

Y. Goddess 131

Chapter 131 A Noble Challenge

Kabaaamm!!

Bllaarr!!

The deepest cave, where the Golden King Bear enjoyed the magic core of the King and Queen Slime, exploded and spewed out all of its evil magic energy and created an open space with full destruction.

The thick-colored fog and black clouds that emitted electricity were signs of weather anomalies that no one expected. A sign that was the same as a walking disaster that was ready to hit anything in its path with a proud sense of absolute destruction.

When all the A-class adventurers were drowning in fear due to being exposed to the overflow of evil magic energy from the Golden King Bear, a male adventurer was staring intently at the Golden King Bear, whose body had been devoured by evil magic energy, drastically changing the appearance of the Golden King Bear main body.

The body of the bear monster, which previously only looked big and had a golden crown on top, had now changed into a bear with long tentacles behind its body. The strange change had made all the women in his adventurer party scream with horror and disgust.

"Yuck! Tentacles like that again? Why is it that our work lately always has to do with tentacles!" grumbled one of the women who was flying using levitation magic with clothes similar to a witch.

Her pointed and wide hat showed that her position in the adventurer party was as the main attacker who deal big damage with her magic spell attacks.

Baamm!!

"Don't blame our luck that has been rotten lately, compared to attacking the hidden cult group in the Aurora Kingdom Capital, this one job is still much more relaxing and enjoyable especially seeing the daughter of Marquess Rommel who has caught my attention," said one of the women who was seen wearing thick white armor with religious symbols from the Aurora Goddess Shrine.

"Even seeing this monster that only exists in history books makes my body eager to crush that head with my hammer blow!" Following her body which looked big and had muscles, the thick white armor attached to her body looked harmonious with the large hammer that was her main weapon.

"You always say that at every opportunity, is that how big your passion is to hit monsters using your large hammer? Yep... although I am very helped because my job is only to provide support magic and protection magic from behind," said one of the women wearing a white robe with religious symbols that also came from the Aurora Goddess Temple.

"Hey, can you all calm down a bit? Our Party Leader is observing the opponent who will test our worthiness in hunting this strange Golden King Bear!" shouted one of the women wearing polite clothes like a noble but without any attributes that showed her noble family.

While all the women were talking to each other in a state filled with chaos, a young man appeared who had stuck one of his swords on the ground and was observing the situation before his eyes meet something.

His Medium Armor was filled with sword cuts and became a sign of the achievements of the adventurer's career that he had gone through, a sign that his experience was not that of a low-level adventurer.

The young man's sharp gaze was like an eagle observing the condition of its prey before pouncing on it.

Under the pure evil energy that came from the Golden King Bear, the adventurer party group looked normal as if they had experienced something more terrible than this Golden King Bear hunt.

In the midst of his sharp gaze observing the situation, the man saw unknown figures gathered around the Golden King Bear that had changed its body size to three times what he had expected.

"What is going on?" the man muttered after seeing the unknown figures wearing a military uniform similar to that worn by the daughter of Marquess Rommel.

The black military uniform with an elegant pattern and a cape showing the symbol of the Marquess Rommel family crest had become a beautiful sight that spoiled his eyes.

That was because the young man's eyes had a high intensity of magical energy sensitivity compared to the average wizard. Even for an adventurer who used a sword as his main weapon, the man felt that his eye talent which was too sensitive to magical energy was only useful when observing the strength of his prey.

"This sight makes me want to meet them."

"Is this one of the combined forces owned by Marquess Rommel and Earl Timoti?"

The man quickly shook his eyes after seeing the combined forces of Marquess Rommel and Earl Timoti trying to evacuate themselves who were drowning in fear and fainting.

"No, they are not the combined forces of Marquess Rommel and Earl Timoti."

"Then whose forces are they?"

Question after question crossed the young man's mind along with his sharp gaze that saw the cape containing the symbol of the Marquess Rommel family fluttering on their bodies.

"Could it be... they are Lily Schwartz De Rommel-sama's forces?" the man muttered in a small tone.

The wind that blew past him did not stop the man's eyes from observing what was happening in front of him.

"Leader, what are you looking at that you have such a serious expression?" asked one of the women while pushing her magic staff onto the man's shoulder.

"I am merely observing what they will do," replied the man while pointing at the mysterious figures surrounding the Golden King Bear.

The adventurer party's gaze was fixed on the figures surrounding the Golden King Bear. Under the threat of the evil magical energy overflow that could bring curses and calamities, the mysterious figures seemed to not care much about their physical condition and were not negatively affected by the evil magical energy overflow from the Golden King Bear.

"Are they human? I wouldn't dare approach the Golden King Bear who is entering an unstable phase from its random magical energy overflow like that," said the witch while raising her witch's hat slightly to get a clearer view of what was happening.

"Whether they are carrying out their duties faithfully or trying to kill themselves, we don't have to help them, right?" the question that was in accordance with logic and reasoning came from a woman who had a neat suit like a noble.

Bzzrrtt...

Zzzrrtt...

Suddenly, a magic protofon tools sounded and emitted a voice that came from Lily Schwartz De Rommel.

[To all adventurers and the combined forces, I permit you to retreat after seeing the impossible situation like this.]

[The Golden King Bear has received sufficient magic supply from an object that we believe to be a cursed sword from one of the religious sects that worship the Goddess of Destruction.]

[This information has been validly known based on the observations of Marquess Rommel and Earl Timoti.]

[For the next step, let me and my companions take care of this Golden King Bear problem.]

[You will still receive a fair payment for your hard work in taking care of the corpses of the Golden King Bear herd.]

Bzzzrrtt...

Zzzrrtt...

The sound produced by the magic protofon tools was cut off and the main party that was hunting the Golden King Bear was astonished after hearing Lily Schwartz De Rommel's words.

"Is it just me or are we doing a Quest for free with blind wages?" said the female magician in the adventurer party.

"It seems that we are considered useless main hunters for the daughter of Marquess Rommel. Seeing her great magical energy and her attitude that always causes hostility. I can feel that this is done to prevent greedy adventurers from making stupid moves that will cost lives," said the woman in a neat noble suit.

"Eh? Does this mean we are paid just to watch?" replied the female magician while sitting on the ground and watching the mysterious figures that were increasing in number surrounding the Golden King Bear.

"I guess so, just ignore the rude and cold attitude of the noble daughter of Marquess Rommel. It seems like she is acting like that to reduce the number of casualties that will fall when this natural disaster is almost perfect to destroy everything."

The man was silent when the members of his adventurer party said terrible things about the person who had hired them for an emergency Quest.

His pride as an A-class adventurer was slightly tarnished especially with his inability to step forward to refute the order given by Lily Schwartz De Rommel.

The order filled with insults and precautions that reduced casualties was enough for him to obey.

The young man pondered and took a snack from the rations food box provided by Marquess Rommel.

As he opened the rations food box and took one of the snacks, the man said, "We will stay here while we monitor the situation."

Nod...

Nod...

Nod...

Nod...

All the female members of his adventurer party agreed with that decision.

While enjoying the rations food box given by Marquess Rommel, the man began to look up at the sky and saw a large dragon with red scales flying around the body of the Golden King Bear.

The man's eyes which were sensitive to magical energy could see a terrifying, large surge of magical energy in front of his eyes.

As his mouth opened wide in amazement at the sight, he saw the daughter of Marquess Rommel jump down in front of the Golden King Bear.

"Huh?"

"What?"

The young man was amazed when he saw Lily Schwartz De Rommel descend without using her magical energy.

In front of the source of the disaster, the girl bravely challenges Golden King Bear a fight without using magic.
