

Y. Goddess 224

Chapter 224 - Evelyn True Skills

Swiinnng...

Thuudd...

Thuudd...

Under the moonlight, which slowly illuminated Evelyn's group's knife-throwing training ground, I observed Mio's teachings.

Mio's lesson used the example-and-do method. It was a simple method that could be used to experience hand to throwing of a deadly effectiveness weapons.

Just like a sword that becomes dull over time, Mio now had to deal with the durability of a blunt knife that became duller when used to stab the wooden log that was the target of the throwing knife.

Swiinnng...

Thuudd...

Thuuddd...

Using the right throwing position, several noble girls had mastered the technique of throwing knives properly.

Behind the darkness of the shady tree shadows, I felt the cold of the night starting to pierce my body. When the night approaching the morning time like this, this should be the right time to sleep and rest.

However, the training given by Mio had cut Evelyn's group's sleep time so that they could throw knives properly.

Among all the noble girls who showed optimal results in Mio's training, it seemed that... Evelyn has some problem while throwing knives.

I saw her having difficulty time to throwing the knife into stick the wooden log that was the target of her direct attack.

That made me feel the urge to carry out the order given by my perverted Goddess through the Yurification Quest.

"Haahh... this will be a long early morning if they train non-stop all the time," I grumbled a little while putting Momo on the tree trunk that was my shelter in the darkness of the early morning like this.

The midnight that had passed made me too excited to give military training to Evelyn's group.

"Sirius, I'll be busy for a while. I leave the situation around me to you," I ordered Sirius who was hiding behind a tree.

"I am ready to carry out your orders, Supreme Commander. We will work hard so that no pests will disturb the intimacy that you will do," replied Sirius who seemed to know what I was going to do.

"Sirius, I am doing this to add allies. Remember that..." I said while placing Momo on a large tree trunk that had become my shelter from the darkness.

"And Momo... you can help Sirius in patrolling while I establish intimate closeness as fellow humans who want to socialize with each other," I said, giving Momo the freedom to do something while I joined Evelyn's training who seemed to be having trouble like that.

Tapp...

Tapp...

When I walked closer to Evelyn, my ears suddenly heard a small whisper that Momo said to Sirius.

"By the way, how did you know that my Monarch wanted to do something intimate with another girl?"

"Oh, that... I can feel it just from the gaze of the Supreme Commander who seems irritated seeing the repeated failures before her eyes. Don't you feel the Supreme Commander's eyes itching to correct the failures of a woman who has difficulty throwing a blunt knife like that?"

"Aahh... you mean that young girl."

"Yes, that young girl. The Supreme Commander seems to want to scold her in a harsh style like she trained us in the past."

The words between Momo and Sirius were heard in my ears.

At least... try to whisper even lower. Your voices make me like a young girl who wants to scold the failure that should have been need corrected by taking the right steps.

Tapp...

Tapp...

When my footsteps approached Evelyn, I still saw her failures in throwing knives that always fell without piercing the wooden log that had been the direct target.

The sweat that wet Evelyn's face had shown her hard work that was commensurate with the stamina that was slowly leaving her body.

As my footsteps got closer to Evelyn, I could smell her fragrant body sweat and it made me want to immediately give an intimate touch to her exhausted body.

Swiiinnnggg...

Thuuudd...

Thuuudd...

Evelyn's knife throw failed again.

The more she failed, the more her throwing knife would become blunt.

The only way to make her throwing knife stick right on target was to shoot a force strong enough to force the blunt sharp blade of the throwing knife stuck into the wooden log.

Exhaustion and stamina that continued to drain made Evelyn almost lose her balance.

I immediately caught her body which had lost its balance and gave her a warm hug from behind her.

"It looks like you're exhausted from this intense military training," I whispered while hugging Evelyn's body from behind.

Evelyn who was exhausted and her stamina was drained from her body accepted my hug from behind.

"Lily-sama?" whispered Evelyn softly who felt embarrassed when she looked like a loser who couldn't throw a knife properly and on target.

From this distance, I could see the tip of the throwing knife that had become blunt.

Either she was too innocent or didn't realize it, she could have sharpened the tip of the blunt throwing knife by rubbing the tip on another throwing knife until it lost its bluntness.

"Evelyn, you're not creative and prefer to accept orders without improvising, huh?" I asked her with a blunt question.

"Um, hehe..." Evelyn seemed too tired to think and gave a small laugh as an answer to my question.

"With a blunt tip of a throwing knife like that. Sticking it into a wooden log requires a miracle, you know," I said while pulling her body to lie on my thigh which was covered by a military skirt uniform.

Sraakkk...

"Hyaaakk!!" Evelyn screamed whose body suddenly fell onto my lap.

"Take a break and think of a method to make the blunt knife you're using sharp again," I said while giving Evelyn a small hint.

When Evelyn's head fell on my lap, it got the attention of the other noble girls who were surprised by my closeness to Evelyn.

Mio who saw this just let out a heavy sigh and gave a signal to rest.

This tough and strict military training is over for today.

Mio seemed to be giving Evelyn and me some time alone.

With the early morning still long before the sun rose, I gave Evelyn's sweat-drenched hair a gentle caress.

"Lily-sama, why did you do this after seeing me as a loser like this?" Evelyn asked with a serious look in her eyes.

"Hmm? Fufu... you become a loser girl when the freedom to improvise and be creative has been taken away from you, right? Is that the result of Earl Timoti's military education that expects loyal soldiers who obey every order, am I right?" I replied with another question that invited a heavy sigh from Evelyn.

"Haha, it's like Lily-sama knows what happened inside Earl Timoti's residence."

"Anyone can guess after seeing something so obvious like that."

"Haha... Haaahh..." Evelyn gave a small laugh and heavy breathing that indicated something about herself.

"..."

"..."

Swiiisshh...

Silence began to occur between us and felt the cold morning wind that pierced the bones.

My thighs felt the warmth from Evelyn's head, it also gave me a naughty little idea after seeing Evelyn's body shivering with cold wind in the morning.

"Hey, Evelyn, want to sleep with me?" I said under the cold wind that made Evelyn's body shiver with cold.

"We can hug each other in the blanket to warm each other's bodies..." I continued my words like giving Evelyn a sensual temptation and licking my dry lips with saliva.

Sluurrppp...

My sensual tongue lick made Evelyn silent for a moment before her face was filled with a blush like a ripe tomato.

Ploopp...

"Huuuuu..." Evelyn suddenly covered her face with her hands and gave a cute moan.

Her face filled with a blush looked like she was being tempted by the sexual temptation that I gave to sleep together.

"But... I will only do that if you become more creative and release the limitations of your improvisation that have been shackled by Earl Timoti's military teachings. Remove all those shackles and show your true skills in front of me, Evelyn," through these words, I gave a speech that made Evelyn fall silent and release her hands that were covering her face.

"Can you show your true skills in front of me?" I continued my words while looking Evelyn in the eye directly after her hands stopped covering her face.

The blushing face immediately disappeared and was replaced by a face that was ready to do anything to prove her true worthiness.

"Can I do that kind of freedom to showing off my skills?" Evelyn asked as if expecting an answer that she wanted to hear.

"Evelyn... show your true skills and get rid of your disgusting loser attitude in front of me," with these cold-sounding words, I saw a confident smile from Evelyn.

Evelyn immediately got up from my lap and showed her serious face.

The blunt throwing knife seemed to get a touch of improvisation of throwing movements that had been taught by Mio. Its more wilder and her threatening hand movements seemed to give the potential victim a chance to run away from the reach of her throwing knife.

Evelyn threw her knife with a soft movement and the blunt throwing knife shot quickly as if chasing its target.

Sttaabbb...

Evelyn turned her body again and pulled the reach of her narrow hand stretch. That made a quick attack of throwing knives that shot in various directions.

Staabb...

Staabbb...

Stabb...

Her twisting movements and wild knife-throwing techniques made me smile widely.

I felt like I was watching a cat that had been kept until it was spoiled become a wild cat that could show cat wild prowess.

Evelyn's knife attack shot back to a target wooden log that was hidden behind the shadow of the tree. It was a secret target that Mio had prepared to test Evelyn's group's knife-throwing talent.

Staabbb...

Staabbb...

Staabbb...

The three hidden targets were hit by Evelyn's blunt knife throws.

Like a cute cat that had just shown its wild hunting dominance to its master, Evelyn immediately knelt in front of me after showing her true skills and abilities.

Her serious face made me acknowledge the greatness of this spoiled cat.

"Yes, I prefer your wild ability than your limited... looser ability. You also feel uncomfortable with that kind of hidden wild ability, right?" I said as I stood up and walked over to Evelyn who was kneeling in front of me.

"I think... Mio has acknowledged your ability too..." along with my words, I saw Mio who was shocked after seeing Evelyn's true ability.

That unlimited ability had made me find a cute cat who sometimes wanted to be pampered like this.

I unconsciously stroked Evelyn's head and heard her purring like a spoiled cat who was getting a reward for her hard work from her owner.