

Y. Goddess 149

Chapter 149 The Moon and Warm Dinner

Under the bright moonlight, a group of adventurers enjoyed dinner from the supply rations they get for three days and three nights of hunting the Golden King Bear herd.

A bonfire that had burned charcoal and wood became their heat source to warm their bodies.

Among the adventurers, there was one adventurer from the Royal Capital of Aurora who had gained a lot of reputation and led their trusted adventurer party to get a Class-A rating.

While other adventurer party compositions used the right human resources for the right job, this adventurer party relied on one person to do many things and put many other things open to be filled with skills that fit the situation.

The adventurer party consisted of one man and the rest were occupied by women for a total of five people. An unusual party composition but had extraordinary skills that made all male adventurers very jealous of the presence of that men in his adventurer party.

The flames of the campfire that lit and burned the charcoal until it was finished made their dinner filled with warm food.

While stabbing the charcoal and wood that were almost burned out, the young man was seen taking off his Medium Armor and showing his sweaty body.

"I didn't expect someone to be able to survive against two disasters like that," said the young male adventurer as he stroked his hair which looked stiff from sweat from his fatigue.

"Calamity Disaster, those two unusual threats should not have been able to be fought directly. But in the end, it was the Marquess Rommel family that solved their problems without the help of adventurers. Are we needed as adventurers who help hunt the Golden King Bear herd?" said the young man as he rested his body after becoming a living witnesses to the battle that would become a legend in the years to come.

The young man's words received nods of agreement from the members of his adventurer party which was filled with beautiful and sweet-faced young women.

Two of the members of his adventurer party were worshippers of the Goddess Aurora who carried religious symbols from the Temple of the Goddess Aurora, they looked like temple girls under the auspices of the Saintess.

"It seems like it will put Marquess Rommel's family in a complicated situation after returning from their family vacation. I got some information from the noble family that Marquess Rommel's family's neutrality has had a big impact on the noble families involved in the military," said a girl who looked like a noble in the adventurer party.

"The departure of Marquess Rommel's family who disappeared just for a family vacation seems to have opened up new opportunities in politics between the nobles. That gives our party a wide opportunity to take jobs from the noble families," continued the girl who looked like a noble.

"You can take advantage of a pressing situation like this? I am truly impressed by your abilities. However, is it okay to face people who have found out your identity and who have now become an adventurer?" replied the young man while taking some of the dinner that was warmed by the roar of the campfire.

The dinner they were having was baked potatoes with simple seasonings such as salt to fill their rest time at night.

Ptaarr...

Ptaarr...

The sparks of the campfire that burned and writhed in cooking their baked potatoes began to make a hissing sound indicating that their baked potatoes were done.

With a smooth movement, the young man took one of the baked potatoes that was already cooked and ready to be eaten by him.

"It doesn't matter, even though I am a noble, It just a small family who has a small title as a Baron family, with that... I can move freely compared to the Marquess Rommel family who has a title far above the Baron family like me," the noble girl also took one of the baked potatoes that was already cooked and sprinkled some seasoning on it.

"This noble and that noble, such a complicated situation is not my responsibility as a witch who lives only to meet the increasingly difficult needs of life!" exclaimed a girl while moving her pointed witch hat upwards.

Her body which seemed to be flying in the air immediately caught the attention of the adventurer party who was relaxing after a day of hunting the Golden King Bear herd that had been slaughtered by something.

"Compared to us, you're a free witch who just wanders around and joins other adventurer parties randomly, right?" the noble girl replied while playing with her fork, she was enjoying her dinner before got a surprise attack from the witch girl with her skirt lifted to reveal her panties to be shown to the young man who was sitting not far in front of her.

Blush...

"Hyaa!! W-What are you doing!" with her loud scream, the noble girl immediately jumped and covered her panties with her skirt.

"Y-You! Y-You must have done it on purpose, right!" grumbled the noble girl while shouting at the witch girl.

"Eh? I have no idea what you're talking about," replied the witch girl with an innocent expression on her face.

"Phew... Phew... That didn't come from me, maybe it was the winter wind that blew suddenly to pull your short skirt," said the witch girl while floating her body following the wind.

The noble girl tried to hold back her emotions and now stared at the young man with a blushing face while saying, "Did you see my panties?"

The young man who quickly turned his face away immediately shook his head to prove that he did not see her panties.

"I didn't see anything," the young man answered briefly with his eyes closed.

The noble girl who was not sure about the young man's answer immediately asked her final question.

"What color are my panties?" asked the noble girl with a gentle smile on her face to provoke an honest answer from the young man.

"B-Black? I thought..." replied the young man who was easily provoked.

Baaamm!!

Plaaakkk!!

The noble girl quickly slapped and punched the young man's cheek hard.

The sound produced from the slap and punch had attracted the attention of other adventurers.

Braakk...

After the slap and punch were given, the young man's body fell to the ground with physical wounds that decorated his handsome face.

"Pervert!"

"Ecchi!"

"Hentai!"

Various voices that judged the young man's perversion had been said by the noble girl and made the young man feel the cruel accusations that insulted him.

"I-I didn't do anything wrong," the young man grumbled when he felt the painful wounds on his face and the insults as if he were a perverted young man.

"Even though you could have answered other colors wrong! Why did you answer with the right question!" grumbled the noble girl with an expression of annoyance and shame at the same time.

"Y-You always buy black underwear... Kuuhuu!!" when the young man replied to his words based on his experience of seeing the girl buying all-black underwear, he felt a hard jolt towards his head.

Thoomm!!

Thoomm!!

"Guuhuuu!!" The young man received a kick and a smack from the noble girl.

The screams of pain from an innocent person like that made the two girls who were followers of the Goddess Aurora feel sorry and rush to provide first aid in the form of healing magic.

"You are so unfortunate..."

"This is the retribution for a pervert..."

The two girls who were wearing religious attributes from the Temple of the Goddess Aurora expressed their respective views on the perversion shown by the young man.

"I-I only guessed the color of her underwear," grumbled the young man whose handsome face had been battered by the noble girl's feet.

"You guessed it right and even knew her habit of always buying black underwear, if not perverted... what else?" an unknown voice broke the silence of the adventurer party.

With a strange voice that suddenly came and gave a reality check that the young man was very perverted, it made all the girls who were part of his adventurer party nod in agreement.

Nood...

Nood...

"Right, it's very perverted if you already know my habit of buying black underwear, Eh?" the noble girl who suddenly realized the presence of a strange voice that appeared unexpectedly immediately directed her gaze to the figure.

A girl with silver hair and light brown skin filled her eyes. The figure that reflected the moonlight on her silver hair showed her natural beauty that could not be compared to other women who stood parallel to her.

The girl was wearing a black military uniform and a cape that displayed the Marquess Rommel family crest. Seeing the Marquess Rommel family crest flying in front of her, the noble girl immediately bowed her body to give a respectful greeting to the noble figure who had a title far above her noble family title.

"Good evening, Lily-sama," said the noble girl while giving Lily a warm greeting.

"Oh, good evening. You seem to know the manners of a noble who is paying respect to a noble family far above her family's noble title. Are you a noble too?" asked Lily while giving the noble girl her red eyes.

Getting a cold stare from Lily who looked at her as if she was insignificant made the noble girl feel terrible pressure after knowing that Lily was able to face two monsters on the same level as the Calamity Disaster.

"I-I am just a small noble who lives with the title of Baron, Lily-sama," replied the noble girl while lowering her face.

"Baron family? Were you sold by your own family to become an adventurer to fulfill the needs of your own territory?" Lily asked with her attitude that looked arrogant and cold.

"N-No, Lily-sama. I was not sold by my own family. This is my decision to run away in a forced marriage conflict between nobles."

"Hmm... Forced marriage huh, just like me in the past," Lily replied while looking at the noble girl carefully.

"Uuhh..." the noble girl bit her lip after answering Lily's question.

"Sorry if I made you remember your bad incident of being forced to marry someone and running away to become an adventurer. Umm... maybe this sounds very sudden... would you like to accept a Quest from me for a payment of fifty gold pieces?" Lily said while giving a sharp gaze that made the noble girl's body shudder.

"W-What kind of Quest is that?" replied the noble girl with cold sweat starting to fall from her cheeks.

"This quest is very simple, the female members of this adventurer party only need to kiss my lips," Lily said with her tongue wetting her lips.

"Huh?"

Lily's words had made the noble girl and the female adventurer party silent for a few moments before screaming in panic.

"EEHH!!"

"HAH?!"

"WHAT THE FUCK WITH THAT QUEST!"

"AAHHH!!"

The panic made Lily receive a scream that made her ears ring and saw all the members of the female adventurer party in a state of confusion.

Lily now smiled waiting for the answer.