Wrong Table 1470

Chapter 1470

“Emmanuel, something major went down last night, didn’t it?”

“Manny, there’s something crucial we gotta fill you in on! Brace yourself!”

They looked extremely worked up.

Emmanuel stepped out of the ward with them to avoid disturbing Tommy’s rest.

“What? Jack was the one behind it?”

Upon hearing the news from Shane and Frederick, Emmanuel found himself consu by anger. He had long harbored suspicions about Jack’s character, but the revelation that he had conspired with outsiders to harm his own family was beyond expectation.

Unforgivable! Did he forget Mackenzie’s his sister-in-law? Plus she’s pregnant!

“Exactly! We saw it all, heard it too! No fibs here! Try asking Frederick if you don’t believe me!”

Shane pointed at Frederick eagerly, sensing Emmanuel’s skepticism.

Mackenzie, her eyes blazing with fury, approached Emmanuel, her voice cold. “I wondered who was tailing me yesterday, but it seems it was all Jack's doing! With Aidan's spy network, it's impossible to track me in real-time unless he's got an inside man!"

Emmanuel's fists tightened as he promised Mackenzie, his tone firm, "Don't worry, Mackenzie! Jack will answer for this!"

Seeing Emmanuel's distress, Mackenzie simply nodded, not wanting to add to his burden.

In a lush green space outside the hospital, Ryder and Abellyn found themselves locked in a heated dispute.

"You wench! You married me while carrying another man's child? Is Tommy really not mine?!"

Ryder's eyes blazed with anger as he lunged towards Abellyn, his grip tightening.

Fearing his volatile state, Abellyn instinctively recoiled, but Ryder managed to snatch her skirt, tearing it in the process.

"Hey, check that out!"

“Look at her, dressed in that revealing red outfit with black laces! It’s quite bold.”

“Who’s that guy with her? Isn’t this public harassment?”

Caught in the midst of the gossip, Abellyn blushed, hastily covering her private parts with her hands.

Ryder’s rage boiled over as he shouted at her, “You deceitful woman, come back here!

You’ve been deceiving me for years! This ends now!”

Even the most honest people had their breaking points!

And when a genuinely honest person lost their temper, they could be more terrifying than the most arrogant, like an uncontrolled wildfire!

Abellyn, initially determined to confront him, didn’t bother fixing her skirt before hastily getting up and fleeing.

“Casanova, where are you? You have to save me! Someone’s trying to kill me!”

*Abellyn found a corner to hide in and called Blake for help. She was genuinely afraid that Ryder would kill her if he caught her. After all, men dreaded cuckoldry the most, especially after raising someone else's child for years, only to discover the child wasn't theirs!
