

Y. Goddess 170

Chapter 170 Volume 2 - Epilogue - The End of My Winter Holiday

The last attack launched by Aiko had made the fat mushroom's body explode like a bubble of soap that had been hit by a small sharp object.

With the loud explosion sound, I could feel that it would attract everyone's attention. That was proven by my mother who suddenly moved quickly using the teleportation magic chant that was accurately beside me.

The transportation magic circle suddenly expanded rapidly as if opening another path to add someone who wanted to teleport with my mother.

Seeing the complexity of my mother's teleportation magic circle which was getting bigger and branching, it seemed that the sound of the explosion had made my entire family panic.

"Wow! It's so dark!" my mother screamed in her loud voice.

"Rommel-chan, are you coming in too?" continued my mother who couldn't see anything clearly in the darkness of my Blackout magic chant.

Snnaapp...

Snnaapp...

My mother tried to snap her fingers and I could see some light magic chants that wanted to illuminate this place but were immediately devoured by the darkness that seemed hungry and thirsty for a light source.

In this darkness, I could see my mother, father, and my twin step-sister who also teleported after hearing the sound of the explosion of the giant mushroom body that had been defeated by Aiko.

"Hmm? Why isn't my light magic chant shining?" behind this darkness, I could see my mother who was holding her magic staff, and her cute confused facial expression after not realizing that her light magic chant was not active.

I immediately smiled slyly to tease my family who were in absolute darkness like this.

By moving my silent footsteps and sneaking without a sound, I pulled one of my mother's hair and poked her cheek.

"Hiiikkk!! Rommel-chan! Please don't do that!" my mother shouted with a small movement trying to reach something from behind absolute darkness like this.

"I'm not doing anything, Amagi," my father refuted in a calm tone along with his alert attitude as he touched the hilt of his sword that was ready to be drawn at any moment.

"Please don't joke around when it's this dark!" my mother refuted in a high tone of voice.

"I am not doing anything right now," my father replied with a quick response.

"Kuuuh!! Y-You always tease me in times of darkness like this!"

In my mother's small panic who couldn't see clearly in the dark, I could only smile sarcastically after knowing that my mother was a little afraid of dark places that made her unable to see clearly. Together with the overflow of her magical energy trying to cast a light magic spell as illumination in the darkness, it indicated that my mother was very restless when she was in this darkness.

Carefully and placing a gentle touch on her cheek, I began to pull it slowly.

"Hiiieee!! Rommel!!"

Swuushh...

Feeling a soft pull on her cheek, my mother did everything she could to hit aimlessly. The magic staff in her grip was swung blindly without aim.

Wuushhh...

Swwwuushh...

The swing made her magic staff emit air friction until it occasionally hit my father's body who was standing not far from her.

"Calm yourself, Amagi. You could hurt Alice and Alyssa who also entered a dark place like this," my father replied while holding back every blow from my mother's magic staff that hit his body.

"..." I who saw this tried to stay calm and as much as possible to hold back my laughter so that it would not be heard until this excitement ended.

Wuushhh...

Swwwuushh...

"I don't care! As long as you stop teasing me in this darkness!" my mother shouted along with the panic of her body which gave blunt attacks in the form of her magic staff in all directions.

Since my mother was in panic mode for a while, my gaze was now fixed on my twin step-sisters who were holding hands as if they wanted to protect each other.

Their hands were clasped together and their magic staffs were ready to attack with a spreading attack magic chant in all directions.

I think that's too dangerous.

Oh, Alice and Alyssa, you can hurt Father and Mother with a spreading attack magic chant like that.

But that didn't stop me from wanting to tease them even more!

With slow steps and not making too much noise, I immediately walked to Alice's side who was on guard for an attack aimed at her.

Fuuuhhh...

With a thin gust of wind from my mouth, I gave Alice a surprise attack that was not dangerous.

"Hiiii!!" With that panic, Alice began to release her magic chant that moved in all directions and I gave a quick silent protection magic chant to my Mother and Father.

Baaamm...

The omnidirectional attack chanted by Alice triggered Alyssa to do the same thing by releasing the binding of her omnidirectional magic attack chant.

Baamm...

Luckily no one was hurt thanks to my quick silent protection magic chant. For the sake of safety from that little prank, I started tickling Alice and Alyssa's bodies together until their magic staffs fell.

"Hhhuukk... Eheheh... Waaahh!!" Alice who received my tickling attack immediately dropped her magic staff and now looked very panicked after losing her magic staff.

"Oh no! My magic staff!" Alice shouted which rumbled in this darkness.

After Alice's magic staff fell, now I had to focus on Alyssa who seemed to have more resistance to the tickling attacks aimed at her.

"Uuhhh... this feeling... isn't that you, Lily-nee?" whispered Alyssa who seemed to understand the source of this tickling attack came from me.

"C-Can you stop this little prank, Lily-nee?" continued Alyssa's small whisper with an expression on her face that could no longer hold back her ticklishness to laugh.

"Uuhhh... aahahh... Hahaha!" Alyssa's last defense began to waver making her release her magic staff until it fell.

Seeing my sisters who were currently unprotected from the tickling attack on their bodies, I again carried out an attack that tickled their bodies until they laughed receiving the ticklish attack.

"Ehehe..."

"Ahaha..."

Alice and Alyssa let out their little laughter that burst out laughing after receiving the tickling attack on their bodies. The tears that began to fall from their little laughter immediately flowed down their cheeks and gave an impression of happiness from laughing.

I who was tickling my twin step-sisters now stopped after Aiko who had finished her task stood looking at me from a close distance.

"What are you doing, Supreme Commander?" asked Aiko while standing alertly after her task of defeating the mushroom that was a forest pest was finished.

Thanks to the question given by Aiko, it made my little prank exposed.

I immediately released my long-range support magic chant in the form of Blackout to show this room filled with darkness filled with bright shining light.

Cttaass ...

With a snap of my fingers, I stopped my Blackout magic chant and showed the condition of my private bedroom which was now a mess with furniture that had been destroyed as a result of Aiko's fight with the forest pest mushroom.

Syyuuuttt ...

Like night changing into day quickly, it made my entire family who were panicking in the darkness immediately calm down.

Thhaampp ...

Tahhmaapp ...

After the dark situation became brighter, my wrist was suddenly touched by Alice and Alyssa.

"Onee-sama..."

"Lily-nee..."

With a look of annoyance and smug smile on my face, I could see Alice and Alyssa seemed to want to retaliate against the mischief that tickled their bodies.

With the sudden attack, I got a surprising attack from them. A kiss that filled my right and left cheeks from each of their soft lips.

The warm kiss given by Alice and Alyssa made me look like an older sister who was punished with guilt after teasing her younger sister.

"Uumm... Alice... Alyssa..." I who enjoyed the soft kiss from their lips now had to restrain myself from the movement of their tongues that began to lick my cheeks.

"Isn't this too much by giving my cheeks a lick?" I asked with a casual attitude after feeling the small mischief from their lip kisses that began to turn into small licks that caressed my cheeks as if marked by them.

I exhaled with relief.

My little prank was now repaid with another little prank from my twin step-sisters.

Aiko who was staring at me showed an expression of surprise about what had happened to me. An expression that showed that she did not understand what had happened.

"Lily, I think we should talk about this," said my mother from a distance with an expression in her eyes that seemed to want to tell me something.

The fear of the dark seemed to have disappeared from my mother and was replaced with the disciplined and rule-filled personality of Marchioness Amagi.

"Umm, Y-Yes?" I replied while standing still and enjoying Alice and Alyssa's tongue licking that began to wet my cheeks.

With the awkwardness after teasing my own family, I got a small punishment to make dinner that was completely made by my own hands. A small punishment for my prank, but it didn't make me regret it!

Along with the punishment that my mother had set. We started to clean up all the furniture in my private room that had been destroyed by the explosion of the forest pest mushroom body.

Aiko who felt responsible for exploding and destroying the furniture in my private bedroom also started to clean it up by devouring everything.

Her disgusting slimeball body started to work hard to eat all the remains of the mushrooms that grew in my private bedroom. In addition to the mushrooms that grew in my room, it seemed like several other rodents started to form a household in my private bedroom.

I immediately handed all of that over to Aiko who seemed professional with this task.

All I was doing now was relaxing with my family while cleaning up the mess left by Aiko's battle against the forest pest mushroom.

If only the battle had been a little late and my mother had noticed, it would have made my private room used as her research.

Luckily that didn't happen.

My private room was still safe from my mother's curious touch.

Yes, it made me feel relieved and lucky after getting help from my own family to clean up my private room which was filled with special things built by nature.

After a day of cleaning my room from the inevitable destruction, I immediately made a special dinner for my own family without getting any help from other busy maids.

The special dinner ended with a report on the progress of the cleaning that had been carried out through the Rommel Mansion Cleaning Operation which was recently revised by my mother to become a deep cleaning after my mother saw the condition of my private bedroom which was filled with various existences left by nature.

With this warm dinner, I could feel that family was a comfortable place to eat while giving dinner to our guests such as Earl Timoti, Princess Anastasia, and the three holy girls who had become Saintesses.

This special dinner made me feel truly blessed by everything.

I feel lucky when I was born and blessed like this.
