

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 1044

The Vermillion-beaked Long-feather Cranes immediately understood that all of this was done by that little brat! Immediately, they began to call out crazily and pounce on the railings of the beast house!

Yun Chujiu curled her lips. "Not only are you shameless, but you're also brainless. There's a formation here, so you can't do anything to me. Naked cranes, hahaha, you're so ugly!"

The cranes were about to go crazy from anger, but even though they pounced on the railing angrily, they had no way of getting out of the beast house.

As Yun Chujiu winked at them, they got so angry that the cranes were about to faint!

"Naked cranes, I'm warning you. If you don't follow my instructions and make use of the regions I marked out on the ground, next time you won't only lose the hair on your tails. I'll make sure there isn't a single feather left on your body. If you don't believe I'll do it, you're welcome to try your luck!" Yun Chujiu said with a smile.

The cranes cried out in anger, trying to attract the instructors who were in charge of the Spirit Beast Garden, Yun Chujiu curled her lips. "Don't waste your effort! I've already asked around. Those instructors aren't won't be here today, so it's useless even if you scream your lungs out! Moreover, even if you complain, your tail feathers won't come back! If you dare to complain, not only will I pluck all your feathers, I'll also draw a few extra decorations on you!"

Shameless!

Too Shameless!

The cranes had never seen such a shameless person!

Although they had intelligence, how could they compare to Yun Chujiu, who was full of evil schemes? They were actually scared and let out a few angry cries. They no longer used their wings to hit the railings.

Yun Chujiu saw that the crane group had quieted down, then, she said with a smile, "That's right! Let's discuss this like intelligent beings. We can talk about anything. Besides, I'm doing this for your own good. Being clean will also help your cultivation, right?! Otherwise wouldn't there be no difference between intelligent birds like you and the mindless birds on the outside?!"

The cranes did not say a word. At this moment, their hearts were on the verge of breaking down. They originally thought that that good-for-nothing person was easy to bully. They did not expect that she was actually a little devil in disguise!

After Yun Chujiu gave lectured them, only then did she say, "I've said everything that needs to be said! I'll come back the day after tomorrow to check again. If all of you are still dirty and messing the place up, I'll keep my word and let all of you run around naked! Don't think that the academy will expel me just because all of you went to complain to your instructors. Even if I'm expelled, I still have a way to make all of you run around naked before I leave!"

The cranes remained silent. They only used their eyes to express the anger and discontent in their hearts. Yun Chujiu waved her hands with a smile. "Little birdies, I'm leaving. I'll see you the day after tomorrow!"

The cranes watched Yun Chujiu skip away and wished they could rush out of the beast house and kill her. Unfortunately, they were powerless and could not do a thing!

The next day, there happened a third grade beast taming class.

Those students found that the cranes had all obediently laid down with their necks facing outward, drooping their heads and closing their eyes to rest.

Wu Heng, the Fatty, saw that those Vermillion-beaked Long-feather Cranes were very obedient today and wanted to show off, so he took the initiative to propose to enter the beast house to practice his beast taming technique.

Instructor Qian, who was in charge of the class, readily agreed. After opening the gap in the array, Wu Heng walked in, picked a smaller Vermillion-beaked Long-feather Crane, and began to use the beast taming technique.

The crane group was already filled with anger, but now that that damn fatty actually came in to find trouble, they immediately vented all their frustration and anger on Wu Heng.

'F*ck! We can't take care of that little devil, so you'll have to do!'

'Peck him! Peck him to death!'

The crane group swarmed forward and pecked at Wu Heng..
