

Y. Goddess 190

Chapter 190 My Twin Stepsister Became My Cute Sister

My mother's tears fell after her eyes read an important document that had been given by a herd of stealth slimes who were infiltrating and spying.

Just like my father who felt that my mother's presence made his body shiver in fear, I also felt the same thing after my mother showed a thin smile and her cheeks were wet with tears.

It seemed that soon there would be a noble family that would be destroyed by receiving a magic attack spell given by my mother and that would make the entire Stealth Slime herd busy cleaning up the residue of her magic core that was causing invisible pollution.

"Oh, Amagi, are you here?" My father tried to act calm but I could see his body shaking slightly after feeling the strong emotion of anger coming from my mother.

Even with the naked eye seeing this, everyone would know that my mother was in her highest emotion of anger. I could understand that after reading several important documents that had made my mother's family and her previous husband's family attend a war between nobles in a struggle for territory.

A war that made Alice and Alyssa lose their biological father and made their mother a widow who was left behind by her husband who was killed on the battlefield. All of that happened after this noble family got a reincarnator who was born into their family.

Whether this was a coincidence of fate or indeed the wheel of fate that had turned, it made my stepmother marry my father to get help to pay off the debt of her noble family who had lost on the battlefield.

The debt between the nobles which was not small was successfully paid off by the Marquess Rommel family and financially was at a safe distance to provide long-term debt to my stepmother's noble family.

Even by lending quite a lot of gold coins to pay off the debt of losing the war from my stepmother's family, this family was still far from being financially poor.

"They did this to my family's in-laws before?" asked my mother with a look in her eyes filled with emotion to do something hasty.

Seeing the important document that should have been kept secret from my mother's eyes, it seemed too late and now my father had to face a terrible disaster from my mother who wanted to go on a rampage somewhere.

"Yes, and it makes me worried about what they will do in the future after some of our neighboring territories joined the opposition faction that seems to be getting pressure from various directions," replied my father who tried to calm down after experiencing an emotional surge from my mother's anger that had now calmed down.

"You don't mind sleeping alone with this important work on my desk, right?" The words given by my father sounded gentle and tried to calm my mother who had calmed down from her little anger that almost exploded after reading the important document in my father's hand.

"Isn't this the table that Lily owns?" replied my mother with a gentle smile to my father who started moving his hands by tapping his fingers on the table.

"Nope, this is my table from the assets purchased by the Marquess Rommel family finances. Technically this is a table that is owned by me," my father seemed to try to joke with my mother after experiencing something terrible that almost made my mother's emotions explode again.

"That doesn't mean you can stay up late, now go back to our room and sleep together. Forget about this important matter for tomorrow," My mother started to take some documents that my father was holding and started to pull his collar.

Srraakkk...

By pulling my father's collar, I could see a mother cat biting her kitten's shoulder to sleep at night.

Srrttooo...

The unusual sight made me a little stunned. Sebastian and the other Black Maid units gave their respects by bowing their bodies as they escorted my father to sleep with my mother.

I guess it's time to sleep too.

For that, I immediately looked at Mio and gave a small wink to her who would tidy up my bedroom bed before going to bed.

The small nod given by Mio began to show her skills that were able to make my bedroom bed sheets neater and clean the small dust that stuck to the sheets.

Using a few small brooms to sweep the sheets of my bedroom, I could see that Mio paid attention to the small gaps in my bedroom mattress to clean it quickly. Mio's skills made several Black Maid units give their appreciation with small applause.

"Lily-sama, do you need some Black Maid units to guard this important document until morning?" asked Sebastian who seemed to want to leave to do another task as my Father's Exclusive Butler.

"Momo, you don't need to sleep to do a guard, right?" I asked Momo before answering Sebastian's question.

Momo who was flying casually suddenly stopped.

"My Monarch, as a weapon that is ready to be used at any time. Do I need sleep time like a living creature that has a body to rest?" replied Momo with an answer that sounded coquettish to my ears.

"Did you hear that, Sebastian? Momo seems to be the one who will be carrying out the role of a guard every night while I sleep," I said to Sebastian who was still standing upright waiting for my answer.

"I understand, Lily-sama. I will leave your guard duty to your reliable weapon," with a small smile, Sebastian saluted by bowing his body before leaving my private bedroom.

Along with Sebastian's footsteps who hurriedly left my private bedroom, several Black Maid units also left my private bedroom after guarding duty was given to Momo.

Mio who had finished her task in tidying up my bed ready for me to sleep on it also gave her last respect by bowing her body.

"Good night, Lily-sama."

"Good night, Alice-sama."

"Good night, Alyssa-sama."

"Have a nice sweet dreams..."

Unlike Sebastian and the Black Maid unit who immediately left without saying goodbye, Mio gave her respect before leaving me and my twin stepsister.

"I hope you have sweet dreams too, Mio," I replied to say goodbye to Mio before going to sleep.

After Mio listened to my words, she slowly left my private bedroom and closed the door slowly.

My private bedroom which felt crowded before had become quiet. The only occupants in my private bedroom were Momo and my twin stepsister who wanted to sleep with me.

"Okay, do you want to sleep together now?" I asked Alice and Alyssa with a small smile towards them.

When I turned towards them, I was greeted with their flat faces and showed no expression.

My private bedroom which was starting to feel cold also started to feel lonely after they didn't show any expression on their faces which became stiff like statues.

Seeing my twin stepsisters who looked like they were thinking about something heavy in their minds, I started to approach and caress their hair at the same time.

Patt...

Patt...

With the small caress that I gave with love, my twin stepsisters' faces lifted and showed their eyelids filled with tears.

Seeing my twin stepsisters crying in silence like this, I reflexively hugged them simultaneously while my hands caress more their hair.

I think they share the same suffering as my mother.

On the one hand, my stepmother lost her first husband and ended up marrying my father for the reason of a political marriage to pay off the debt of losing the war.

On the other hand, my twin stepsisters lost their biological father and began to accept my father as a replacement for their biological father who died on the battlefield.

"I understand your feelings," I said in a gentle whisper to them as if I understood the pain they were feeling in their hearts.

Emotionally, they might look calm but I could feel their deep hearts of anger towards a noble family that had played with their family before.

Even though I'm not related by the same blood as my twin stepsister. I also experienced the same feeling of anger when this problematic noble family game threatened my family with their rotten tactics behind the scenes.

"I can't do much about what has happened but I can promise to destroy this barbaric noble family if they openly give a letter of invitation to war against them," with a small whisper that felt like giving a dangerous promise, I could feel that Momo was happy because she would soon be used as my main weapon in the war between the noble territories.

"However, revenge will not be satisfied if it is done half-heartedly, right?"

"For that, let's make allies with some of the Dark Elf and Elf races so that this revenge will be more enjoyable and satisfying," while giving an evil smile and playing the role of a villain girl, I gave words that were inappropriate to be said as a respectable noble lady.

Wearing a fake facial expression like a villain's smile, I let go of the hug and stopped caress my hands on my twin stepsisters' hair.

"What has happened cannot be changed, but we can change the future that will happen with the right steps."

"Can you give a sweet revenge with proper destruction to this noble family that openly opposes us?"

For some reason, I felt like I gave words that were quite dangerous for Alice and Alyssa to hear.

I couldn't take back the words that had been spoken and was a little surprised when their faces were filled with expressions that wanted to take revenge sweetly and properly.

I could feel that there would be an official war invitation between the noble families that challenged the Marquess Rommel family.

With my glance fixed on the large map of the Aurora Kingdom left by Sebastian, I smiled slightly at Alice and Alyssa.

"Did you see that? Our territory seems to have been surrounded by the opposition faction who are trying to do something in our territory without knowing that we have become a noble family that is free from finances, taxes, and other domestic matters," I said to get the attention of Alice and Alyssa who were now starting to show expressions on their faces.

I watched Alice and Alyssa's faces carefully.

The faces filled with burning hatred were slowly replaced by the calmness that should be shown as noble women.

"Onee-sama, do you want to make an expedition into the forest to ally with the Elf race and the Dark Elf race that Onee-sama mentioned earlier?" asked Alice who seemed to want to propose herself to join this expedition.

"Yes, that's right," I answered briefly.

"May I join this expedition, Onee-sama?"

"Of course!"

With that straightforward answer, I had gotten Alice to join this expedition.

Srruukk...

When Alice joined the expedition, my arm was pulled by Alyssa's hand.

"Do you want to join too, Alyssa?"

"Umm..." with a small nod from Alyssa's face, I got a cure answer from her.

"I'm so happy when my cute twin stepsisters... umm, maybe I should use my cute twin sister phrase for now on... I am happy with you two join this expedition, I'll die of boredom without my cute twin sisters!" with a happy feeling in my heart, I hugged their bodies until I pulled them onto the bed to sleep together.