

Y. Goddess 124

Chapter 124 Testing Magic Tools

My short break was interrupted again after Alice and Alyssa came to visit me.

"Onee-sama, what is the meaning of this?" Alice asked while showing the prototype magic protofon and the paper containing the instruction manual for its use.

In contrast to Alice who needed a direct explanation from me, Alyssa was seen reading the instruction manual for its use.

I don't know what the Goddess Aurora was doing, but I could see handwriting similar to mine. Just by looking at the length and shortness of each letter written in the instruction manual, it was not much different from my handwriting that had translated the Great Hero's Magic book.

"Lily-nee, I didn't expect you to have made this thing during the holidays. Did Lily-nee secretly make this in large quantities because one day it would be useful like this emergency situation?" Alyssa asked without moving her gaze from reading the instruction manual for the magic protofon.

I tried my best to remain calm in front of my twin step-sisters.

Somehow, I am truly grateful to the Goddess Aurora for using my handwriting to make it easier for me to lie to cover up the blessings given by the Goddess Aurora.

[Lily-chan, I have to take the trouble to do this to avoid suspicion from Hana.]

[If I use a large amount of my magical energy. Hana will notice my interference in interacting with you.]

[It would be very scary if Hana lost control as a Saintess who should not have a despicable nature.]

"..." responding to the words of the Goddess Aurora and Alyssa, I nodded my head and took the magic protofon that had become my intellectual property.

"Want to try using this magic protofon as a test of the range that can be covered for communication?" I asked Alyssa who had finished reading the instruction paper for using the magic protofon.

Bzzttt ...

Squuiikkk ...

By flowing my magical energy until I was able to activate the main function of the magic protofon, I immediately entered the magic frequency available in its main settings.

"Magic wave frequency 301," I said while fiddling with the magic protofon to be within the range of magic frequency 301.

Alyssa seemed to understand what I said and changed the frequency of her magic protofon to run on magic frequency 301.

Pressing one of the buttons to communicate, Alyssa said one sentence as a simple check.

"Lily-nee..."

The voice that came from my magic protofon gave a clear voice from Alyssa. Although her voice was a little hoarse than her original voice, it could still be heard clearly by my fox ears which were too sensitive to sound.

Swoopp...

Ploomm...

I stopped my nine-tailed fox girl form to return to human form.

"Oh! It successfully entered Lily-nee's protophone frequency!" Alyssa said while using her magic protofon to communicate with me.

Unlike my fox ears which heard the hoarse voice from the magic protophone, my human ears seemed to hear Alyssa's voice clearly without any interference from the hoarse voice.

"Do you like it, Alyssa?" I asked Alyssa who looked very happy with the tool given by the Goddess Aurora.

"Yes, I like it, Lily-nee... Does this mean we can order dinner directly from the Maid on duty in the kitchen and call the Maid on duty without ringing the bell in our room anymore?" Alyssa said with her eyes still sparkling while holding the magic protofon in her hand tightly.

"Uhm, yes, maybe..."

I couldn't get past the wild imagination that Alyssa was thinking. Even to give the magic protofon to all the Maids who work in the Marquess Rommel residence.

That would burden my Yurification Point budget.

However...

Seeing Alyssa who seemed very interested in this magic protofon tools. It seems like I have to take all the magic protofon tools back from the hands of the adventurers and soldiers who participated in this Golden King Bear hunt.

Bzzttt...

Zzrrttt...

"Onee-sama!!"

My magic protofon suddenly emitted a voice from Alice.

"Yey! I have joined Onee-sama's communication frequency!!" Alice exclaimed, understanding how the protofon magic device worked without reading the instruction manual.

Whether it was Alice who understood things too easily or her way of thinking was different from Alyssa's, it had made her more unique than Alyssa to understanding something.

My communication frequency suddenly received another voice call from Princess Anastasia.

"Lily... can I take this groundbreaking communication device to royal palace? And... uhm... for talking with you when I am bored?"

"Sure, it's already yours, Princess Anastasia."

"Then... make sure your communication frequency is always active at all times or I will try to find another frequency to contact you..."

Princess Anastasia smiled at me with a gentle gaze that made it difficult for me to refuse her request.

The urge that felt fraudulent made me fall for Princess Anastasia's trickery who could easily use her facial expressions to melt someone's decision.

"Uhm, I give it to you for testing something. Just take it... because my main goal right now is to testing and build a long-range magic frequency to communicate with the magic protofon," I replied ignoring Princess Anastasia's pleading gaze at me.

"Just think of this as a trial and collection of error results to perfect the communication tool that I am currently making," I continued my words while observing Princess Anastasia's facial expression who was as happy as Alyssa's.

My words had a small lie in them but also left behind a truth that was difficult to prove in real terms.

The mechanism for making this magic protofon was directly given by the Goddess Aurora along with my Yurification Shop which seemed to be getting additional new magic tools.

The price offered by the Goddess Aurora was quite expensive and threatened the Yurification Points that had been obtained with great difficulty during my family vacation.

Compared to food that can lure women closer to me, the Goddess Aurora gave me another blessing like a magic tool that is very much needed in everyday life like this magic communication tool.

Observing my magic protofon, I could understand how to make it and arrange it. The complicated chants that form the telecommunication magic formation used by the magic protofon could be easily imitated. The basic formations used by the magic protofon are telepathy magic formations and loudspeaker magic formations that are separated based on magic frequencies.

Just by knowing that basic concept, the prototype magic protofon can be easily created. What makes this magic protofon more effective and efficient is the use of a monster's magic core as a magic container for storing magic so that the complicated magic formation that is running automatic can be used for a certain time before the magic stored in the monster's magic core runs out.

My brain suddenly felt pain when I learned about this simple mechanism that was able to change the lives of mankind. If this magic protofon were to be widely distributed, I don't know what would be done to people who were able to hear its magic frequencies with information leaking out due to eavesdropping.

Goddess Aurora, isn't this an unsafe tool for secret communication?

[How is it, Aurora? The knowledge you imparted seems to have given Lily-chan a large gap to be able to hear every frequency created by that magic tool.]

[D-Don't get me wrong about this! Lily-chan is too smart to understand this large gap just by knowing the mechanism of the magic formation.]

It's not that I blame you for the large gap that can be heard by adjusting the frequency of this magic, Goddess Aurora.

It's more like... I want to develop the prototype magic protofon to a more secure for secret communication.

[C-Can you do that, Lily-chan?]

[Creating magic formations and modifying magic formations is very complicated, you know.]

[But they can do it.]

My Goddess seems to have understood what I will do next to develop this magic protofon because I have a trump card that I can use and it's right beside me.

[Oh! Alice and Alyssa!]

[Want to utilize the talents of humanity's greatest magicians? What a cunning older sister!]

[But I like it, make sure to repay Alice and Alyssa fairly with even love, Lily-chan!]

"O-Oohh..." I muttered softly to answer my Goddess and Goddess Aurora.

While I was observing the magic protofon further, I was surprised by someone covering my eyes from behind.

"Hey, Lily... isn't it unfair if I'm not given that magic tool too?" whispered Hana who suddenly surprised me from behind.

[Hiiieekk!! Hanaa!!]

The scream from the Goddess Aurora also surprised me. I didn't expect Hana to dare to do this in a public.

Even though my eyes were covered like this. I could feel the gazes of Alice, Alyssa, and Princess Anastasia pouring out their hearts that were disturbed by Hana's presence.

"I've prepared it," I replied without letting go of Hana's hand that was covering my eyes.

Along with Hana's whisper, I also felt other presences such as Ciel and Sia who could be easily felt thanks to their abundant holy magic energy.

Hana slowly let go of her hand that was covering my eyes from behind.

My gaze, which was previously closed, was now surprised by several women who looked like they were jealous of my closeness to Hana.

Hana who suddenly came with this surprise made my body feel a cold sweat and a panic of the Goddess Aurora who disappeared by taking cover behind my Goddess.

It seems that the threat given by Hana has given its trauma to the Goddess Aurora.

I don't want to admit it but some women I know have their own unique side that I don't know.

"This is for you, Hana," by creating a magic formation that takes a magic tool from my magic storage, I give the magic protofon to Hana.

"Thank you very much, Lily!" Hana received the magic protofon with a happy facial expression like a girl who just got a special gift from me.

"I will take good care of this first gift from you and declare war on the thief who took your first gift, Lily..." With her soft tone, Hana gave a smile along with the overflow of her holy energy shining on her body.

"I-I'm glad to hear that," I replied without knowing what her words meant.

"Saintess Hana, rather than declaring war. Wouldn't it be better to crush it into dust without leaving a trace? "War is not cheap in terms of cost and combat power," said Princess Anastasia, who also smiled at Hana.

"That's a very good idea, Princess Anastasia," said Hana with a small smile.

Between Hana and Saintess Anastasia's communication, I felt a bad feeling that someone was trying to steal the item I gave them.

I don't want to be burdened with this bad thought.

So, for the time being...

Whoever is thinking of stealing it...

I can only pray that they can die in peace.
