

Y. Goddess 163

Chapter 163 Stealing Baked Bread

I felt calm despite the shame that filled my face, and I enjoyed the baked bread Hana had made with great happiness.

Kreess...

Kraaass...

The hard and crunchy texture on the top of the baked bread filled my mouth. The butter sprinkled on top gave a salty sensation that fit perfectly with the soft inside of the baked bread. That made my breakfast filled with simple dishes that made my heart happy.

Kreesss...

Kraasss...

While I was enjoying breakfast this morning, I could hear several footsteps coming from behind my body.

The footsteps came from several people who felt awkward approaching me and were gathering with three Saintess women. If I were added to that, at least it would be a gathering of four Saintess women. If only I had been recognized as a Saintess in this world.

Kreesss...

Kraasss...

I greedily ate the baked bread that Hana had made until I finished one. The warm baked bread made my stomach feel comfortable with the warmth provided by Hana's handmade baked bread.

If only this baked bread was served with warm milk, it would make this morning's breakfast more delicious.

When my ears twitched at the sound of footsteps approaching me, I was suddenly surprised by the appearance of two strange shadows behind my body. Based on their magic waves, it was Noel and Aiko who seemed to be doing something to surprise me in the morning.

With their thin presence and undetectable by Hana and Sia, it made them look like assassins who were sneaking up on their targets.

Even though their presence was thin, my eyes could see their magic waves thanks to the Linked Ritual that I did with Alice and Alyssa.

I was really lucky when I could detect sensitive magic currents thanks to my twin step-sister who was a genius in the field of magic.

While taking two pieces of baked bread from Hana's food basket, I immediately offered the two pieces of baked bread to Noel and Aiko who were hiding with their thin presence in front of me.

"Do you want to have this for breakfast too?" I asked Noel and Aiko who still hadn't released their technique of sneaking around with their thin presence in front of me.

Thanks to the winter weather in the morning, the cold steam from my breath had hit their bodies and revealed their position standing right in front of me who was sitting here.

Suuurtt...

Ppooff...

Slowly, Noel released her sneaking technique and her body's presence became more pronounced in front of my eyes. Her body which was wrapped in invisibility magic immediately showed herself bowing respectfully like an Exclusive Maid who was on duty serving me.

"Good morning, Lily-sama," said Noel while bowing respectfully and lowering her head to greet me.

Along with Noel's increasingly visible form, Aiko also showed her form by giving a military salute that seemed to have just been learned by her because her military salute movements looked more awkward and unnatural.

"G-Good morning, S-Supreme Commander!" Aiko said in an excited tone.

A Maid who is part of the Black Maid Division and a girl who comes from the evolution of stealth slime, this is an unusual combination of two individuals who are able to sneak around and do suspicious things with their thin presence technique.

Luckily for me after knowing that these two individuals are figures who have sworn loyalty with their high self-esteem.

If only they were both enemies, perhaps the Marquess Rommel family would have had a hard time before being able to fight back.

My hand was still holding two pieces of baked bread that were heading towards Noel and Aiko.

Those who were still giving me polite salutes made my hands a little sore after offering them two pieces of baked bread.

"Yes, good morning to you girls. Now... do you want to eat baked bread with me or not?" I replied while feeling my wrists starting to ache as I was offering them two slices of baked bread.

The still-warm baked bread was emitting hot steam that made the cold air of this morning clearly visible to the naked eye. The cold steam from the winter and the hot steam from the fresh-looking baked bread just taken off the grill, would make everyone not think twice about rejecting it, right?

Noel immediately stood up straight and showed her alert attitude as the Exclusive Maid who replaced Mio, with her awkward hand movements, she looked like she wanted to grab the baked bread from my hand but was restrained by her respectful attitude that did not want to cross the line between her job and being my Exclusive Maid.

"It seems that I must refuse that, Lily-sama," with her graceful attitude, Noel seemed to be about to refuse the baked bread offered to me.

"In the norms of politeness carried out by Exclusive Maid, I actually should not eat what my own Master has eaten," Noel tried to act like an Exclusive Maid who had been educated with strict discipline, but I could see her eyes peeking and observing my hand that was holding a piece of baked bread.

"So, you want to refuse my gift?" I refuted with a gentle smile towards her.

"You want to refuse this gift from your Master just because you follow the Exclusive Maid etiquette guidelines?" I seemed to have found a gap to tease Noel with my slightly childish attitude.

"Uuhh... it feels like I'm not worthy to give a bribe to my Exclusive Maid. Even though I always feed Mio from mouth to mouth," I continued my words with a little mischief to Noel.

Braakk!!

Braakkk!!

"Huh?" when I said that sentence, I accidentally provoked something very dangerous.

Right beside me, Hana seemed to be clenching her fists, and her facial expression was filled with her dark eyes. Her facial expression seemed to be filled with a black shadow that didn't know where it came from but I could feel that Hana seemed to be thinking about something.

Ignoring Hana who was thinking about something, I slightly pushed aside the bad feeling that was slowly filling my body.

Swallowing this unusual bad feeling, I immediately bit one of the pieces of baked bread into my lips and approached Noel.

"Would you rather receive a bribe from me than receive a piece of baked bread from my hand?" I said to tease Noel further.

When I asked that question to Noel, I could feel someone pulling my arm and it turned out to be Hana.

Hana's attitude and behavior changed again from usual.

Her trembling body and the hand that was pulling my arm seemed like she wanted to say something from her small mouth that was covered by a black shadow on her face.

"Lily... do you always do things like that to your Exclusive Maid?" Hana asked suddenly with her face now looking at me.

Her facial expression was filled with curiosity and a little jealousy was very clear on her face. A pure picture of a Saintess girl who couldn't lie about her feelings of jealousy.

"Yes, I often do that considering Mio is my Exclusive Maid who has taken care of me since I was little," I replied by turning my gaze to Hana.

"Is that so? Does that mean Mio is more special in your eyes?" Hana replied with a look in her eyes that was filled with tears and suddenly showed a fire filled with rivalry.

"Of course, she is one of the special people in my eyes because our relationship was formed when I was a little girl," I seemed to start to understand what Hana wanted to talk about.

"Muuuu... I feel upset after hearing that. At least lie to me a little to reduce the jealousy I'm feeling, Lily..."

Hana suddenly pushed her body closer to my lips which were biting one of the pieces of baked bread.

The conversation that I had been doing since earlier still had not received an answer from Noel who left the piece of baked bread on my lips. The piece of baked bread was suddenly stolen by Hana who was now biting the edge of the baked bread.

Kreesss...

Krruusss...

The sound of Hana biting the piece of baked bread that was being stolen by Hana herself began to enter her mouth.

In a condition like this, I couldn't do much and immediately held the piece of baked bread from falling after being stolen by Hana's mouthbite.

Talking and holding a piece of baked bread in my mouth is easy, but it feels different after feeling a beautiful and cute thief biting a piece of baked bread on my lips.

Kreesss...

Kruuusss...

Piece after piece stolen by Hana's bite immediately approached my lips.

My lips which were holding a piece of baked bread at the end immediately got a sudden attack that required my lips to touch Hana's lips.

In one last piece of Hana's bite, I could feel that Hana's lips had touched mine and accidentally crushed them as if she were trying to eat my lips.

Sluurrppp...

Chhuuu...

The kiss that happened suddenly was triggered by Hana who stole the piece of baked bread that was being bitten on my lips.

The kiss could be said to have happened suddenly and intentionally by Hana because she was annoyed by the answer I gave earlier.

My lips accepted Hana's lips which were given with a soft and sensual touch.

Our lips that touched each other began to lick our tongues alternately.

This looked like a soft kiss that came from the annoyance of a Saintess girl who suddenly did a despicable act by stealing a piece of baked bread on my lips to vent her jealousy.

In the kiss that turned into a sucking tongue, I felt a strange, and make a funny sensation in my lower body. A warm feeling where this would be filled with more love when my body could hug her tightly.

My hands reflexively circled Hana's hips who had moved closer to me.

"L-Lily?" Hana released her tongue that was sucking my tongue until she broke our sticky kiss.

"I-It's too early to go any further..." Hana said with her face filled with a pink blush.

"Haven't we gone this far?" I replied while observing Hana's face which was being choked by her heavy breathing after kissing me.

After one of the pieces of baked bread on my lips was stolen by Hana, there was only one piece of baked bread left in my grasp.

"Uuhhh... I-I know but... this is too embarrassing to do further!" Hana grumbled who was now turning her body to cover her awkwardness and embarrassment.

Hana who had turned her body suddenly took a step back and sat on one of the gazebo chairs, her face filled with a pink blush was immediately covered by her hands and she looked down.

"Kuuhhuu..."

"It's so embarrassing if it's done further..."

I could hear a small murmur from Hana's mouth who seemed to have realized her embarrassing act of sucking my tongue in her lip kiss.

"W-Why can I do such a lewd and naughty act without hesitation?" continued Hana's mutter which made me feel a little guilty after receiving her kiss and tongue licking that caressed my tongue.

I unconsciously licked my lips with my tongue which still felt Hana's tongue licking.

It tasted sweet.