

Y. Goddess 237

Chapter 237 - New Hope And Enlightenment

Several members of the cult began to withdraw from the river that they were polluting with poison. From my perspective as the current Monarch of Holy Destruction, I could only see their behavior as they had to gain enlightenment before they died from the silent attack of the stealth slime herd.

[Supreme Commander, I received information from Mio and Evelyn who were a little overwhelmed in taking care of several members of the cult who were currently trying to escape.]

When I was feeling free time after making the woman in front of me return to the right path according to what the Goddess of Destruction wanted, I received a report from Aiko about Mio and Evelyn who were having a little trouble taking care of several members of the cult who were trying to escape.

I did not doubt Mio or Evelyn's ability to take care of several rats who were trying to escape. Their numbers were probably too many for their small group to care for. Even though there was Mio who could use some sword skills from her bloodline as a legendary swordsman, it still made Mio feel difficult to take care of a large number of rats like this.

"It can't be helped, deploy some stealth slime herds to help them," I said to Aiko in a small whisper so that it wouldn't be heard by the woman in front of me.

The whisper I gave was conveyed well in the Soul Tame communication channel and immediately received a reply from Aiko.

[Yes, I have made several plans for switching attacks after Mio previously carried out a long-range attack using throwing knives. For now, Sirius is working hard to take care of the rats that have escaped from Evelyn and Mio's group's ambush range.]

The answer given by Aiko gave me a little relief after the troublesome rats were being taken care of by Sirius.

If one of them got loose and caused chaos elsewhere, it would make them feel happy after becoming heretics whose ideals were outdated.

Along with Aiko's report that entered my mind, I was suddenly surprised by a rapier sword that suddenly flew towards me.

"Um, excuse me, do you need help, Monarch of Holy Destruction?" asked the cursed rapier-shaped sword.

"Hmm?" I just tilted my head after hearing her small words that sounded lazy just like Pyra who worked as my mother's trusted Head Maid.

"If you command me as a Monarch of Holy Destruction, then it will be my duty to fulfill the orders given by someone who occupies the second caste after the Goddess of Destruction," the words given by this cursed rapier made me realize my position which has been recognized as the right hand of the Goddess of Destruction.

"This will be a tough task for you," I replied while turning my gaze to the pile of corpses that came from members of the heretical sect.

"That will make you a traitor when dealing with other cursed sword holders, do you want to get a tough task like that by awakening your other sisters just like Momo did?" I continued my words while stroking the handle of the cursed Odachi which was currently on my palms.

"Momo?" she replied in a tone that sounded questioning.

"Oh! The Monarch of Holy Destruction means the cursed sword that has obtained its new body form?" continued the cursed rapier who seemed to be glaring at Momo who was in my possession.

"Damn... It must feel good when you become the main weapon of the Monarch of Holy Destruction. I envy you, Momo," like a girl who feels jealousy of another girl, I could see this cursed rapier flying around Momo's body which had changed into a cursed Odachi.

"If you are jealous and feel envious of me, how about making yourself a little more useful by hunting down members of the heretical sect who are currently running away like rats who have just lost their nest after being destroyed by a flood?" said Momo who suddenly entered this conversation.

"I have shared my magical energy with you, now use that magical energy to make yourself useful in front of the Monarch of Holy Destruction!" Momo exclaimed, looking annoyed at the cursed rapier which was currently flying in circles, observing Momo's body.

"Hmm... I still feel lazy about this. If my wielder understood how to use her magical energy properly, then I wouldn't be this lazy," replied the cursed rapier giving a reason that made Momo feel annoyed.

"Hey! From the start, you were created as a lazy cursed sword that wastes magic! Now try to learn to control your magical abilities more! How can you talk like that when you are just a greedy and uncontrollable magic sucker cursed sword!" Momo's annoyance seemed to peak until she gave a loud remark and made the cursed rapier fly away from her.

"S-Sorry about that," replied the cursed rapier along with the movement of flying its body that returned to her current owner.

"Hey! My stupid owner! Time to work hard to fulfill the orders of the Monarch of Holy Destruction!" exclaimed the cursed rapier while returning to the grasp of the woman who was currently praying.

When the cursed rapier returned to the hands of the woman who was praying like that, I could see her face full of sword cuts slowly healing.

The overflow of magical energy given by Momo had healed the physical wounds experienced by the woman who was currently praying to me.

Her tightly closed eyes and the position of her clenched hands above her breasts seemed to show that she was praying devoutly.

I, who noticed this could only give Momo a cynical look.

"Momo, what have you done to her?" I whispered to Momo.

"I didn't do anything, my Monarch. Maybe it was a blessing given by you as a holy woman who represents the Goddess of Destruction in this world. I think this is like a ritual that cleanses her sins to become a new person," Momo replied with an answer that left me speechless.

The woman's eyes slowly opened and showed beautiful eyes, bright blue like the sky. When the woman's eyelids was opened, her body was suddenly enveloped by a mysterious magical energy, and changed the robe she was wearing into the Temple uniform often used by the Saintesses.

Swiirrlll...

My eyes that saw this change suddenly and heard a whisper that entered my mind.

[Lily-chan, are you listening to me?]

My mind suddenly heard a voice coming from the Goddess of Destruction and made me answer her in a relaxed tone, "Yes, I hear you, Goddess of Destruction."

With a short and polite reply, I began to focus my thoughts on the call from the Goddess of Destruction that speak to me suddenly like this.

[It seems like the fools who worship me have caused some chaos that clashes with your Yurification System blessing.]

[Can I do a system merger that makes your Yurification System blessing form a new blessing that is a collaboration of three different Goddesses that support each other's blessings?]

In this uncertain situation, I was surprised by a choice given by the Goddess of Destruction.

"Is there a problem with the blessing that has been given to me?" I asked in a casual and light tone without offending the Goddess of Destruction.

[There is no big problem, just an error report from a system that is attacking each other's cores. I'm sure Lily-chan has experienced some major changes that occurred after receiving my blessing.]

Some of the words said by the Goddess of Destruction confused me.

Whether it was a vocabulary that I didn't understand or our different languages, I didn't understand the words spoken by the Goddess of Destruction at all.

The words she used were not much different from the words often used by my Goddess.

Whether it was a system, a bug, or an error. I don't understand it at all!

At least, give an understanding of the words you are talking about!

"Haaaahh..." For the umpteenth time, I took a deep breath at the situation that was happening to me.

System merger or whatever, at least I can only give the answer that my life has become yours.

If possible, please don't give me a shameful Yurification Quest in the future.

[Ah, I understand that.]

[It must be your Goddess herself who often uses Yurification Quest to satisfy her perverted desires, huh?]

"Unn..." with a small nod, I gave my agreement to the Goddess of Destruction's statement towards my perverted Goddess.

[You'll get used to it soon, Lily-chan.]

Hearing that short answer, I felt my hopes dashed and exploded instantly.

"It really can't be expected anymore, huh?" I grumbled a little at this.

[Yes, sooner or later, Lily-chan will get used to this.]

[Oh, by the way, I almost forgot to say this one important thing.]

[In the development of me, the Goddess Aurora's, and your unique Goddess' blessings, there will be some features that disappear and will return after they stabilize.]

[However, it could be removed or deleted for a new feature that is more suitable for Lily-chan.]

[So don't panic when that happens, Lily-chan.]

In the conversation between me and the Goddess of Destruction, I could only remain silent and try to understand every complicated vocabulary that I didn't understand.

[Ahhh! one more thing. The woman who is currently in front of you has become loyal to you. Use that woman's abilities and loyalty wisely, Lily-chan.]

"Huh?"

When my mind was filled with other things, I suddenly got a message about the woman who was currently in front of me.

"What do you mean by the loyal woman in front of me?" I muttered a little while glancing in front of me until my gaze met the bright blue gaze that seemed to be waiting for me.

"My Monarch? Have you finished talking to the Goddess of Destruction?" asked the woman who was not recognized by me.

"Eh?"

Through the reflection of the water from the fast-flowing river flooded with blood red, I could see my facial expression which faintly gave a surprised look.

Who is this woman?!

What happened to her?!

Why did she become a woman who looked holy and innocent like this?

In contrast to her appearance which was very delinquent and full of perversion. Now I see a young woman who has changed completely.

Her body which was covered by a black robe has now been replaced with a more polite Temple uniform and shows her face filled with a bright future.

I blinked a few times to make sure what I saw was real or a hallucination.

"Um, Momo, did I see things correctly?" I whispered to Momo.

"Where did that fierce and thug woman go?" I continued to whisper to Momo.

"My Monarch, it seems like the Goddess of Destruction has made her body pure again and can receive the holy blessings given by the Monarch of Holy Destruction."

That answer made my body shiver.