

Y. Goddess 122

Chapter 122 A Twisted Princess

While listening to the Goddess Aurora's complaints, I reviewed the information paper of the adventurers who passed Princess Anastasia's assessment.

In this free time, I let my body be in my fox girl form and sat in the open gazebo that served as the main base for the Golden King Bear hunting operation.

"Ahhh... Lily... your fox tail is so soft. May I take some pieces of your fox tail as my collection?" whispered Princess Anastasia who was resting after forcing herself to work hard until she finished her work in assessing the suitability of the adventurers who would participate in the Golden King Bear hunt.

"Don't do that," I replied coldly as my eyes read the participants who passed the initial selection.

Because this gazebo has an open space and shows the viewpoint of the stealth slimes who have inhabited their cave residence by activating their night vision skills, it has made several adventurer party study their battlefield inside the cave.

I tried hard to pour out my abundant magic energy together with the help of the Goddess Aurora so that I could share the viewpoint with the stealth slimes who used their night vision skills.

Several stealth slimes had entered their disguise mode and stopped their head-splitting hunt of the Golden King Bear herd that seemed to have become more efficient now.

"Oh, please, Lily. Just one strand of your tail hair. I want to make a protection charm for myself," Princess Anastasia suddenly combed my fox tail with the comb she brought.

"Even if I comb it like this, not a single tail hair falls out. Isn't this fox tail too healthy, Lily?" While trying to grab one of my sensitive fox tail hairs, I could see Princess Anastasia smiling softly intentionally at me as if wanting to beg for one of my fox tail hairs.

"I don't want to give it, Princess Anastasia," I replied briefly while maintaining my attitude of being a cold and serious girl.

Along with my cold reply which seemed heartless, I tried to remain calm while my fox tail received a very sensitive touch at the tip of my fox tail.

Of my nine fox tails available, all have been used to cover Princess Anastasia's body who has buried her body in my nine soft fox tails.

"Lily... I sincerely beg you for just one hair of your fox tail..." Princess Anastasia asked while playing her trump card in the form of teary eyes as if she wanted to cry.

"I won't allow it because you have been paid for enjoying my nine tails while they look like want to touch my tail too!" I said in a firm tone while glancing at Mio and my twin step-sister who were holding their bodies back from touching my fox tail which was a reward for Princess Anastasia's hard work.

"Eeehhh... I only get this reward after all the hard work I've done?" replied Princess Anastasia who slowly shed tears perfectly as a greedy innocent girl.

"Yes, this is your reward!" with my expressionless tone and my gaze that didn't care about Princess Anastasia, I could feel her body shaking after getting such a cold attitude from me.

"L-Lily..." with her body shaking slightly and her breath inhaling the scent of my fox tail, I could feel Princess Anastasia was in a state of her body that was slowly changing strangely.

"Seeing Lily's cold and firm attitude like this... Ahh... it makes me want to lose control and kiss her lips until it leaves a red kiss mark on her nape," said Princess Anastasia with her mouth covered by one of my fox tails.

My sensitive fox ears had heard words from Princess Anastasia's mouth that sounded very dangerous.

My instincts told me that if I gave her one of my fox tail hairs, Princess Anastasia would take care of my fox tail hair for the next few years as one of the most valuable possessions in her life.

Just by imagining it... I could feel my body trying hard to reject the terrible thing that could happen.

"Ahh... Lily is ignoring me again... it makes me want to kidnap her immediately and take her away to our private residence..."

"I want to have her for just one day..."

"What should I do if Lily refuses to be kidnaped and runs away?"

"Lily... I can kidnap you for a day of dating, right? Huehuehue..."

When I completely ignored Princess Anastasia, I could hear some of her little mutters that were so terrifying that it made my back break out in cold sweat as if screaming in fear with Princess Anastasia's terrifying obsession.

Twinkk...

Twinkk...

In my cold attitude, I occasionally glanced at Princess Anastasia and got a warm wink from her eyes. Somehow it felt like a big change from the attitude she kept hidden to the attitude she deliberately gave me in public.

This increasingly complicated situation made me temporarily act coldly towards Princess Anastasia and add a small punishment for her for the trouble she caused in the Adventurer's Guild building.

"Princess Anastasia, have you done what I asked before?" I asked to find out the process of her formally apologizing to the Adventurer's Guild Master.

"Hmm?" Princess Anastasia tilted her head as if she didn't understand what I was asking.

"You still haven't apologized to the people you troubled before?" I said while lifting my nine tails that were wrapped around her body and putting on a cold facial expression full of annoyance.

"Etto, uhm, I'll apologize later..." Princess Anastasia replied, averting her gaze from me.

"Later? Wouldn't it be better to do it as soon as possible?" I replied to give Princess Anastasia a suggestion.

"Isn't this much more important than apologizing to the Adventurer's Guild Master who is busy working today?"

"Huh? Wouldn't it be better since the Adventurer's Guild Master is working so you can meet him in person? Thanks to Princess Anastasia's arbitrary behavior, the Adventurer's Guild Master has almost lost trust in the Marquess Rommel family, which led to a small misunderstanding... don't you want to take responsibility for this?" While urging Princess Anastasia with a new simple task, I wanted to remove my fox tail that was hurting after Princess Anastasia tried to pull out one of my fox tail hairs several times.

With a fox tail as sensitive as this, there was no way I could feel the pain that was done slowly.

"I did it based on the official procedure that the Adventurer's Guild had to do, Lily! Don't make me look like a cruel girl who paid some adventurers just to rob a house... uhh... I mean build a house that had been sold by the residents in Marquess Rommel's territory," said Princess Anastasia with some information slipping out of her mouth.

"Even though it failed in the end because that stupid father didn't want his daughter to live alone and burdened his workload as a King who still needed my help solving problems," muttered Princess Anastasia until her mouth moved slightly.

My ears and mind now heard each other's grumbling voices that contradicted each other.

[Lily-chaaaan!! Are you still listening to my heart's complaints that are often oppressed by my own two-faced Saintess like that?]

[Do you think this is the justice that a Goddess who is trying to fix a previously complicated relationship to be better again deserves?]

[I don't know how much longer I have to bear the burden of humiliation of my flat breasts like a chopping board!]

[Please help me until Hana changes her mind and doesn't use the terrible threat of doxxing the real body of a Goddess who is famous for her wisdom and virtue!]

Between Princess Anastasia, the Goddess Aurora, and the preparations for the Golden King Bear hunt. I could feel the overwhelming burden of a human who was still bound by life and taking care of a Goddess's problems.

Above all, I am very glad that my brain is not too crazy in receiving this two-way information.

To the Goddess Aurora, I understand how you feel that Hana used the threat of doxxing your real body to the devout congregation that worships you. I will try to make Hana come closer to you a little bit more until such a terrible threat is gradually reduced.

[Thank you very much Lily-chan!]

[I will try to repay you with all my might to modify your Yurification System blessing if you succeed in destroying the statue of me that is full of insults like that.]

What kind of statue is it?

I am curious about the shape of the statue.

Just by saying that curiosity is in my mind. My eyes suddenly got a vision of a statue of the Goddess Aurora shaped like a teenage girl with very flat breasts like a cutting board standing next to a statue of the Goddess Aurora carved using large breasts.

Is this the statue made by Hana?

[Yes, the statue showing my real body is standing side by side with the statue that has been considered as my real figure.]

Hmm? Isn't that a not bad sculpture, Goddess Aurora?

[Huh? What does that mean?]

If you look closely, your real body shape looks like a teenage girl filled with warmth and gentleness as a Goddess. The cute shape of your flat breasts depicts the purity of a Goddess that does not arouse lust.

Rather than a sculpture showing your large breasts, I prefer a real statue of you that is full of elegance and purity.

[Do you think it's a good thing to use my real body?]

Yes, you could say that this gives a much more natural impression of the purity of a Goddess that does not make humanity drown in the sins of the world.

In short, I really like the real body of Goddess Aurora compared to the fake body of Goddess Aurora because the real one looks more beautiful in my eyes.

[Kyaaaa!! W-What are you talking about? Don't make me blush about this!]

[Hmph! You won't get anything after praising me like this!]

I could hear the Goddess Aurora's words weakening after hearing my thoughts about her real body.

Was it a little too much to say what I thought about her?

[Yurification System Notice: The Goddess Aurora has become the one of blessing developer Yurifaction System!]

"Huh?" I muttered in surprise.
