

Y. Goddess 209

Chapter 209 - Rat Hunt (Sirius POV)

"Everyone! We have found a suitable prey to prove our worthiness as disgusting trash thrown in the trash!"

"According to the order given by our Supreme Commander, it is time for us to fight against those fools trying to peek at our Supreme Commander's identity information!"

"I know you are still upset with me after making the Supreme Commander furious, but this will be the turning point of our Supreme Commander's anger with warm forgiveness after we successfully carry out this one task."

"By any means, let's behead the rats who are peeking and chasing our Supreme Commander!"

With an excited voice, I gave an order addressed to the entire herd of stealth slimes that had spread around the Supreme Commander.

Because of my stupid mistake, I had stained my own Supreme Commander's face with my disgusting slime mucus.

As a result of my very stupid mistake, our Supreme Commander was furious, especially to me, who was the source of her anger that made Aiko a sacrifice.

"Uhh... Aiko... you're still alive, right?"

While thinking about Aiko who was still regenerating her body, I needed to make sure that Aiko's soul was still connected to the communication channel that our Supreme Commander had provided.

[Of course, I'm still alive, Stupid Sirius!]

[How long are you going to make me suffer like this!]

[Regenerating a destroyed body isn't easy, you know!]

"I understand your anger on that one, but please help us with this one task."

[Why should I help with an easy task like this?]

[Aren't you used to ambushing like before?]

"Ah, ambush, that's a good idea!"

"Thank you, Aiko!"

[Hey! At least don't ask every time you get a new task. I almost lost my concentration to reshape my body, you know!]

"Teehe~"

[Teehe~ what!]

For some obvious reason, I could understand Aiko's anger.

Well, in general... I am the source of the problem.

All of this happened because I couldn't control my human body properly and correctly so it shattered like a burst soap bubble.

Unlike other stealth slimes who can control their human bodies smoothly and properly, I was a little overwhelmed by the proportions of my human body which were too complicated in the breast area.

I don't know if this is a mistake or not, but the shape of my human body's breasts is too big for a human. That's what makes me feel uncomfortable moving and feeling the swaying of my breasts moving under the clothes I'm wearing.

For example, like right now. Wearing a military uniform similar to that worn by the Supreme Commander, we formed our human bodies to carry out an ambush.

By utilizing our slime mucus which can become thin and hard like iron, we create several sharp threads that can cut someone who crosses them.

This is a technique that has been used by my stealth slime herd because it has a high success rate in cutting our target's body precisely.

Unlike previous targets that moved controlled animals and attacks that required control so as not to kill, this time we were permitted to use weapons freely.

That's why, the ambush using slime-sharp threads began!

Using the same concept as the thread produced by the spider monster, we formed our slime mucus into a long thread with a sharp edge.

The one-way sharpness was enough to split a human head with just one swipe of its sharp blade.

Booiinnngg...

Pooiinngg...

When we found a suitable ambush point, I gave the order to spread the slime-sharp threads to behead the people who were peeking at our Supreme Commander from a distance.

"How dare they peek at our Supreme Commander in such a disgusting way," I grumbled a little, feeling angry when they used a disgusting object that could see objects from a distance up close.

It made me jealous because I wanted to feel the warmth of the Supreme Commander up close with that tool too.

[I think...]

[You don't need to do something disgusting like a stalker.]

"Aiko, I'm not a stalker."

"Is it wrong to want to get closer to the Supreme Commander all the time?"

"I'm not like you who can be relied on by the Supreme Commander, thanks to your ability to quickly adapt and get closest to our Supreme Commander!"

[I think you're one step closer to becoming a stalker with such a big desire and obsession.]

[If the Supreme Commander finds out about this, she will train you to the bone just like the previous seven pillars of stealth slime did.]

[I was bullied to the bone as one of the eighth pillars.]

[Oh, Goddess, please give this stealth slime the power to survive the bullying of my seniors.]

"Aiko, if they hear this one thing you said. I'm sure they will bully you even more."

"They are currently busy looking for information related to our Supreme Commander's enemies. So just a little... respect those who are fighting like a spy."

Even though my body is not human, I feel worried that the conversation between me and Aiko is heard by the seven pillars of stealth slime who are showing off their respective abilities to get a nickname worthy of the Supreme Commander.

"Ugghhh!!" when thinking of a nickname, I immediately remembered my mistake which made the situation even more chaotic.

I immediately shook my head to focus on the task given by the Supreme Commander.

Since the targets this time were people who occasionally stopped and kept a safe distance away, we had to place the slime-sharp threads at a position that was just right for the distance of those who were galloping their horses to get close to our Supreme Commander's line of sight.

Slaasshh...

Splaakkk...

When one of the slime-sharp threads was hit by the human skin that was riding a horse quickly, it made one of the targets fall with its head falling.

[Sirius, we have obtained one big target at our slime-sharp thread planting point.]

"Good job, that's quite helpful for us who are preparing for the second route."

"All of you! Quickly position your slime-sharp threads to ambush the second target!" I ordered the stealth slime who was on duty with me.

Under the fallen trees, we had planted slime-sharp threads that were ready to actively cut anything that passed by them.

The transparent slime-sharp threads were planted well and we were ready to carry out the second ambush attack according to plan.

From a distance, I heard the screams of people who panicked after their comrades' heads suddenly disappeared.

It sounded funny when they realized something was wrong.

"Just in case, please plant slime-sharp threads on their way back. I can feel their fear of wanting to return immediately after feeling the terror of a surprise attack like this," I said to the stealth slime who had launched the first ambush attack.

"Humans..."

"If they are afraid like this. At least don't try to use identification magic on our great Supreme Commander. I will not forgive humans who try to peek at information about the identity of our Supreme Commander!" I grumbled a little while feeling the radiation of magic waves coming from the air.

At that moment, I immediately looked up at the sky and found a bird flying controlled by magic.

For some reason, it ignited my emotions because I felt annoyed by this long-range spy attack.

"Tch!" with a click of my tongue and spitting out my saliva that moved quickly, it managed to hit the bird that was being controlled by someone from a distance.

The swift impact of my saliva made the flying bird burst like a soap bubble.

Pyarr!!

Splassh!!

"I didn't think they would still learn their lesson after failing several times," I grumbled a little, not wanting to miss a spy who managed to cast identification magic on the Supreme Commander.

[Sirius, I guess they're back soon.]

[Do we have to do this kind of cleaning with rats?]

"Yes, do as you wish since we've already received permission to be free weapons from the Supreme Commander," I replied to the question given to one of the stealth slimes who launched the first ambush attack.

"I'll thank you after I get an apology from the Supreme Commander."

With a happy feeling filled with gratitude, we managed to fend off several rats who were trying to cast identification magic on the Supreme Commander.

Far in the rear, I had divided three teams for this kind of rat-killing operation.

With two teams doing the rat sweep with a free weapons permit, we managed to eliminate the rats who were mischievously trying to identify our Supreme Commander.

[It seems like your task went well, Sirius.]

"Yes, my task went well and now we have to run at full speed to catch up with the other stealth slime team that is doing escort duty around the Supreme Commander."

[Haah... I'm glad no problem makes me come to scold your stupid self.]

[You can do something properly when you're under pressure, huh?]

I feel like I got an insult from Aiko's words.

Thinking back, I guess that's true.

I did get a lot of pressure after being the source of the problem that made our Supreme Commander hate the stealth slime herd for a while.

After this task is completed, I want to sincerely apologize to the Supreme Commander.

"Is that a compliment or an insult?" I replied to Aiko's previous statement.

[I don't know.]

[It could be a compliment because you carried out your duties well and properly after getting pressure as a substitute for me who usually led the stealth slime movement on the orders of the Supreme Commander.]

[It could also be an insult because you can only work well when the Supreme Commander is furious and hostile to all the stealth slime herds who have sworn loyalty to the Supreme Commander.]

Sluuttt!!

Cllaapp!!

Like getting Aiko's magic attack from a distance, I felt pain when Aiko's insults came by giving great damage to my heart.

"Should I be happy or sad after hearing this?"

[I don't know... have you become human enough to feel things like that?]

Jllleeebbb!!

"Uguh!!" once again, I received an emotional attack given by Aiko.

Whether this was a touch of sarcasm or an emotional attack intentionally by Aiko, she did it well.

I even felt this invisible pain.

While I was feeling that invisible pain. The team of stealth slime herds that had carried out an ambush attack had come to meet us who were moving after the Supreme Commander.

When we had gathered like this, a scene of Earl Timoti's troops heading somewhere was seen.

Using our stealth slime ability that moves in silence, we blend back in as stealth slimes that are carrying out our Supreme Commander's escort duties.

Behind the whispering sound of their horses' hooves, we move relying on silence and providing vigilant protection to our surroundings with high sensitivity.