

Zeke Williams 40

Chapter 40

At the doorway, Daniel turned around, "Young miss, do me a favour. Let them finish smoking."

At the doorway, Daniel turned around, "Young miss, do me a favour. Let them finish smoking."

The pretty waitress replied, "Alright, that's fine, Sir."

Lawrence Herbert was too furious for words.

As soon as they entered the room, Zeke gave Daniel a thumbs up and a little flattery. "Dad, that was awesome."

Daniel laughed heartily. "Haha! Of course. You all should have seen how Lawrence Herbert's face turned beet red just now! After being oppressed by Lawrence Herbert in the hospital for so long, it's the first time he has suffered in my hands."

Hannah Lawson was not pleased. She scolded Daniel, "You fool, why did you ask me to come in here first? I wanted to tell them that our Zeke has taken the old hospital director as an apprentice. Even the director of the Industrial and Commercial Bureau has to show respect to Zeke. His son is nothing compared to our son-in-law. He isn't fit to even lick Zeke's boots."

Zeke felt on top of the world.

Seated nearby, Lacey felt speechless and helpless.

To be truthful, she did not agree with her parent's way of handling the situation.

However, the way things turned out was indeed satisfying.

Hannah continued grumbling for a little while before she started looking at the menu.

At the doorway, Daniel turned around, "Young miss, do me a favour. Let them finish smoking."

The pretty waitress replied, "Alright, that's fine, Sir."

Lawrence Harbort was too furious for words.

F

As soon as they entered the room, Zaka gave Daniel a thumbs up and a little flattery. "Dad, that was awesome."

Daniel laughed heartily. "Haha! Of course. You all should have seen how Lawrence Harbort's face turned blue just now! After being oppressed by Lawrence Harbort in the hospital for so long, it's the first time he has suffered in my hands."

Hannah Lawson was not pleased. She scolded Daniel, "You fool, why did you ask me to come in here first? I wanted to tell them that our Zaka has taken the old hospital director as an apprentice. Even the director of the Industrial and Commercial Bureau has to show respect to Zaka. His son is nothing compared to our son-in-law. He isn't fit to even lick Zaka's boots."

Zaka felt on top of the world.

Sitting nearby, Lacey felt speechless and helpless.

Hannah continued grumbling for a little while before she started looking at the menu.

After reading a few pages of the menu, Hannah sighed, "The food in this big hotel isn't expensive, some only cost ten bucks a plate."

Lacey frowned, "Really? How can that be possible?"

Hannah lifted the menu up. "You take a look. I won't lie to you."

Lacey glanced at it and suddenly laughed, "Mom, read carefully, the price is in thousands!"

"This dish costs ten thousand, not ten."

What!

Henneh could not believe her eyes, "Ten thousand a dish? Is this dish made of gold?"

Daniel puffed hard on his cigarette to hide his shock. "Hmm, old ladies know so little. In here, ten thousand a dish is considered normal."

Henneh glared at Daniel, "You speak as if you're not shocked yourself. Look, your cigarette butt is about to burn your lips."

"Oh? My gosh!" Daniel quickly spat out the butt. There was a blister on his lip.

Henneh sighed, "Just one dish in here is almost Daniel's salary for one month. Zeke, we really cannot afford this. Let's go to another restaurant."

Zeke smiled. "Dad and mom, just order as you wish. Our expenditure here is free."

Free of charge!

The whole Hinton family gazed at Zeke in shock.

How high his status must be to be worthy of such privilege!
