Wrong Table 1495

Chapter 1495 You Two Are Nothing but Frauds

Zaiden had no choice but to nod his head in resignation. Well, I guess we could only wait until tomorrow.

After that, Linda hurried out of Althea's room to confer with her mother. That remedy just now wasn't from me!

Her mother, Isadora Bowman, was not surprised after listening to her story. She knew full well that her daughter didn't know how to brew medicine. Besides, Linda didn't even bring the necessary herbal ingredients today. How could she possibly have brewed remedy for Althea? It was clear that she must have taken the credit for Roselynn's remedy.

That being said, she also wished for her daughter to marry Julian. Hence, she decided.

that not only did they have to keep this under wraps, but they also needed to find a way to cure Althea. If Linda can play her cards right and win Althea over, Althea will make Julian marry her. "It's not some serious illness. We'll just get a skilled doctor to come and take a look!" she said with a dismissive wave.

That very day, she spent a king's ransom, getting a highly respectable doctor to come to the Summerton Residence while Zaiden was away on some business.

Lo and behold, the doctor was none other than Schmidt, Rob's favorite apprentice.

After examining Althea's condition, Schmidt said, "Madam Althea's illness stems from a combination of poor blood circulation and emotional distress. It's tricky for modern medicine, but I'm aware that these conditions are easily treatable with traditional medicine. I can recommend a traditional medicine practitioner who I'm sure can cure Madam Althea of her illness."

Upon hearing his words, Linda and Isadora finally let out a sigh of relief.

I knew it wouldn't be difficult! I wonder what quacks the Silverbane family hired before.

They couldn't even deal with such a simple illness for Madam Althea!

Immediately, Linda asked, "So, Dr. Schmidt, what's the name of this traditional medicine practitioner? Can you give us his contact details?"

"I don't have his contact details, but his name is Emmanuel, and he's a good friend of Miss Ashton Summerton. You can ask her directly," Schmidt replied.

What's wrong with the Summerton family? They know Emmanuel in person, so why would they come to me for help? How do I put this in Chanaean? Are they blind to what's right in front of them? Or are they taking the long road instead of the shortcut?

Either way, it's just strange, he thought to himself.

With that, he took his leave, leaving both Linda and Isadora stupefied.

Linda and Isadora had never met Emmanuel before, but they weren't idiots. They knew that Roselynn had brewed the remedy earlier. Connecting the dots, they easily deduced that Emmanuel and Roselynn were likely related. Moreover, Roselynn's prescription must have come from Emmanuel!

So, after all the trouble they had taken, it turned out that if they wanted to cure Althea, they would have to seek help from the Lowe family. However, doing so would expose their lie!

Finally, Isadora said, "Ah, never mind! Let's take a chance and see how it goes. I don't believe that only those with the surname Lowe can cure these illnesses!”

Taking matters into their own hands, she reached out to doctors, asking them to prescribe whatever they thought might help. However, three days went by, and Althea’s condition showed no signs of improvement. She remained bedridden.

On the contrary, Ashton, who had suffered from broken bones, made a remarkably fast recovery. In just three days, she was well enough to sit in a wheelchair and was no longer confined to her bed.

On this day, Ronnie came again just as he had promised, accompanied by Zaiden. Seeing his sister still lying sickly in bed, he immediately figured out what was going on. Seeing that the Becker family’s remedy had once again proved ineffective, Ashton finally lost her patience. Pushing her wheelchair with one hand, she stormed into the room and launched into an angry tirade at Linda and Isadora. “How much longer are you going to put my mom through this?!” she snapped. “You know full well that your remedy doesn’t work at all! That miracle cure the other day wasn’t even made by you! You two are nothing but frauds!”

The Summerton family had always been on good terms with the Becker family. So, it was like a bolt from the blue when Ashton angrily shouted these words. It was akin to ruining the friendship that the two families had built over the years!

“Ashton, watch your language!” Zaiden quickly interjected.

Currently, with the Summerton family facing tough times, many forces had begun to distance themselves from the family, leading to the termination of quite a number of business partnerships over the past three days. Everyone was aware that the family’s humiliating defeat at the Nuthana Grand Martial Showdown was a huge blow to their prestige. Now, numerous families and forces were eyeing the position of vice president of the Nuthana Chamber of Commerce. Under these circumstances, it would be extremely difficult for the family to be re-elected next month!

For this reason, they couldn’t afford to easily offend the Becker family, who had always worked closely with the Summerton family. Doing so would only add fuel to the fire.

“Ashton, how could you call me a fraud? I brewed the remedy myself for Aunt Althea every day, and I’m just as anxious as you are that she hasn’t gotten any better!”