

Y. Goddess 174

Chapter 174 Stealth Slime Empowerment

The information given by my Goddess made me ponder for a moment.

A word that bothered me had been spinning around in my head. A word that destroyed the balance of this world even after the era of the Great Hero ended.

Reincarnation or rebirth using the memories of a previous life, was a term I had read in the magic book of the Great Hero in the past. A proof left behind to record an incident in the past where someone reincarnated fought with the Great Hero because of a clash of ideologies.

I didn't want to make the destruction that happened in the past happen again in the present.

Unlike the Great Hero in the past who was summoned to this world using holy power from an artifact blessed by the Goddess Aurora, now I had to face someone who was reincarnated from another world to this world with memories still in their head.

"This will be very troublesome," I grumbled a little in response to my Goddess's words.

[I didn't know that this reincarnation was too perverted and dangerous to become a disgusting boy who liked to tease a woman like that.]

[Even though in his previous life he had died because he was too busy dating various women.]

[I thought he would immediately repent after being given a chance to live again after being hit by a truck, it turns out his life is the same.]

Hearing the words of my talkative Goddess, now I miss Mio who is reforging the cursed sword.

After several weeks of disappearing without any news, it seems like Mio has had a hard time reforging the cursed sword so there has been no news from her until now.

I even sent Noel to see Mio's condition, but there was only a report that Mio's family home was tightly closed with the chimney in her blacksmith's room constantly burning.

"I think you should be more selective in seeing a human, my Goddess," I said in a small tone to give her advice.

Along with my footsteps and gaze that walked along the corridors of this Mansion to the end, I immediately stopped after the small inspection that I was doing had ended.

"I don't think we found any traces of forest pests that grew after being cleaned by Aiko," I said while looking at Princess Anastasia and Hana who were accompanying me on a small walk to do the inspection.

"You are too thorough for this, Lily," said Princess Anastasia with her small breath that was out of breath after walking with me.

Unlike Hana who looked normal, she seemed calmer and still observed the walls of the hallway with her eyes.

"There are no remnants of moss and fungus left, I think the deep cleaning of the stealth slime herd has been successful," she said while giving a small compliment to the stealth slime herd for their hard work.

"I think they deserve a day off as a small gift from me, cleaning one Mansion for several weeks must have drained a lot of their magic power," along with my words, I briefly saw several stealth slime herds who were using their human forms wearing several maid uniforms to help clean the outside of the Mansion.

The direction of my gaze made Princess Anastasia and Hana immediately look outside the Mansion, they saw several groups of stealth slimes playing around using water taken from a bucket to wipe the walls of the Mansion until they were shiny clean.

"They work hard huh?" said Princess Anastasia who seemed like she wanted to take one of the stealth slimes to work in the Royal Palace.

I didn't want to think badly like that, but the look in her eyes gave me a perception of that.

Through her little words, Princess Anastasia suddenly let out a small sigh.

"If only I had one slime that could clean my room from dust and dirt in the air, I would definitely work hard without feeling the heavy stress from the stupidity carried out by the nobles of the Aurora Kingdom," grumbled Princess Anastasia told the source of her stress about her job as a Princess who drives all the policies of the royal family behind the scenes.

I understood what Princess Anastasia said after reading the invitation letter that was full of insults like that.

If only the nobles in the Aurora Kingdom were righteous and did not cause so much trouble, then my family would not be a neutral family that can now do anything freely after not being tied to one political interest in the Capital of the Aurora Kingdom.

But from the eyes of other noble families, the presence of Princess Anastasia who was on vacation at Marquess Rommel's residence seemed to show that our family still had a close relationship with the royal family.

At least this was still better than me having to be engaged to that hopeless trash. Speaking of that trash, was he still a candidate for King to lead this Aurora Kingdom in the future?

"Uuhh!!" just by thinking about that trash's face, I experienced an excruciating pain in my head as if I didn't want to think about something impossible to happen in the future.

With his behavior like trash, it would bring the Aurora Kingdom one step closer to the final trash dump.

A dark future with only destruction on every side of the road.

I tried to forget about that unimportant thing and walked towards one of the rooms connected to the main entrance of the Mansion.

"If you want to employ one of the stealth slimes, I can arrange it as long as they get the appropriate salary and benefits," I said in reply to Princess Anastasia's small mumble who expected the stealth slime's ability to clean her private room from dust and dirt.

I wouldn't mind if one of the stealth slimes could eavesdrop or copy some secret information from Princess Anastasia's private room.

Just think of it as a mutually beneficial relationship between Princess Anastasia's clean private room and me getting important information accurately from Princess Anastasia.

"Really? You can arrange one of the stealth slimes to work in my private room?" like getting a gift addressed to her, Princess Anastasia looked very happy after seeing me able to give a gift that she really wanted.

"As long as they are treated properly," I answered briefly with a small nod.

Princess Anastasia's gaze was filled with sparkling lights that made her look very happy with the answer I gave.

By giving an answer that made her happy, it made me feel happy too because my relationship with Princess Anastasia seemed close and harmonious.

"Lily, can I ask one of the stealth slimes to clean my private room in the Aurora Goddess Temple too?" after Princess Anastasia's request got a positive answer from me, now Hana looked like she wanted to get what Princess Anastasia had gotten too.

With her pleading and sparkling eyes too, it made me too weak to refuse her.

"Ugh, this is a cunning way to ask me with a look like that," I grumbled a little with a voice that was held back in my mouth.

"Can't I get it?" with Hana's pleading eyes that continued to attack and left no signs of stopping before getting what she expected, I was forced to submit to her request with some special conditions.

"Can a monster like a stealth slime enter the Aurora Goddess Temple?" I asked while asking Hana an important question.

Cttaakkk...

With a snap of her fingers, Hana summoned one of the spirits that came from within the Aurora Goddess Shrine.

Cliinngg...

With a sudden burst of holy magic energy, I saw a heavenly holy dragon spirit that had been bullied by Zoe and her sister.

"Oh, we meet again, cute little dragon," I said to greet the heavenly holy dragon spirit that had formed a contract with Hana.

"Huukk!! This human!" with a little panic from its dragon wings that suddenly spread, it seemed to be keeping its distance from me.

"Vasilica, please behave yourself with my good friend... I mean my love partner," said Hana with an introduction that was ambiguous enough for me to hear.

"Eh?" as expected by a spirit who didn't understand the words that Hana had said, Vasilica looked surprised and opened his mouth wide.

"I-I didn't hear you wrong, right?" asked Vasilica with his dragon wings flapping up and down.

"You heard right, starting today you have to respect Lily like your own mother!" Hana said, pressing some of her tone to control the rejection that Valisica was about to say.

As if he couldn't do anything else, Vasilica looked depressed by Hana's words and gave up. His spirit body which looked like a newly hatched dragon baby started to fly towards me and stood still on my shoulder.

"N-Nice to meet you, Mama," Vasilica said in a tone that seemed depressed.

"Now! That's my good spirit!" Hana said with a cheerful smile on her face.

It seemed like I had just seen a heavenly holy dragon spirit submitting to the orders of a human who had been reborn as a Saintess.

"You can't refuse it, huh?" I asked in a small whisper that Vasilica could hear.

"You won't know what Hana will do when someone dares to refuse her orders," Vasilica replied in a small whisper near my ear.

When Vasilica was standing on my shoulder with both of his feet, Zoe suddenly came out from behind my hair to greet Vasilica with her butterfly forms.

"Yoo! Vasilica, we meet again!" Zoe greeted with a surprise using the pressure of her magical energy that began to bind Vasilica's body.

"Haaaa!! You also appear, you impudent spirit!" Vasilica exclaimed with his body starting to be bound by the magical energy that restrained his body.

With the movement of his body struggling and wanting to escape from the magical energy that restrained his body, it made my shoulders feel very heavy and I wanted to immediately throw Vasilica's small body up with a quick throw.

"Zoe, can you stop your... warm and friendly greeting?" I said to Zoe who was now starting to reduce the intensity of her magical energy that was restraining Vasilica's body.

"I understand, Master," with full obedience to my orders, Zoe began to reduce the intensity of her magical energy that had restrained Vasilica's movements.

"Puuaahh!! I almost died of shortness of breath after being pressured by that much magical energy. Where did you get that much magical energy from!" said Vasilica who now looked very annoyed and started to fly to catch Zoe.

With a quick movement, Zoe dodged and made the main entrance room of the Marquess Rommel Mansion filled with two spirits chasing each other.

Seeing Zoe and Vasilica running and being chased, it created several gusts of wind that made the dust and dirt spread again after being cleaned by the Maid who had been on duty earlier.

"This will make this place dirty again after cleaning it with so much effort," along with my soft breath, I began to exert a pressure of magical energy to stop Zoe and Vasilica's movements.

Baamm!!

With one breath of my large and dense magical energy, Zoe and Vasilica looked like mosquitoes that fell after being patted.