

Y. Goddess 150

Chapter 150 Princess Anastasia Pouts

After attending the evening tea party hosted by my mother, I immediately set foot to wander around the Mansion where I live without being accompanied by anyone.

The snow that had re-appeared and the sight of the adventurers resting made me curious about what they were talking about.

As far as my experience interacting with adventurers who happened to stop by a place that was my family's vacation destination, I had heard their thrilling adventure stories several times.

Their goals in becoming adventurers had various backgrounds, such as wanting to travel to numerous places, overcoming fear of past failures, escaping from responsibilities that burdened their lives, and many other reasons that made me even more amazed at their life choices to become adventurers.

That admiration was shown by their two-faced attitude when dealing with clients who were able to provide large salaries for trivial, light work.

Even adventurers with a guaranteed Class-A rating were not free from cheating that was only known by their abilities.

A real example of that happened right before my eyes.

Some Class-A adventurers who were relaxing seemed to not understand how to use the corpses of the Golden King Bear herd and lower the price of their raw corpses.

In fact, in the basic book instructions owned by the Adventurer's Guild, they had several special staff who were able to dissect the corpses of hunted animals so as not to reduce the quality of the goods and lower the selling price.

However, that was not a problem for me because the point of hunting the Golden King Bear was to reduce the population of the Golden King Bear herd that had invaded with the amount of payment that had been set by me and the decision of the Adventurer's Guild.

If only they got the difference in the selling price of the corpses of the Golden King Bear herd, then it was not a problem that involved my family.

Among the adventurers who had Class-A levels, several young adventurers started to bother me for a while.

That was because the look in my eyes seemed to give information about themselves that would be wasted if I didn't do the Linked Ritual.

When I was attending a evening tea party, my eyes seemed to be forced by the Yurification System to establish a Linked Ritual with them.

If my memory serves me right, that adventurer party only had five members with an unusual party composition.

My small guess was that it was the young man who served as the leader of the adventurer party and it seemed that he had made the other men feel jealous after seeing him surrounded by women.

Speaking of such an adventurous party composition.

I who had read the magic book of one of the Great Heroes knew that a party composition where there was only one man and surrounded by women was called a harem party composition and for some reason... it was very popular among the Great Heroes in the past.

"Should I try make a adventurer party that contains women too? Like that harem composition?" I muttered a little while walking in a random place.

"If my adventurer party only contains women... can it be called a harem party too?" I continued my small mutter without caring about an answer because this was just a stupid question of mine that did not expect an answer to.

While I was walking around the Mansion where I lived, I saw the small party that I had been looking for.

At that moment, my eyes were filled with various transparent writings from the Yurification System.

What caught my attention was the presence of a star witch, a strategy analyst, an overtime healer, and a walking fortress that used the blessings of the Goddess Aurora.

All of that information was addressed to four girls who were currently relaxing enjoying their baked potatoes and making small jokes.

I didn't dare to approach them because of the presence of a man who made me feel disgusted at his innocent face as if he had no sins.

"I want to approach them and form a Linked Ritual, but how?" I muttered a little while activated my ability to walk silently without being detected.

My light and silent footsteps brought me one step closer to them. Their jokes that seemed familiar to each other seemed to show their closeness who were able to joke around in a lewd and naughty way. Especially with jokes that bring a woman's pride through her underwear.

Such jokes made me think twice about approaching them because my panties were often the subject of jokes from my Goddess like making my sweaty panties a magic catalyst.

It sounded strange but somehow it became a real magic catalyst.

The phenomenon that was hard to explain made me wonder if the panties I was wearing and sweating would always be the perfect magic catalyst.

It was sad because the answer to that question was true.

A magic catalyst created from the holy sweat of a Saintess that settled on my panties.

It sounded quite perverted but holy at the same time.

Ugh, is this why Zoe and her spirit sisters liked my panties that had become magic catalysts so much?

If this continues, then I look like an endless supply of food sources for Zoe and her two spirit sisters.

Plaakk!!

Buugghh!!

While I was thinking about something else and hiding myself without being noticed by them, I could hear the sound of a loud slap that knocked someone down.

I immediately observed the situation near me and realized that the young man was in a state that did not allow him to pretend to be innocent after knowing the girl's habit of always buying black underwear.

I had suspected this before and this young man was a true pervert. His innocent face mask was now removed, revealing himself who looked helpless after receiving a hard slap and blow from the girl who had a polite noble-like dress style.

Two women wearing robes from the Aurora Goddess Temple rushed to provide first aid by chanting a healing spell.

At that moment, I started to move closer to them and released my silent technique that had made them ignore my presence.

A small conversation occurred after I accused the young man of being a pervert and my desire to give a Quest in exchange for a Linked Ritual with them.

"EEHH !!"

"HAH ?!"

"WHAT THE FUCK WITH THAT QUEST!"

"AAHHH !!"

A unique reaction where the four girls screamed together and made me stand waiting for their answer.

"L-Lily-sama... Forgive me for asking such an impolite thing. W-Why would Lily-sama give us a Quest like that? Does it include our adventurer party leader?" asked the adventurer girl who used the noble attribute.

If I answered her because I wanted to form a Linked Ritual with them, it would raise another question and make it difficult for me to answer it.

So, I decided to give an answer that would make her shut up and accept it easily.

"I'm not interested in that young man, I just want to kiss the four girls who make my heart beat fast like this," while saying a cliché sentence that would make anyone who saw it shudder, I confidently said that sentence and approached the adventurer girl noble.

My hand immediately grabbed her shoulder and gave a gaze that locked her gaze on me.

"Is the reward from this Quest too small for a cute girl like you?" I asked further while bringing my lips closer to hers.

When my lips were about to touch hers, my ears suddenly got a soft pull with a soft word that made me shiver, "What are you doing, Lily?"

The cold and piercing words came from Princess Anastasia, I immediately glanced to see her and realized that Princess Anastasia seemed to have run to reach me and let her mouth exhale hot breath due to the hasty running.

"Huft... Haah... W-What are you doing, Lily?" asked Princess Anastasia once again while pulling my arm after my glance caught her attention.

"Princess Anastasia, don't you sleep to rest your body?" I asked while looking at my surroundings which looked awkward.

"How can I sleep if I see my love partner flirting with another woman in front of my eyes!" grumbled Princess Anastasia while pulling my body to sink into her embrace.

Our bodies touched each other and gave me a warm feeling that made me forget that this was still a winter night.

"Muuu!! What are you thinking about? A naughty purpose to make me feel hurt?" asked Princess Anastasia as she hugged my body and laid her head on my big breasts.

"I didn't plan on doing that," I replied while standing up straight to accept Princess Anastasia's hug as she buried her face in my breasts.

"Liar! I saw you wanting to kiss another woman. Do you want to give me another love rival after my rivals have inhuman powers like Ciel and Sia?" continued Princess Anastasia, who made me confused by her sudden strange behavior.

What is happening to Princess Anastasia?

Why is she acting strangely like this?

Does this have anything to do with the Quest I will give to these adventurers?

Princess Anastasia looked at me as if she wanted to do something.

Her trembling body and her gaze filled with sparks made her look like a woman who wanted to get something from me.

The words given by Princess Anastasia made me look like a woman who likes to play with other women's feelings, but that's not true!

I have no intention of playing with the feelings of other women who have a special relationship with me.

"Don't you want to see me kiss another woman?" I asked Princess Anastasia whose body was still shaking while hugging my body.

Her large breasts had become an outlet for her, who looked like she was pouting at me.

Princess Anastasia immediately shook her head to deny my question.

"Y-You can kiss other women if you kiss me first!" said Princess Anastasia in a firm tone and pulled her head that was originally resting on my big breasts.

"Is that all? I can do it as long as I can kiss their lips," I said with a soft smile to Princess Anastasia.

"Kuuuh! Lily is a perverted and naughty girl! Teasing me like this to get another woman. Isn't getting a Princess like me is enough for you?!" said Princess Anastasia while giving a small punch to my body.

Poomm!!

Poommm!!

In that small punch, I tried to push my body to give a soft kiss to Princess Anastasia's lips.

Chuussppp...

The soft kiss made the adventurers who were watching me gasp and were surprised to see my closeness to Princess Anastasia.

My soft kiss that touched her lips was wrapped in a soft touch that stroked her long hair.

On a winter night like this, I made Princess Anastasia breathe deeply after her lips received a passionate kiss from me.

"Does this allow me to kiss their lips?" I said after releasing my kiss from Princess Anastasia's lips.

Princess Anastasia still looked pouty and her hands were holding the collar of my military uniform.

"D-Don't give them a long kiss," Princess Anastasia replied with her soft tone and a blush covering her entire face.

"M-Make sure to kiss me again after kissing them, Lily..." Princess Anastasia muttered softly before she covered her face with both of her hands while blushing.
