

Y. Goddess 169

Chapter 169 The End of Forest Pest

Baaamm!!

Kaabaaaamm!!!

Daabaaamm!!

The battle between Aiko and the mushroom that she thought was a forest pest was fierce. Various kinds of magic were cast by Aiko until she looked like a magic maniac girl who tried to cast all her magic to kill the forest pest mushroom that was growing in my private bedroom.

This was the first time I saw Aiko showing an expression on her face that seemed to hate the mushroom that was growing and had self-awareness.

Standing in front of the entrance to my private bedroom, I was greeted by an attack of root vines that began to move to attack me, who was standing still. My eyes, which were used to seeing fast attack movements, immediately avoided it by stepping to the side calmly.

Syyuuttt...

Ctaarr...

The squeak of the plant vines that moved to attack me seemed to indicate that I was Aiko's ally, attacking something invisible before my eyes. However, her body, which was able to sense danger, seemed to know that what Aiko was fighting was something dangerous if left to live any longer.

Moreover, Aiko's explanation made my body shiver with spores that were difficult to see with the eye, and then one breath I accidentally inhaled would take me one step towards death.

Seriously?

I felt like I was being hit by misfortune and bad luck.

A dangerous fungus like this could grow in my private bedroom.

I'm sure I saw the condition of my private bedroom was fine before!

Or I just didn't see it carefully.

Whatever it is, do your best Aiko!

Destroy the dangerous forest pest before my mother finds out that there is something interesting growing in my private bedroom!

Taapp...

Taapp...

Cttaass...

The fast attack given by the thorny plant vines was like a whip that continued to move toward my body. My eyes were starting to see slow down, I could see that the plant vines had fine thorns that would be very painful if they hit my skin.

"Gaaaahh!!"

Cttaass...

While I was thinking about something while avoiding the attacks that came towards my body, a scream came from Aiko who was hit by one of the vines with fine thorns spread on each vine.

Srraakk...

With one quick pull of the vine, it made Aiko's body torn and destroyed. With thin thorns growing around the vine, it made it look like a saw that was often used by forest lumberjacks.

Getting one attack from that vine would cause one of my limbs to be cut like butter hit by a blunt knife.

I don't want to exaggerate but it was very dangerous if I got hit by just one attack.

"Huufftt... Haaahh..." Aiko suddenly retreated towards me with her human body that had been cut off at the arm.

Teess... Teess...

A bright blue liquid that didn't look like blood began to drip from her severed limbs.

"Forgive me for never fighting before, Supreme Commander."

"I'm too bad at fighting and get seriously injured in my first battle experience," Aiko said as she reformed her severed limbs from the whip of plant vines.

"I will make sure that this first experience will make me one step ahead as a stealth slime fighter that my Supreme Commander can rely on!" shouted Aiko as she began to attack the plant vines that had been waiting for her to attack again.

The twists and turns of the whip made me wonder about a plant that had its own awareness. Unlike the Elf race who could control the power of nature with frightening movements such as bending woody plant stems, this was much more complex with small particles that triggered my danger detection ability.

With my body starting to feel the signs of danger approaching, I tried my best not to go too far into my private bedroom and chose to leave all of this to Aiko.

Without any weapons to use, it seemed like I would have to rely on my magic-casting abilities as backup support.

Luckily, I had a variety of support magic spells that could be cast from a distance.

Stretching out my right hand, I drew a support magic circle pattern to cast on Aiko who was struggling to attack a vine without knowing the original target that should have been easily attacked.

"This is my first time doing this, so forgive me if it makes your body feel a little strange."

"O darkness that is hard to see without the reflection of light... shine in the true darkness... Blackout!" with the chant of this one magic spell, I triggered a darkness of night around me and made Aiko into a speck of darkness that tried to eat the light around her.

The view of my eyes was starting to get dark saw several small dots in the air that became a gap from the body that was invisible and well protected by camouflage magic.

"It's so dark. But I can see what I should attack!" exclaimed Aiko who started to become a speck of darkness that tried to eat the light that was shining brightly in front of her.

In the darkness that slowly started to eat the sunlight began to shine brightly through the window of my private bedroom. I could use the momentum of this darkness to move towards a safe point after the vines of plants that attacked me had lost their attack target.

"Ah, so that's how it is. As a plant, you need sunlight as a source of your power, huh?" My little whisper that began to look in this darkness carefully and observe the movement of the whip-like plant vines had lost its accuracy.

The support magic spell that I had activated was Blackout.

As the name implies, it is a magic that creates a space where light will be devoured by darkness. My private bedroom which was brightly bathed in sunlight was suddenly swallowed by a pitch-black shadow that made it a little difficult for sunlight to penetrate it.

In that darkness, only Aiko and I could see clearly like a night hunter who was able to see her surroundings.

"Aiko, I have given you a favor that makes that things unable to see you in this darkness."

"Show your best ability to defeat the mushroom that has become a forest pest!" I shouted which echoed throughout my private bedroom.

Like an echoing voice that rang here and there, it created a sound wave that restricted Aiko's movements in fighting the mushroom that had consciousness.

"I understand, Supreme Commander!"

"I will finish this immediately and clean your private bedroom with all my might as a slime who is at the top of the food chain decomposer!" Aiko shouted with her loud voice that echoed around the room that had become dark.

Even though the room around us had become dark and there was not a single point of light shining, it did not make it difficult for Aiko to deliver a counterattack that was able to cut one of the vines that functioned as a whip.

"Hyyaahhh!!" with a roar that showed her position in this darkness, I seemed to understand that Aiko really did not understand the concept of utilizing a dark room for a sneak attack.

Slllaasshhh!!

Paaannggg!!

When Aiko's scream echoed along with one of her hands that turned into a sharp sword blade, it made her hand penetrate the vines that functioned as a whip to attack and made her accidentally deliver a fatal attack that hit one of the walls of my balcony that was filled with iron poles.

My long-range support magic chant seemed to give Aiko too much of an advantage. She never missed a single deadly attack while her opponent often missed until some of the furniture in my private bedroom was destroyed by her attacks.

Baaamm!!

Kaabbaamm!!

I, who was watching this from a distance, could only sigh lightly.

"Looks like I have to buy new furniture again after all this is destroyed," I muttered softly while continuing to watch the room that had become pitch black and saw the thin silhouette of Aiko moving nimbly in the darkness.

Swiisshh...

Sllaasshh!!

Ccttaass!!

Aiko's agile movements and the unsheathing of her hands that had become deadly sharp swords made me a little interested in teaching her a sword skill that came from the Mio family.

With her amateur technique, it would be a shame if Aiko's abilities were hampered because she was the first to experience a fight like this.

"Ahem!" I cleared my throat a little and give a small touch of Aiko's sword-fighting style.

"Aiko, can you listen to my words through the Soul Tame communication channel?" While using the Soul Tame magic chant that was personally connected to Aiko, I tried to give a little direction to Aiko to use this darkness as a deadly attack for herself as a stealth slime that is truly a terrifying specter behind the darkness.

[S-Supreme Commander?!]

Aiko replied to my question with her body movement suddenly stopping.

"Continue your movement, there are some vines that will attack you blindly in the darkness," I said to warn Aiko about what would happen next.

Following my words that were connected in the Soul Tame communication channel, Aiko looked around her dark surroundings and felt a whip attack that was spreading towards her through sound vibrations.

Aiko immediately jumped and avoided every vine that shot toward her body.

Baaamm!!

Kaaabaaamm!!

Baaamm!!!

Daabaaamm!!

The blind attack made my private bedroom a mess with all the broken furniture that began to scatter. In the darkness filled with this eerie aura, I felt that the main body of the mushroom that Aiko was fighting began to show its presence slowly.

This dark but clear view gave a surprise to the mushroom's body which was shaped like an umbrella head with plant vines that were shaped like tentacles.

"Ugh, tentacles again?" I grumbled as I continued to watch the mushroom from a distance.

"Are tentacles the highest anatomical form that a living creature like this can evolve?" I continued while turning my face away when I saw such a disgusting form.

[Supreme Commander, I know that the shape of tentacles like that looks bad and a little disgusting.]

[But it is the most suitable form to use in all conditions. A form that can coil, strangle, and grip an object tightly is the right choice for monsters like us.]

"I don't want to hear about those tentacles that lack creativity!" I denied it directly, not wanting to hear any answers that defended the tentacles.

[E-Eeehh... Uuhh...]

Aiko tried to give another answer but her body was too busy avoiding the attack that was heading towards her.

Sllaamm...

Baaamm...

With that one last attack, I could see the shape of a fat mushroom body with a strange liquid that looked like it was leaking out.

[Hoohoo... so that's how it is.]

[A dying forest pest...]

[It feels good to kill a dying forest pest.]

I don't know what Aiko said with her sudden movement of stabbing the mushroom's stomach until it exploded.

Blllaarr...

The explosion destroyed my bedroom's furniture destroyed.