Wrong Table 1493

Chapter 1493 The Medicine

“Oh, you’re a friend of Julian’s? Hehe… You’re a model, right?”

Linda smirked secretly, thinking it was another model who had come to offer herself to take photos for Julian. Was Roselynn trying to please Althea?

It wasn’t going to work!

Doesn’t Roselynn know that Julian and I are destined to get married?

Roselynn didn’t know what Linda was thinking, so she casually nodded, as she, ind had been a model for Julian before.

“All right. I’m here to wash fruits for Aunt Althea. Is the medicine ready? I’ll take it over together!” Linda said casually.

“Sure!”

Roselynn, not being scheming, heard Linda calling the woman “Aunt Althea” and assumed she was Althea’s relative, so she entrusted Linda with the task of taking the medicine.

Linda brought the medicine and fruits into the room.

Althea couldn’t eat the fruits, but after drinking the medicine, her drowsiness quickly dissipated, and she could even eat the fruits afterward.

“Linda, thank you so much! What kind of medicine did you give me? It’s so effective!”

Althea, who already had a favorable impression of Linda, felt even more fond of he now.

At this moment, Zaiden also returned home and saw that Althea was recovering. He knew she had drunk the medicine Linda had brought, so he was very grateful.

Initially, Linda didn’t intend to take credit, nor did she know how serious Althea’s illness was.

Althea had consulted doctors before, but none of them had a good solution at the time.

Now, seeing Althea and Zaiden so grateful, Linda took the opportunity to say, “I heard from my mom that you were ill, so after asking about your symptoms, I specially picked up a prescription from the pharmacy. If it works, that’s great!”

Althea was even more effusive in her thanks after hearing this. “It’s so kind of you to care about me. It's not in vain for me to have always cherished you!"

Linda was extremely proud!

Linda's mother also chimed in with a smile, "Althea, I won't hide it from you. Linda car more about you than me! She has long planned to marry into the Summerton family in the future, so from now on, you'll be her mother-in-law!"

Althea was taken aback for a moment but then smiled brightly. "Really? That's great! I'll arrange for Julian to get married now."

The Becker family of Gratz was an ordinary family running their own business with assets valued at up to 10 billion. Apart from that, they had the same amount of influence as the Summerton family of Onza.

In the past, if the two families were to join in matrimony, it would have been seen as the Becker family using the Summerton family's status to climb the social ladder. So,

Althea had always known that Linda wanted to become the mistress of the Summerton family but hadn't tried to match her with Julian.

But times had changed. The Summerton family suffered a setback in the Grand Martial Showdown, so their position as vice president was probably not secure. As such were likely to be on a decline.

Taking advantage of this opportunity to facilitate a marriage with the Summerton family, the Becker family might secure financial support in business and gain benefits! Moreover, the Becker family was also considered an informal member of the Nuthana Chamber of Commerce, with some connections and influence. If managed well, the Summerton family could retain the position of vice president. With the two families united, the Summerton family might still have some ability to protect itself in business.

“Aunt Althea, I…” Linda pretended to be coy and hesitant. “Since I’m still young, you and my mother should make the decisions on these matters.”

When Linda’s mother heard Linda’s words, she knew what she should do. “Hehe. Okay! It’s settled, then. I’ll immediately have someone call Julian over!”

The atmosphere was lifted with the good news, and Althea felt much better after drinking the medicine, so she seemed almost like her old self.

Zaiden also quickly instructed the butler to call Julian over.

Julian was still in the study discussing matters with Ronnie. When he heard his parents calling for him, he quickly excused himself and went to find Roselynn.

It was r not often that Roselynn swung by the Summerton Residence, so he wanted to take the opportunity to announce their relationship to his parents.

In no time, Julian arrived at Althea's door.

"Julian, come in quickly!"

Althea eagerly welcomed him in, but when she saw Julian holding Roselynn's hand as hey entered together, her smile froze.

The smiles on Linda's family's faces gradually faded, especially Linda, who now re the relationship between Julian and Roselynn! So, this was her love rival!

"Mom, why are you suddenly feeling so much better?"

Seeing Althea's improved spirits, Julian was also very happy. He took the initiative to bring Roselynn to her.