

Y. Goddess 203

Chapter 203 Aggressive Stealth

By standing straight and letting Mio do her job well. I received a touch of military-style clothing that was far different from the word formal.

My previously wide-open cleavage had been covered by a thick scarf that matched the color pattern given by the military uniform of Earl Timoti's territory.

"I think this is enough to make Lily-sama look elegant and formal," said Mio while giving the final touch to the scarf I was wearing.

"Sorry to bother you again, Mio," I said while observing my appearance with the mirror that was being held by the woman in front of me.

"That has become my duty after becoming Lily-sama's adjutant, isn't the duty of an adjutant not much different from the duty of a maid?" asked Mio who was now looking at the woman who had accompanied us for some time before.

Due to the wrong size of the military uniform, we had to wait for an additional decoration to cover my cleavage that looked tempting and naughty like this.

The woman who was holding the mirror in her hand just looked with a strange smile on her face. Her nose which had finished bleeding was bleeding again.

"Um, your nose is bleeding again," said Mio who seemed to want to help herself by holding the mirror in her hand.

"Please don't mind me who is becoming a mirror like this. As the first person to see Lily-sama looking like this. I can't stand to act normally anymore," she replied with a strange smile that made the fine hair on my neck stand on end.

Along with that strange smile, I could see the woman laughing strangely and her eyes were fixed on me. Her strange laughter was in line with the increasingly uncontrollable nosebleed until her body fell to the ground.

Mio deftly took the glass mirror in her hand so it wouldn't fall and break.

"What's going on?" asked Mio with a curious expression on her face about what had happened to the woman in front of her.

Mio and I looked at each other before nodding not to be too curious about what had happened.

Several other female soldiers who were looking at me had the same gaze as the previous woman. Their gazes were fixed on my appearance which looked different with the addition of a scarf covering my cleavage which was now no longer visible.

I also let out a questioning facial expression together with Mio.

"Mio, it seems like I'm going to be the center of attention again for a while," I whispered to Mio who was standing holding a mirror.

"It seems so, Lily-sama. You're going to be the center of attention in Earl Timoti's troops like this," Mio replied while letting out a small sigh that felt like this time's task had become difficult because I stole the attention.

Could it be that my appearance looked strange wearing a scarf like this?

To make sure the situation didn't feel strange with my appearance, I immediately looked in the mirror that Mio was holding.

The reflection from the mirror showed my body which looked like a cold girl who covered her emotions along with a scarf wrapped around her neck that covered her cleavage.

A cold and firm girl wrapped in emotions that were tightly covered by the scarf she was wearing. That was my current figure.

"Is it just my feeling or do I look cool?" I asked Mio with a slightly arrogant tone of voice about my appearance.

"Lily-sama was already cool from the start. Maybe wearing this scarf makes Lily-sama even cooler than usual," replied Mio who didn't seem to know that I was trying to brag.

With Mio's answer like that, it seemed that I couldn't escape the gazes of people who were not used to seeing a military girl wearing a scarf like this.

"I think we should hurry out, Earl Timoti must be waiting with his troops," I said to divert my attention to my appearance after seeing the previous woman recover and stand up straight.

With my steps walking towards Earl Timoti who was preparing for the departure of his troops, I was surprised by the appearance of Momo and Zoe.

They had been waiting patiently at the place where goods and weapons were stored.

"Hoho... My Master looks cooler than usual. Did something happen that part of my Master's neck was covered with a scarf like that?" Zoe asked a question that piqued Momo's curiosity and quickly moved her butterfly spirit body to peek at what was behind the scarf I was wearing.

After Zoe managed to get inside the scarf I was wearing, a scream came from Zoe.

"Uwwoohh!! So this is the reason why my Master wears a scarf like this?!" Zoe's excited scream made Momo move her body closer and fly towards me.

"My Monarch..." Momo was a little curious about what Zoe had found and asked me as if giving her a look that wanted to tell her.

"Haahhh..." I took a deep breath after seeing Momo flying as if curious about what was under the scarf I was wearing.

With a slow hand movement, I slightly made the scarf I was wearing and showed my cleavage in this tight military uniform.

Seeing my cleavage like that, Momo just flew calmly before I felt Zoe's feet moving along my cleavage.

"Sorry Momo, this open access will be stopped for a while," said Zoe while flapping her butterfly wings as if covering my cleavage.

Hmm... if Zoe's wings could be a uniform decoration like this, why did I bother wearing a scarf to cover my cleavage?

My cleavage was covered by Zoe's butterfly wings, it made Momo a little furious after seeing the view of my cleavage at a glance.

"Hey! It's so cheating if you're the only one enjoying my Monarch's cleavage alone!" Momo shouted while turning her body and tapping my breasts with the tip of her Odachi sheath.

The tapping given by Momo looked like a weapon that wanted to enter my cleavage and it invited several laughing gazes towards me.

Compared to cute movements like this and enjoying their laughter, I felt a sense of shame if Momo did something like this to me.

"Momo, please stop this one embarrassing movement of yours," I said to stop Momo's movement which looked like she wanted to enter my cleavage that was covered by the scarf.

If only this military uniform wasn't too tight, maybe I wouldn't have to bother doing something like this.

Momo immediately stopped her action which invited laughter and floated quietly beside me.

Mio who witnessed this just stood quietly and watched her surroundings.

Her attitude returned to alertness after I came out of the changing room provided by the female soldier of Earl Timoti's territory.

Mio's sharp gaze made me look around.

Several groups of stealth slimes were seen walking around, watching their every step so as not to be noticed.

"They did their escort duties well," I muttered to praise the performance of the stealth slime herd not far from me.

I felt that this would be a fairly long sabotage journey in preparation for the great war that would occur in the future. Although in my heart I did not expect such a ridiculous and stupid war to happen, circumstances had forced me to do something like this.

I walked back towards Earl Timoti who had been preparing from a distance.

My horse and the horse ridden by Mio were getting special treatment from Earl Timoti directly.

I don't know what Earl Timoti was doing, it made my horse look calmer after entering this abandoned iron mine.

With my steps approaching Earl Timoti, it made him turn his face to look at me.

"You've finished changing, Lily-sama... O-Oohhh!!" As if seeing something unusual, Earl Timoti seemed to be seeing something that rarely happened in his life.

"I didn't know that Lily-sama could be this cool if she got a special touch from the hands of a makeup expert," said Earl Timoti further after seeing my appearance like this.

"Does it feel strange?" I asked Earl Timoti who continued to pay attention to my appearance.

"Rather than looking strange, this is like adding a new face to the military uniform that looks cool like this. I also just found out that the women's military uniform in my territory will be more fashionable in this way," through his words and small mumbles that began to be heard, Earl Timoti seemed to be thinking about something about this.

"This will make Lily-sama look more striking than blending in with my troops," continued Earl Timoti who gave his assessment of my appearance.

"Hahaha..." I could only give a small laugh about this little thing after bothering Mio earlier. Just to cover my cleavage from this tight uniform, I seem to have created a new style of clothing for the female military uniform in Earl Timoti's territory.

Whether this is a good thing or a bad thing, I can only hope that there won't be an incident that makes me the main source of news in Earl Timoti's territory.

"Sorry if I messed up the previous plan," I said in an awkward tone after Earl Timoti planned a big move to make me blend in with his many troops like this.

"I know that Earl Timoti plans to make me blend in with the troops like this so that our enemies won't find out," I continued my words while looking at his face which now looked confused about what to do.

"Since it's become like this, shouldn't we move more aggressively?" I asked while proposing a new plan to Earl Timoti.

"Move more aggressively?" Earl Timoti seemed to not understand my words and tried to think about it.

"Yes, before we entered Earl Timoti's territory. We found some wild animals that were used as spies by someone who could control animals," I said to explain my plan to Earl Timoti.

"Tamer abilities around this area? Only that person can do it..." Earl Timoti muttered a little who seemed to know something about the person who had the Tamer ability.

"Luckily, we managed to get out of the wild animal's reach by cutting off its ability with a surprise attack," I said while snapping my fingers.

Snaappp...

Cttaaakkk...

With a snap of my fingers that sounded loudly throughout the room in this former iron mine, I began to give orders to the herd of stealth slimes that had been preparing since earlier.

With that loud snap of my fingers, of course, several gazes were directed at me, and small screams from the soldiers who were surprised by the appearance of the herd of stealth slimes that slowly showed their human bodies.

Of the many stealth slimes that showed their human forms, I saw Sirius who kept her distance from me a little and tried to control her human body so that it would not break.

Sirius and several stealth slimes around me paid their respects by kneeling.

"Supreme Commander, we are ready to accept your orders," with words filled with persistence to get a chance to apologize to me directly, Sirius made good use of this opportunity based on the words given by Aiko from the Soul Tame communication channel.

With the appearance of this stealth slime, we have prepared to depart towards Earl Timoti's residence from the border between the noble territories more aggressively.

Without paying attention to the spies that are scattered.