Chapter 3691

So, when Balder gave the promise of $30,000, everyone's heart was overwhelmed with excitement.

So, the pirates began to make preparations overnight, and all set out early tomorrow morning to besiege the Isu Shipping freighter.

On the coastline, a large number of pirates were overhauling their speedboats in all directions.

By the time the clock hit four in the morning, the vast majority of the pirates had gone to sleep, leaving only a handful of guards standing watch from a few high towers around the base.

As their base camp had never been attacked before, the men had no sense of crisis and were smoking cigarettes and chatting in twos and threes, just waiting for dawn to change shifts and go back to rest.

However, unbeknownst to them, in the darkness of the sea, a number of heavily armed frogmen, armed with silent electric propellers, approached the shoreline silently.

These frogmen were the generals of the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple.

The leader of the group was Chen Zhonglei, the second-in-command of the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple.

To Chen Zhonglei, asking him to assassinate an insignificant pirate leader did feel like killing a chicken with a slaughtering knife.

However, when he thought that this was extremely important to the armed escort business of the Dragon Palace, Chen Zhonglei did not dare to feel any discontent in his heart.

So, he personally led his soldiers and infiltrated Badr's base from the sea, just to give Badr a nice beheading.

Under the cover of the sound of the waves and the night, eleven generals from the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons landed very smoothly from a deserted shoal.

Chen Zhonglei divided the ten soldiers under his command into two, five of whom followed him to find Badr, while the remaining five lurked on the shore, looking for opportunities to plant bombs on these pirates' speedboats.

According to Wan Bajun's request, they were to quietly equip all the speedboats under Badr with remote-controlled bombs, and then detonate them after they had finished Badr.

Blowing up these speedboats would not only allow Chen Zhonglei and his men to retreat easily, but would also deal a huge blow to Badr's armed forces.

In this way, whoever picks up a ready-made opportunity and becomes the new leader will have to spend a long time reassembling his own fleet.

There are only two tools that pirates rely on for their livelihood: boats and guns.

Without ships, even guns would be useless.

This would not only make the next leader fearful of the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple, but also make an example of the pirates, so that the entire Gulf of Aden would know what would happen if they messed with the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple.

At this moment, Badr is lying between two young girls in a deep sleep.

In this place, he was the emperor of the land and lived a life of extreme luxury.

Just as he was sleeping, he suddenly heard someone heave in his ear.

The next thing he knew, his hair was being tugged hard, pulling him out of bed.

Badr opened his eyes and found himself being yanked by the hair of a strange yellow man, who tried to scream in terror, but immediately shoved two pieces of female underwear roughly into his mouth so that he could not make a sound.

The man who grabbed him was none other than Chen Zhonglei, one of the two surviving great kings of the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons.

He looked at the terrified Badr, smiled slightly and spoke, "Badr, on behalf of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall, I greet you!"

Saying this, he twisted Badr's neck a hundred and eighty degrees with a slight force with one hand!

Badr only felt a sharp pain in his neck and instantly saw the bed behind him.

In the bed, the two beautiful women he had spent the night with were still asleep.

The next thing he knew, his eyes went black and he lost all consciousness!

Chapter 3692

Badr, who was a great hero in the Gulf of Aden, never dreamed that his life would be taken so easily.

And in Chen Zhonglei's opinion, this kind of guy, who could not be on the stage, was lucky to die under his hands.

Afterwards, Chen Zhonglei gently put his body back on the bed again.

Badr's body was still in a front-up position, but his whole face had sunk into the pillow, revealing only the back of his head.

This image was a bit bizarre in its incongruity.

At this time, Chen Zhonglei took out a waterproof plastic cylinder from his bosom, and took out from it a pair of handwritten brushstrokes written by Wan Bajun, with only eight words on it: "God stops God, Buddha stops Buddha."

This piece of writing was the reminder that Wan Long Temple had left for the rest of the pirate organisation.

Chen Zhonglei quietly retreated from the room at this time, greeted his men who were on guard outside the door, and together they headed for the shoal where they had just landed.

The other five men had already loaded all the dozens of speedboats on the beach with remote controlled bombs, which could blow up all the pirates' boats at the push of a button.

One of his men handed the remote detonation device to Chen Zhonglei, who looked at the brightly lit pirate base and gently pressed the detonation button.

A few seconds later, the coastline of the pirate base suddenly sent a series of explosions, dozens of various kinds of speedboats, burst into a huge fire, and some were even blown up into the air.

With the intensive explosions, the entire coastline burst into flames.

The boats had just been refuelled by the pirates and were preparing to set off in the morning to attack the Isu shipping vessels, when their full loads of fuel were instantly set alight by the explosions, creating a wall of fire along the coastline.

It was also because of such a loud and dense explosion that the entire pirate base was awakened by all the people inside.

In Badr's room, two sleeping young women were also awakened by the explosion, and then they both hurriedly tried to wake up Badr, who was still lying motionless on his pillow.

At this push, one of the women instantly realised that Badr's body was square and his head was the complete opposite.

She was amazed, then she subconsciously pushed Badr and realised that his body had gone cold .....

This made her scream in terror, and the other woman was also frightened out of her wits at the sight of this scene and stumbled to run outside.

When the second leader of the family came running to report, seeing this woman barged out like a madman, the second leader of the family hurriedly asked, "Where is the boss?"

The woman said in fear, "Ba ..... Ba Del he ..... he ..... he is dead ....."

"What did you say?!" The second leader was instantly struck by lightning, and after coming back to his senses, he hurriedly ran into the room, only to find that Badr had already had his neck snapped.

The sight scared the hell out of him and sent a chill down his back.

He couldn't help but mutter, "What's going on ..... what's going on ..... what the hell did this ....."

Immediately afterwards, an answer suddenly flashed in his mind, "Could it ..... could it be the Ten Thousand Dragon Hall?!"

So thinking, he suddenly saw, in Badr's hand, clutching a piece of paper, which he hastily opened and found eight Chinese characters written on it.

Although he was the second leader of this place, he was not very educated, not to mention Chinese characters, he could not even recognize all the 26 English letters.

However, he suddenly remembered that he seemed to have seen these eight characters somewhere before.

Only after careful thought did he remember that the shape of these eight Chinese characters was very similar to the eight Chinese characters in the statement released by the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple during the day.

Chapter 3693

In this instant, he understood that all of this was the work of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall!

When he thought of this, his back was instantly soaked in cold sweat!

He had not expected that they had originally intended to besiege the Isu Shipping's freighter and the Man Long Temple's escort in the morning, but the Man Long Temple had acted significantly faster, and had killed them directly at their base camp without even waiting for the Tai Na vehicle!

He didn't expect that the Dragon Palace would be so powerful that in a base of thousands of people, the boss had been killed without anyone noticing!

It had taken Bader twenty years to build up this mountain, but in the end, his neck was snapped in his own base camp!

Moreover, the dozens of ships that Badr had saved up over the past twenty years were blown up by the Ten Thousand Dragon Temple in a flash!

His entire twenty years of hard work, along with himself, had been destroyed in this one night!

The Second Master immediately realised that since the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple had such ability, it was theoretically as easy for them to kill anyone on their side!

He couldn't help but take another look at Badr's tragic state, and felt a chill run down his neck!

At this moment, the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons had become a nightmare that would not leave his mind.

Just then, a soldier rushed in and shouted, "Boss, it's bad! Our oil tanks have been hit by a speedboat and caught fire, and now the fire is out of control!"

When the second leader heard this, his whole body instantly flinched.

Their oil tanks, which held nearly a hundred tons of petrol, were not far from the coastline and were not protected by any special protection in order to refuel the speedboats.

Although the boss was dead, the organisation still had to be maintained, so he immediately ordered, "Put out the fires as soon as possible! And evacuate the others as soon as possible!"

At that moment, the beach was lit up like daylight by the light of the fire.

A large group of pirates ran around the beach in a panic, some went into the sea to carry water to try to put out the fire, others with several kilograms of fire extinguishers in a futile attempt to spray towards the blaze.

Many others, fearing for their lives, were already far away, afraid of being caught in the flames and the possibility of an explosion at any moment.

A few minutes later, the second leader organised nearly a hundred men with whatever fire extinguishing devices they could find to try and put out the blazing fire on the tanks.

However, there was no fire extinguishing device suitable for extinguishing fuel at their base, so despite all their efforts, the fire grew bigger and bigger.

The second leader had no choice but to order everyone to evacuate quickly.

Immediately afterwards, a large number of pirates quickly fled in all directions.

A number of motor vehicles that had been parked nearby were also driven away by the pirates, fearing that they would be implicated.

After a few more minutes, the tanks suddenly burst into flames and a mushroom cloud, followed by a violent explosion hundreds of times louder than a thunderbolt, and a strong wave of air generated by the explosion!

The rows of simple houses closest to the tanks were almost all knocked down by the blast!

Those pirates who had only run a few hundred metres were also tossed to the ground by the blast, leaving the scene in shambles!

The explosion was so violent that several soldiers who were not strong enough could not even stand still in the aftermath of the blast.

Chen Zhonglei, however, stood still, the powerful blast wave did not allow his body to move a bit.

Seeing that the pirate base had been completely destroyed, Chen Zhonglei was satisfied and said to the others, "All right, let's withdraw!"

Immediately afterwards, the group immediately changed into their frogmen's equipment and dove headlong into the sea, disappearing.

Two hours later, another video exploded on the global internet.

This video was the live video of the big explosion at Badr Base!

At the same time, there was even more shocking news: Badr had been a*sa*sinated!

Chapter 3694

When the news of Badr's death was confirmed, public opinion around the world was in an uproar!

No one expected that Badr would die so suddenly!

Only yesterday, Badr had vowed to take vengeance on the Isu Shipping Line and at the same time get the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple out of the Gulf of Aden.

Just when many people thought that it would take a long time for the Dragon Palace to establish its authority in the Gulf of Aden, and they were all sweating for the Isuzu Line, Badr died in his own base that night!

Moreover, all the speedboats under his command exploded, along with the storage tanks at the base, leaving the entire base in a shambles.

Although the series of explosions did not bring a large number of casualties to the pirate organisation, it did cost them all their ships overnight.

For this pirate organisation, it was an absolute annihilation!

Without their speedboats, they have completely lost the ability to be pirates.

Although the Dragon Palace has not publicly admitted that they were responsible for the incident, this video was posted by the same account as the previous video of the Dragon Palace “releasing” six pirates at sea.

So the world’s internet users didn’t have to guess that Badr had definitely been killed by the Temple of Ten Thousand Dragons.

In an instant, the fame of the Temple of the Ten Thousand Dragons reached its peak worldwide.

For many years, people had only been expelling pirates from the Gulf of Aden, but this was the first time that the Dragon Palace had gone directly to a pirate stronghold and taken out the pirate leader.

The world’s internet users were blown away by the fact that the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons was so uncompromising and uncompromising that the internet was flooded with praise for the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons!

Today, the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall has become a universal hero!

On the internet, discussions about the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple have become a popular topic on major websites.

Almost all the media outlets that could be named were positive about what they had done, even though it was somehow unlawful, because the pirates had done so much evil that even the media stopped thinking about the law.

The death of Badr also scared the hell out of all the pirate groups in the Gulf of Aden.

In the past, when they went out to plunder, they fought if they could, and ran if they couldn’t. Even if they were caught, they were sure to be released.

For the pirate leader, all he had to do was send out his men and speedboats, and he could lie back and make money in peace and security at his base camp.

But now, such days are gone.

As soon as the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple entered the Gulf of Aden, it completely turned their previous playbook and rules upside down.

At the drop of a hat, they just went straight to their base camp and killed the pirate leaders, and blew up all the ships in the process, a way of playing to the death that made all the pirate leaders scared.

Anyone who is worried that one day they too will end their lives in their sleep by the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons.

Moreover, the Dragon Palace is so strong that they cannot even defend themselves against it.

What's more, the Temple's headquarters are not in the Gulf of Aden, so they can only be passive in front of the Temple, and they don't even have the strength to take the initiative.

The entire Gulf of Aden pirate organisation was in a state of panic.

Chapter 3695

Wan Long Temple's fame in the Gulf of Aden overnight, the entire armed escort situation instantly opened up, in order to take advantage of this perfect opening as soon as possible, Wan broken army immediately to Ye Chen, after reporting the situation to Ye Chen, asked him: "Mr. Ye, what should we do next?"

Ye Chen instructed, "I think we should have a face-to-face talk with these pirate leaders in the Gulf of Aden, tell them about our ambitions and attitude in the Gulf of Aden, and also let them know that the market demand for the Gulf of Aden escort, since the Wan Long Temple has decided to only take half of it, then we have to make them be sensible and not go against the Wan Long Temple in the future."

Wan Bajun immediately said, "Okay Mr. Ye, my subordinates will arrange it immediately."

Ye Chen then said, "It is impossible to kill all the pirates in the Gulf of Aden, and we are not obliged to purge the entire Gulf of Aden of pirates, as long as we can ensure the interests of the Ten Thousand Dragon Hall and the clients of the Ten Thousand Dragon Hall escort, it is the best outcome for us, so, next, you have to deter these pirates first, and at the same time establish a channel of information interaction with these pirates. "

That is to say, you have to make these pirates go through this channel to confirm whether this ship is a Dragon Palace escort or not before they make a move on any ship in the future. If they are not escorted by the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall, then the Hall will not ask them what they are going to do next.

Wan Bajun asked, "Mr Ye, in your opinion, what form should this interaction channel take? I am worried that if we establish contact with the pirate organisation directly, it will cause the outside world to have a microscopic view of us."

"Right." Ye Chen smiled, "If we have to feed information about the ships we escort to this group of pirates every time, the outside world will think that we are deadly friends, so we can't let them contact the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall directly, that would also bring down the identity and pushy status of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall.”

Saying that, Ye Chen added, “I looked at your intelligence network yesterday, and this kind of online platform approach, I think it’s very good.”

“The Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons can directly build an escort website, put the introduction and price details of the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons’ escort business on the website, and other shipping companies besides Isuzu Shipping can also submit their applications through this website if they want to hire the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons’ escort.”

“At the same time, we will also publish on this website, in real time, the information of each of the ships escorted by the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons, including the name, registration number and photos of the ships, after this information is published, those pirates, out of fear of the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons, will definitely open their eyes and take a good look before they make their move, as long as it is a cargo ship escorted by the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons, they will definitely get as far away as possible.”

Wan Breaking Jun immediately understood and spoke, “I understand Mr. Ye, I will have someone set up the website as soon as possible, and also immediately send a representative to interview these pirate leaders.”

Ye Chen was busy saying, “Broken Jun, our aim now is not to take the initiative to cooperate with these pirates or to make these pirates take the initiative to cooperate with us, but to set a set of rules of the Gulf of Aden game and force those pirates to have to play according to our rules, so although we have to interview them, we absolutely cannot take the initiative to contact them, otherwise once someone catches hold of us, they will think that we are cooperating with the pirates.”

Saying that, Ye Chen added: “You only need to have someone put out the news to the public first, say that the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple officially takes on the Gulf of Aden escort service from now on, and at the same time leave a mailbox as the contact information, let those ship owners who are interested in cooperation contact you first, I believe that after you put out this mailbox, those pirates will take the initiative to contact you, they are definitely eager to talk to the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple now. Talk about it.”

Chapter 3696

When Ye Chen said that he wanted to make a set of rules for the game in the Gulf of Aden and force all those pirates to play strictly according to this set of rules, Wan Bajun completely understood the pattern of Ye Chen’s work.

It was not difficult to be the one with the hardest fist in a region, but the one with the hardest fist might not be able to make everyone do what he wanted.

If one could become the rule maker in a region and make everyone, whether they wanted to or not, have to follow his rules, then this position was clearly a step higher.

Thus, he immediately said to Ye Chen respectfully, “Mr. Ye, I understand what you mean, I will go and make arrangements!”

At the same time, the other pirates in the Gulf of Aden were all on tenterhooks and uncontrollable.

Almost all the heads of pirate organizations, all coincidentally called all the speedboats back from the sea.

They were afraid that one of the speedboats would accidentally provoke the Dragon Palace again, so at this time they would rather stop all the looting than leave any hidden problems.

And when they recalled the speedboats, they didn't even dare to leave them at the pier and the beach, but used a tractor to tow them directly to the very centre of the camp and protect them closely, for fear that if they weren't careful, they would be wiped out by the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple.

At the meeting, someone said, "In my opinion, we should stop hijacking merchant ships for the time being, in case we accidentally mess with the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple again, then we will really suffer a disaster of extinction!"

Someone lamented helplessly, "Then we can't just sit around with all our men and eat! In order to maintain the normal operation of the organisation, we will inevitably have to continue doing our old jobs in the future!"

Another person said, "In that case, there is a very serious problem before us, we can do our old jobs, but we must not mess with the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple again. This is not giving any chance at all!"

Someone asked rhetorically, "If we're still going to eat this job, we're bound to continue hijacking merchant ships. I'd certainly like to avoid these fatalities from the Hall of Dragons, but how can I do that in practice? I can't ask my men to ask if it's the Ten Thousand Dragons before I hijack a ship, can I? What if everyone says it's the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple escort, then what the hell are we doing?"

The man who lamented earlier nodded and said, "This is a big problem. If the Dragon Palace really monopolises all the escort services, then it's clear that they won't give us a chance to live. However, if the Dragon Palace does not have a monopoly on this business, then we must have a way to verify which ships are escorted by the Dragon Palace, and as long as they are escorted by the Dragon Palace, we should stay away from them!"

The pirate leader who asked the question agreed and said, "Therefore, we have to find a way to contact the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple, first show them our respect, and then try to reach a non-aggression pact with them, so that in future, we do not touch the ships escorted by the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple. What do you all think?"

This pirate leader's words immediately triggered a strong agreement from the crowd.

Faced with such a god-like existence, they all knew that they could not afford to mess with it, so they all hoped that they could reach an appeasement policy with the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons.

However, although they had reached a consensus, how to contact the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons had become their biggest headache at the moment.

After all, for a top mercenary organisation like the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple, it was not possible for anyone to contact the key people with just one phone call.

And just when these people didn't know what to do, Wan Long Temple released another announcement to the public, with immediate effect, the booking channel for Wan Long Temple's Gulf of Aden escort service was officially opened, all ship owners who wanted to cooperate with Wan Long Temple could get in touch with Wan Long Temple through the booking email left by Wan Long Temple.

At least you can send a request for a face-to-face meeting to the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons through this email address, in case the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons agrees, won't there be room for good offices?

So, the pirate leaders immediately nominated one of them, who had the highest level of education, and asked him to get in touch with the Dragon Temple through this email address.

And ever since this mailbox was published, Wan Xiaojun had personally kept an eye on the movements of this mailbox.

He knew that Ye Chen's idea was a good way to kill two birds with one stone.

Not only could he use it to see how interested the major shipping companies were in the escort of the Wan Long Temple, but he could also use it to establish contact with those pirates.

However, what he didn't expect was that the email address had just been published and within 10 minutes he had received tens of thousands of emails.

These emails came from netizens all over the world, using different languages from all over the world to express almost the same meaning, that is, to express their support and gratitude to the Dragon Palace for their actions in the Gulf of Aden.

Chapter 3697

Wan Bajun did not expect such a high level of enthusiasm from netizens around the world, and seeing how fast the emails were coming in, he immediately gathered a team of dozens of people to help him review them quickly.

In addition to the tens of thousands of thank you letters, they sifted through dozens of emails, sent from shipping companies around the world.

After identifying themselves, these shipping companies all wanted to enquire about the details of the Dragon Palace escort, especially the cost and the mode of cooperation.

Wan Bajun had the contact details of these shipping companies counted out and also had someone write back to them, informing them that Wan Long Temple would soon launch the price and model details of the escort service, and that all shipping companies would be notified at the first opportunity.

An hour after the announcement was made, Dragon Palace had already received hundreds of thousands of thank you emails.

Among them was an email from a person claiming to be the leader of the "Puntland Guard" to the Hall of Dragons.

In the email, the leader of the Puntland Guard expressed his full respect for the Temple of the Dragon and hoped to have the opportunity to meet with the Temple of the Dragon on behalf of all the pirate organisations in the Gulf of Aden.

Wan Bajun replied with the coordinates of a small uninhabited island in southern Oman and a time of 6pm that day.

The other party immediately understood and wrote back again, indicating that he would arrive at the specified location on time.

A five-star general was then dispatched from the temporary base in Oman to the uninhabited island by helicopter, with a few armed men.

When the leader of the Puntland Guard arrived on the uninhabited island by speedboat, several armed soldiers from the Dragon Palace were already waiting.

After thoroughly checking that the other party was not carrying any recording devices, they led him to the depths of the uninhabited island and met the five-star warlord of the Dragon Palace.

As soon as they met, the leader of the Puntland Guard said very respectfully, "Hello sir, my name is Sheikh, I am the head of the Puntland Guard ....."

The five-star war general of the All Dragon Palace said with a blank face, "I don't care who you are, I just want to know, as a pirate, you dare to take the initiative to ask us to meet, what is your ulterior motive?"

Sheikh hurriedly said, "The reputation of the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons is well known, I and the chiefs of other organisations have always had great respect for the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons, and we also welcome the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons to the Gulf of Aden. ..."

The five-star warlord said coldly, "We, the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple, will not cooperate with pirate organisations like yours in any way! You are not worthy of it!"

Sheikh's heart instantly went cold when he heard those words.

If this was the attitude of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall, then it was really going to push them to the brink of extinction.

Just at this time, the five-star warlord added, "But what I can tell you is that our Ten Thousand Dragons Temple has a lot of business, the number of ships coming and going in the Gulf of Aden is huge, and the need for escorting them is also very great, so we can only carry a maximum of fifty to sixty percent of them, as long as you people don't make enemies with my Ten Thousand Dragons Temple from now on, we can let you off the hook! "

When Xie He heard this, his heart that had been plucked cold instantly boiled up again!

He looked at the five-star war general and asked with unbridled excitement, "Is what Your Excellency said true? As long as we don't make an enemy of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall, can Your Excellency as well as the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall really let us off the hook?!"

The five-star war general asked him in return, "Do you think I have to joke with you?!"

Sheikh hurriedly accompanied him with a smile, “I don’t mean that ..... I believe that Your Excellency as well as the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall are all about keeping their word and saying what they mean!”

As he said that, he remembered a very crucial question and hurriedly said, “I wonder if your Excellency can inform us of the information of the ships escorted by the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall in the future, so that we can also make a distinction and avoid any misunderstanding .....

The five-star warlord said with a disgusted face, “Do you think that our hall, the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons, will maintain some kind of communication and contact with you pirates?”

“Yes, yes, yes .....” Xie He hurriedly said, “Ten Thousand Dragons Hall is a top mercenary organization, of course they don’t care to be in the company of us pirates .....

After saying that, he said awkwardly, “But ..... but if we can’t distinguish which ship is escorted by the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple, it won’t be good to do timely avoidance in the future .....

The five-star war general said coldly, “We will soon go online with a website to put all our armed escort operations on the website, and we will also disclose the information of our escorted ships to the whole society on the website.”

Hearing this, Sheikh said in an excited voice, “Great! That’s great! When the time comes, we will definitely pay attention to this website! Make a strict distinction! Never interfere with any of the ships escorted by the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple! We will not infringe on each other!”

The Five Star Warlord immediately chided coldly, “What non-aggression? Do you think I’m here today to negotiate terms and cooperation with you?”

“No, no .....” Xie Xie hurriedly explained, “I didn’t mean that, Your Excellency must not be angry .....

How could the Ten Thousand Dragon Hall cooperate with such uncouth pirates ..... I mean, to show our respect to the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple, we will definitely respect the ships escorted by the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple in the future!”

Chapter 3698

When Sheikh brought this news back to the Gulf of Aden, the entire pirate organisation in the Gulf of Aden breathed a complete sigh of relief and even had a feeling of having survived the robbery.

What they were most afraid of was that the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple was going to drive them to extinction and completely cut off their financial routes.

But what they didn’t expect was that the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons did not intend to completely monopolise the entire Gulf of Aden escort business.

In this way, it left them ample room for survival.

Everyone quickly and joyfully reached two understandings, firstly: before the launch of the Wan Long Temple’s escort website, all speedboats would rest and no one would be allowed to go out to sea to hijack merchant ships so as not to offend Wan Long Temple; secondly: after the launch of the Wan Long Temple’s escort website, the escort website would be strictly used as a guide for action and no one would ever touch any of the ships escorted by Wan Long Temple.

Immediately afterwards, something shocking happened to the shipping industry.

In the entire Gulf of Aden, there was no longer a single pirate speedboat to be seen cruising around, and it was as if the pirates had withdrawn en masse from the place in an instant.

Ye Chen didn't even expect that the business of armed escort for the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple was running so smoothly.

According to this situation, going forward, the Ten Thousand Dragon Temple could almost make money lying down in the Gulf of Aden.

Under the premise that these pirates did not dare to provoke the Dragon Palace, the Dragon Palace did not even need to really send escorts, it only needed to publish the information of the ships that had paid the escort fees on its own escort website, and then it could collect money lying down.

The pirates will not be stupid enough to come after the Dragon Palace, after all, there are still half of the merchant ships in the Gulf of Aden that are escorted by other international security companies.

As for those international security companies, they are not enough to be feared by the pirates, because the larger ones only have a few hundred armed personnel, and can never take out the leader of a pirate group like the Dragon Palace, and the pirates are not afraid of them at all.

Of course, Ye Chen also did not suggest that Wan Long Temple really lie down and make money, since it had killed into this field of armed escort with a high hand, naturally it was necessary to put out the spirit.

Therefore, he still exhorted Wan Breaking Army that the escort work must not be sloppy and careless, and that once the cargo ship previously prepared to be a sea base was renovated, it had to regularly patrol the waters of the Gulf of Aden, always reminding those pirates to get the hell out of the way.

And just when the Gulf of Aden has temporarily calmed down, the Jinling, where Ye Chen is located, has started to have dark currents.

In the past two days, the Mayo Center in the United States was continuing to release the treatment results of the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills.

With each day the patient's condition improved significantly, the world's confidence in the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pill continued to grow.

This has also made the world somewhat impatient for this medicine.

Especially after learning that not much of this medicine was produced, many of the world's powerful and noble classes also began to have their hearts set on this medicine.

According to the report from Hongwu's junior, the number of expatriates arriving in Jinling in the past two days was significantly higher than usual.

The few five-star hotels, which are normally rarely full, are also basically full now.

Chapter 3699

Even the Buckingham Palace, where business was previously much slower, has been filled with a number of expatriates.

And most of these people had come for the Jiu Xuan Reclamation Pills.

Ye Chen, as the one who started all this, was not focusing on this matter at all at this time.

What he was really concerned about was the Spring Return Pill auction that would soon be held.

From the relevant information on the Ten Thousand Dragon Hall's intelligence network, it could be seen that the Spring Return Pill already had a certain influence among the top people in Europe and America.

Although it was not as well known as the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills, it was much more significant to those top power elites than the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills.

Many of the top powerful people in Europe and America were now trying everything they could to find out about the Spring Return Pill, but because it was too mysterious to them, they could not find any substantial clues at all.

At this moment, Ye Chen was still confirming all the details with Chen Zekai and Song Wanting before the official launch of the Spring Return Pill auction promotion.

Song Wanting had already prepared the other lots for the auction, and the entire auction process would be handled by her Jiqing Hall.

And Richard Chen had already had the registration as well as the capital verification platform for the Hui Chun Dan auction developed, the hotel slot had also been completely reserved, and even the banquet hall had started to enter the renovation process.

Regarding the renovation of the banquet hall, Ye Chen instructed him: "Old Chen, on the day the auction starts, all the windows in the banquet hall must be completely sealed, and all the internal surveillance cameras and monitoring rooms must be disconnected from the network to avoid hacking and stealing video information. Not a single bit of it must be leaked!"

Chen Zekai immediately said, "Young master don't worry, I will personally take care of this part of the work!"

Ye Chen nodded and added: "Also, when the time comes, no outsiders will be allowed to approach the 500 meters around the banquet hall, and all participants of the auction must undergo a comprehensive security check before entering the venue. out."

Richard Chan asked, "Young Master, will you not allow them to bring their mobile phones too? If our auction is too big, they will definitely need to use the phone to notify the treasurer to transfer money."

Ye Chen said, "It doesn't matter, you can prepare a few old Nokia blue screen mobile phones that can only receive and make calls on the spot, if the successful bidders need to make calls, they can use the mobile phones we provide to make calls on the spot."

Chen Zekai immediately nodded and said, "Yes young master, I will have the entire banquet hall enclosed by then, leaving only one entrance and exit, with the most sophisticated security screening equipment placed at the entrance, no one will be allowed to bring any metal objects in, it will be ensured that nothing is lost."

Ye Chen nodded in satisfaction and added, "I'll call Broken Army back and have the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall send some more men over when the auction takes place."

Chen Zekai asked him, "Young master, then when do we launch the promotion?"

Ye Chen thought for a moment and spoke, "Tomorrow! We'll start releasing the news to the public tomorrow, then go online on our website and start accepting applications."

"Good!" Richard Chen said with some excitement, "If this news is released, I am afraid that all those top tycoons in Europe and America will explode, and maybe there will be some top hidden tycoons that are usually unheard of!"

Ye Chen laughed: "In the first year, there should still be some people who are sceptical and wait and see, some of them may not come because they want to save face, but when the first year's auction is over and those who have won the Spring Return Pill take it in front of all the top tycoons, so that everyone can see the efficacy of the Pill with their own eyes, that will be the moment when they really have no doubt about the Pill. "

At this point, Ye Chen said with a bit of playfulness, "Therefore, as long as this year's auction is a complete success, then next year's auction will definitely force all the powerful people hiding in the shadows to come out, and at that time, I'm afraid that the kings and queens of certain countries will also personally come to bid for the Spring Return Pill!"

Chapter 3700

When Song Wanting heard Ye Chen say that the publicity and registration for the Spring Return Pill auction would be launched tomorrow, she hurriedly said to Ye Chen, "Master Ye, I have selected three candidate auctioneers for the auction, do you want to go through and screen them first?"

Ye Chen nodded and smiled, "Good, auctioneers are still very important to an auction, they must be chosen carefully."

Song Wanting hastily took out her mobile phone and fished out several videos from the album, playing them one by one for Ye Chen, while introducing them, "Master Ye, these three auctioneers are all very senior auctioneers from Jiqing Hall, although their qualifications and experience are not as good as those of Christie's or Sotheby's, but they are definitely the best in Jinling."

Ye Chen patiently watched the three videos shown by Song Wanting. The three candidate auctioneers, two women and one man, were all around forty years old, and their image, temperament, mannerisms and even voice could be considered medium to high, so any one of them should be able to do the job.

However, Ye Chen always felt that something was missing in all three of them.

After taking a look at Song Wanting in front of him, Ye Chen realised what the three were missing.

What they were missing was the air of a lady of the house and a dignified and beautiful woman in Song Wanting's body.

As Song Wanting's old friend, Ye Chen had always appreciated Song Wanting's temperament.

Although Song Wanting was not a young lady from a top family, she was by no means inferior to any top celebrities in terms of her personal temperament.

If she could be the auctioneer for this auction, she would definitely be the most suitable candidate, bar none.

Thus, Ye Chen said to Song Wanting, "Wanting, in my opinion, this auctioneer, there is no one more suitable than you!"

"Me?" Song Wanting said a little nervously all of a sudden, "Master Ye, I've never been an auctioneer before ....."

Ye Chen laughed: "It doesn't matter if you haven't done it before, anyway, there are still at least almost twenty days before the auction, you can totally practice your auctioneer words and skills unannounced."

Saying that, Ye Chen added, "Wanting, there is no second person in the whole of Jinling who is more suitable than you, and you are the head of the Song family, if you are the auctioneer for this auction, it will also allow the Song family to leave a deep impression on those top power elites who are present, and it will definitely be beneficial to the future development of the Song family rather than harmful."

Song Wanting hesitated for a moment, nodded gently and said offhandedly, "Since Master Ye has said so, then I will give it a try!"

After saying this, Song Wanting remembered something and asked, "Master Ye, will you be there when the time comes? Such a big bid, I'm afraid that I won't be able to control it well when the time comes ....."

Ye Chen smiled, "I will be in the monitoring room watching the live broadcast in real time, on the day of the auction you will be equipped with a headset, I will communicate with you directly through the headset if there is anything."

Song Wanting breathed a sigh of relief and hurriedly said, "Then I'm relieved!"

At this very moment.

Washington, United States of America.

At the research centre provided by the military, multiple teams were still trying with all their might to attack the formula of the Jiu Xuan Recycle Pill using various metaphysical methods.

However, no matter how they tried, the pills that were created had no curative effect on the cancer cells.

Although only a few days had passed, Smith and Rogers were already losing their patience.

With little success in reverse development, Rutgers received a special order from the highest level, brought by the White House envoy.

The order required Rutgers to produce ten boxes of Jiu Xuan Zhen Zhen Pills and hand them over to the White House envoy to be kept in the name of the highest level strategic materials, along with the nuclear bomb safe.

This put Rutgers in an extremely difficult position.
