile,

“What is it?”

“Were you previously a soldier in the Northern Region?”

Mackenzie cut to the chase. Her gaze was piercing, leaving no room for Emmanuel to deceive her.

She had refrained from pressing Emmanuel before, but she had always been uncertain. Now that she was carrying his child and they were in this together, what secrets could he possibly keep from her?

Emmanuel noticed her gaze and grew anxious once more!

“Didn’t I already answer this question?” Emmanuel’s smile seemed somewhat strained. “I did serve in the Northern Region army.”

“Were you part of the Wolf Warrior unit? Otherwise, how did you know that those individuals were not affiliated with the Wolf Warrior unit that night?” Mackenzie launched her attack. If Emmanuel was not truthful, she would not tell him about the pregnancy.

Emmanuel sighed ruefully. “Their demeanor did not match that of the Wolf Warrior unit. The Wolf Warrior unit is highly disciplined and would never compromise any information, let alone operate under the Wolf Warrior banner!”

He was subtly hinting at Mackenzie.

As a member of the Wolf Warrior unit, particularly a former captain, he could not divulge any Northern Region secrets. It was his duty!

Mackenzie clenched her fist gently, bit her lower lip, and rose to her feet.

Bang!

She shut the door and instructed Emmanuel, “Stand up!”

Emmanuel complied, appearing bewildered and uncertain of her intentions.

In the next moment, Mackenzie lifted her head and initiated a kiss!

Emmanuel was even more perplexed. He moved to embrace his delicate wife, but Mackenzie suddenly pushed him away with a cold expression.

As astute as she was, she had pieced together the truth.

This man was, in fact, the individual from Yeternia with a wolf mask.

He was the Northern Region Wolf himself!

However, he had hidden this from her all along, and even now, he refused to tell her the truth! Why?

“Mackenzie, what’s the matter?” Emmanuel observed her trembling and approached her swiftly.

However, Mackenzie continued to push him away, preventing him from coming near.

She felt as though she had been fooled!

She had been troubled by the matter of Yeternia from the start, experiencing numerous lows because of it. She never imagined that the man was actually her husband!

She felt foolish!

It was the first time she had felt so defeated!

“I’m fine. Just go!” Mackenzie cut him off.

Although Emmanuel was unsure of what was on her

Seeing Mackenzie resist him so strongly, he decided to give her some space for the time being.

As he was about to leave the room, he turned back and said, “Mackenzie, my mom will be coming to Onza to visit us tomorrow-”

“Yeah, I’m aware. She informed me already.”

Mackenzie nodded, her expression even grimmer than before.

Emmanuel let out a sigh and just said, “Try to get some Mackenzie nodded before shutting the door coldly.

The following day, Mackenzie went to work as usual, but “Ms. Quillen, you have an unexpected visitor.”

“Oh, who is it?” Mackenzie asked right after seeing Lexi’s expression.

Lexi had been her secretary for years, so she knew Lexi well. Normally, Lexi wouldn’t inform her about unannounced visitors unless they were important guests.

“She introduced herself as Yasmine Morgan. The chief consultant of Airspace Group,” explained Lexi before her voice lowered into a whisper. “She also came to Grandpa’s birthday banquet yesterday. You might need to take her seriously.”

Mackenzie sighed softly as her expression turned serious,

Back in Yeringham, Hattie had warned her and Emmanuel about the three formidable organizations

She was also curious about the connection between such a formidable organization and Heart of the Sun.

“Nice to meet you, Ms. Quillen.” Soon, A charismatic woman in a purple dress entered her office.

Mackenzie was wary of the woman’s strong presence.

She had a feeling that the woman must be powerful.

“The pleasure is mine, Ms. Morgan.” She rose to greet and shake hands with her guest.

She didn’t want to be at odds with the Airspace Group.

over the years, but she was unaware of the details.

“Since you’re a busy woman, I’ll make it short. I’m here to do business with you.” Even though Yasmine was smiling, her smile unnerved Mackenzie.

She gave Mackenzie the impression that she was a wolf in sheep’s clothing.

“Are you here to acquire the Heart of the Sun?” Mackenzie asked.

To her surprise, Yasmine shook her head. “I know it’s your family’s secret weapon. We’ve tried to acquire it so many times before but failed every time. So, I’m here for something else this time.”

Mackenzie fidgeted in her chair. Besides the Sun Stones, she couldn't imagine what else Airspace Group would want from her family.

Still, she smiled and asked, "What is it then? As long as it's not the Heart of the Sun, and you show enough sincerity, we can negotiate a deal."

"Great!" The smile vanished from Yasmine's face as she pointed at Mackenzie's belly. "I want to buy your unborn child. Just name your price."

"What?" Mackenzie, known as the Icy Female CEO, was usually composed. Yet, Yasmine's proposal shocked her, making her cry out in disbelief and slam on the table.

She was stunned.

Not even Emmanuel and Beatrix knew she was pregnant.

Yasmine, as though she could read people's minds, explained before Mackenzie could ask, "Thanks to the growth of big data, we learned that you had purchased the pregnancy test kit twice, the folic acid tablet, and other necessities. We can easily trace your every move with its help."

Mackenzie was surprised that a stranger knew her better than her husband, who was supposed to be the person closest to her.

“Ms. Quillen, you might not know about this, but you and your husband possess good genes. The combination of your genes will make them the most promising child in the world. We’ll do our best to nurture him-”

Yasmine fell silent as well. After a moment, she finally stood up with a faint smile and said, “Well then, Ms. Quillen, I won’t hold you up any longer. By the way, remember to take good care of your child. Thanks for your time.”

Mackenzie felt a wave of discomfort wash over her at those words. Is she implying that I’m pregnant for their sake? Unbelievable!

After Yasmine left, Mackenzie withdrew her attention from her work and gently set the pen on the table. She whispered, “I must let Emmanuel know about the child Since Emmanuel was occupied, Mackenzie couldn't ask him to come to her right now. I guess I'll talk to him later.

Meanwhile, Emmanuel arrived at the coach station.

He expected his mother and his cousin's family to arrive. on the bus, so he was surprised to find them waiting for him at the entrance.

"Gautier?" As he stepped out of the car, he frowned when he saw Gautier, who seemed out of place among his family. "What are you doing with my family?"

Gautier smiled kindly at him and explained, "I happened to have some business in Onza, so I joined them on their trip."

Chapter 1445 An Unexpected Travel Companion

Emmanuel was puzzled. Did he drive my family here?

Ryder had Tia maneuver his wheelchair to approach them and clarified, "I mentioned it to Mr. Verkade. He's now my colleague at Terence Group."

#

Colleague? Emmanuel had trouble imagining it.

Although he was aware that Terence Group had acquired Verkade Group, he simply couldn't believe that Gautier and Ryder had become colleagues and even traveled to Onza together.

“To be honest, I have something to tell you.” Gautier appeared more sincere than usual. “My story can explain everything.”

Emmanuel nodded. “Right, you have piqued my curiosity. Why didn’t you discuss this with Mackenzie?”

“She’s a married woman.” Gautier came clean to him. “Now that I have decided to rely on the Quillen family, I won’t approach Ms. Quillen anymore. After all, it would be quite embarrassing if even you guys distance yourselves from us.

Emmanuel gazed into the other man’s eyes. He knew that Gautier was also an ambitious man and wasn’t easily tamed. However, he couldn’t detect any ill intentions int Gautier, so he replied despite being wary of Gautier, “What do you want to tell me?”

“Follow me,” Gautier said politely.

Emmanuel agreed, leaving his family at the entrance. He followed Gautier to a secluded spot nearby.

trying to harm your family.” Gautier cut to the chase, yet his voice remained gentle.
“How do you know this?” Emmanuel didn’t believe the words, and his expression told Gautier about that.
Gautier didn’t mind Emmanuel’s prejudice. He simply shrugged and elaborated, “Although my family had lost in the business world, we still hold influence in Yeringham. My informant told me about it when the shady characters entered Yeringham.” “What are these shady people?” Emmanuel was disinterested in Gautier’s source of intel and was more focused on verifying its accuracy.

Truth was, he was suspicious of Benny’s family after learning that they had established a company and purchased a house in Onza. Now, Gautier’s information.
only cemented one of his speculations.
“I don’t know yet, but I have discovered that foreign funds. have been transferred to their bank accounts. The mastermind behind it might be foreigners. However, I can’t be sure. It could also be a pretense...”

“Foreigners?” The keyword jogged Emmanuel’s memory.

He immediately thought of two organizations.

It’s either the Hellfire Club or the Airspace Group. Why would they be interested in Uncle Benny and his family, who aren’t any big shots at all? Could they be trying to exploit our family connections to infiltrate the Terence

In the blink of an eye, Susan appeared out of nowhere and tightly embraced Gautier, bubbling with excitement.

As Emmanuel watched Gautier leave, a hint of emotion stirred within him. It reminded him that in the business world, friendships and rivalries are never permanent.

In the depths of his mind, Emmanuel silently reasoned. Regardless of what Gautier might be thinking, he should be leaning towards the Terence Group now. After all, with the Quillen family falling, there is no advantage left for the Verkade family. If the Quillen family thrives, perhaps the Verkade family can still benefit, or they may have a chance to make a comeback!

“Hey, Emmanuel, where have you been?” As Emmanuel returned, his uncle’s family had already arrived, and Jack Lowe was teasing him.

“Sorry, I just got caught up with something,” Emmanuel responded casually.

Chapter 1446 The Mercurial Nature of Humanity

Emmanuel pondered silently. No matter how look at it, Jack’s family does not seem to be the conniving type. But could they be bribed by someone to infiltrate us?

“Forget it. Let’s grab a bite to eat! I am hungry!” Jack waved his hand, ready to lead the group straight to dinner.

Emmanuel then noticed that Jack’s wife, Alina Mcneil, and her family were also accompanying Jack’s family to Onza.

Alina leaned into Jack, holding his arm affectionately. ‘Honey, my parents rarely visit Onza. You must take them out for some good food!’

“Of course, your husband is loaded now! Anything less than a five-star restaurant, and will not even feel at home!” Jack boasted in his usual laid-back manner.

Alina, always one to enjoy the spotlight, quickly turned to her family and said, “Dad, Mom, Cherlynn, look, my husband is really great!”

The Mcneil family began praising Jack enthusiastically. “Yeah, Jack is really

“My brother-in-law is amazing,” one person said. “He runs his own company and dines at five-star restaurants every day. It is impressive!”

The Mcneils, rural folks who seldom ventured into big cities, hardly ever dined at five-star restaurants. Consequently, they held great admiration for individuals like Jack.

Basking in the compliments, Jack’s ego swelled, and he confidently waved his hand.

“Let’s go. I heard there is a five-star restaurant nearby called The Shallow Waterside Chef’s Kitchen, which is very famous in Nuthana. Today, I will take you all there to try it!”

As Jack and Alina led the way, the members of the McNeil family quickly followed behind.

“Emmanuel, why don’t we all go together?” Alessandra suggested, feeling that since chance to take Alessandra to upscale restaurants. So, he wanted to seize this opportunity to show his filial duty.

Tia also urged Ryder to join them in Emmanuel's business car.

Alina's sister, Cherlynn McNeil, turned back to Emmanuel and the others, her brows furrowed as she asked, "Jack, are they your relatives?"

The Ryder family, as well as Emmanuel's mother and himself, were not very partic about their clothes. Especially Ryder and Alessandra, they looked like two old farme appearing quite shabby!

Cherlynn sneered at Emmanuel's family. "Hmm, I have met them before, but they don't leave much of an impression, especially since they seem like just ordinary people. Their car is not impressive either. If they were as successful as you, Jack, then people would remember them!" she did not miss the opportunity to flatter Jack with a resounding compliment.

Jack was quite pleased with Cherlynn's flattery. "Haha, indeed! Indeed!"

Jack had always been fond of Alina, and in the past, he did not pay much attention to Cherlynn when she was younger. But now that Cherlynn was nineteen, starting college, and showing such affection for him, he could not help but entertain some inappe

Emmanuel had opted for the business car today since the Maserati could not comfortably accommodate everyone, but he had not anticipated being looked down upon by them as a result.

He muttered under his breath, “Did that guy just imply that we are not significant?”

Benny quickly spoke up, “Forget it. Let’s just eat outside. It is all the same food in the end, isn’t it?”

Benny inwardly complained. Even though our family is currently sponsored, we cannot just spend money recklessly. Besides, I am not like Jack, trying to impress Cherlynn. Renting a private room would mean spending a lot more money, and I am not willing to do that!

Finally, the waiter seated them at a large round table in a corner. Despite Emm

Benny was naturally very displeased and convinced that Emmanuel and his family were

He muttered to himself. With so many people dining at this kind of restaurant, how much extra money would we have to spend?

After pondering for a while, he silently vowed. No, I cannot let this happen. I need to come up with a solution later! I refuse to be taken advantage of!

At that moment, Angela Silverbane gently guided Old Mr. Silverbane into their family-owned restaurant. As they made their way upstairs to the private dining area, they spotted Emmanuel seated there.

"Wait, Grandpa, isn't that Mr. Lowe?" Angela exclaimed, surprised.

At the sight, Stanley's face lit up with excitement.

Angela understood immediately and promptly directed someone to take care of it.

At this moment, Jack could not sit still. Their table was right by the entrance, and the constant flow of people in and out greatly affected their dining experience.

Upon understanding Cherlynn's intention, Ryder turned to Emmanuel and suggested, "Perhaps we should head back to the lobby for our meal instead."
Emmanuel's expression darkened, and he muttered angrily to himself, Cherlynn, Jack's sister-in-law and a member of our Lowe's family circle, is with us for this meal. Is it necessary to speak disparagingly about others?
Upon hearing this, one of the waitresses immediately responded tactfully, "Mr. Lowe, if you feel "that it's" crowded, we can arrange an additional VIP room for y him, saying, "Jack, you're incredible! Despite all our talk earlier, it was just your cas complaint that prompted the restaurant to arrange two VIP rooms for us. Are you

Jack was quite surprised. He thought to himself. After all, my father is also the boss of the company in Onza. Why do my complaints seem to have an effect while my father's complaints are ignored?

Oh! Jack pondered for a moment and suddenly realized what was going on.

He wondered if those snobbish waitresses were judging based on appearances. After all, he was dressed in high-end brands from head to toe, and he even wore a Green Rolex Submariner on his wrist, giving the impression of wealth.

Shortly after, feeling unsatisfied, Alina pouted and said to Jack, "Honey, I heard they have the red wine from Bodegas Sicilia Winery here. I really want to try it!"

"Oh, how much does a bottle cost?" he asked casually.

Jack wanted to try it as well, but he was shocked when he saw the wine list. "Wow, 1.05 million per bottle? That's outrageous-more expensive than Lafite even! No, I will not drink it!"

"Jack, please! Isn't your family very wealthy now? How can you not even afford to drink a bottle of wine? I really want to try it!" Cherlynn pleaded from the side, gently nudging Jack's arm with her shoulder.

"Fine, let's get a bottle then!" Jack reluctantly agreed.

Cherlynn was delighted! But Alina felt a bit uncomfortable. She thought to hersel

Despite feeling this way, she did not dare to express her dissatisfaction.

After all, her family's financial situation was quite average, and they had always been trying to catch up with Jack's family. Especially now that Jack's family had suddenly risen in status, her family's position was even lower.

However, Alina dared not throw a tantrum. Her family wasn't rich, so she always felt a bit out of place in Jack's wealthy family. Now, with Jack's family even richer, her own family's status seemed even lower.

Shortly after, a stunning waitress entered the VIP room, her face adorned with a smi carrying two bottles of wine.

"The Bodegas fine wine has arrived!" She greeted cheerfully.

Benny's expression soured as he glanced at them, feeling disgruntled.

These wines cost millions per bottle! he thought to himself.

"Can we return them?" He hastily halted the waitress from opening them.

"I apologize, sir, but once the bill was created in our restaurant, we cannot accept returns," the waitress explained with a slightly embarrassed smile.

Benny was still determined to return the items although it might be embarrassing,

Jack was immediately angry and quickly clarified, “Let’s get this clear and understand both of us will pay the bill separately. Our table and theirs aren’t splitting the bill. That’s their own business if they can’t afford it!”

While they knew Emmanuel had married into the Quillen family and the Quillen family is wealthy, they couldn’t be sure about the financial situation of Emmanuel. Mackenzie might not be giving him any pocket money.

Cherlynn whispered, “Emmanuel, maybe your relatives at the next table think you’re treating them, so they deliberately ordered expensive items?”

“Should be like that!” Jack gritted his teeth.

Despite their wealth, they always split the bill with Emmanuel and Ryder’s family whe dining out. Even though it wasn’t explicitly stated this time, they assumed the same rule

The waitress was slightly surprised but quickly nodded, “Sir, we got it!”

Jack waved his hand, feeling relieved in his heart.

As the waitress left the private room, Angela passed by from the other end of corridor and asked, “Has the Begasie wine been brought up?”

“Yes, ma’am, it’s here. A bottle has already been delivered to this private room!”

Angela received the wine and personally brought it into Emmanuel’s private room.

The atmosphere here was very harmonious, unlike the other private room,. The dishes ordered were not the most expensive, but they were authentic. Alessandra and Ryder’s family were all satisfied and enjoying themselves.

Alessandra waved her hand and said, “Why do you bring the wine as we are goo without wine? Doesn’t this look like an expensive bottle?”

Angela approached with a smile and respectfully greeted Alessandra, “Ma’am, are you Mr. Lowe’s mother?”

Alessandra was flattered, nodded in surprise, and awkwardly replied, “Yes, I... I’m his mother!”

Alessandra felt curious how did Emmanuel know such a beautiful woman?

She looked incredibly lovely, like a wealthy lady!

He mustn’t do anything to upset Mackenzie!

Tia felt inferior, and she knew that Angela was trying to impress Emmanuel. With so many princesses around her prince charming, she felt like she was the only one who can stay aside Ryder.

Despite their desire to try it, Ryder and Tia hesitated, feeling unworthy of such fine wine due to their status.

Upon seeing the bill, Jack erupted in anger.

After a moment, he lowered his head and discreetly showed it to his father.

Benny’s expression darkened, but he refused to scold his son in public. Since the matter occurred, scolding him wouldn’t serve any purpose. He decided to let his son revel in his mistake recently and address it privately later.

Cherlynn’s words were sharper than Alina. A few remarks from her, filled Jack with pride after seeing the bill.

“Haha, you’re right! I was just concerned about the neighbors, considering they’re relatives. It would be troublesome if they couldn’t cover the bill!”

Jack felt surprised and thought about what had happened.

Jack rushed back excitedly to inquire.

Emmanuel threw back the question to Jack.

Having watched Jack grow up, how could he not be familiar with his cousin’s personality? He had phoned earlier and let Emmanuel know that they were heading out first to avoid them seeking assistance with the bill.

Emmanuel understood Jack was so stingy and such a narrow-minded person. It’s the same as before, Jack was no change at all!

“The bill guys need to pay for it?”

Cherlynn couldn’t wait and ran over to ask.

“Oh, you mean this isn’t it all complimentary?”

Tia, more astute than Ryder and Alessandra, quickly cooperated with Emmanuel, feigning surprise.

“What? Complimentary?!”

Jack and the others exclaimed simultaneously and felt unbelievable.

“A bill of over a million waived like that? Why waive it?”

Cherlynn felt surprised and quickly asked.

“Oh, I’m not entirely sure about this matter!”

Tia replied with a smile, “It seems that the restaurant’s Jude greatly admires Mr. Lowe. Not only did he especially send wine over, but he also took the initiative to waive the bill for us. Didn’t he waive it for you guys?”

“Huh?!”

Jack was suddenly stunned, he had paid 200 thousand!”

“Mr. Lowe!”

At that moment, two pretty waitresses finally caught up and bowed to Emmanuel, apologizing, “Sorry, your relative walked too fast and we couldn’t stop him even when we called out! By the time we turned around, he had already settled the bill! And he kept insisting he wasn’t with you guys so we couldn’t do anything!”

got what he deserved. Angela, considering them as her relatives, instructed the staff to comp their meals. He was so concerned that his own family would take advantage of him to heat that, hastily paid the bill and left. Who could blame anyone for that?

Since he was so wealthy, let him feel a pinch!

“Oh...Oh my!”

Regarding the matter of 200 thousand, Jack no longer cared about dignity. He quickly pleaded with the two waitresses, “So... since it’s complimentary, can you refund the money to us now?”

The two gorgeous waitresses, who exuded five-star service, were naturally quick-witted. Seeing the strained relationship between Emmanuel and Jack, they directly refused, “Sorry, our restaurant doesn’t provide refund services!”

“What? This!”

Jack was once again frustrated and felt speechless.

Benny looked at his son’s foolish behavior and was also flushed with embarrassment. He felt disappointed in his son and scolded him silently.

If you’ve already paid and want to save face, what does this last wailing mean? Either stand to die or live under your knees, but Jack chose to die under your knees. Why did I give birth to such a weak-willed son?

“Ah! I finally understood!”

Cherlynn suddenly realized, her eyes fluttering as she looked at Emmanuel and exclaimed, “So, the noble one everyone has been talking about is Emmanuel, not Jack!”

Emmanuel sneered, feeling no admiration from Cherlynn, and casually said, “Since we’ve finished eating, let’s go!”

Jack watched this scene, feeling a surge of energy in his chest. He had spent 200. thousand to earn Cherlynn’s admiration, but now he found himself admiring Emmanuel instead. How could he not hold a grudge?!

In the end, the two groups went their separate ways.

Jack’s family headed to their newly acquired mansion, but Jack’s mood had soured. He
